FRIDAY FACTS.

The Ludwig Koenigstein music studio will reopen Monday morning, after four weeks of rest.
B. Meyers & Co., who burned out in Norfolk last spring, have commenced an action in the district court to recover $1253.33 from the Aetna insurance company.
A large gang of section men are being employed today on the Union Pacific track, where it crosses Norfolk avenue, in raising the rails to some extent.
While using the long distance phone to Omaha yesterday morning Train Dispatcher J. J. Welch of the Northwestern at Fremont was knocked from a chair by a bolt of lightning which struck the wire, and laid for some time on the floor limp and lifeless. He was unconscious for about five minutes. In falling his head struck a radiator and spitted, raising a big bump, but he was otherwise uninjured.

A contract for building a new brick block has just been obtained by Norfolk men. Reynolds & King will do the mason work upon it and B. Hight the carpentering. The contracts were secured above bids from firms in Omaha, Scribner and several other towns.

The wind came down from the north this morning with an apparent determination to make a considerable reduction in temperature and reminding the people that winter is not many moons to the north, and chasing down after the good old summer time like the Reliance after the Shamrock.

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Salter very pleasantly entertained a company of about forty friends at their home, corner of Koenigstein avenue and Tenth street, last night. Six-handed euchre was a feature of the evening's pleasure, a delightful supper following the cards. The day was a wedding anniversary for the host and hostess.

A quantity of the face brick for the United States court house has arrived and is being today hauled to the site. The material is beautiful to look upon and will make an imposing front for the second and third stories of the new structure. The mammoth steam derrick is being put into place today and before many hours the heavy materials will all be swung upon this.

Marquis Reynolds, who was badly hurt in an accident with a pony and cart a few days ago, is considerably better today. In the mix-up Marquis had several teeth broken off. He fell forward from his seat in the cart and for a time it was thought that the pony had kicked him. Now, however, it is thought that he fell upon a bolt and broke the teeth upon its sharp edges.

Albert Strube and Fred Shaffer of Plainview were before County Judge Williams at Pierce Wednesday charged with having burglarized the hardware store of Brown & Sorenson at that place. They were both minors. The crime was committed last month, the boys being released on bond. Strube behaved during the time he was out on bail, but Shaffer had stolen $3 from another boy and was mixed up in other lawless acts. Strube got ten days in the county jail and Shaffer was sent to the reform school.

The general merchandise store of Miller & Berger at Pierce was damaged by fire Wednesday morning in the sum of $4,500. The back end of the building was destroyed and the contents of the front part were damaged by smoke and water. When the firemen arrived on the scene the flames were leaping into the air twenty or thirty feet, but with the new system of waterworks they were quickly controlled and the people were pleased with the service. This is the third fire of the year, all three within a rod or two of each other, and it is almost certain that all were of incendiary origin. The firm carried $4,500 insurance on the stock. The building is owned by DeWitt Eager of Duff.

WENT HUNTING WITHOUT LICENSE

William Strong and Randolph Krake Lose Their Guns and Will be Arrested by Rainey.

William Strong and Randolph Krake are each minus a first class shot gun and are liable to be minus a bit of cash to boot for violating the state game law which requires a license for shooting in outside counties. The pair of shooting irons were confiscated last night by State Deputy Warden J. A. Rainey and the arrest of the two men will follow as soon as warrants can be made out. They are both residents of Norfolk and were caught shooting, it is said, in Pierce county, by the deputy. He has written to Pierce for the warrants and will sell their guns at that place, in accordance with a section of the statute.

Besides the guns, Rainey brought in a jack rabbit which had been killed. It is said that Krake and Strong will fight the case and George Carter, the state game warden, will be on hand to try the cases.

The law provides that it shall be unlawful for a person to fish or hunt within this state without a license; provided that any person may fish and hunt within the county of his actual residence without a license. The fine for violation shall not exceed $50, or imprisonment not to exceed thirty days.

PROBLEM IN SANITATION

Excessive Moisture Threatens Health of the People.

DRAINAGE IS BEST PREVENTIVE.

Precautions as to Diet Essential, and Decaying Garbage Should be Disposed of—Dry, Cool Weather May Prevent Epidemic of Sickness.

The people of Norfolk and the people of other towns and the country of this section are right now confronted with a most serious problem in sanitation and the preservation of health, and all that can be done should be done to prevent an unusual amount of sickness and an increased number of deaths.

There is no disguising the fact that the continued wet weather of the spring and summer that has filled the cellars and soaked the ground and created pools and ditches full of surface water is decidedly against the general health of the people and the problem of doing something effective is one that puzzles those best informed as to the laws of sanitation and health.

On this subject a reporter for The News this morning interviewed Dr. P. H. Salter, who is of the belief that the only certain way to prevent disease is a thorough system of drainage, which the city evidently lacks, and which it may be impossible to inaugurate in time to do much good this year. The city administration has been doing much along this line, that is proving effective, but the lack of previous administrations has bunched it all up into one big problem that is a poser and the season is bringing out the faults of drainage as no previous year has done.

If it is impossible to correct the fault at this time, Dr. Salter considers it of next importance to be careful as to diet. The humid weather tends to reduce the vitality of people and make them ready victims to disease germs that are produced by stagnant water and decaying vegetation. Such germs find fertile germinating places in fruit and vegetables that have begun to decay, in milk that has commenced to sour and in stale bread—all of which should be rigorously prohibited, especially to children, who are more susceptible than adults. This reduction of vitality is the reason of so many summer colds, and the colds leave the system open to attack from more serious diseases.

Decaying vegetation and refuse should not be permitted to accumulate about the premises. Vaults and cesspools should receive careful attention and every possible precaution taken to prevent the germination and spread of disease.

Many people have an abiding faith in the liberal use of chloride of lime to overcome germ diseases in damp places and purify the atmosphere about the house. The doctor was a little skeptical as to the general efficacy of this substance. While conceding that it kills the germs it touches, he has not much faith in the effect of the smell it gives out in overcoming the germs in any large area, and still it might be used. It can certainly do no harm. Disinfection with formaldehyde-sulphur might likewise be of value toward the destruction of germs, and in a season such as this it is not only allowable but desirable that such methods of promoting health should be given a trial.

Fermentation and germination are favored by hot, moist weather, and perhaps the best thing that could happen for the health of the people situated as are those of Norfolk, is for the drying up of the moisture to take place during cool weather such as now seems likely for a few days. This is just the contrary of what is needed for the development of the corn and other crops, but the people might better stand the loss of a harvest than the loss of health and perhaps life.

Mrs. N. A. Daniels, having purchased a home in Omaha, directs me to sell her lots, corner Norfolk avenue and First street, being 100 feet on the avenue and 176 feet on the street. Both buildings newly papered and painted. City water, good dry cellars, cistern, fine shade trees—at a very slight cost there can be thirteen bedrooms, there are nine now—just the place for a boarding and rooming house. Will be sold cheap.
J. E. Simpson, Agent.

AUDITORIUM OPENS THURSDAY.

Norfolk Theatre Season Will Start September 3 With "A Messenger Boy."

The theatre season for Norfolk will begin next Thursday night when the Auditorium will open with "A Messenger Boy." Proprietor Dunlevy has not been in the city for some time and the bookings that are to follow can not just yet be obtained, but he is expected by the first of the week. The initial play of the year will be put on by Sweet, an actor not unknown in Norfolk, having played here two years ago in "A Jay in New York." He is said to have a much better company now than then, and patrons will no doubt turn out well for the first night at the playhouse.

Notice for Bids.

Bids will be received by the undersigned for digging a ditch on north side of Park avenue from First street to the Northfork river, as per plans and specifications to be seen at the office of H. A. Pasewalk. All dirt to be delivered on the dyke near the C. St. P. M. & O. railway bridge or other places the same distance. The street and alley committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids. All bids must be in by 12 o'clock noon, September 2, 1903.

ARRESTED IN A SALOON ROW.

Frank Dederman Wanted to Run the Whole Bar, But the Proprietor Objected Strenuously.

Trouble in a saloon last night resulted in the arrest of Frank Dederman, who will be on trial tomorrow afternoon before Judge Hayes. Frank came to town and tried to start something. He went into the saloon and thought he'd run the joint. Before he knew it, he was in trouble with the proprietor and a lively mill seemed inevitable. Frank is said to have pulled a club with which to nail his man, when another party stepped up from the rear and stopped the stick. Frank landed on the sidewalk outside, Night Watchman Pilger came along and then the fireworks.

Frank is not an unknown individual in police court and is said to make trouble frequently.

Credit to Norfolk.

The Catholic cemetery in this city enjoys the unique distinction of having in the Father Kertson monument, which was unveiled Monday, the most magnificent memorial to the dead ever erected in this county, if not in northern Nebraska. The shaft is of St. Cloud granite with Bedford coping and grave guard and is wholly the design and workmanship of M. M. Stannard of Norfolk, which reflects great credit on him, as he secured the contract in open competition with local as well as Omaha and Chicago firms. The government inspector of the federal building, now in course of erection at Norfolk, inspected the monument thoroughly and pronounced it perfect before it was accepted. Messrs. Garrett, executor of the estate, and Father Bartholomew, the parish priest are to be congratulated on their success in erecting this noble shaft in the memory of the honored dead.—Madison Star-Mail.

SONS OF HERMANN TO BANQUET

Will Dine Daniel J. Koenigstein in Farewell Meeting Tonight—Notable Guests.

The local lodge of the Sons of Hermann will hold a farewell meeting tonight in honor of Daniel J. Koenigstein, who is to leave the city for Los Angeles early next week. The meeting will be held at the lodge rooms and following the social session will come a magnificent banquet which has been prepared. Mr. Koenigstein has been a grand trustee of the order and stands high among members of the order. Members from out of town who have arrived for the meeting are: Fred Volpp, of Wayne, the grand president; John Schmiedler, of Stanton, ex-grand president; Charles Rhode of Columbus, grand trustee.
