

EYES VERSUS TEETH.

When your teeth decay you lose no time in going to a reputable dentist. Why neglect your eyes? You can get false teeth if you lose your own. Eyes are different. If you lose them a pair of glass eyes won't help you. Let me make your eyes good. Some people will say: "My eyes are good, I can see perfectly," at the same time they have all sorts of ailments and are using all kinds of medicines without good results. Everybody should have their eyes examined by a competent ophthalmologist.

THE LAU MELOMEL.

How Hawaiian Natives Go After the Finny Tribe.

"Lau melomelo" is the name of a decoy used by the native fishermen of Hawaii. It is made of the hardest wood to be found on the islands and is carved and rubbed till it assumes the shape of a club with a little knob at the smaller end, to which the line is tied.

The club is from one to three feet long. A village sorcerer performs certain rites over it over a sacred fire. After this is done the club is magic, and the fisherman must be extremely careful of it. If a woman should step over it or enter a canoe in which it lies, the club would lose all its power and would be useless ever afterward.

After the club has been charmed the fisherman mixes candlenut and coconut meat, bakes it and ties the mixture in a wrapper of cocoanut fiber.

At the fishing grounds the club is covered with the oily juice of the stuff and is then lowered carefully to the bottom. The scent of the baked nut meat attracts certain kinds of fish, which soon gather and begin to nibble at the club. As soon as enough fish are around the decoy a small bag shaped net is lowered very gently until its mouth is just over the club. The latter is then pulled up carefully and cunningly till it is within the bag. The fish are so eager for the stuff with which the club is covered that they follow it into the net without fear. As soon as all the fish are in it a fisherman dives and closes the mouth of the net, whereupon the rest haul it up quickly. Washington Post.

LIGHTNING STRIKES HOME.

Aged Couple Narrowly Escape Death This Morning.

BOLT PASSED BETWEEN THEM.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz, East of First Street, Were Dazed by the Electricity—Started Fire in String.

Just as they were getting ready for breakfast at 4:30 o'clock this morning, a bolt of lightning struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz, an old couple of early risers who live in a little cottage just east of the Norfolk avenue bridge over the Northfork. The electricity dropped first upon a corner of the chimney, ripped out a bunch of bricks and then split, half of it passing off the roof and the other portion shooting down into the house below. The ball of fire passed directly between the aged couple, who live all alone, and for an instant Mrs. Schwartz was badly dazed. A ball of string in one corner was set afire but the blaze was immediately smothered.

Fortunately the roof did not ignite and the minimum of damage was done. Chopped feed 85 cents per 100 at the Bee Hive.

For An Ideal Vacation.

Near every settlement of importance in the mountain regions of the West are deep canyons wherein the people at home, as well as those from abroad, seek, in the summer season, the coolness and pleasure of camp life. High up the mountain side, on the shores of mountain lakes, or on the banks of mountain streams, summer hotels are conducted for the convenience of those who prefer to have all of the recreation and none of the labor incident to summering in the mountains. It may be said that wherever there is a mountain in Colorado or Utah there is also an interesting canyon, and the searcher for a spot in which to summer will find no difficulty in suiting his taste, no matter how critical it may be.

To enable persons to reach these famous pleasure resorts, the Union Pacific has put in effect summer excursion rates lower than ever made before.

Teach Language to Parrots.

A queer business which is carried on with considerable success in certain parts of London is the teaching of language to parrots. There are several persons engaged in this strange educational work. The country into which the bird is to be sent is first ascertained, and a sum of 10 shillings a week is then charged for a period varying from two to three months, according to the capacity of the parrot. With a year's tuition the teacher guarantees a bird with a polyglot vocabulary chosen haphazard from four different languages.—Golden Penny.

Cockfighting in England.

For centuries cockfighting was encouraged in English schools. Fitzstephen in the twelfth century mentions it as an amusement of Londoners and that yearly at Shrovetide the boys of every school brought cocks to their schoolmasters, and all the forenoon was spent in school witnessing these birds fight. As late as 1790 the income of the schoolmaster of Applecross, in Ross-shire, was drawn partially from cockfight dues. Down to 1815 at least there was an annual exhibition of cockfighting at the Manchester grammar school.

Wig Dressing.

Not everybody who can dress a head of real hair becomingly can comb a wig with equal success. There is a special knack in wig dressing. In some shops where wigs figures abound one or two of the employees are trained in the art of wig dressing and combine that with their other duties at a slight increase of salary, but in most places the entire business is entrusted to professional wig dressers.

Indiscretion.

"Aren't the perfect trust and confidence engaged people have in each other perfectly beautiful?"

"Perfectly idiotic, I should say."

"Why?"

"Because when I was engaged I told my future wife all about my income and prospects, and now I can't spend a dollar on myself without her knowing about it."—New York Times.

A Cupid Prescription.

"Well, then, how must I make love?"

"First you must believe that there is no one in the world but me."

"I've got that far already."

"Next you must make me believe that there is no one in the world but you."—Life.

An Unkind Suggestion.

"You love my daughter?"

"She's all the world to me, sir."

"Then I don't suppose you'll want a settlement?"—Exchange.
