There's the Trouble...

YOUR money gets away in so many different ways that "you hardly know where it goes to." You have too many things to think about to keep posted on the prices of good, honest shoes. You have to depend largely upon what the dealer tells you, and fully one-half of them know nothing about shoes, when it comes to wearing qualities. We have made the shoe business a life study; that is one reason our shoes are so much better than others. All of our shoes are made up to wear and bring you back again for more. We are always studying to make our shoes wear and fit better. Come in and look over our styles.

JUDGE BARNES RETURNS.

Newly Elected Supreme Judge is at Home.

HIGH STACKS OF TELEGRAMS.

The Judge Feels Especially Grateful to the Voters of Madison County for Their Loyalty, and to The Daily News for its Help.

Supreme Judge J. B. Barnes, elected to the highest judicial position within the gift of the people of Nebraska on last Tuesday returned to his home in this city last evening from Lincoln where he had been on official business.

When seen by a reporter for The News in his office this morning, Judge Barnes was busy opening a stack of telegrams and letters piled high on his desk, which bore to him the congratulatory messages of friends throughout the state and country at large.

When asked for a statement, Judge Barnes said: "You may say for me that I am very much gratified over the result of the election and I am especially grateful to the voters of Madison county for the magnificent majority which they gave me without my having spent a single hour in campaigning among them. I also wish to state that I heartily appreciate the great support of The Daily News throughout the entire campaign."

The Judge estimates his majority at between 8,000 and 10,000. He was especially pleased with the honor which was done him by the voters in his old home, Dixon county, where he ran away ahead of the ticket.

Above the desk of his stenographer, where she has pasted them, are many ridiculous cartoons made by democratic papers upon the judge. You might just keep those," said the judge to his stenographer, "they're too rich to throw away. I feel," he went on, speaking of the muddled campaign that the World-Herald has conducted, "like the general who, after the war, said, 'Well, now let's have peace.'"

LOCAL LINNINGS.

A baby boy was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. O. Stuky, South Fifth street. L. L. Rembe, who has been very ill with typhoid fever, and who suffered from three relapses with the disease, is now very much better. His little daughter, Gertrude, was quite sick with the same illness.

One of the jolliest parties of colored people that has been held within this circle in Norfolk for a long time, was a feature at the home of Miss Myrtle Gains, east of the Junction, last evening. Miss Myrtle is eighteen years old and her friends celebrated the occasion merrily. Singing and dancing were features. Many pretty presents were received.

Mrs. Thos. J. Bolt has returned from her sad mission to Marshalltown, Iowa, where she went to bury her husband five weeks ago. Since the funeral she has been visiting with the relatives of Mr. Bolt and the friends who have known him and honored him for years. Mrs. Bolt will continue to make South Norfolk her home, for the present at least.

Rev. W. Haresnape, with his wife and three children, has arrived in Norfolk from Long Pine and is settling his family in their new home at South Norfolk, he having purchased the home of Conductor W. Hurlbert. Rev. Mr. Haresnape is the recently elected pastor of the Second Congregational church, and will be ready to occupy the pulpit there next Sunday.

SOCIALLY SPEAKING.

Birthday Party.

Miss Mary Lee Hayes, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Elliott Hayes, entertained a number of friends yesterday afternoon at the Oxnard in honor of her third birthday.

Surprise Party.

A jolly surprise party was given last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Gaylord, Phillip avenue, in honor of Miss Nora Jounge of Osmund and Miss Mabel Whitla of Battle Creek. Miss Jounge will leave the city tomorrow for her home. Merriment was made with many good games and toothsome dainties to eat ended the fun.

Euchre Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Sol G. Mayer entertained a large company of friends at their home on the corner of Madison avenue and Tenth street last evening in honor of their sister, Mrs. Simon Mayer of Lincoln. Six-handed euchre was the feature of pleasure for the evening. At this Mrs. D. Mathewson took the first prize for ladies, winning in a cut from four others; Mr. N. A. Rainbolt won in a cut for first gentleman's prize and Mr. J. S. Mathewson, in a tie, won the shouting prize. In the service of refreshments, which was exceedingly pretty, ice cream was uniquely brought on in tiny, dainty flower pots with a carnation blooming fragrantly in the center of each, for the guests. Mrs. Mayer will be again at home this afternoon to a company of ladies.

OFFICIAL VOTE OF MADISON COUNTY, NOVEMBER 3, 1903.

Table with columns for candidates and precincts (Norfolk, Battle Creek, Warnerville, etc.) and rows for various candidates like John B. Barnes, Charles S. Allen, etc.

THE OFFICIAL RETURNS.

Increased Republican Majority Shown by the Figures.

COMPARISON WITH PAST YEARS.

Judge Barnes' Majority is the Largest, Except One in the Past Seven Years on the Head of the Ticket. Change of 566 Over 1897.

The official returns published today show that Madison county is more strongly republican than ever before, and yet, in spite of the large republican majorities there is almost a complete reversal in favor of two of the democratic candidates—Winter for clerk and Bates for judge.

The largest majority is for W. H. Lowe, republican candidate for surveyor, 483, while that for Clements, republican, for sheriff, is a very close second with 481. In the case of Emil Winter, fusion, for clerk, there was almost a complete reversal, he receiving the third largest majority on the county ticket, 408. Winter was a second term man, had transacted the business of his office acceptably, and was popular with the people, which perhaps accounts for his showing. Bates, the fusion candidate for judge, went in with 371. He has served several terms in the office acceptably and his friends throughout the county are many.

The closest race on the ticket was between the two candidates for coroner. Kindred, the republican nominee, winning out on the official count over Salter, by the margin of eight votes. The next closest race was between Rynearson and Preese for assessor, the republican candidate getting a majority of 86.

Judge Barnes' majority of 361 was a flattering compliment from his neighbors and friends, being the largest majority for the head of the ticket, except one, since 1896. The real significance of the vote, however, is shown when it is considered that Judge Sullivan, the present fusion nominee, carried the county for his first term by 205, the present vote showing a change of 566 for Barnes. The change in political sentiment is responsible for this in part, but the greater share of the credit is due to Judge Barnes' personality and the energy of his numerous friends.

The following are the majorities since 1896:

- 1896—Majority for the republican presidential electors, 153. 1897—Sullivan, fusion candidate for supreme judge, 205. 1898—Poynter, fusion, for governor, 26. 1899—Reese, republican, for supreme judge, 86. 1900—Republican presidential electors, 370. 1901—Sedgwick, republican, for supreme judge, 270. 1902—Mickey, republican, for governor, 231. 1903—Barnes, republican, for supreme judge, 361.

Gambling the Worst Vice. Of all the vices to which men are addicted gambling is undoubtedly the worst. Gambling has a worse effect on the mind and conscience even than drink. The inveterate gambler cannot remain honest; he does not remain honest.

We talk earnestly to the young man with the gambling habit because many such young men are strong in ability and character and would render good service to the world if they could use their energies properly.

The gambling instinct is a perverted form of ambition, the most dangerous of human perversions. Every young man who has genuine strength should think about gambling from his own point of view, and his own pride should give him reasons for stopping. If you want success in life you should want it as a result of your own efforts, not as the result of any accident. The gambling instinct is weak as well as vicious. It is self indulgent and contemptible; it represents the desire to get something for nothing.—New York Journal.

AT THE THEATRE.

The Head Waiters.

Joe Kelly and his merry bunch of Head Waiters were at the Auditorium last night and there were no complaints about the menu or the service. Fun—that's all there was to it, but there was plenty of that to make a meal. For anyone to find a plot in the piece would be enough for a fine or thirty days in jail on bread and water. There was no meat to the bill—it was all pie and cake and ice cream and cream puffs that the head waiters brought on.

The Auditorium was packed. Not a better house had turned out this season. And they all laughed joyously. Joe Kelly, the pipe dreamer, was the limit. Very droll was Joe. He was good fun when he blew the automobiles off his hand but fish were his hobby. He liked boneless ice cream and fish's feet best of all. Jack Vincent and William A. Inman did the Percy and Harold stunt in good form and Izzy Cohn was clever enough. Lew Kelly, as the detective, was a versatile boy who took well. He took everything he could get. Bert Wangewright and his ladies sang some catchy bits of song. J. Edward Pierce with a magnificent voice, and Marie Roslyn were well received. The affair concluded with a huge burlesque on the modern "War Drama," which brought out the full strength of the company.

A Girl From Sweden which comes to Norfolk soon, as its name would indicate, has for its principal character a Swedish girl. She is a young girl of eighteen who has been orphaned after coming to America, and the theme of the play deals with her heart story. Incidentally we will have the eccentricities of a typical Irish woman of middle age and of the witty and garrulous kind—Chimaman, just such a one as is found in every town in the northwest, and two different types of the Indian today, as well as a young Swedish boy, playing important parts in the plot. Music, song and specialty features are in abundance, and a most capable company in the several characters. "A Girl From Sweden" should attract a large audience here.

BATTLE CREEK.

The Young Ladies' Good Time club gave a gala dance at the opera house on Halloween.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Day, who were recently married, arrived Wednesday from Missouri Valley for a visit with his brother, Station Agent Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox and baby started Tuesday for Los Angeles, California, where they are going to locate.

In Battle Creek precinct the demops elected the precinct ticket. It was different in Highland.

Dr. I. K. Daniel returned Sunday from Des Moines, Iowa, where he was interested in a medical institute several months.

Mike Plonzek was visiting with his parents in Schoolcraft over Sunday.

T. S. Cook drove to Norfolk Saturday on business and returned the next day.

John Catron was down from Tilden Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolf of Hadar were visiting here Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. B. Fuerst.

Mrs. C. A. Hedman is on the sick list this week. W. H. Spillner of West Point has purchased the Henry Stinger 150 acre farm three miles east of town for $8,000.

Judge John B. Barnes, Commissioner Geo. D. Smith and Justice Henry Neuwerk were the only republicans who carried Highland precinct on election Tuesday.

Cards are out announcing the betrothal of Miss Kate Glandt of Battle Creek and Mr. August Holdorf of Holdorf and Mr. August Holdorf of Holdorf. In a letter to Herman Hogrefe, John Wurtzel of Lincoln announced the death of his wife who had been sick but a short time. Mr. Wurtzel formerly lived here for some years, being in the stock food business, and is well known in this vicinity.

Henry Berry of Elgin visited here Sunday with relatives. He went home Monday to do the right thing by the right party in Antelope county on the third.
