

SUNDAY MAIL IS CUT OFF.

No Mail Into Norfolk on Sunday Mornings.

TRAINS TO BE DISCONTINUED

Postmaster Hays Receives Word That Norfolk Will Go Without Mail on Sundays Until Evening—City Cut Off From Communication.

[From Wednesday's Daily.] There will be no Sunday morning mail service in Norfolk hereafter. Postmaster Hays received notice yesterday that the freight train on the C. St. P. M. & O. railway will be discontinued on Sunday mornings.

The effect of this change will be to cut Norfolk entirely off any connection with the outside world, except from the west, until evening, when the passenger trains over three different roads will come in. No Sunday morning paper will come into the city until night, whereas they have always previously been on the streets at 11.

The inconvenience of having no mail on Sundays until after 8 o'clock in the evening will be seriously felt by Norfolk, and it is to be hoped that some arrangement may soon be made to overcome the trouble.

CITY WILL BE WELL DRESSED.

Easter Sunday Will Find Norfolk Attired in Good Style.

[From Thursday's Daily.] Next Sunday morning will find Norfolk and her people prettily attired in their Easter apparel. Judging from the millinery displays, the hats worn by the women this season will be prettier than they have been for a number of years, and the city will be dressed in style on Easter Sunday. Norfolk is fortunate in having three fine millinery establishments that would be a credit to much larger cities than this, and all of them have enjoyed good patronage this season. Quite superior, also, are the windows of the dry goods and clothing stores and from the rush that is going on in tailoring houses over the city, men as well as women will give the churches a pretty appearance.

THURSDAY TIDINGS.

N. C. Rhaden is here from Creighton. Dr. H. R. Kinaston is in the city from Bonesteel, S. D.

O. J. Prichard is in the city today from Meadow Grove.

Mrs. J. W. Warrick is in the city from Meadow Grove.

Miss Sargent, who has been in the Norfolk Business college, has gone to Chamberlain, S. D., to accept a position in the schools.

Mrs. H. E. Warrick and Mrs. E. P. Weatherby have returned from a visit with Mrs. Joseph Shoemaker at Omaha. The Kindergarten club were entertained at six-thirty dinner last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Huse. Lealand Spaulding arrived in Norfolk from Cheyenne, Wyo., for the purpose of joining the local order of Eagles. He will return to Cheyenne as soon as the installation is over.

W. H. Layha and Miss Chestnut-wood, who accompanied the remains of Mrs. Layha to this city Tuesday, returned to their homes at Kansas City on the noon train today.

Now that it's all over, how about that base ball. There will be men here to watch the sport this summer, and ladies, too. With two big government buildings going up they will want something doing, and be willing to pay for it. The minstrel troupe of Richards & Pringle is in the city for an engagement tonight at the Auditorium. This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock they appeared on the streets with a grand free street parade, which, with its music, attracted a large crowd.

A remarkable score at bowling was made last week by "Butch" Marquardt, in a run of three games. He made 237, 251, 265 in three consecutive games, striking an average of 251. This is pretty near the state record of 252, which is held by a Norfolk man, Al. Wilkinson.

MAUNDY THURSDAY.

First of the Three Most Solemn Festivals of the Church.

[From Thursday's Daily.] Today is Maundy Thursday, the anniversary of the Lord's Supper, at which was instituted the sacrament of the holy eucharist. This is the first of three most solemn festivals observed by the churches, closing holy week and leading up to the triumphal celebration of Easter Sunday, which finishes the Lenten season.

Services were held in a number of the Norfolk churches and will continue up to Easter when appropriate and interesting ceremonies will take place.

The ceremonial of Maundy Thursday, the day before Good Friday, dates back as far as the fourth century, and is supposed to have been a mandate from the New Testament, John xiii, 34, "to wash each other's feet." It was the early practice for prelates or other eminent persons to wash the feet of twelve beggars on that day. The pope himself still performs the ceremony by command of the missal, the Austrian emperor, king of Bavaria and other sovereigns of Latin obedience, and also the Czar of Russia, as head of the Greek church.

WARNERVILLE.

O. D. Munson is shipping baled hay to Omaha.

Mrs. Lulu Penman of Deadwood, S. D., who has been the guest of Mrs. F. A. Killner the past month, went to Omaha Thursday to visit friends.

TEACHERS AT BATTLE CREEK.

List Elected for the Coming Year, by School Board.

[From Wednesday's Daily.] Teachers have been elected at Battle Creek for the ensuing year as follows: Prof. C. A. McCarthy, of Cordova, principal; Miss Gertrude Wade, assistant principal; Miss Grace Montross, grammar; Miss Molly Taylor intermediate; Miss Agnes Carberry, of Norfolk, primary; Miss Ellen Curas, ward school.

CHILD BADLY BURNED.

Margerie Dorsey of South Norfolk Suffers From Flames.

[From Thursday's Daily.] In playing about a gasoline stove, little Margerie Dorsey, daughter of Conductor John Dorsey of South Norfolk, was badly burned on Tuesday. In some manner her clothing was set afire by the flame on the burner and the flames ate through to her flesh and burned her side wickedly. She is resting as comfortably as could be expected.

St. Paul, April 9.—Special to The News: A great victory was won this morning in the United States court, when the Northern Securities were declared illegal. This prevents the merger of the Burlington, Great Northern and Northern Pacific. The case will be appealed.

After the news was out, Northern Securities stock fell three dollars and other stock fell through sympathy.

This office will print your sale bills in an attractive manner.

Mayor Hazen.

Now let's plant a tree.

Even Wilkinson in the First.

Councilman Pasewalk of the Second.

"Bill" Lowe ran like a house afire, without a pace-maker.

There are a number of democrats who could stand it no longer.

If Mayor Koenigstein had not attempted an explanation—

Few of them care to acknowledge that they are democrats this morning.

Al. Johnson says if they had let his poster alone results might have been different.

The entire country, with the exception of the Fourth ward, seems to have gone republican.

Norfolk's Tammany Hall has been retired, perhaps not permanently, but for the time being.

McFarland's majority of a year ago was cut down some, but it was still the largest of them all.

The new administration will be in full effect after the first of May, which is not a weary wait.

Some of the voters had evidently read Mayor Koenigstein's card of declination and thought he meant it.

The weather clerk didn't furnish snow, but there was quite a precipitation of ballots in Norfolk.

With a blizzard in North Dakota the people of Nebraska could scarcely ask anything better than a cool zephyr from the north.

Matrau and Walker were pulled out of the wreck by the democrats but even the republicans concede that they are good men.

President Roosevelt's invasion of the west has aroused Mr. Bryan and he proposes to take a swing around the circle in the east.

"Better sidewalks and more light" was as effectual as Mark Hanna's "Let well enough alone," or the democrats' "Four more years of Grover."

"Tom" Johnson was again elected mayor of Cleveland, Ohio, by an increased plurality. He may not be able for the winter, will soon be in evidence.

It is up to the business men and residents of Norfolk to clean the rubbish from about their premises and give the city a presentable appearance for the summer.

The legislature showed wise judgment in devoting but $35,000 of the public money to an exhibit at the St. Louis exposition. With that amount of money the state should be able to make a display that would attract as much attention as would be given to one produced at a cost of many times that sum. It does not provide as much for junkets and fat salaries, but the commissioners should show that they have the welfare of the state as much at heart as the legislators and should make every penny count for Nebraska. If the public treasury was full to overflowing a larger appropriation would have been proper and right, but in the present condition of the state's finances the legislature did all that could be asked.

HAZEN IS ELECTED MAYOR.

Wins With Forty-Four Votes To the Good.

REPUBLICANS SWEEP CLEAN.

Only Two Candidates on the Ticket Dragged From Democratic Wreck—The People Wanted a Change. Hottest Fight for Years.

[From Wednesday's Daily.] Mayor, M. C. Hazen City Clerk, S. R. McFarland Treasurer, Robert T. Utter City Engineer, W. H. Lowe Councilman, First ward, Dr. G. W. Wilkinson Councilman, Second ward, A. A. Pasewalk Councilman, Third ward, A. H. Kiesel Councilman, Fourth ward, B. W. Walker Member school board, H. C. Matrau Member school board, W. H. Johnson

With forty-four votes to the good, M. C. Hazen, republican candidate, was elected mayor of Norfolk yesterday, to serve during the year following May 1. There were 766 ballots cast on the head of the ticket, fifty-two more than last year. The entire republican ticket with the exception of one member of the school board and councilman in the Fourth ward, was elected throughout.

Not for many years has the interest in a municipal election been so intense as it was yesterday. It was pretty nearly a clean sweep, and an eminent victory for the republicans.

D. J. Koenigstein, the democratic nominee for mayor, was running for a third term. Two years ago he was elected by a majority of 211. Last year that surplus was cut to thirty-six by his brother, Jack. This year he ran forty-four in the lurch.

S. R. McFarland received the largest majority on the ticket, although his lead of other years was considerably reduced by Julius Half. Last year his majority was 224 and this time it was cut to 91. Half received a large vote in the Third ward.

A great deal of interest centered in the councilmen. In the First ward, where the democrats won last year by a majority of 77, Dr. G. W. Wilkinson was elected by five votes.

In the Second, which is always close, H. A. Pasewalk was elected by a majority of eleven. Last year the ward went democratic by a vote of fourteen. The Third about played even on last year's record for councilman, electing A. H. Kiesel with a majority of thirty-one where Tyler, republican was elected last year with thirty-eight to spare.

In the Fourth ward the vote always goes democratic and gave Walker a majority of fifty-three.

On the school board H. C. Matrau received the highest vote, and succeeds himself. W. H. Johnson succeeds S. G. Dean.

Hazen received a majority in but one ward, the Third, but this lead of ninety-nine was too great to be overcome by Koenigstein. It was clear early in the day yesterday that Hazen would be the man. Democrats conceded his election in the afternoon and estimates as to his majority put it all the way from forty to 120.

The election of Robert Utter for treasurer was a big swing. Carl Wilde, democrat, was elected last year by a majority of ninety-two and this year he was beaten by eleven.

W. H. Lowe had no opposition for engineer.

Never before have men stood in such thick squads at a merely municipal election as characterized the streets of the city all day yesterday. Carriages were wheeling everywhere with the great banners of the different parties upon them, and business was in many instances given up for the battle with the ballots.

Thronged of anxious voters gathered about the counting tables at the different polling places immediately after the boxes were closed, and many of them stayed until the chalking up was complete.

Mayor Hazen, as soon as it was clear that he was elected, received dozens of friends in his office, who were all eager to congratulate him upon the signal victory.

Mr. Hazen was elected upon the platform adopted by the republican convention. He has nothing whatever to say at present, but it is generally understood that the platform will be rigidly enforced.

Clinton Smith at Madison. Madison, April 8.—Special to The News: Clinton Smith was elected mayor of Madison in yesterday's election. The campaign was fought not on party lines, but on the question of a liberal or conservative policy in the administration and the liberal party won out. The voting was spirited.

[From Tuesday's Daily.] This is election day in Norfolk. Though merely municipal in its character, the balloting is spirited and eager politicians have kept hard at the race all day. Immediately after 7 o'clock tonight when the polls close, the votes will be chalked up and the winners in the game may be picked probably by 9 o'clock.

At 9 o'clock this morning the polls opened in the various wards. Not many men took advantage of their earliest opportunity and for some little time there was little doing around the booths. Along toward noon, however, the citizens began dropping in pretty constantly and since then there has been a continual stream toward the polling places.

There has been unusual interest in today's battle with the ballots. Men of every type and sort have gone into the voting stalls and registered crosses for their candidates. Carriages, heavily bannered with an insignia to vote with this party or that, have been galloping all over the city since morning, carrying the busy man to vote. Little crowds have stood around on the corners in groups all day discussing the situation, and here and there a candidate has gone down the street with a bunch of followers at his heels.

About the first sign that election day was on, came early this morning when the business man walked down town. All along the sidewalks were the remains of posters which read "Vote for Dr. G. W. Wilkinson, councilman First ward. Better sidewalks, better lights." These posters were pasted on the walks about 9 o'clock last night and when the sun came up this morning, not a legible specimen remained. Every single one from First street to Seventh on Norfolk avenue had been mutilated, torn and covered with dirt.

The spirit of the campaign may be shown by the fact that a printer on THE NEWS, who arrived in the city yesterday, was struck for his vote three times before he could get to breakfast this morning. It simply shows that the election is not a dead one.

The saloons of the city, in accordance with the election law, closed their doors at 9 o'clock this morning and will not open again until 7 o'clock.

The polls were left open until 7 o'clock, in order that men who work until the 6 o'clock whistle, may be enabled to get in with their opinions. Immediately after the closing, the ballots will be counted in the various voting quarters and tomorrow Norfolk will awake with a different sort of feeling.

FIRE DEPARTMENT OFFICERS

W. L. Kern is Chosen for Chief.

DEPARTMENT WILL UNIFORM.

Coats and Caps to be Provided—Chief Hartford Reports—R. H. Reynolds for President, S. R. McFarland Secretary and H. W. Winter Treasurer.

[From Thursday's Daily.] Last night was the regular monthly meeting of the Norfolk fire department and to add to its importance and the interest of the firemen it was the occasion of the annual election of officers. In view of the fact that the state firemen's tournament is to be here on July 21, 22, and 23, there was additional interest in the result of the election as there was evidenced a considerable spirit of rivalry to be an officer in the department when so many firemen from different portions of the state are to be here to partake of Norfolk's hospitality and be entertained by the members of the local department.

The meeting was called to order by President W. L. Kern, with a large number of members present, and the order of business of most interest, the election of officers, was early taken up. It was expected that there would be spirited contests for the positions of president and chief, but not much of a fight was developed in either case. R. H. Reynolds and S. R. McFarland were named for president, but when McFarland intimated that he was not particularly about holding the office Reynolds was chosen on the second ballot.

Henry Klug was elected vice president. H. W. Winter was re-chosen for the position of treasurer.

S. R. McFarland was named for secretary. George Scott was elected trustee for three years, in place of R. H. Reynolds, whose term expires. The other two members of the board are John Krantz and R. R. Smith.

C. E. Hartford, H. W. Winter and W. L. Kern were placed in nomination for the office of chief. The withdrawal of the names of Hartford and Winter made it easy sailing for Kern and he was elected by acclamation.

The successful officers produced cigars and fruit and the members enjoyed the treat during the balance of the session.

Retiring Chief C. E. Hartford presented his annual report, making a statement of property owned by the department, outlining the work done for the year and making recommendations for the betterment of the department for future work. The chief reported 106 members of the department in good standing. Among his recommendations was that the department should have a running team to enter the tournament races; that insurance tax collection law should be more strictly complied with; that a number of new rubber coats be provided for service use and that the department ask the council to assist in purchasing new uniforms which should be kept in a wardrobe to be built in the firemen's hall.

He complimented the members upon their service during the two years he has served as chief and thanked them for courtesies extended to him.

The department took up the matter of new uniforms and it was decided that they should consist of single breasted blue coats with caps to match and with letters and numbers on the lapel to designate the company to which the member belongs.

A committee on uniforms consisting of J. W. Edwards, P. J. Fuesler and John Krantz was appointed. This committee was instructed to appear before the city council and see what body would do toward helping to pay for the uniforms.

Treasurer H. W. Winter made his annual report on the finances of the department and his books were audited and found to be correct. It was shown that the department had above $300 on hand.

The department decided to pay for eleven pairs of running shoes for the equipment of the team already organized by R. H. Reynolds to take part in the tournament races.

The executive committee, having charge of the arrangements for the tournament, reported progress and announced a meeting of the committee for Wednesday night following the dance to be given on Easter Monday.

FORGED A CHECK.

Officers Search Norfolk for Dick Squires.

[From Thursday's Daily.] John S. Burns, deputy sheriff of Knox county, was in the city yesterday in search of Dick Squires, wanted at Bazile Mills for forgery. No trace of the fellow was found in this city and the officer left for O'Neill, where there is thought to be a clue.

Squires, it seems, has been working for Tom Donahue, near Bazile Mills. Tuesday he forged a check with Donahue's name for $126 and cashed it at the Bazile Mills bank, owned by George A. Brooks. Then he left the country and has not been heard from since.

Attractive Easter Window. The Star clothing store presents something new in the way of a display window appropriate to the Easter season. The window was designed and arranged by J. F. Payne and has attracted much attention since it was completed. A principal feature is an original painting of a little girl with a big straw hat which she is apparently about to place over a small rabbit and make the animal captive. ## Danger of Colds and Grip.

The greatest danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by the Kiesel Drug Co.
