

FOR STEALING BREAD

HUSBAND SENT TO JAIL AND WIFE IS FINED.

MOTHER STOLE FOR CHILDREN.

Employed at the Queen City Hotel She Takes Things and Gives them to Her Husband to Feed Himself and Children—Admits Their Guilt.

Albert Bert and wife were before Justice Fuller's court yesterday charged with stealing kitchen utensils, dishes and provisions from the Queen City hotel, the complaint having been filed by Landlord A. D. Howe.

They pleaded guilty to a portion of the charge lodged against them and were fined $10 and costs each. Mrs. Bert promised to pay her fine and her husband was taken to Madison on the afternoon train by Chief of Police Kane, where he will serve out his fine in the county jail.

Mrs. Bert had been employed at the hotel, going on duty at 5 o'clock in the morning and it is said that it had been her custom to hand out provisions to her husband for himself and children.

SATURDAY BIFTINGS.

F. Moore as down from Creighton yesterday. J. H. Hilde was over from Madison yesterday. Geo. Mitchell was in the city from Osmond yesterday. Willis McBride of Madison was in the city over last night. Mr. Root of Lusk, Wyo., was a Norfolk visitor yesterday.

Sylvester Lewis and wife were over from Madison shopping yesterday. G. C. Weber and Mr. Williams have gone to Lincoln on insurance business. Mrs. J. H. Atter was down from Battle Creek yesterday on a shopping tour. A. J. Hengstler was in the city on business yesterday from Battle Creek.

John Wenke of Plainview is in the city on his way home from Casper, Wyo. George Marsh and Miss Jennie Miller of Orchard are visiting friends in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rehfeld of Plainview are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Koehn on Brauch avenue.

Mrs. B. Dentler of Council Bluffs, Iowa, is in the city visiting with her sister, Mrs. Suter. Leland Spaulding is home from Madison where he captained the base ball team through a short but successful season.

Mrs. A. J. Durland and Mrs. Burt Mapes and children drove to Madison today to visit with Mrs. T. F. Memminger. Rome Miller of Omaha arrived in Norfolk on business yesterday at noon.

Judge H. Wade Gillis was in the city over night on his way from the county fair at Madison to his home in Tekamah.

Miss Pearl Archibald, a student at the state university who has been teaching at Lead City, South Dakota, passed through Norfolk yesterday enroute to Lincoln where she will resume her work.

Frank Jackson of Fairfax passed through Norfolk yesterday enroute home from a trip through the Black Hills with his father. The trip was one of combined business and pleasure. He had driven to Stuart from Fairfax last Friday.

Al Johnson says there is not a fish-worm or a fair substitute in town, and if anyone is authority on the subject, it is Al.

Fourth street has been partially graded as far as the alley north from Madison avenue, and another layer of clay and soil will be added if the contract and specified cost will admit of it.

The gas company is piping from the main that runs to The News office into the Auditorium, where the gas will be used for heating the dressing rooms and for other purposes of convenience to the actors and actresses.

Circus day has again come and gone in Norfolk, the Norris and Rowe show leaving late last night for Columbus, where they will exhibit Monday afternoon and night. The next attraction on the Norfolk program is the baseball tournament on September 27, 28 and 29, when four of the fastest teams in northern Nebraska will contest for the liberal purse hung up by the local committee.

The horse attached to the plumbing wagon of O. W. Rish indulged in a spurt of speed last evening, running from Twelfth street to Tenth on Norfolk avenue. Near Tenth the wagon collided with an obstruction, smashing one of the wheels and the frightened animal was afterward stopped. The plumbing tools that were in the wagon were scattered about rather promiscuously and Mr. Rish spent some time in getting his property together.

During one of the hippodrome races at the Norris & Rowe circus yesterday afternoon one of the ponies attached to a chariot fell and was dragged a considerable distance by the other ponies in the team. The little animal's rear side was badly cut as the result of the accident and one of its fore legs and one of the hind legs were badly sprained. It was with difficulty that the brute made its way to the cars, but the hostler thinks that it will recover in a few days and be able to perform its share of the work and take part in the performance again.

Get to school right with a supply of News' tablets.

NEW NORTHWESTERN TIME CARD

Most Passenger Trains Will Leave Five Minutes Earlier Commencing Tomorrow.

A new time card takes effect on the Northwestern tomorrow which makes five minute changes in a number of the passenger trains. At the city depot the train from Bonesteel will arrive at 5:45 a. m. instead of 5:55, departing for the east at the same time. The afternoon train for Bonesteel will leave at 1 p. m. instead of 1:05. At the Junction depot the morning passenger from Long Pine will arrive at 5:45 instead of 5:55. The Omaha morning train will leave at 4:10 instead of 4:20. The midday passenger from the Black Hills will arrive at 12:15 and leave at 12:25, which is five minutes earlier than before. The Chicago and Omaha passenger will arrive at 12:25 instead of 12:35 and depart for Bonesteel at 12:50 instead of 12:55. The train for Long Pine will leave at 12:50 instead of 1 o'clock. The evening passenger from the east will arrive at 7:35 instead of 7:30 but will leave for the west at the same time, 8 o'clock.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS

THE PAST AND PRESENT IN NEBRASKA.

LOCUST PLAGUE OF LONG AGO.

State Has Arisen From Hard Times and Poverty to Wealth and Abundance—Recollections of an Early Settler of North Nebraska.

Great changes are wrought by the hands of Time, none greater than has taken place in this section of the west within the past thirty years. It seems but yesterday, when a boy of 12 years, we stood in the old farm yard in Maple creek precinct and watched the grasshoppers devour everything within reach; there were millions of them, and one who has not gone through a scourge of the little pests can have no idea of their numbers. The time referred to was thirty years ago, perhaps a few days earlier in the month. We remember that the grain was cut and the most of it was in the shock; the old Marsh harvester, purchased of Sumner Bros., among the pioneer business men of Schuyler, stood in the yard between the house and barn, if the sod structure used in housing the team of mules employed in doing the farm work could be given that name. It was about the noon hour when what appeared to be a black cloud showed up in the northwest, and soon a rumbling sound was heard and the "hoppers" commenced to descend upon the growing corn. A forty acre field that had been the pride of the household soon fell (literally eaten up) as before the reaper's sickle. Everything in the garden and field was destroyed. As one old neighbor said, "the only thing they did not do was to dig the potato crop."

There was no corn crop that year, but small grain was good, and the pioneers, used to economy, practiced it more stringently and waited for the coming spring that they might seed for another crop. Hogs, cattle and horses were fed on wheat, most of it soaked before feeding, and those who were here at the time will tell you those were hard times in Nebraska. Those of today do not know the meaning of the expression "hard times." Credit could not be obtained except upon the best of security, which few had to offer. Rates of interest were so high as to be little better than robbery. Not a few abandoned their claims, as the homesteads were called, and went back to their "wife's relations," others stayed and fought the battle, winning homes for themselves and families and the honors due a pioneer. The people of the east sent aid to the "grasshopper sufferers" that was timely and greatly appreciated.

But have we not looked upon the dark picture long enough? It is always darkest before dawn. A bright day was soon to break on the dwellers upon our prairies. Good crops, year in and year out, was to be the reward of perseverance and endurance. The sod house, the dugout and the homesteader's shanty are a thing of the past, to be looked upon as a bad dream and repeated to young ears that would swallow only a part of the story. The Nebraska of thirty years ago and the Nebraska of today! What a difference! Land was of little or no value, people poor in purse though brave and resolute, none of the comforts of life and nearly all of its hardships.

Today the same dear old Nebraska blossoms like the rose, cities have been built on her rolling prairies, thrifty towns cluster among the hills and adorn her valleys; everywhere the eye looks with pleasure upon scenes of beauty—finely kept farms, large, comfortable farm houses, good barns and sheds to shelter the beasts and house the bounteous crops that reward the tillers of the soil. No longer is the farmer without credit, no longer does the 2-and-3-per-cent-a-month shark get in his work. The farmer has a bank account of his own; he is the thrifty, progressive citizen, the backbone of the republic. The good friends of the east, who sent him succor, now come to him to buy the bonds of the proud commonwealth that borders on the Atlantic, as an investment for his school funds, and he cannot refuse them. The golden corn is turned into the coin of the realm and our eastern friend takes it home with him singing the praises of Nebraska.

Stand up for grand old Nebraska! Of course we will; so will every son and every daughter of the old pioneer. It is a duty they will never neglect.—Howell's Journal.

CREIGHTON WINS BALL

GIVES VERDIGRE NEXT TO A SHUT OUT.

THE SECOND DAY OF THE FAIR

Ball Game Was 8 to 1 in Favor of the Home Team—Successful Balloon Ascension—Trotting Race Was Won by Verdigre Trotter.

CREIGHTON, Neb., Sept. 16.—Special to The News: The second day of the Knox county fair was well attended and the events of considerable interest. The ball game was rather one-sided to be of the best, nevertheless a good crowd watched it through and but for the hopeless lead the home team had over the visitors would have been quite close. Creighton took the game from Verdigre by a score of 8 to 1, the following being the showing by innings:

Creighton ..... 4 0 0 0 2 0 2 0 0—8
Batteries: Creighton, Alderman and Eddy; Verdigre, O'Keefe and Harta. Hits: Creighton 9, Verdigre 1. Errors, Creighton 5, Verdigre 4. Eddy Creighton took three single baggers; Jack Green 1 and O'Keefe lined out a two-bagger. Struck out, by O'Keefe 3, by Alderman 10. Left on base, Creighton 7, Verdigre 2. Hit by ball, Huffsmith 2, O'Keefe, 2. Umpire, Sington.

Tomorrow the game will be between the Creighton team and the Creek Rats, and a close and interesting contest is in anticipation.

A very successful balloon ascension was made by Mr. Waley with his two dogs, and they held the attention of the crowd during the time of the performance.

The trotting race was won by Parmena, owned by Cavanaugh of Verdigre.

Democratic Senatorial Convention.

The democrats of the Eleventh senatorial district of Nebraska are hereby called to meet in delegate convention at the Osmond hotel in Norfolk, Nebraska, on Wednesday, the 28th day of September, 1904, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the office of state senator to be voted for at the general election in said district on the 7th day of November, 1904, and transacting such other business as may properly be presented.

The several counties will be entitled to one delegate to said convention and in addition thereto one delegate for each 100 votes or major fraction thereof cast at the general election of 1903 for the Hon. John J. Sullivan for associate justice of the supreme court, under which apportionment each county is entitled to the following number of delegates:

- Madison ..... 15
Pierce ..... 9
Stanton ..... 8
Wayne ..... 8
It is recommended that no proxies be allowed in said convention and that delegates present from any county cast the full vote for which the said county is entitled therein.

By order of the democratic district committee, Sept. 16, 1904.

J. H. MACKAY, Chairman.
DOUGLAS CONES, Secretary.

Delegates from Madison county: F. E. Martin, H. E. Gerecke, Tom Wade, I. G. Westervelt, Emil Winter, P. H. Knot, Nic Schmidt, F. G. Saiter, J. C. Reeves, J. C. Stitt, John Friday, Aug. Borgmeyer, Burrell Reed, S. J. Finnegan.

A VIOLIN 300 YEARS OLD

RELIC OF THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY IN NORFOLK.

MADE BY FAMOUS PALO MAGINNI

And Picked up in a Junk Shop of New York City for $35 by Dr. J. H. Mackay, When He Was a Lad—The Old Instrument Was Dusty and Broken.

Among relics valued for their antiquity and for their association that are to be found within the walls of Norfolk is a very, very old violin, made by a world's famous manufacturer during the seventeenth century and brought to this city by Dr. J. H. Mackay, who picked up the instrument in a junk shop of New York city during his boyhood days.

The old musical product was made by that noted Italian violinist, Gio. Palo Maginini, over in the old country. By some manner unknown it was brought to America, found its way into the little dingy junk shop of the great metropolis and some time later was bought by the youthful Mackay for the sum of $35.

The violin had a broken back when it was thus unceremoniously picked up from its quarters of poverty. It had seen a hard bit of a career. After three centuries of existence, again with that rare tone which comes alone to violins that grow old, it is still as steady as when found in New York.

The present owner doesn't know just how it came to America. Perhaps it was the property of some famous musician who played his way into the new world and who gave New York a sort of tune that comes only from Italy and the Italians. Perhaps it was an instrument upon which concerts were played. Perhaps the player became financially broken and had to pawn his violin for a mouthful of bread, or perhaps—more likely—he was killed in a merry crowd and his old comrade—the product of the hand of Maminini, the famous maker, was picked up and bartered for a few bits of silver in the junk shop.

At all events, from its gloomy quarters, where it hung amid a network of spider webs, and dust, the young lover of relics came by and made the purchase for thirty-five silver simoleans, and would not take three times that today for the relic of the three centuries.

THREE DAYS OF BALL AT TILDEN

Home Team Takes the Last of Three Games From Deadwood Visitors by a Score.

TILDEN, Neb., Sept. 19.—Special to The News: The Tilden and Deadwood ball teams played a series of three games here Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The first game resulted in a victory for the visitors, the score being 18 to 7. Batteries, Tilden, Osborn, Schank and Ury; Deadwood, Cheatwood and Mitchell. Umpire, Smith.

The second game was also taken by the visitors. Score by innings: Deadwood ..... 1 0 0 1 4 0 0 0 x—8
Tilden ..... 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 1 0—4
Batteries: Tilden, Leatheby and Ury; Deadwood, Williams and Mitchell. Umpire, Funk.

Sunday's game was interesting from start to finish and was captured by the home team. Both teams batted well. Score by innings:

Tilden ..... 2 0 2 0 2 2 2 0 x—10
Deadwood ..... 4 1 0 0 0 3 0 1 0—9
Errors: Tilden 8, Deadwood 10. Struck out by Prevo 11; by Cheatwood and Williams 5. Hits by Tilden 8; by Deadwood 6. Home run made by Ury off Cheatwood. Batteries: Tilden, Prevo and Ury; Deadwood, Cheatwood, Williams and Mitchell. Umpire, L. E. Carscallen.

BRYAN'S HEALTH GIVES OUT

PHYSICIANS ADVISE INDEFINITE REST FOR STATESMAN.

SAYS HE WILL COME TO NORFOLK.

In Spite of the Advice to Quit Work Indefinitely, the Distinguished Democratic Leader Declares He Will Keep His Date in This City.

Word comes from Denver that W. J. Bryan has been warned by his physicians that one of his lungs was affected in his St. Louis speech and that he must give himself indefinite rest. Mr. Bryan declares he will meet his dates beginning with October. If he is able he will probably appear in Norfolk October 5, the date originally set, although the doctors have instructed him to quit. The telegram follows:

DENVER, Sept. 18.—William Jennings Bryan, Nebraska's most distinguished citizen, has not entirely recovered from the effects of his strenuous activity at the St. Louis convention, and left today for Rawlins, Wyo., where he will spend two weeks in absolute rest.

"I am going away from the railroads and the telegraph," said Mr. Bryan. "For I want real rest. I don't expect to hunt—it is rest that I seek."

A close friend of Mr. Bryan says while there is nothing serious in his condition, yet the doctors have told him that his tremendous physical effort at the national convention left one lung affected, and that he must give it absolute rest for an indefinite period. Mr. Bryan has agreed to give the lung two weeks to mend, but insists that he has pledged out to participate in the campaign and that he will spend the first week in October in Nebraska, the second in Missouri and the third in Indiana. The last of the campaign will be in Nebraska again.

The intimation that Mr. Bryan was suffering from a lung affection was apparently news to Lincoln friends. His family physician, Dr. Righter, said that he had not examined Mr. Bryan for two months, and that he knew of no lung trouble. He regarded him as a man possessing the most perfect physical health possible. Mr. Bryan has been having a good time out in the west. The Denver Post says of his visit there:

"Mr. Bryan and his wife will leave Friday for Rawlins, Wyo., and will remain in that state until October 1. The children returned to Lincoln this afternoon to enter school."

Mr. Bryan's trip to the southwest was primarily to see the Grand canon of the Colorado. The party visited the petrified forests near Holbrook, Ariz., the cliff dwellings near Flagstaff, and the Indian pueblo at Acoma. Mr. Bryan at Las Vegas he went duck shooting and when he left the train this morning he carried his big hunting boot slung over his arm.

"The only speech of length delivered on the trip was at Las Vegas, although he made brief talks at Albuquerque, Ratan, Trinidad and other points."

"I will not say that I will not again be a candidate for the democratic nomination for the presidency, but I do say that I have no plans at present for such a candidacy." William Jennings Bryan said, who arrived in Denver over the Santa Fe at 9:30 o'clock this morning. He was accompanied by his wife and his children, Grace and William Jr., and Miss Sarah Dakin, a teacher in the Denver public schools and the former teacher of the Bryan children in Lincoln.

Seated at a desk in one of Mr. Hughes' private offices, where he was writing, Mr. Bryan made the foregoing statement to a caller, and continued:

"I enjoy the work that I am engaged in, and the part I take in politics is entirely impersonal. I am striving for the success of the principles that I adhere to—undying principles—and am not considering myself."

"But you do not regard yourself as a 'dead one,' as the eastern democrats claim?"

"There was a 'crown of thorns' look in Mr. Bryan's face, but he replied simply:

"I do not care to discuss myself."

"What do you think of the outlook for the national democratic ticket?"

"I consider it good, but it is a little early to judge. However, I have little faith any more in political prognostications. You know I have failed in several of my own, in which I had been very confident."

PRICE ON CATS GOES UP

VALUE OF PUSSIES IS DOUBLED IN NORFOLK TODAY.

WORTH TEN CENTS PER PURRER

There's a Bull in the Market For Fair, Without Specifying Age, Color, Size, Disposition or Previous Condition of Servitude.

There's a "bull" in the cat market. The price of pussies has gone upward. The value of the pets that purr has taken a sudden decisive jump and those who deal in the futures of the feline family have promise of beating out Joseph Leiter at his wheat game.

Within two days, regulated by supply and demand, the price on cats has advanced from five cents to ten cents in Norfolk and it is not known yet whether or not the cat owners will release their creatures even at that rate.

A few days ago there appeared in the front columns of The News a little ad, which said, "Cats Wanted at the Bee Hive. Will pay five cents each." But the people who had a corner on the cat market refused to sell. They were holding, probably, for future sales. They probably figured that the frost reports from the northwest would help them out. And they won. Today, in the want column, appears a sequel to the story. "Wanted," it says, "Cats at ten cents each." That is what the Bee Hive store today is offering per purrer.

Some poor pussy will likely leave her happy home for this dime. But she will get a happier home, no doubt. Because there is evidently a chance at the Bee Hive for a few cats to enjoy a basket picnic the live long night.

Maybe his name will be Tom. The ad does not specify what type of cats are needed. Nothing is said as to age, size, disposition, color, breed, health or previous condition of servitude. Any kinds and all kinds, or whether they are kind at all or not, are wanted at the Bee Hive and for each cat a silver dime will be paid.

There will be probably follow more chapters in the tale of the cats.

A DESPERATE CHARACTER.

Deputy United States Marshal Captures "Featherlegs."

DAKOTA CITY, Neb., Sept. 19.—By working a ruse Deputy United States Marshal Sides succeeded in capturing Alonzo Show, known as "Feather Legs," a confessed "bootlegger" and would-be desperado, who has been in and around the reservation for some time.

Show escaped from arrest August 26 while in charge of Mr. Sides and since then has been in Iowa and Minnesota. He returned to Homer and threatened to kill any officer who should try to take him. Marshal Sides got word that he was in Homer, and knowing it would be futile to attempt his arrest, as the saloons and bootleggers have sentinels placed around the outskirts of the town, he deputized George Cain to make the arrest.

Cain, in company with Town Marshal Dan Purdy of Homer, found "Feather Legs" in Lockhart's saloon and arrested him, placing him in the Homer calaboose. Marshal Sides was notified of the arrest and went to Homer from this place at once. In the meantime "Feather Legs" made an attempt to break out of the calaboose by battering down the door which was in the jail. Had Mr. Cain not gone to the calaboose when he did, about an hour after "Feather Legs" was put in his prisoner would have been gone.

"Feather Legs" was heavily ironed and brought to this place and placed in jail until the departure of the train for Pender, where he will have his examination on the charge of bootlegging before United States Commissioner Sloan.

"FAINTING BERTHA" ESCAPES.

Gets Away From Hospital and Cannot Be Found.

OMAHA, Sept. 17.—"Fainting Bertha" Liebecke, after numerous unsuccessful attempts to escape from St. Bernard's hospital, where she was committed pending her appeal to the district court from the insanity board's commitment to the state insane asylum, has succeeded in gaining her liberty. She evaded the watchfulness of the sisters and walked away.

The sheriff's office was notified, but up to noon today no trace of the girl had been found.

Mrs. G. C. Hunter.

Mrs. Giles Hunter died Friday night of typhoid fever at her home on South Fourth street, after an illness of nine days. The funeral was held from the residence yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. J. Turner of the First Congregational church.

Malinda C. Nauslar was born in Indiana December 30, 1846. At the age of 16 she was married to C. A. Libby and lived in Henry county, Iowa. Six children were born to them, two boys and four girls.

March 14, 1892, she was married to Giles C. Hunter at Neligh, Neb., where they lived until two years ago, when they moved to Norfolk. She leaves a husband, two sons, one daughter and two sisters to mourn her loss.
