State Architect Says They Will be Ready.

THE COMMITTEE VISITS BOARD.

Stir up the Members and Get Assurance That the Work on Nebraska Institution Will Start Before Very Long—Mr. Tyler is Busy.

A committee of Norfolk business men visited Lincoln Tuesday, returning Wednesday, in the interest of the insane hospital which Nebraska has appropriated $100,000 for. They stirred up the state Board of Public Lands and Buildings and were promised that the plans would be ready by November 1.

State Architect Tyler assured the committee that he is now at work on the plans and that he will have them ready within less than a month. After that it is understood that time will have to be taken out for bid advertising and to attend to other preliminary details before actual labor may be begun.

The committee consisted of G. A. Luikart, W. M. Robertson, W. H. Buehler, N. A. Rainbolt, Burt Mapes and C. D. Jenkins.

It is believed the plans can be completed and the contract awarded during the month of January so that work on the building may be commenced early in the spring. They were also pleased with the statement that the board had adopted the cottage system. The building destroyed by fire will be torn down and in its place an administration building will be erected. The money available may be sufficient to do this and to erect four cottages. None of the buildings for the patients will be more than two stories in height.

AGREEMENT REACHED WITH THEM

State Board of Public Lands and Buildings Promises to Start Things Soon.

"We reached an agreement with the state board of public lands and buildings," said G. A. Luikart, one of the committee who attended the conference at Lincoln, "whereby Norfolk's state institution will be started without a doubt in the early spring."

"State Architect Tyler has agreed to visit the site on November 1. He has agreed to have plans ready on December 15 and the state board has promised that if the plans are ready on December 15 they will have the contract let by January 15 so that material may be hauled to the point before the building season opens and then the work will be begun as soon as spring commences."

The autumn season is now endeavoring to demonstrate that it is as much of an old soak as the balance of the summer in this vicinity, and there are those who are already beginning to fear that next season will be weter than the last and that there will be stacks on stacks of snow between times and during the winter.

The marriage of George H. Whaley, formerly principal of the Norfolk high school, and Miss Bertha Remington, will take place Wednesday night in the Congregational church at Neligh. Rev. W. J. ## TWELVE COACHES TO BONESTEEL

It is Expected that Fully 800 People Will Take Advantage of the Excursion Rate.

Prospects at the Northwestern headquarters this morning were that at least 800 people will take advantage of the cheap rate to Bonesteel tonight and that fully twelve passenger coaches will be required for the transportation of land seekers. The excursion train will leave Norfolk Junction station at 9:40 o'clock, arriving at Bonesteel Thursday morning.

A good program of sports and attractions, including the famous war dances of Chief Bear and several cowboy feats of daring, has been arranged by the enterprising citizens of the end of the railroad. The reservation land, consisting of 418,000 acres of government ground which will likely be thrown open soon, will be visited and thoroughly inspected by the city's guests.

Excursionists will arrive in Norfolk on all evening trains from Sioux City, Omaha, Fremont and other points, to say nothing of the jam which is expected from the Northwestern line west.

PLAINVIEW MAN IS GONE.

D. H. Fair, Merchant Burned Out, Left Hastily.

Plainview, Neb., Oct. 14.—Special to The News: D. H. Fair, one of the merchants whose store was burned in the recent fire, has left town and has neglected in his departure to liquidate a number of financial obligations in Plainview. The man whose house Fair lived in is holding the sack. So is the telephone manager. So, also, a furniture dealer and several others for small amounts. It is thought Fair went to Omaha. Before leaving he told some of his creditors that he had received no insurance money and was unable to pay. To others he said nothing. Good authority, however, points to the fact that Fair did receive his insurance. It is claimed he hauled his household goods to the train without knowledge of people in town and when an attachment on property was attempted the goods had gone.

NEW BRANCH OF MASONRY

Degrees of the Royal and Select Masters.

CONFERRED LAST EVENING.

Officers of the Grand Council Were Present and Did the Work—Link Between Chapter and Commandery, Well Pleas'd Members.

At the regular meeting of Damascus chapter, No. 25, R. A. M., held last evening, the Royal and Select degrees were conferred upon a number of candidates. Besides the local members there were present W. L. Ritter of Omaha, grand master of the grand council, Arthur Truesdale of Fremont, Judge Phelps of Schuyler, Judge Grimson of Schuyler, A. R. Meagher of Columbus, all officers of the grand council of Royal and Select Masters. Those upon whom the degrees were conferred were very well pleased with the work. The Royal and Select degrees form a link between the Chapter and Commandery work in Masonry and are gaining in popularity wherever introduced.

A special dispensation will be issued to Damascus Chapter to confer the degrees and when there are enough members in Norfolk to constitute a council one will be established. The grand officers left for their homes this morning, promising to return and institute a council when Norfolk is ready.

LOCAL VIEW OF AWFUL AFFAIR.

The death of Johnny Wagner, aged five, occurred last Saturday morning, and in this appears to be involved one of the most shocking tragedies ever heard of in this vicinity. Conflicting stories make it hard to ascertain the true facts in the matter, but the account first circulated and quite generally given credence in deates that the little boy was the victim of a deadly assault committed by two older school mates and that his death was the direct result of the brutal treatment received at their hands. Johnny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Wagner, living about one mile south of town, and had been attending the Oakdale schools, in the beginners class. On Tuesday afternoon of last week the little fellow came home in an exhausted and injured condition, unable to hold his head up straight, but neither the boy nor his folks then realized the serious nature of his injuries. From the account the boy gave his folks of how he got hurt it would seem that he was set upon by the boys, presumably in the sandy lane west of the school ground, and while prostrate on his face in the sand was jumped upon by the boys, which severely injured or partially dislocated the upper part of his spinal column, and also forced considerable sand into his mouth. He gave the names of Sammy Black and Nat Wilson, nine-year-old boys of the primary department, as his assailants. So far as known, no one else saw the affair. It developing that the boy was badly injured, a doctor was called who found the boy suffering from severe injuries to the spinal cord. The boy lingered a few days, becoming partly paralyzed after a time, and died at 1 a. m. Saturday. A coroner's jury was empaneled and the inquest held Saturday afternoon. The evidence submitted to the jury was not sufficient in its estimation to enable it to declare the cause of the fatal injury to the boy or to fix the guilt upon any person. The Black and Wilson boys denied knowledge of the matter, though it was reported they made incriminating admissions before the fatal termination of the case. Were the injuries inflicted accidentally or unintentionally and without malice, it might do to stop here. But if the little boy was assaulted in a vicious manner with intent to do him great hurt, then it practically amounts to murder and it will be most unfortunate if nothing can be done to convict the guilty parties and give them a penalty commensurate with the crime. On Saturday afternoon the funeral was held at the home. It is a sad blow to the family. Johnny had always been a strong, healthy boy, and the cruel manner of his death is an agonizing thought to his family and friends.—Oakdale Sentinel.

MADISON.

Allen went to Lincoln last week to look after some matters in the supreme court in which the firm of Allen & Reed is interested. Nathan Lowry, who operates a large ranch in Stanton county, was in the city on Monday handshaking with his old-time friends, and all were pleased to greet him. Mrs. J. J. Clements received word from Marengo, Iowa, on Tuesday that her brother, Charles Clapper, who resides there, was quite sick, and she took the train Tuesday evening for his bedside. ## COMPANY L DRILLING STEADILY.

Norfolk Militia Boys are Getting in Shape to Do Things to the Camp.

The boys of company L will give their second dance of the season at Armory hall this evening and it is expected that a big crowd will attend. The militiamen are just now putting all of their spare time getting ready for the camp at Fort Riley. Every night the boys are drilling hard at the armory and just now they are getting in shape on battalion drill. They expect to do things to other companies in camp and every indication points toward the fact that they will. The Stanton contingent will arrive on Friday night in charge of Captain George Eberly.

THURSDAY TIDINGS.

The Ladies guild of Trinity church will meet with Mrs. Doleson Friday afternoon at 2:30.

C. W. Hamilton of Creighton was a guest over night at the home of his son, F. L. Hamilton. He was on his way home from Dodge City, Kansas, where he has been looking over the country with a view to investing. The farmers there find that they can raise abundant crops of winter wheat without irrigating, and Mr. Hamilton is of the opinion that the country will build up rapidly. He visited one farmer who had 10,000 bushels of wheat stacked up in his yards, having no granary room in which to store it.

The early morning train from Neligh brought to the city Mr. and Mrs. George H. Whaley who were married at Neligh last night. Mr. Whaley will be remembered as having made Norfolk his home during his high school principalship. Mr. Whaley spent most of the morning calling on his friends in Norfolk. Somehow or other they had all heard of it before he came around and they also had been put next to the way he was jollied by Mayor Mad Huffman of Neligh after the ceremony last evening. Mr. Whaley was given no surcease from the jesting here.

For several days past there has been a disagreeable if interesting spell of weather. Intermittent showers and a chilly northeast wind have started numerous colds, and not a few cases of grip, so that the doctors are again having something to do. The sun has not shown his face for several days, and the dampness resultant has lowered the vitality of the people so that they have been ready victims to the germs of aggravating if not dangerous diseases that have been floating around through the air. This morning the wind changed to the northwest and, though damp and chilly, it has been loaded with ozone that makes the people feel decidedly more comfortable than the depressing northeaster that has held sway.

TICKET OF REPUBLICANS.

Precinct Convention Held in City Hall Monday.

WAS A BAD NIGHT FOR MEETING

But Despite the Elements, a Large Number of the Party Turned Out to Help Place a Ticket in the Field—Prospects Never Brighter.

For justices of the peace—S. W. Hayes and L. M. Jaylord. For constables—J. A. Rainey and J. M. Covert.

For road overseer district No. 1, Ernest Boldt. For road overseer district No. 8—August Schultz.

That is the ticket which the republicans in precinct convention at the city hall Monday night, placed in nomination.

It was a bad night for a convention but for all that a number of the loyal members of the party came out for the convention and helped name the ticket. The convention was enthusiastic and speeches tended to show that prospects could not be better.

The committee was empowered to fill vacancies.

The following are members of the committee: W. H. Widaman, Jake L. Hershiser, S. R. McFarland, Jack Koenigstein and C. P. Byerly.

"If I Could Get Rid of this abominable cold," exclaimed the sufferer, when the end of a spasm of coughing gave him a chance to talk. The way out of the trouble is plain. Take Allen's Lung Balsam before the merciless grip of the cold has fastened upon throat and lungs. After a few doses the cough is easier and less frequent, and a complete cure is but the question of a little time.

PLANTING 10,000 FINGERLINGS.

Superintendent W. J. O'Brien of the state fish hatcheries at North Bend has just succeeded in convincing the government fish authorities that Nebraska should be included in the list of trout states, and has secured a consignment of 10,000 rainbow trout from the government hatchery at Neosho, Mo., which he will plant in the Niobrara river and its tributaries. He has been able to secure fish eggs of almost any kind desired, but this is the first consignment of trout set aside by the government hatcheries for Nebraska. The 10,000 secured are what is known as fingerlings, which means that they are from six to twelve months old and quite competent of looking after their own welfare. Rainbow trout were selected because they do well in Nebraska streams, although brook trout are equally successful. An attempt to plant lake trout in Nebraska has met with failure. Of other varieties in the waters of North Nebraska, Superintendent O'Brien is quoted as saying:

"The brook trout have made a better showing and as a result of their introduction, practically all the tributaries of the Niobrara river contain this species. During the summer of 1901 I had an opportunity to examine some of these streams, and have seen many fine trout taken. It is no uncommon sight during the summer months to see strings of from a dozen to fifty trout brought into Neligh, Ewing, O'Neill, Atkinson, Stuart, Long Pine, Bassett, Johnston, Valentine, Chadron, Harrison and Crawford. The principal streams in which they are found are the Verdigre in Antelope county, the Bazille in Knox county the Eagle, Red Bird and Big Sandy in Holt county, Pine and Plum in Brown county, Evergreen, Minnehadua, Boardman, Gordon and Schlegal in Cherry county, Chadron and Bordeaux in Dawes county, Hat, Sowbelle creeks and White river in Sioux county. Limited numbers are also taken in the headwaters of the Niobrara in Sioux county, they are also found in a few streams in Custer, Keith and Kimball counties. Like the brook trout, the rainbow trout have also proven very successful. They are found in practically all the streams that contain brook trout, and specimens weighing as high as seven pounds have been taken from Pine creek, Brown county. I personally caught ten in a small tributary of the White river in Sioux county in 1898 that weighed in the aggregate nearly forty pounds. As no trout were found in the state previous to 1883, I think no one will question the success of this branch of the commissioners' work. Hundreds of people go out from Omaha, Lincoln and other towns to fish in these clear sparkling streams for trout, and the money spent in this way is considerable.

The rainbow trout have made if anything a better showing than the brook trout in the streams in the northwest part of the state, and the demand for the stocking of streams with this fish is extensive and insistent.

From about forty brown trout in the ponds, we collected about 25,000 eggs during the 1901 spawning season, and about the same number the past fall. Small plants of these trout have been made several times along with the brook and rainbow trout, but their introduction into the waters of this state has not been attended with the same success, as has the brook and rainbow trout, those planted last spring were put in with the rainbow trout and counted as such. Were it not for the fact that we have a few breeders on hand I would favor dispensing with their culture. We have abundant evidence that the brook and rainbow trout are best adapted to the waters of this state, and the propagation of other trout has been largely a waste of time and money."

MYSTERIOUS FIRE AT NIOBRARA.

Fire Broke Out in the Draper House From Unknown Cause, but Was Extinguished.

Creighton, Neb., Oct. 15.—Special to The News: Fire which started from an unknown source, caught in the Draper house at Niobrara this morning and threatened damage for a time. The blaze was finally extinguished by hard fighting men and little harm resulted. There is no clue as to the start of the flames.

Light Business for Them at Albion.

Albion, Neb., Oct. 15.—Thieves entered the C. & N. W. depot in this city Monday night by prying through the window and they were successful in getting the sum of $3.05 in small change that was left in the money drawer. They left the safe without trying to break into it. They also entered the meat market of J. E. Vasey and obtained $1.50 in pennies and nickles. It is supposed that the work was done by some local parties although there is no clue. Albion has experienced several small burglaries in the last year and up to date no arrests have been made.

RAIN IS A BIT DISAGREEABLE.

Bonesteel, S. D., Oct. 15.—Special to The News: With a rather disagreeable rain falling upon them, 522 excursionists, occupying sixteen passenger coaches and requiring two special trains to carry them, arrived in Bonesteel early this morning to look at the tract of reservation land which is to be opened to homesteaders at some future date.

The first train arrived over the Northwestern at 4:50 o'clock and the second came in at 5:25 this morning. The visitors were a bit tired after the night's ride but good breakfasts braced them quickly. On account of the weather all of the sports planned for this afternoon may not be carried out, but Chief Bear and his band of warriors are here and there will likely be something doing.

The visitors are pleased with Bonesteel, its location, its enterprise and its modern advantages.
