Arrangements for the presentation of the comedy-drama, "Our Boys" by the pupils of the high school at the assembly room this evening are practically completed and an enjoyable entertainment is promised all who will attend. The members of the cast have practiced with fidelity and other arrangements are perfect for a good interpretation of a popular theatrical. The musical numbers which will go into the program will round it out nicely and afford great enjoyment to the patrons. The cause is a worthy one and there should be liberal encouragement to the pupils having the matter in hand.

The condition of Miss Grace Spear took a sudden and decided change for the worse today, and her family and friends have been plunged from hope into despair because in her weakened condition it is feared that she will not be able to fully rally from the shock. The report from her bedside at 4 o'clock this afternoon is that she has recovered slightly from the depression of the morning and her friends will hope that she may yet recover. Quite a number of Elks were present, although they were pretty well tired out from the party on the previous night. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The condition of Miss Grace Spear continues very critical today. She rested fairly well through last night and seemed to be somewhat better this morning but has taken a turn for the worse suddenly this afternoon. Mr. Spear returned from Sioux City Saturday night and Dr. Knott came over last night, returning this morning. He gave the family very little hope of recovery, but said he thought there was some possible chance. Mrs. A. M. Gray of Columbus is at the home.

Niobrara Pioneer: The Yankton Press and Dakotan has again changed hands, passing under the control of W. C. Lusk, who has consolidated it with the Gazette. Now if the new owner will dump the old stuff that has accumulated since 1883 and get some system in the make-up and up-to-date ad setting, he will furnish what seems to the writer something that Yankton is worthy to possess—an artistic daily newspaper and not a country affair. As models for a city such as Yankton, the Pioneer points Bro. Lusk to the Norfolk News and Fremont Tribune, both handsome dailies for small cities—and they are in Nebraska.

CELLARS STILL FULL OF WATER.

Many Business Houses Have Been Chilly During Wet Weather.

[From Wednesday's Daily.]

The water continues to fill the cellars of business houses, the city over. The moisture is seeping up from underneath and there seems no way to get rid of it except by pumps. Any number of furnace fires have been put out and people are put out about it, as well. The furnaces under the post office are under water up to the grates, and the office force is shivering most of the time.

Danger of Colds and Grip.

The greatest danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by the Kiebau Drug Co.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP.

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu." For sale by the Kiebau Drug Co.

Locals in THE DAILY NEWS are a paying proposition. If you have a tried you know that; if you haven't, do, cloudy tonight and Friday, with possibly showers south portion tonight. Warmer west portion tonight.

The "Standing Room Only" sign would have been stuck up at the high school building Saturday evening if there had been one in the house. As it was every seat in the large assembly room was taken long before the curtain for "Our Boys" went up, and a number of persons had to be turned away.

The various parts in the play were handled especially well for young amateurs and the crowd went away well pleased. The entertainment cleared about $35, which will be used for the manual training department of the school.

Musical numbers were features of the evening, among which were vocal solos by Miss Nellie Morrow, Mr. Paul Sisson and Miss Roland. Miss Shaw and Miss Clara Rudat gave an instrumental duet and special music between acts was rendered by Miss Gladys Jenkins.

The story of the play is laid in dear old London. The home coming of "Our Boys" starts things, love affairs unsatisfactory to their parents drive them away from home and a final reconciliation joyfully closes things in the garret of a London lodging house.

TUESDAY TOPICS.

Michael Enders went to Winside yesterday on business.

Halsey Gibson is home from Silver Creek for a few days.

It will be the part of wisdom for people to consider that when this spell of weather clears up it will be followed by a frost. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure to the young plants that would be nipped by a frost.

The Northwestern has commenced the work of laying new 72-pound rails between Missouri Valley and Fremont. New ties will also be put in, which will practically replace the old track with a new one. The rails being replaced are of the 60-pound weight.

At shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon, the Rev. J. F. Poucher performing the ceremony, Miss Edna Lawrence, of this city, and H. G. Stapleton of Nebraska City were married in the home of the bride's parents. They will locate in Atkinson. The groom is a railroad brakeman.

The Fremont Tribune recommends clover lawns as a means to exterminate the dandelions in places where the yellow blossomed plant crowds out the blue grass. It has been noted that while the blue grass lawns in that city are almost totally ruined by the weed, the lawns of white clover appear to afford them no foothold.

This year's number of the "Blueprint," an annual publication gotten out by the Engineering society at the state university, has just been finished in the News office today and sent to Lincoln. The book is technical, containing various articles on the science of engineering and is very good as compared with annuals published by other large universities.

A prominent church woman of Lincoln has proven that there is good money in begging when a person goes at it in a beggar-like manner. She was to raise a dollar for the church so she disguised herself as a beggar and sang with a zither accompaniment on a prominent business corner for half an hour, after which she went home and found that her tin cup contained $3.00. Others who were to contribute a dollar to the same cause, unwittingly helped swell her contribution.

Arrangements have been made with the Chicago Lyceum bureau for an entertainment and lecture course for the winter, to consist of five numbers, under the auspices of the Ministers association. Dates have not yet been assigned, but the course will begin after the first of September, and the number of the course will probably be presented at the Auditorium. The musical numbers will be by the Columbian Male quartet and the Dixie Jubilee Singers, and the lecturers will be Father J. L. Vaught, Rev. Dwight Newell Hills and Chas. Batell Loomis, humorist.

Wee Little Chicks Were Stuck.

[From Wednesday's Daily.]

Stuck in the mud in real earnest, and unable to see their way clear in getting out again, a motherly old hen with her brood of half dozen helpless chicks, scolded and worked and worried this morning just in front of a restaurant in North Fifth street. Mired nearly up to their necks in the sticky roadway, directly in the path of passing cabs, the little family thought they saw their finish and were nearly "up against it." A cloud of gloom came over their tiny minds as they twisted and pulled and hauled in vain, trying to free their buried toes, and they very nearly despaired for good. But the cab drivers that came along pulled their heavy horses enough to one side to save the helpless birds from harm and finally the tender touch of a woman's hand carried them all safely home and convinced them completely that everything in this world gets some kind of care from somewhere—and they all peeped about it like jolly good fellows.

Melvin Case Dead.

[From Wednesday's Daily.]

Melvin Case, an old settler of Hoskins, died at his home in that town Monday morning of stomach trouble, and his funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Hoskins church.

Mr. Case was 44 years of age and leaves a wife and a number of children to mourn his loss. He is a brother-in-law of M. Benedict of Melvin, and it will be remembered that his mother was fatally burned last January and died on the 17th of that month. He was a member of the Woodmen and Workman lodges of Hoskins and was highly esteemed by his acquaintance.

They Imagined They Were Warm.

[From Wednesday's Daily.]

There are things, now and then, that make it seem pretty clear that if people could imagine they were happy, there would never be anything of trouble, after all; and instead of a cold, gloomy spot where existence is labor, it might be converted, even on a day like this, into a cheerful sort of a resort where life is good to have.

A little incident that has been going on at the Trocadero all day long puts this idea strongly. With water in the cellars and furnace fires out, people have been chilly. At this place, men have been dropping in to get warm. They have gone up to a stove that looked bright and glowing, spread their hands before it and given them a hearty rub. A satisfied look comes over the faces as they get warm and when they are thoroughly comfortable they get cheerful and sociable. The joke of the thing is that a candle burning mildly inside the stove simply gives a look of light, while there is no real heat, at all.

[From Tuesday's Daily.]

The Elkhorn Valley Association of Congregational churches convened this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Second Congregational church at South Norfolk and will continue in session during tomorrow. Delegates are in the city from Creighton, Plainview, Butte, Spencer, Neligh and other towns in the district. Owing to the storm the attendance is not as large as could be desired, but nevertheless the meetings promise to be full of interest.

The topic this afternoon was "Essential Christianity" and the speakers were Rev. J. J. Parker of Plainview, Rev. J. J. Klopff of Stanton and Rev. Geo. McDougal of Bloomfield.

This evening there will be addresses by Judge Williams of Pierce and Rev. F. V. Moslander of Neligh. The subject of the latter will be "Evidence of Christian Experience."

Tomorrow night there will be address by Dr. Rice of New York City. Also address by Dr. Biersley of Hartford, Conn. Both these gentlemen are entertaining speakers and it is expected that a large number will turn out to hear them.

Owing to the storm and the bad condition in which it left the roads an effort will be made this afternoon to have the meetings of the session held up town in the First church, as affording better advantages to the people of the city who desire to attend the meetings.
