

TO CONVENE IN COLUMBUS

Republican Congressional Committee Fixes May 17.

WILL RENOMINATE M'CARTHY

The Republican Congressional Central Committee Met in Norfolk Last Night and Determined on Date for Convention—Delegates to Chicago.

The republican congressional convention of the Third district will be held in Columbus May 17. This was determined by the members of the republican congressional central committee which met in the parlors of the Pacific hotel last evening. Columbus was adopted as the convention city by unanimous vote, there being no other city suggested.

The date for the convention is one day before the state republican convention convenes at Lincoln. No action was taken by the committee in regard to the United States senatorship.

To Renominate McCarthy. It was conceded by the committee that Congressman McCarthy would be renominate by acclamation.

In regard to the position of delegates to the national republican convention at Chicago, for which several candidates have been mentioned, the committee discussed the prospects in an informal way. Frank Nelson of Niobrara was mentioned by George A. Brooks of Knox county; G. W. Williams of Albion was mentioned by committee men from that section and Mr. Piper of Burt county was brought forth by P. L. Rork of Tekamah. This was only done in an informal way and nothing of a definite nature was attempted.

The representation to the Columbus convention will be based upon the vote received by Mr. McCarthy two years ago. For every 100 votes cast of major fraction thereof, one delegate will be allowed, and one at large. This will make over 200 delegates in the convention. It will allow Madison county fifteen.

The committee present were: G. N. Seymour, Elgin; R. F. Williams, St. Edwards; P. L. Rork, Tekamah; J. F. Jenal, Hartington; E. H. Phelps, Schuyler; J. C. Elliott, West Point; Sheriff Sides, Dakota City by proxy for J. J. Elmers, South Sioux City; Dr. O'Connell, Ponca; C. C. McNish, Fremont; George A. Brooks, Bazile Mills; Burt Mapes, Norfolk; M. L. Rossiter, Silver Creek; J. A. Osborne, Genoa; Walter L. Mote, Plainview; Carl Kramer, Columbus, by proxy for H. O. Hanson; E. M. White, Stanton, by proxy for W. W. Young; E. A. Wiltse, Pender; W. H. McNeil, Wayne.

IS NO CHANCE FOR FIGHT

United States Will Not Be Drawn Into the Battle.

HAS NOTHING AT ALL AT STAKE

Nothing, at Least, of Enough Moment to Warrant a Clash Between the American Government and the Russians—So Says Walter Wellman.

Walter Wellman, in a Washington special to the Chicago Record-Herald, says:

"There is not one chance in ten million that the United States is to become involved in the Asiatic war. This statement was made to me by a member of the American government, whose relations with President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay are so close and confidential that it may well be said he spoke for them.

"Naturally the president and the secretary of state cannot make public utterance in such a question. But their views and the views of the leading members of the government here are so well known, that I am able to reflect them with accuracy. To many readers it may seem that any such assurance is superfluous. And yet your correspondent, during a recent journey in the Northwest, was often asked the question if there exists any serious danger of the United States becoming embroiled in the hostilities between Russia and Japan. Moreover, the somewhat excited and almost hysterical outpourings of the Russian press, prompted in part by the Russian government itself, have served to increase the feeling of anxiety and to add to the fear that sooner or later the United States may be involved.

It is also true, as anyone may discover by tracing Washington and conversing with the people out in the states, that there exists just a little trepidation on the score of President Roosevelt's supposed love for military operations and his penchant for getting into any muss that may be going on in his neighborhood. This feeling does exist to some extent, and it exists among the very men who most admire the president. They do not believe he is rash or that he would wantonly take steps which might plunge this country into war, but they feel that if, through the exigencies of circumstances, a strained relation were to arise between the United States and Russia, the president might not be as discreet and cautious as, for instance, Mr. McKinley would be, were he still alive and in the presidential chair.

On these accounts I have sought information as to the actual state of opinion in our government with reference to this possibility. Such information I have sought in the highest quarters. There is here not the slightest fear that the United States may be drawn within the vortex of war. There is no desire that the United States become involved. There is no belief that this country has any stake in the outcome of the present hostilities which could in any probable contingency warrant the drawing of the sword by the United States.

President Roosevelt has just as much idea of embroiling his country in war with Great Britain, or Mexico, or Italy, as he has of taking the part of Japan against Russia, which of course, means that he has no thought of such a thing and never has had. Russians may feel that American sympathies are with Japan; they may feel that there exists a real danger that the United States may, in the end, take part in the struggle on the Japanese side. But their fears are groundless. The only way in which Russia could draw the United States into hostile action would be by making war upon the United States, and no one in his senses believes Russia will do such a thing as that.

SCHORREGGE SELLS HIS BAKERY

Lewis Brothers are the New Proprietors of the Business.

E. J. Schorregge, one of the pioneer business men of Norfolk, has sold his bakery, fancy grocery and confectionery business to Thomas and William Lewis, who took possession yesterday and are now conducting the business at the old stand. Mr. Schorregge has been in business in Norfolk for many years, but recently his health has been failing him and he decided to dispose of his store and bakery and rest up.

Mr. Schorregge is vacating the rooms he has occupied as a residence and is moving to a cottage on Madison avenue, between Third and Fourth streets. He expects to spend some of his time in traveling and visiting with relatives in this and other states, and will not engage in other business for the present.

The brothers who succeed him came here from Sioux City. Both are experienced bakers and one has been in the employ of Mr. Schorregge for about a year. They expect to conduct the business on the same line as has been pursued by Mr. Schorregge, making such changes as they see fit from time to time.

TIMELY TOPICS.

If the Kinkaid 640-acre homestead bill were left to the newspapers of the Sixth district it would pass with very little delay. There has never been a bill before congress with such a direct bearing upon this part of the world, and which would have such far reaching effects here as this bill. If the judge is able to get it enacted into a law he can call on western Nebraska for anything it has. It would mean the doubling of our population; the building of new towns; the doubling of the value of the lands now farmed; the doubling in a few years of tax lists; new railroads, and everything that goes with a larger population.—Albion Star-Journal.

Some of the most eminent medical men of the country—including a good many leading doctors in every community—contend that medicine not only does no good, but actual harm; that what the people need is to be taught to avoid medicine, and eat less, eat slowly, take exercise, and keep out in the fresh air as much as possible. If this contention is true—and there is little doubt about it—isn't it too bad that in every community there are influential men practicing medicine? The habit of taking medicine has become so firmly fixed that we have heard intelligent physicians say they cannot persuade their patients not to take it; that they often give sugar pellets, to satisfy patients who insist on taking something, but who would be harmed by medicine. Isn't it a pity that the people are not taught the simple, important, truthful things, instead of great theories that befog and injure them? The medical men in every community are intelligent and influential, and the medicine habit is growing. Many newspapers are supported by medical advertising; the people of this country pay more for medicine than they pay for bread. The facts are that we, the people, have been taught wrong so long that we have no sense; we neglect the simple and important truth, and follow off expensive and injurious fads. Surgery and physiology are important sciences, but medicine is mischievous, dangerous and useless.—Atchison Globe.

If that little hole in the bottom of the Retzivan, the crack warship of the Russian navy, built in the United States, is forty feet long as reported by an alleged eye witness of the first battle at Port Arthur, it isn't much to be wondered at that she serves now merely as a stationary battery with her keel resting in the mud. It will take a long time to close up a cleft of that dimension.—State Journal.

COUNTY ASSESSORS MEET

Half Dozen Counties Were Represented Here.

ADOPT SEVERAL NEW IDEAS

County Officers From Northern Nebraska Points Met at the Oxnard Their Work More Methodically. Their Work More Methodically.

[From Wednesday's Daily.] Assessors from half a dozen counties in northern Nebraska met at the Oxnard hotel in this city yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing plans that will be of mutual benefit to the profession.

They decided to request deputies to return books as early as possible from each precinct so that the accounts will not all come in at one time and thus congest the labor. This will give the assessors a chance to check up in time.

Mortgages held by non-residents of the county in which a man is assessing, will be listed and the list sent to the county in which the man lives. By thus exchanging, the man who owns a mortgage in some other county will have to pay assessments on his value just the same. A farmer against whom there is a mortgage is not given the right to subtract the amount of mortgage against his property. This point is now in the supreme court of the state.

Treasurers' books are to be looked over so that all titles will be assessed. Fat cattle in feed lots are to be valued at market price on April 1. Those here were: A. A. Baker, Knox county; G. H. McGee, Antelope; Frank Strelow, Pierce; John Hanff, Stanton; W. B. Cooper, Holt; H. B. Brueggeman, deputy for Madison County Assessor Rynearson of Madison was able to be present.

HAD A BAD THREE HOURS

Friends of Fred Yeoman Thought He Would Die.

HE HAD BEEN DRINKING HARD

The Effect of the Spree Was Bad on His Heart, and His Friends Hope He Has a Lesson That Will Act for His Reformation.

Meadow Grove, Neb., March 2.—Special to The News: Fred Yeoman, who lives on a farm in the neighborhood, came to town yesterday and punished a considerable quantity of the amber fluid. While Mr. Yeoman's stomach craves the beverage his heart refuses to stand for the strong stuff and the latter organ went back on him last evening and for three hours he lay in an unconscious condition at the livery barn, his friends fearing momentarily that his death would ensue. Dr. Campbell was busy attending to Mrs. Chas. Crook, who is very low, but when he could leave for a short time he gave Yeoman a hypodermic injection that brought him back to consciousness and recovery for the present, but it is believed that he will not withstand many more attacks of a similar character. It is hoped by his friends and neighbors that the experience will prove a lesson to Mr. Yeoman and that in the interest of life and health he will refuse to indulge in alcoholic stimulants in the future.

Dr. H. L. Kindred took the 11 o'clock train yesterday for Florence, to which place he had been summoned to attend the funeral of his mother, who died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

Dr. Campbell of Tilden is looking after Dr. Kindred's practice during the absence of the latter to Florence. Mrs. Chas. Crook is very low at her home a mile east of the city. Dr. Campbell was in attendance during the greater portion of last night, and hopes that his patient is improved this morning.

ANOTHER FIRE AT ELGIN

Narrow Escape of the Second Elevator at That Place.

PROPERTY OF NYE SCHNEIDER

Fire Was Discovered at 2 O'Clock This Morning Just in Time to Save Building from Destruction—Started From Hot Gasoline Engine Pipe.

[From Wednesday's Daily.] Elgin, Neb., March 2.—Special to The News: Elgin very nearly experienced another disastrous elevator fire this morning. The Nye, Schneider elevator was discovered to be ablaze at 2 o'clock in the morning by J. M. Hutcheson, who was just returning from a drive into the country, and by great good luck the flame was extinguished soon after.

A tiny tongue of fire had eaten its way up the side of the building and was just licking off the wood, preparatory to consuming the whole plant, when chemicals and water were thrown upon it. The people of the town got out in a hurry and worked hard to save the elevator.

The fire started from the exhaust pipe of a gasoline engine, which had heated a chest until it burst out.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

Most people find lots of comfort in a sick doctor.

When a poor cook makes apple pie, the top is most as hilly as Atchison.

When a woman has children of the croupy age, she looks like goose grease, from November till May.

A grass widow writes the Globe: "Atchison people are very thoughtful and kind. I have been here for five weeks, and no one has asked about my husband."

Your mind is a funny thing. You think and think, and try to do the best thing possible, and then do the worst thing. A man wrote a play. He intended putting it on the road. The venture would cost him a good deal of money. A good name meant success. So he thought and thought, and finally decided on the "Punkin Husker." The name meant nothing. It killed the play, and the author lost all the money he had. He did the worst thing possible after doing his best. He thought and thought, and brought his judgment to bear on the question, and then made a fool of himself. You have often done the same thing. Isn't it remarkable that all of us do not fear that which we call The End?
