It is considered that the new dates will escape the rainy season and that the event is quite likely to be favored with dry tracks and weather that will invite the attendance of good crowds. There will be a lull in the rush of farm work at that time and it is considered that there will be a better chance for the attendance of farmers and their families on the new dates than at the time first set. Neither will the dates conflict with those of fairs

Afterwards the committee was increased to ten members, the original committee adding the seven new members. The following-named were added: W L Kern, H. W. Winter, M.

> The executive committee expects to delegate a share of the work to at least 12 sub-committees, which will be made up of members of the department.

> The chairman and secretary will at once notify the chairman and secretary of the board of control of the change of dates, and the secretary promises to insert a page advertisement of the event in the book of proceedings of the state association, soon to be published.

> The executive committee has appointed Sunday afternoon for a meeting to further advance the preliminary work of the tournament. The regular meeting of the department will be held on Wednesday night of next week and other preliminary details of the work will be attended to at that time.

The soliciting committee reports that it is still short some dollars of the amount they set out to raise for the event and they hope for subscriptions that will bring the funds on hand up to two miles south of the Georgia line, the amount required to make the event first class in every detail.

Norfolk is to be congratulated on securing this state event, one of the most important events of its character during each year, and it is articipated that there will be large numbers of people attracted here and the firemen expect to prepare a program that will provide a continuous good time during the entire three days of the tournament. This with the other business and amusement events scheduled to take place in Norfelk this summer is certain to give the city a lively and interesting season.

[From Tuesday's Daily.] President C. E. Hartford has received letters from the chairman and secretary of the board of control of the state volunteer firemen's association, and both express themselves favorable to holding the coming tournament in Norfolk, so that this city has been practically decided on as the location for the event.

The agents escaped and could not be overtaken by the mob which threw stones and drove them out of the pueblo. The mob then began to hunt for Drs.
