FRIDAY FACTS.

A special meeting of the Elks will be held tomorrow evening, at which time the question of lodge dues will be up for discussion.

The frame work of the new Presbyterian church at the corner of Philip and Ninth is being erected and rapidly assuming form.

These are the days when hay fever and asthma get in their licks. Many cases of these annoying complaints are reported. Personally the persons affected will welcome the first frost.

The Creighton Courier is publishing item from the "Hornet" of fifteen years ago, among which appeared the following: "W. H. Butterfield of Columbus, Wis., arrived in Creighton last week and is now looking around for a large farm suitable for a horse ranch. This gentleman has ample means at hand and will be a valuable acquisition to this section."

Miss Rozella Cole entertained a few friends last evening at a party given at the home of her parents, Ninth street and Koenigstein avenue. The young guests enjoyed every moment of the evening, which was altogether too short to suit them.

Those pedestrians who are accustomed to enter and leave Main street from Fourth, are hoping that the sidewalks on one side or the other will soon be placed in passable condition so they will not need to be mid-roads for long, especially when the street is muddy.

The annual picnic of the Presbyterian Sunday school was held yesterday at Pasewalk's grove. It was well attended and everyone present had a good time. The picnicers gathered at the grove about 11 o'clock in the morning with well laden baskets, from the depths of which were brought the materials for a bounteous dinner, which was spread beneath the shade of the trees. It was nearly night when the last happy little tot started for home.

Messrs. Bucholz, Mapes, Reynolds and Salter returned this morning from O'Neill, where they took in one afternoon of the second annual meet of the Nebraska Field Trials association. They were somewhat disappointed with the quantity and quality of entertainment afforded by the field trial, and what they saw of the dogs' work did not impress them as of a phenomenal nature. Numerous fine dogs were on the field, but the sport was not half as interesting as to have a rather ordinary dog, and be able to shoot the chickens that fly up, with real shot. The trial was held about twelve miles out of O'Neill.

"OLD ABE" IS HERE.

Heroic Ornament for Federal Court House is Now on the Ground. Weighs About Six Tons.

"Old Abe" has arrived, and is, by his massive inertness, giving the employes about the United States court house a little extra to think about.

Old Abe is a massive American eagle, carved out of stone, and soon to stand guard over the south entrance of the court house. His wings spread out to cover a great block eight feet long, while a width of four feet is required to include the bird from beak to talon. The huge block of stone that is part and parcel of the immense bird weighs six and one-half tons, and the problem is to hoist it to a place above the entrance without breaking or marring. It would be a poser to a great many who are unfamiliar with the work, but Foreman Alke considers it no difficult job and with the stout booms on hand will expeditiously place the proud emblem of his country in place. For the present he will occupy a pedestal of blocks in front of the steps.

The work on the second story has been delayed a little by the non-arrival of the necessary stone, but all that is now needed is on hand and the work is being crowded along rapidly.

Some of the people of Norfolk have been worried for fear that those red, rusty-looking spots on the outer walls of the building would be a permanent feature of the building. Inquiry brings the information that climatic action will soon bring out the color of the stone and these stains will be entirely removed, the wetting and drying, freezing and thawing will soon operate to clean the stones.

PUMPING PROPOSITIONS.

Another Received From the Sugar City Cereal Mills.

BOTH ARE LAID ON THE TABLE.

The City Attorney Gives an Opinion that a Contract of the Kind Would be Illegal—Water Commissioner Beswick Resigned—Other Business.

The city council met in regular session last evening, there being present Mayor Hazen, Councilmen Brummund, Spellman, Tyler, Walker, absent Councilmen Kiesau, Wilkinson, Zuelow.

After approving the minutes of last meeting, the petition of Chas. H. Johnson and others for a sidewalk along the south side of Madison avenue was laid on the table.

Mr. Gaylord was informed that he might build sidewalk near the lot level on the south side of Madison avenue.

The special committee appointed to confer with the county commissioners regarding the east Park avenue matter, reported that the commissioners had investigated the matter and declared the disputed 33 feet from First street to the river a part of the public road and could not be closed up.

The street and alley committee reported the Park avenue ditch mowed and surveyed and they were now ready to receive bids for digging same.

The resignation of Wm. Beswick as street commissioner was presented and accepted.

The mayor stated that there had been two applications for the position of street commissioner, E. Hartman and Mr. Bateman, and left the choice to the council. On motion Ernest Hartman was elected.

Motion prevailed that business men along Norfolk avenue may use temporary crossings over the ditch, crossings to be not more than six feet wide and to be made temporary, to be taken up, and to be built under the supervision of the street commissioner.

The report of the city clerk for the months of May, June and July, was presented and referred to the auditing committee.

The special committee appointed to investigate the proposition to pump water for the city, presented a contract for the consideration of the council.

The attorney gave his opinion that a contract such as was proposed could not legally be made, as no appropriation had been made for such purpose and could not now be made this year.

Isaac Powers, as attorney for the Sugar Cereal Mills, submitted a proposition to pump the water under the same conditions as the proposition of the Norfolk Electric Light and Power company, except as to furnishing the arc lights, for the sum of $166.37 per month.

Remonstrances signed by sixty-three citizens and tax payers, protesting against making such a contract was read.

After considerable discussion of the matter by the council and citizens, a motion was made and carried that the pumping propositions be laid on the table.

The mayor stated that J. Hauptle offered if the city would furnish material, he would do the work necessary to put in the street crossing on Twelfth street and Taylor avenue. The offer was accepted by the council, the crossing to be two feet wide.

An ordinance regarding width, material and repairing and condemning sidewalks, was read and passed the first time.

CIRCUS DAY IS TOMORROW.

And Bright and Early the Small Boy Will be About, Watching the Unloading Game.

Tomorrow will be circus day. Before the sun has gotten up into the heavens, an aggregation of animals, athletes and performers of other types will have arrived in the metropolis of northeast Nebraska for two performances, only. One of the performances will be in the afternoon—not an usual time for a circus—and the other will be in the evening.

It is the first circus to come to Norfolk this season, and will likely be the last, besides. The small boy who carries water for the elephant misses one thing. If it were only a bit later, he could stay out of school for a day. And still, coming Saturday, he could not very well play hooky, either, so it's about up to him to get all the fun out of it that he can, and say nothing.

Nebraska State Fair.

The board of managers of the Nebraska state fair, which is to be held in Lincoln from September 4 to 11, inclusive, are confident that the fair of 1903 will be the greatest fair in the history of the organization. The new buildings erected are ready for occupancy, and in the stock department there are buildings to accommodate 1,200 head of hogs, 500 head of cattle, and 200 head of horses. Already the entire space for hogs has been taken, and cattle and horses are practically on the same basis. County exhibits of agricultural products will be larger than ever, and the Horticultural society, notwithstanding the fact that it is a poor fruit year in the state, expect to have a great showing of what Nebraska can do in this line. For entertainment the fair people have doubled their purses in speed this year, and have $8,000 in purses, which gives three strong races every day of the fair. On Tuesday, at the expense of $1,000 the managers have secured Crescens, the greatest trotter of the world, who holds the world's record. This great horse will trot against his record on Tuesday, and if the track is bad and the weather not in condition, he will be held for the next day. Wednesday has been set apart for Fraternity day, and thousands of members of fraternal organizations in the state will be present. Competitive drills and prizes will be a feature of this day. Every day will be made strong and interesting with band concerts and special attractions, so that any day in the week will be a good day to visit Lincoln and the state fair. One fare for the round trip from all points in Nebraska has been granted by the different railroads. Tickets will be sold from September 7 to 11, inclusive, good to return on the 12th.

FARMERS ARE WELL PLEASED.

Those Who Have Raised Beets This Season are Universally Pleased With the Outlook.

Manager J. N. Bundick, who is home from a business trip to Omaha, states that the beets down along the Elkhorn valley were never in better condition and that a good run may be expected this fall if no unfavorable circumstances come in to spoil things. The campaign for converting the saccharine roots into little specks of sweetness will begin during the next month and before many more weeks roll by, another force of several hundred workmen will be making their daily trips to the factory. The farmers who are raising beets this season are universally well pleased with their prospects.
