

MAY OPEN ROSEBUD IN MAY

That is What the Man From Washington Thinks.

BILL TO GO THROUGH SENATE

It is confidently expected that the Senate will have passed it before Saturday night—Rush of People is Already On—Expect 75,000.

Yesterday's Northwestern train which passed through Norfolk to Bonesteel, carried Special Representative Backus of that place from Washington, where he had been in the interests of the Rosebud reservation bill, back to his home in Gregory county. Mr. Backus was in Washington the other day when the Rosebud bill went through the house of representatives and he predicts that before Saturday night it will have passed as safely through the senate of the United States. It is hoped that the bill may even be passed at the senate's session today.

Having once passed through that high body of the country's lawmakers, nothing will remain in the way of opening up the Rosebud reservation of 416,000 acres of choice land, except the signing of the bill by President Roosevelt and it is thought by the Bonesteel man that the chief executive favors the measure and will apply his name the minute he gets sight of the paper.

"The bill went through the house without a ripple of objection," said Mr. Backus in speaking of the success which he and Mr. Lucas have had in Washington, together with Congressman Burke and others who have been boosting hard for the passage of this measure which means so much to Gregory county and to the entire new northwest. "Everybody seemed to be heartily in favor of it and I confidently expect that before next Saturday night the bill will have passed the senate as easily. It may even come sooner."

May the Month.

At the beginning of the fall, things looked far more dubious for the opening of the reservation but now that they have brightened up and the bill is actually being taken through the halls of legislation, there seems every prospect in the world that the opening will soon take place. Mr. Backus even goes so far as to state that he thinks the drawings for those 416,000 acres of free land will be held in May.

Expect 75,000 People.

"Few people can realize what a mammoth influx of humanity will result the minute that the doors are opened," remarked a Northwestern official who was in the same car. "We look for fully 75,000 people into the Bonesteel country as soon as the land is thrown open to the outside world. I don't see how we are ever going to take care of the traffic, but that is what we earnestly anticipate."

Rush Now On.

"In fact," he continued, "the rush has already begun. Every day right now we are hauling a large number of people up into that territory for the purpose of being on the ground floor." And to substantiate his statement the railroad official pointed to over a dozen men in the same car who had bought tickets from different points east for the end of the railroad.

Last Government Drawing.

"You see it is the last chance that the people of the United States will have at a drawing of free government land of this sort. Look at the masses of people who went down into Oklahoma. What was a vast prairie on one day had developed into a real living city by the next. Besides that, the Rosebud has so long been advertised and the people have for so many moons had their eyes upon it, that the minute they are allowed to get into the game, they will rush into that country by the tens of thousands.

"Why every man I meet is going to take in that drawing. It isn't a small per centage of them, mind you, or even a large one—it is everybody you meet from the shores of the Mississippi to the sage brush of the far west. Why it is actually astounding when you ask people if they are going up. 'Going?' they say. 'Why of course I'm going. It doesn't cost anything to try and I've just as good a chance as anybody else to win a bunch of land. To be sure I'm going up just the minute it is opened.'"

Where Will They Sleep?

"I don't see what on earth the people of Gregory county are ever going to do with those people when the rush comes on. There aren't hotels enough in the state of Nebraska, hardly, to take care of the crowds that will come this way and if there isn't a little bit of fighting for feed and bedding for beds, I don't want a cent. Even on that excursion up the line on September 12, there weren't enough beds in Bonesteel to take care of the people who had come to see the reservation, and the stores were lined with strange sleepers that night. And if a crowd like that would go up for a look at the earth several months before there was anything definite in the way of a prospect for opening, what kind of a crowd would you expect when the real drawings are begun?"

"They tell me," went on the railroad, "that there is already a floating population of over fifty strange people in Bonesteel every day right now. Some of the citizens there, who have gone in and helped make the town, have been devoting a good share of their lives for a long time in getting ready for this rush which is about to come.

Means Much to Norfolk.

"Of course," he said, "the opening of the reservation will mean a great deal to Norfolk. It will mean more to Norfolk, perhaps, than it does to any of the towns which are right in the territory. It will mean the opening to this city of a vast amount of retail trade which will be positively brand new. It will mean the opening up of a territory for Norfolk which ought to support a city of considerable size. And of course Norfolk can't help taking advantage of it when it comes although there is a great, great deal of it already that ought to count very much and no doubt does."

NORTHWESTERN TO HAVE REVENGE

Report Says That They Will Build West From Hastings to Counteract Burlington Move.

The Nebraska State Journal publishes the following on the authority of a Northwestern railroad man: "If the Burlington railroad fails to build the connecting link with the Great Northern from Sioux City to Ashland this year, it will be because the Northwestern has been able to frighten it out of the undertaking with threats of an extension of its own line from Hastings to Denver. Officials who know the inside of the situation have given the information privately that an ultimatum of this kind has been laid down by the latter road and that it will be adhered to.

"Ever since the announcement was made that the Burlington intended to build the Sioux City-Ashland line, the Northwestern has been up in arms against what it considers an invasion of its territory. The new line would run close to the Minneapolis & Omaha west of the Missouri river and below Norfolk would almost parallel the main line of the Northwestern's Nebraska & Wyoming division. The object of the Burlington is not so much to secure local business as to provide a gateway to Lake Superior, but the Northwestern looks upon any building scheme in northeastern Nebraska as direct aggression upon its rights.

"If the Burlington should persist in its intention to build the connecting link, the starting of work upon it will be the signal for the Northwestern to begin the extension of its Hastings line west to Denver. The construction of a Denver line by the Northwestern would have its effect on all other western roads and probably destroy the balance existing among them. On this account, it is not unlikely that pressure will be brought to bear on the Burlington by the Union Pacific and the Rock Island to abandon its project.

"The question resolves itself into this form: Will the Burlington be benefited more by the Sioux City-Ashland line than it will be injured through Northwestern competition into Denver? Another query that suggests itself is this: Would not the Northwestern welcome an opportunity to build westward upon any pretext, in order that it might become independent of the Union Pacific?"

MAY GET ANOTHER ROUTE

Farmers Living Southwest of City are Petitioning.

HAVE NOW ABOUT 100 SIGNERS

The New Route Will Cover a District Which Has Not Yet Been Traversed By the Government Mail Delivery—Less Than 25 Miles Long.

There is a strong possibility that another rural route out of Norfolk may be established in the near future. Residents of the district southwest of the city which is not now traversed by any one of the government lines of delivery, are anxious to have a service from Uncle Sam similar to that which their neighbors are receiving and they are going after the matter in a thoroughly organized manner.

Already a petition has been circulated and no less than 100 names have been placed upon it. Burrell Reed is one of the patrons whose farm would be on the line of travel. "It would go south on Thirteenth street," says he, "and would traverse the section in which live a large number of people. The route would not exceed twenty-five miles in length."

There are now four routes out of Norfolk. They have proven wonderfully successful in many ways and those farmers who at first were not heartily in favor of them, are now becoming fast friends to the system and are even boosting for its promotion throughout the agricultural districts.

The rural carriers are about as hard worked people as the next industriously inclined these days. Out early in the morning, no matter how cold the weather may be, they drive over their territories of some twenty-five miles apiece and never return until the afternoon. They serve their patrons faithfully and are becoming absolute necessities in the life of every community.

One thing that ought to be remedied is the pay that these men receive. They are obliged to furnish their own horses and wagons; they are compelled to wear government uniforms; they do nothing else, to speak of, for incomes, and they do not receive compensation of the prize package sort for their labors.

A PASTOR WHO WAS BEFRIENDED BY AN EMPEROR SAVED BY PE-RU-NA.

Rev. H. Stuebenvoll, of Elk Horn, Wis., is pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran St. John's Church of that place. Rev. Stuebenvoll is the possessor of two bibles presented to him by Emperor William of Germany. Upon the fly leaf of one of the bibles the Emperor has written in his own handwriting a text.

This honored pastor, in a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, says concerning their famous catarrh remedy, Peruna:

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.
Gentlemen: "I had hemorrhages of the lungs for a long time, and all despaired of me. I took Peruna and was cured. It gave me strength and courage, and made healthy, pure blood.
