

FATE AND MRS. MAGUIRE

By M. LOUISE CUMMINS

Copyright, 1902, by the S. S. McClure Company

Mrs. Maguire looked up from her knitting a second time to meet the same pair of brown eyes. Again a sense of familiarity in their gaze went over her.

"And, sure, there'd be nothing strange in that," she soliloquized, "after me being attendant in this waiting room for the past fifteen years."

Nevertheless her mind went back gropingly trying to place the girl sitting opposite. She gave a quick glance and reached what she sought with such suddenness that she fairly started.

"'Tis the very wan—the very wan," she muttered. "But, Lord love us all, what has changed her so much?"

Presently she rose, holding her knitting in her left hand, and made a little tour of the room, picking up a paper here, straightening a chair there, apparently latent only upon her business. But she paused near the woman who had attracted her attention.

"'Tis tiresome work waiting for trains, ma'am," she hazarded.

"'Tis, indeed?"

At slant of such woe in her eyes, which she had once seen filled with such blessedness of joy that, as she said, "they were like twin lights on an altar," Mrs. Maguire's heart ached.

"Though there's them that don't mind it," she went on. "Look there now," with a sidelong nod to where in the outer waiting room a young couple were seated oblivious of time and place.

"They makes me think of a pair that sat in that very spot—let me see, it must be all of four years ago," she continued reluctantly.

"They had mislaid their train and had to wait six mortal hours for the western express. Well, if you'll believe me, I don't think they knew 'twas as many minutes."

Mrs. Maguire saw the hands of the woman come slowly together suddenly in her lap.

"Did you ever see them again?" she asked slowly.

"Not her."

The dark eyes came round in a dash. "And him?"

"Well, as sure as you live"—Mrs. Maguire had seated herself and was knitting complacently—"twas only last week. He come in and just sit in that very spot. I took no notice to him at first, but he looked so broke up I had to. It seemed all wrong to see him sitting without her."

The woman at her side sprang up. "It is suffocating in here!" she panted.

Then she sank back into the chair.

"You recognized me," she said wearily.

"And if I did, a-lanive"—Mrs. Maguire laid a soothing palm on her knee, the soft crooning of her mother tongue when a slight figure in dark blue sat in the ladies' waiting room, how many excuses Mrs. Maguire found for excursions to different parts of the station, with what eagerness she set out on these expeditions, and with dejection written in every line of her comely face when she returned.

"'Tis watching for him she is herself," she thought, meeting the wistful interrogation of the dark eyes. And never did maiden look for the coming of her lover as did Mrs. Maguire for the tall figure which had imprinted itself on her memory.

It was a matter of genuine importance, however, which called her away one day just as her visitor entered.

"I'll be back in a minute. 'Tis the superintendent himself wants me," she explained, smoothing down a snowy apron in a little bustle of excitement.

Half an hour later in returning she passed by the long line of tracks. A crowd surrounding a woman whose dark head was covered with a cotton handkerchief attracted her attention, and she drew near.

"What's the trouble, Mike?" she asked a uniformed fellow countryman.

"Thim dagoes." Mike jerked a thumb over one shoulder. "Wan of thim lost his mother, and nothin'd do the young divil but to skrew through the gates and try to cross the tracks just as No. 57 was pullin' in. If 'twasn't for that gutleman there, there'd be one foreigner less to grow up in the country."

Mrs. Maguire turned to look at the tall figure. One glance was sufficient. A moment later she was hanging to his arm with all the pressure of her 175 pounds.

"Wait, sir!" she panted. "For the love of heaven, don't go!"

He looked down, amazed.

"Oh, I'm not mad, don't you think it?" And indeed the gray eyes raised to his were wonderfully sane behind their steel rimmed glasses.

"She's in there," Mrs. Maguire whispered.

"She! Who?"

"Herself—the little girl you married four years ago. Oh, didn't I see you? Sure, 'twas little else I did that blessed day but look at the picture you made. The curse of the Almighty on whoever came between you, for sure you must have the kind, brave heart to do what you just done."

The man paled as he had not done when looking death in the face.

"Go!" Mrs. Maguire gave him a push toward the waiting room door.

"She's in there, I tell you, aiting her heart out for a sight of you. And," grasping him again, "don't you say a word, but just take her along home."

As his broad back disappeared Mrs. Maguire laid hold of a newspaper stand for support.

A few minutes later when, with flushed cheeks, she passed, humming a bar of "Eileen Aroon" above a lump which threatened to choke her, they were sitting where they had sat four years before.

"Dear," he said huskily, his head bent over hers, "that we should meet here—it was fate."

"And Maggie Maguire," added that worthy woman as she entered her own domain.

Snaubed the Prince Consort.

Commenting on the slights that were put on Queen Victoria's consort, Prince Albert, Sidney Whitman says: "The prince consort brought to England ideas of his princely prerogative from Germany which did not accord with those to which the English aristocracy were accustomed and all the less so since many English noblemen thought themselves every bit as good as a German prince. One morning Prince Albert joined the meet of the royal buck-hounds. All were awaiting the arrival of the master of the hunt in order to start the hounds. The prince consort ordered the hunt to begin, and this was at once done. Shortly afterward the master arrived and, hearing what had occurred, ordered the hounds to be called off and, turning his back upon the party, galloped off without further ado. Prince Albert rode back to Windsor and complained to the queen, who shared his indignation. She sent for Lord Palmerston, who was prime minister, and insisted that he should immediately call on the master of the buck-hounds to resign. The prime minister replied that if this was her majesty's pleasure he saw no alternative but to place his own resignation, as well as that of all his colleagues, in her hands. The queen, therefore, for the time being at least, had to condone the slight put upon her husband."

Malay Running "Amok."

"Amok" is a religious fanaticism, a madness under which a man makes up his mind to kill any one he can until he himself is killed. Brought on by drink or religion, or from whatever cause, the process is the same. The madman seizes his creese and rushes headlong down the street, cutting at every one he meets. To any one who has seen a creese or a parang further detail is unnecessary.

A man running amok is as a dog with hydrophobia, but the panic caused by the former is by far the worse. Like the mad dog, the madman is followed by a noisy rabble, who sooner or later run into their man and exterminate him. When this vengeful rabble is made up of bloodthirsty Malays and Chinamen, its wild rage and fury are beyond control, beyond description. The clamor and blood curdling yells of the pursuing crowd and the ever nearing shout of "Oran amok! Oran amok!" are incidents which can never be forgotten by any one who has seen or heard them. The bravest quails when suddenly turning the corner of a street his ears are greeted with the cry of "Oran amok!" and a few yards off he sees a Malay running straight at him, brandishing in his hand the bloody creese with which he has already slaughtered all in his way.

MANY CATTLE ARE PERISHING.

Stockmen From South Dakota Ranges Bring in Gloomy Reports. Bonesteel, S. D., Feb. 13.—Stockmen from the range country report that cattle are perishing by hundreds. A Tripp county man lost over 300 steers. The deep snow begins about fifty miles west of here and the range for 100 miles west of that point is covered with snow two feet deep, making it impossible for stock to secure food.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 13.—The storm that set in several days ago has assumed the proportions of a blizzard throughout southern and western Wyoming, and stockmen who are ranging herds and flocks in regions where there is little feed are now greatly alarmed. In the western portions of the state snow has fallen to a great depth, but from Evanston east to the Nebraska line the snowfall has gradually diminished. High winds have accompanied the storm and the snow has been piled up in the cuts, delaying traffic. The weather has been bitter cold, and the Indians are fearing colder weather. In the Red Desert country, between Rawlins and Evanston, which is the most favored of all the winter ranges in the state, sheep are dying, the grass being covered and the supply of sage brush short. Cattle are in poor condition, owing to the long series of severe storms, and in sections where there is no hay to feed the losses will be large.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF MURDER. Charged With Killing Husband and Attempting to Burn Remains. Newton, Ia., Feb. 13.—Mrs. Frank Lavellier was arrested here yesterday, charged with the murder of her husband. It is set forth in the indictment that she killed her husband with an ax and placed the remains in a barn, which she subsequently set fire to. The alleged crime occurred last summer. Mrs. Lavellier, who had twice previously been married, quarreled frequently with her husband.

It was explained after his charged remains were found that he had been overtaken by the flames while attempting to recover a buggy. A post-mortem disclosed that his head had been crushed, the wound indicating that he had been struck with an ax.

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

Little Ones Locked in House While Mother Visits With Neighbors. Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 13.—With their frantic mother only a few yards away rushing to their assistance, the son and infant daughter of Mrs. James Lyons were burned to death yesterday afternoon in a fire which completely destroyed the house and its contents. The charred remains of the two were found lying side by side, the elder of the two clasping the baby in his arms. The children had been locked in the house by Mrs. Lyons, who had left home for a short call at the house of a neighbor.

Statehood Bill Plans.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The friends of the statehood bill reached a definite decision to have the omnibus statehood bill reported as a rider to the postoffice appropriation bill. It is expected that this action will be taken today. It is the purpose to make a fight in the senate to have the statehood bill tacked onto one of the appropriation bills, passage of which is absolutely necessary to the running of the government.

Begin Work on Taylor Park Line.

Denver, Feb. 13.—A special from Gunnison, Colo., announces the beginning of work on the projected Taylor Park railroad. The road is to be 115 miles in length and will open the mining districts around Taylor park. Archibald A. Stewart of Chicago, president of the company, says trains will be running into Tin Cup by next fall.

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

Do not let rubbish of any kind lie underneath the trees. It harbors vermin. A yard or lawn always looks barren without some ornamental trees and shrubs.

As an apple or pear orchard will last a lifetime, particular care must be taken in the selection of varieties.

If currants and gooseberries are pruned in tree form, they will bear larger and finer fruit. Prune every year.

To have a good garden the land must be kept rich by liberal use of manure. During the winter is the best time to apply it.

Nearly all house plants will be benefited by having the blossoms that appear immediately after planting in pots pruned off. Let the plant get well established before flowering.

The rose is a hearty feeder and will therefore bear annual manuring, but only well rotted and thoroughly fined manure should be used, taking care to let it well into the soil early in the winter.

People Who Cannot Make Fires.

The Papuans of the Malay coast of New Guinea are still in the most primitive state. They are wholly unacquainted with metals and make their weapons of stone, bones and wood. They do not know how to start a fire, though fire is used among them. When a Russian asked them how they made a fire, they regarded it as very amusing and answered that when a person's fire went out he got some of a neighbor, and if all the fires in the village should go out they would get it from the next village. Their fathers and grandfathers had told them that they remembered a time or had heard from their ancestors that there was a time when fire was not known and everything was eaten raw.

Winter coughs are apt to result in consumption if neglected. They can be soon broken up by using Foley's Honey and Tar. Sold by A. H. Kiesau.

A woman should be as young as possible. The fewer years she carries in the eyes of others, the greater her power to charm and win the battles of life. Rocky Mountain Tea keeps one young and beautiful. The Kiesau Drug Co.

Better than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by A. H. Kiesau.

Foley's Honey and Tar is best for croup and whooping cough, contains no opiates, and cures quickly. Careful mothers keep it in the house. Sold by A. H. Kiesau.

Mysterious Circumstance.

One was pale and sallow and the other fresh and rosy. Whence the difference? She who is blushing with health uses Dr. King's New Life Pills to maintain it. By gently arousing the lazy organs they compel good digestion and head off constipation. Try them. Only 25c, at A. H. Kiesau Drug Store.

Mothers can safely give Foley's Honey and Tar to their children for coughs and colds, for it contains no opiates or other poisons. Sold by A. H. Kiesau.

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. Druggists sell the 50c. size; Trial size by mail, 10 cents. Test it and you are sure to continue the treatment.

Announcement.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation.

James—Don't figure on marrying a model wife unless you are a mind reader and know for certain that she takes Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents. The Kiesau Drug Co.

A Night Alarm.

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell and it means death unless something is done quickly. Foley's Honey and Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the worst forms of croup. Mrs. P. L. Cordier of Mannington, Ky., writes: "My three-year-old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar; the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life." Refuse substitutes. Sold by A. H. Kiesau.

The Children's Friend.

There is no use trying to persuade American mothers that a substitute exists for Perry Davis' Painkiller. They know how to relieve the troubles of childhood, from sprained arms and legs, to stomachache. Other preparations may do good, painkiller is certain. A big difference, and one that has been recognized for sixty years. There is but one painkiller, Perry Davis'.

The most reliable preparation for kidney troubles on the market is Foley's Kidney Cure. Sold by A. H. Kiesau.

Worse Than a Blow from a hard fist is the buffet of cold wind upon a pair of improperly protected lungs. A few minutes exposure to cold may be the beginning of consumption. Lose neither time nor courage. Fortify yourself against pulmonary troubles, including consumption, with Allen's Lung Balsam. A few doses will loosen the cough and enable you to get rid of the phlegm that produces it. Cure soon follows.

Makes homely women beautiful, good looking women handsome. Greatest beautifier in the world. Such is Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents. Never fails. The Kiesau Drug Co.

A Thousand Dollars Thrown Away.

Mr. W. W. Baker, of Plainview, Neb., writes: "My wife had lung trouble for over fifteen years. We tried a number of doctors and spent over a thousand dollars without any relief. She was very low and I lost all hope, when a friend suggested trying Foley's Honey and Tar, which I did; and thanks be to this great remedy it saved her life. She is stronger and enjoys better health than she has ever known in ten years. We shall never be fighting its way to the surface, exposing the disease in all its hideousness, we call it a bad case; but Contagious Blood Poison, whether working internally or externally, is a dangerous, treacherous disease. S. S. S. is the only remedy that cures Contagious Blood Poison thoroughly and permanently. It is an antidote for the deadly virus that produces the awful eruptions, sores and ulcers, and destroys the skin. Mercury and Potash dry up the skin eruptions, but in so doing drive the poison farther into the system, where it slumbers for a time, but comes back again with redoubled fury. S. S. S. is a vegetable remedy that has been used successfully for years in treating this vile disease and cures it in all stages and forms. If you have the slightest symptom; an occasional sore mouth, or muscular and bone pains, your blood is tainted and the disease is liable to break out again at any time. A course of S. S. S. will remove every trace of poison and at the same time build up your general health. Write for our Free Home Treatment book. No charge for medical advice. The Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga."

A Weak Stomach causes a weak body and invites disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures and strengthens the stomach, and wards off and overcomes disease. J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Christman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach, I lost all strength and run down in weight. All that money I could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by use of Kodol, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefited me, and after taking four bottles I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health." Kiesau Drug Co.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

Mr. H. Haggins of Melbourne, Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a free trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by A. H. Kiesau, Druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

MRS. HELENA BLAU,

Young Milwaukee Society Woman.

THIRTEEN thousand cured women have written to tell how Wine of Cardui bestows the blessing of health on every woman who takes it, rich and poor alike. Mrs. Helena Blau, No. 123 Seventh Street, Milwaukee, Wis., is one of the young women who Wine of Cardui has rescued from a life of suffering. She writes:

"Wine of Cardui is certainly 'worn out' women's best friend and I am pleased to give my experience with it. A few months ago I caught a severe cold, having been out in inclement weather, which settled all over me, particularly in the abdomen. I was in almost constant pain. I consulted a physician and took his medicine for a month and without any relief. I then decided I would try your medicine and it was a lucky day for me when I did so. I noticed a change in a few days and felt encouraged to continue taking Wine of Cardui, and my patience was rewarded, for in two weeks my pains had left me and I felt like a new woman."

A MILD CASE

Of Contagious Blood Poison never existed. It is always bad, though sometimes no external symptoms of the disease appear for a long time.

Because the disease is slow in developing does not indicate that the case is a mild one, for the poisonous virus at work in the blood and system may be spending its force upon some internal vital organ while you are looking for external signs. Contagious Blood Poison does not affect all alike. In most cases the first little sore is quickly followed by painful swellings in the groins, a red eruption upon the body, sores or ulcers in the mouth and throat, unsightly copper colored blotches, loss of hair and eye-brows and other symptoms of this miserable disease. When the poison is thus fighting its way to the surface, exposing the disease in all its hideousness, we call it a bad case; but Contagious Blood Poison, whether working internally or externally, is a dangerous, treacherous disease. S. S. S. is the only remedy that cures Contagious Blood Poison thoroughly and permanently.
