75 TO 11 FOR ASYLUM BILL

Norfolk's Appropriation Bill Passes House This Morning.

NEW BUILDING IS ASSURED.

Vote Large Enough to Put Bill Under Emergency Clause—Went to Senate Today For First Reading—Final Action Soon.

State House, Lincoln, March 27.—Wm. Robertson, or Luikart and Huse: Asylum bill passed house this morning seventy-five to eleven.

N. M. NELSON,
T. F. MEMMINGER.

At 12:15 today the above message was wired out of Lincoln. It tells its own story to the people of Norfolk, and it is a story good to hear. The Norfolk asylum is now practically assured and will likely be acted upon finally in the senate during the early part of next week. The bill was taken to the senate today and passed its first reading. It will likely pass a second reading tomorrow and go then to final action sometime next week.

As passed the bill comes under the emergency clause, which makes the money available as soon as the governor signs the bill.

The amount appropriated by the bill is $100,000. Its passage in the senate is pretty sure and in all probability Norfolk will have a new asylum started in a way at least, within a week.

N. M. Nelson is the representative from Pierce and Cedar counties and introduced the bill. T. F. Memminger is the representative from Madison county and has engineered the bill throughout.

Other Norfolk people have received messages regarding the passage of the bill. J. N. Bundick was notified by H. R. Ferrar, of Grand Island, representative from Hall county. Mr. Ferrar is with the American Beet Sugar company.

ORATORICAL CONTEST TONIGHT.

High School Speakers Will Try For Honors.

In the oratorical contest to be held this evening at the high school, there will be three classes of declamation— oratorical, dramatic and humorous. In the first, Florence O'Connor will give "Arab Mohammed." In the dramatic, Helene Thamo will be rendered by Roxie Sturgeon and in the humorous, Clyde Bullock will give "Patrick Flynn and The Automobile;" Nellie Handley, "Her Cuban Tea;" Cordelia Luikart, "Sandy MacDonald's Signal;" and Samuel Erskine "Deacon Abner's Dream." The high school orchestra, consisting of Misses Masters, Coryell, Shaw and Kyrer; and Messrs. Sisson, Gow and Erskine will give a selection; Miss Frances Davenport will sing and Miss Katherine Shaw closes the program with a piano solo.

BATTLE CREEK.

Fred Reeker shipped a carload of cattle Monday.

Owen O'Neill has gone up west to his ranch.

Otto Tappert of Norfolk was transacting business here Monday.

A. Evans of Norfolk was here Wednesday soliciting for the Norfolk Press. Joe Daniel, deputy county clerk, spent Saturday and Sunday with Battle Creek relatives.

Tuesday Joseph Osborn shipped two carloads of hogs and Fred Holmstein one carload of cattle.

John Risk, jr., came over from Newport the first of the week to visit his parents and friends.

Charles Rice was here from Norfolk Monday on business connected with his wholesale liquor house.

August Steffen and son returned Friday from Sioux City, where Mrs. Steffen is in the Lutheran hospital.

Miss Evangeline Coyle of Norfolk who is teaching school in Battle Creek, visited her parents in Norfolk Saturday.

Fred Brechler, who has been at the Moss & Brechler ranch near Inman for a month, was here Monday and returned Tuesday.

J. Monroe Smith, Madison's efficient cigar maker, was in town Monday. Mr. Smith makes a good line and has a good trade in Battle Creek.

T. Hannon had a sale Monday. T. D. Proece, who was to cry the sale, was sick with the mumps and engaged Ben Davis of Madison to take his place.

C. H. Young of Madison was in Battle Creek a few days disposing of some of our best liquors and supplying the town with an over abundance of bass singing and noise in general.

COLD FEET TODAY.

The Beastly Weather is the Cause of It All.

Cold feet are tripping the sidewalks of Norfolk today. The heavy fall of snow that padded the earth with a two-inch cloak is the cause of it all. Underneath the layer of snow is a shell of ice which lets people slide indiscriminately from place to place and lands them, not infrequently, upon their backs.

Along the walks in the business part of the city, the man with the shovel has been making paths for passers-by all day. Trains have been delayed to a slight extent by the snow and the ground has been put in a wet way. Tomorrow will be fair and slightly warmer.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The seniors have taken up civics. It is about time to organize a ball team.

Not all of the teachers are going to Columbus.

Chris Reimers of Pierce visited the school Monday.

The orchestra will furnish music for the contest tonight.

Examinations this week will explain the far-away looks and the humors prevalent.

It is hoped that a good delegation will turn out to help Norfolk add another to the already large number of medals.

More interest is being taken in the contest this year than ever before and what the result will be is hard to predict. The class feeling is not running very strong as only the seniors and the freshmen are represented and, as the seniors have three contestants, they seem to think they have the whole thing coming their way, but the freshmen are just as confident with their one and say they are going to be on the ground with all their noise to help persuade the judges that they have the best all round representative.

The Public Spirited Father.

"Sir," said the proud mother to the popular author, "my son, who is now fourteen years old, admires you greatly. He also is an author. He has written a number of stories, and I would have so liked to have you read and criticize them."
"Ah!" said the popular author, breathing hard.
"But his father put all of them into the stove!"
"I should like to make the acquaintance of such a man," said the author with enthusiasm. "He has the spirit of a Roman father."—Indianapolis News.

Dressing It Up.

A Jasper county farmer paid a high tribute to the literary talents of a Carthage real estate agent the other day: He decided to sell his place and got a real estate agent to write a notice. When the agent read the notice to him, he said, "Read that again." After the second reading he said: "I believe I'll not sell. I've been looking for a place of that kind all my life and didn't know I had it until you described it to me."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

FAMOUS BUG MAN IN CITY

Professor Lawrence Bruner Interviewed Last Night.

JUST HOME FROM ARGENTINA.

Interesting Tales In Regard to Bugs and Insects—Bring Up Stories of Arabian Knights—University Work is World Wide.

Professor Lawrence Bruner, Nebraska's distinguished naturalist, was in the city yesterday, and although the weather was disagreeable he went out into the country and inspected the nurseries. In his own department the professor is justly regarded as one of the world's most famous specialists in entomology. At his hotel, where he was engaged in correcting a stack of proofs of a work on the lice that infect birds—for the professor always takes work along with him—he received a number of his admirers and entertained them in his inimitable charming manner by discussing his work and relating interesting stories of his sojourn in Argentina where he was employed by that republic to devise a means of limiting the ravages of the giant locust.

Who would imagine that the lowly and despised bugs could be made the subject of an evening's discussion as enthralling and fascinating as any other in the entire realm of nature? And yet that is how Mr. Bruner talks on his favorite topic until the listener thinks of the Arabian Knights, fairy stories and novels he has read. And what, all this has an exceedingly practical side, for the life, histories, diseases, resistance to heat and cold, environment, methods of limitation, etc., of the chinch bug, Hessian fly, Weevil, locust, Codling moth, curculio and dozens of other bugs, worms, flies, parasites and fungi that cause inestimable damage to crops, trees, stock and fruit have all been studied out with endless patience by Mr. Bruner and set down in plain print in bulletins that have been distributed free all over the state among agriculturalists and horticulturalists.

When it is considered that the nomenclature of the subject alone contains 60,000 names of forms that have been studied and classified—names that the ordinary reader or student never sees in print—the magnitude of the subject can be imagined. Mr. Bruner is a Caming county boy, scholarly and engaging with the happy boyish face of the enthusiast, and his department in the University of Nebraska is famous all over the civilized world.
