M'CARTHY NAMED MEN.

Ray Langer of Humphrey, First; Reimers Next.

CONGRESSMAN LEFT TODAY.

Examinations For Midshipman Were Held at the Pacific Hotel Yesterday Afternoon—Reimers is Son of C. A. Reimers of Pierce.

Raymond Langer of Humphrey was named yesterday by Congressman J. J. McCarthy as midshipman in the United States naval service. C. A. Reimers, jr., of Pierce was made alternate. Mr. McCarthy left Norfolk at 7 o'clock this morning for his home in Ponca.

The examination was held at the Pacific hotel yesterday afternoon. But four candidates put in an appearance. Besides the two named, Christophsen of Wayne and Sol F. Light of Hartington were applicants.

The examination was held before the congressman, himself. In the evening he gave out his appointments, after considering the qualifications and standings of each.

Ray Langer is a brother to Jerome Langer who took the examination for West Point in Norfolk several years ago. He will likely go east soon to take the position.

DOES GOLD GROW?

Seems to. In Its Wild State, but Not After It Has Become Civilized.

Some reasons for answering this question in the affirmative are given by "Popular Mechanics," which warns the reader, however, that he must not expect to grow gold eagles from dollars. Says the writer:

"It has been found that gold nuggets under favorable conditions actually increase in size. Gold is known to have grown on mine timbers which have long been immersed in mine water. In the California State Mining Bureau museum there is a specimen of a piece of jointed cap and post taken from the Comstock, where it had been under water for years, in which gold has formed in the joints and pores of the wood. Gold is constantly being formed in rocks and veins and placers. Just what it is that the baby gold formation feeds on to effect its growth is not known. If it were, a new and wonderfully lucrative industry might be born, and all other kinds of farming save the growing of gold might temporarily be abandoned. The formation and growth are due to mechanical and chemical action. As in the case of the animal or vegetable the gold has existed in some other state before assuming its present form. Waters which percolate through the earth's crust are said to contain substances from which gold is formed. Thus gold, like the animal and vegetable, must have water in order to thrive. The gold in the water is deposited when it meets the proper precipitant. The precipitant may be an earth current of electricity, some vegetable growth or chemical in the rocks. It has been claimed that the nuggets found in placers are the formations from the waters that percolate through the gravels, and are not from decomposed quartz, as generally supposed. Those who so contend cite the fact that in the center of nuggets can be often found a small grain of iron sand. This was the nucleus around which the earth current of electricity created or deposited in electroplating. During long ages this influence was at work causing the gold to form around the little grain of iron ore and then grow to become a bright, shining nugget of gold much larger and purer than any ever found in the veins of ore."

THE FEMINE FIB.

A Judicious Blend of Black, White, Gray and Chinese Lies.

A distinguished preacher once divided lies into "black lies, white lies, gray lies and Chinese lies." The feminine fib is generally a judicious blend of the white lie and the Chinese lie. For the benefit of those who have never graduated in the special mendacity tripos it may be explained that a Chinese lie is, as a rule, purely ornamental, being of the nature of embroidery, which is intended to add beauty and color to the plain object on which it is used as trimming.

The Chinese lie is prompted by the very highest and noblest of motives—namely, a desire to give pleasure to others, many a plain, dull fact being served up and made quite tasty and appetizing by a little judicious garniture of Chinese—or-embroidery. Directed into the proper channel, a Chinese liar becomes a skillful writer of fiction and turns her gift to profitable account. But the everyday feminine amateur, who has not this outlet for her tarradiddle talent, turns her attention to the afternoon tea table and adds a spice to whatever gossip is going by a gentle peppering of fibs.

Unfortunately this gift of imagination is often accompanied by a defective memory, whereas to make a good—or-prevaricator nothing is so essential as a good memory. Without this the employer of the Chinese method is almost certain to get found out sooner or later—generally sooner—and then she has the mortification of finding that her little efforts to please quite fall in their effect. And not only that; but, what is more trying still, she even finds that when from lack of material for fictional purposes she does for once serve up the cold, unvarnished truth her hearers have so got in the habit of disbelieving her that her plain statement is received with incredulity. That is why any one who aims at distinction in the fibbing world must carefully cultivate a good memory and so follow the Golden Rule to avoid being found out.—Modern Society.

TIMIDITY AND TALENT.

A Lack of Courage is the Death of a Great Deal of Ability.

A great deal of talent is lost to the world for the want of a little courage. Every day sends to their graves a number of obscure men who have only remained obscure because their timidity has prevented them from making a first effort and who, if they could have been induced to begin, would in all probability have gone great lengths in the career of fame. The fact is that to do anything in this world worth doing we must not stand shivering on the brink and thinking of the cold and danger, but jump in and scramble through as well as we can. It will not do to be perpetually calculating risks and adjusting nice chances. It did very well before the flood, when a man could consult his friends upon an intended scheme for a hundred and fifty years and then live to see its success for six or seven centuries afterward. But at present a man waits and doubts and hesitates and consults his brother and his uncle and his first cousins and particular friends till one fine day he finds that he is sixty-five years of age; that he has lost so much time in consulting first cousins and particular friends that he has no time left to follow their advice.—Sydney Smith on "Courage in the Use of Talent."

A Big Difference.

Madge—Don't you think a girl should marry an economical man?
Dolly—I suppose so, but it's just awful being engaged to one.

AT THE THEATER.

Richards & Pringle's Minstrel Show Held the Boards Last Night.

Richards & Pringle's minstrel company drew a pretty good crowd of theatre goers at the Auditorium last night. Two bands accompanying the troupe kept things lively between acts and pleased the crowd. Most of the company were in on their voices, which were not so bad. The ventriloquist's stunt made something of a hit and the hoop juggler was a favorite.
