Bill Shakespeare should be here to do justice to that Servian tragedy.

It would seem that there would be an epidemic of lock-jaw, or at least of stuttering, in Servia when the people try to say, "Long live King Keragevitch!"

Next Monday is Flag day, when the American people will do honor to the prettiest and proudest emblem of any government in the world. There should be a general display of the flag by all the people on that occasion. The 14th, falling on Sunday brings the public observance of the day on Monday.

The indications are that the Nebraska potato crop will be up to the record made last year, and that new ones will soon be on the market. This year, however, there are chances that better prices will prevail, owing to the drought in other parts of the country, where potatoes, along with other crops must be almost a total failure.

The order of President Hughtitt of the Northwestern that no more Sunday excursion trains and specials shall be run on that system, marks quite a radical change in the life of the railroad man, who has formerly been expected to do a week's cleaning up of accumulated business on the day of rest. It has been determined that Sunday excursions are not good for the morals of the people, and not altogether safe, and the Northwestern is to be congratulated on taking an initiative step toward their removal.

Greatest Modern Tragedy.
Not in modern times has a tragedy of equal scope and import been enacted to that which took place in the Servian royal palace at Belgrade on Wednesday night. It is like a story handed down from mediaeval times. The story that leads up to the crime is replete with court intrigue and sensation, and the murder of an unpopular monarch, his queen, members of the court and of the family forms the basis for an historical work that should and will attract the attention of the best writers of the world.

History of an exceedingly sensational character was made in a few hours and the annals of the assassinated rulers, and of their country, afford a most interesting scope for modern writers to distinguish themselves, and create works that will receive world wide attention. It is a tragedy to outclass Shakespeare's Hamlet, or his Richard III, and rivals Nero's time. There is usually some member of a royal family to escape, but the revolting Servians made a clean sweep, and the strangest part of the story is that there are few to mourn for the murdered rulers. The people are given to rejoicing, and the proclamation of the usurping government is hailed with delight.
While middle age methods were employed in disposing of the royal household, modern thought and modern demands appear to have been the ruling motives. The royal family was unpopular because of its opposition to the wishes of the people. The rights of the people appear to have been woefully outraged and the king and queen and their household governed in a manner to suggest despotism and the assumed right of the family to have its own way in everything, regardless of the popular will. It is suggestive that the world has outgrown governments of a selfish and despotic nature, and that the people, finding no legal course for relief, will eventually triumph, even though a stupendous tragedy is required to right the wrong. The highest form of government makes it possible for a change to be made without the need of a wholesale slaughter, but the modern people are not to be governed absolutely without their consent, even though such a provision is not made for a change.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED

Town of Jackson, Ky., is Quiet as a Result.

SOLDIERS GUARD WITNESSES.

Provost Marshal Longmire is in Charge and No Fresh Outbreak of the People Takes Place—Jurors Have Less Fear.

Jackson, Ky., June 12.—Putting the town under martial law, with Provost Marshal Longmire in charge of everything, has created consternation in some circles and relief in others. The soldiers who now are on guard at different places and on picket duty are able to make arrests anywhere and take those who are under arrest before the grand jury and not before the county judge. It was openly stated that B. L. Ewen would not have dared heretofore to have told about being offered $5,000 if he would not testify against the defendant. The soldiers are disarming all whom they find with concealed weapons and maintaining such order as has not been known here for some time. As it is, the jurors as well as the witnesses have less fear in the discharge of their duties.

RELIEF AGAIN THE VICTOR.

Demonstrates Its Superiority in a Light Wind and Smooth Sea.

New York, June 12.—That she has no equal in American waters in a smooth sea and a light wind, the Reliance demonstrated by another victory over both the Constitution and the Columbia. After a sharp brush, which continued for nearly an hour, the Reliance secured a lead over the Constitution and held it to the finish, defeating her by five minutes, fifty-two seconds. The Columbia lost five minutes by a shift of wind, which placed her to the leeward of the others. The Reliance beat her by twelve minutes, fifty-four seconds. The race was sailed over the American cup course, fifteen miles from Sandy Hook, to windward and return, thirty miles around.

Credit Men Adjourn.

St. Louis, June 12.—The eighth annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men adjourned at the Planters hotel after an enthusiastic session of three days. It was decided that the next annual convention should be held in New York. The formal election of J. Harry Tregoe of Baltimore as president and Richard Hanlon of St. Louis as vice president was confirmed unanimously by the convention.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling into this error, with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proved catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Are you thin? Would you like to get fat and plump? Tried laughing, 't wouldn't work—now take Rocky Mountain Tea—will do the business. 35 cents. The Klesau Drug Co.

Better take Rocky Mountain Tea. Drives away the blues. 35 cents. The Klesau Drug Co.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c size. Ely Brothers, 51 Warren St., N.Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

The June sun shines on many a fair bride, made doubly lovely by the use of Rocky Mountain Tea. The bride's best friend. The Klesau Drug Co.
