

ATTACKED BY A HOG

AINSWORTH WOMAN HAS A NARROW ESCAPE.

ARM CRUSHED; OTHER WOUNDS

Mrs. William Shelemarfer in Doing the Chores Yesterday Was Knocked Down and Attacked by a Vicious Sow With Bad Results.

Ainsworth, Neb., Oct. 14.—Special to The News: Mrs. William Shelemarfer had a very narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon.

She was out at the barn attending to the chores when she was attacked by a vicious sow. She was thrown to the ground and one of her arms was crushed by the animal, which also attacked her abdomen and lower limbs, making her wounds.

Dr. A. Murphy was called in and dressed the wounds, but it cannot be said yet how serious the condition of the woman is.

FRIDAY FACTS.

The dance given by the members of the band last night in Margaret hall was well attended and the affair successful. The weather was against the boys, but they were pleased with returns, nevertheless. The music was good.

Private letters received in Norfolk state that N. P. Lawson, a well known citizen of Neligh and a horseman of some note in this section of the country, is dead there as a result of eating canned goods. He died Wednesday night.

Yesterday there was a rank of but five degrees in temperature, the highest point reached being 58 degrees and the lowest 53. During the entire time there has been no sight of the sun and the drizzle and fog has been quite continuously present during the past two or three days.

A runaway resulted disastrously yesterday for Mr. Mann of Pierce county. Driving a splendid team of horses, he was suddenly precipitated to the ground and beset with the mud of a dirty road. His face and form were badly plastered over with the blackness. The horses were caught and Mr. Mann was taken in charge by Officer Kane until he regained his equilibrium.

The government work on Norfolk's postoffice has now been completed and Superintendent Williams, who has had charge of the work, will probably leave Norfolk tomorrow for Chicago. The last inspector has gone over the structure, and the reports are all in at the Washington office, so that formal acceptance will be made, undoubtedly, before a great while. The acceptance will be made by merely sending official papers to the Congress Construction company. There is still one inspection to be made, but that is on the electric wiring with which the Congress Construction company had nothing to do. After a brief visit with his family in Chicago, Mr. Williams will go to New Orleans to take charge of a new mail building which is going up there.

T. H. Barkhous was down from Osmond. G. D. Hard was in Norfolk from Long Pine. A. H. H. was in Norfolk yesterday from Neligh. R. E. Buskmaster is a Norfolk visitor from Madison. C. H. Matheson was in the city yesterday from Pilger. Ed. O'Connor was in the city from Atkinson yesterday. C. H. Probst of Battle Creek was in the city yesterday. Dr. G. E. Keiser was in the city yesterday from Pierce. G. C. Porter was a city visitor yesterday from Laurel. A. P. Kloppe was a Norfolk visitor from Wood Lake. Ed. Hunter is of the sick list, suffering from typhoid fever. Mrs. Mohr and Mrs. Douglas Comes of Pierce were shopping in Norfolk this morning. Alvin Huskins of Central City had business in Norfolk yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Davis were city visitors yesterday from Bloomfield. Mr. and Mrs. J. Wiseman left on their noon train today for St. Louis where they will attend the exposition. Mrs. H. L. Whitney of Omaha, who has been visiting her parents, Judge and Mrs. Powers, returned to her home at noon today. Miss Margaret Pyles of Iowa, who has taken rooms at the Verges home, is in Norfolk to give lessons in elocution and physical culture. Mrs. E. S. Duval, who has been visiting relatives and friends in Norfolk for the past six weeks, will leave Monday noon for her home in Saticoy, California.

POLITICS WARMING IN BOONE

Populists Open With a Demonstration and Republicans Will Follow.

Albion, Neb., Oct. 14.—Special to The News: The campaign in this vicinity opened in this vicinity last night. The populists were the first ones to break the ice by having a rally. In order to make the first meeting impressive the local committee arranged to have the best talent in the state present and as can be seen by the following the strongest rally of the year was had. G. W. Berge, P. E. McKillip, Jas. Brady, R. E. Watzel, L. Hallstead and J. M. Davine were present and Berge and McKillip gave a couple of excellent addresses.

The local band and glee club furnished music for the occasion and the crowd that thronged the doors of the opera house was demonstrative of the fact that there was a great deal of interest manifested in the meeting.

The political situation here has been very quiet up to this time and there has been but very little doing even in the competition for the county offices. However, the time has now come when there will be doings as the republicans have already advertised a rally and in the hotel lobbies there is that old familiar buzz which is characteristic of "the olden times."

REV. WM. LEAVITT DEAD

LONG RESIDENT OF NORFOLK PASSES AWAY AT SEWARD.

HE WAS BURIED AT ASHLAND

He Had But a Few Weeks Ago Left Norfolk to Live With His Son at Seward—The Pioneer Editor and Clergyman Succumbed Wednesday.

Word has been received in Norfolk of the death of Rev. William Leavitt, for many years a resident of this city, and who, only a few weeks ago, left Norfolk for Seward, to make his home with his son, Rev. F. W. Leavitt. Mr. Leavitt was seventy-five years old and was held in high esteem throughout the state, where he has been actively engaged both as editor and minister. Funeral services were held at Ashland this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

His death occurred Wednesday. Mr. Leavitt was for a number of years editor and proprietor of the old Norfolk Journal. They had lived here for seventeen years. Besides a widow, three sons, Rev. F. W. Leavitt of Seward, Leslie Leavitt of Chicago and Marshall Leavitt of St. Louis, survive. It was only a few weeks ago that he sold his home at the corner of Madison avenue and Thirteenth street, to leave Norfolk.

ASYLUM FINISHED JANUARY 1

New State Institution Being Built Here, Will Then Be Done.

The Nebraska state hospital for the insane, which is now under course of construction in this city, will be completed, no doubt, by January 1. At that time it is thought that those patients whose homes are in northern Nebraska may be transferred to the cozy cottages northeast of this city. The four buildings are up to the top, and all that remains to be done is the interior finishing. The new buildings will be fire proof.

MORE ON ROSEBUD MURDER

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE KILLING NEAR VALENTINE.

IN WHICH JAMES RAINBOLT DIED

Two Cowboys Have Been Placed in Jail at Deadwood Without Bail, One of Them Was a Chicago Man, Too Wild for the Windy City.

A Sioux Falls dispatch says that further details have been received in regard to the Rosebud murder last week, in which James Rainbolt lost his life. The dispatch goes on to say:

Jerry Carleton, chief deputy in the office of the United States marshal in this city, has returned from Rosebud agency and Deadwood. During his absence he escorted to Deadwood the two men, C. K. Cook and Henry Gaver, charged with the crime.

Cook is the son of a Chicago commission man, and because of his wildness was sent west for a time in hopes that he would quiet down. He was employed as a cowboy by a cattle company which was grazing cattle on the Rosebud reservation under an agreement with the Indians. At the time of the murder he was in charge of a camp of cowboys, who were detailed to look after the cattle belonging to the company, which were grazing near by.

Gaver, the other alleged murderer, is a Texan and only recently came to South Dakota. He was a member of the camp over which Cook was foreman.

As the result of their preliminary hearing before a United States commissioner, Cook and Gaver were held for appearance before the next federal grand jury, which will convene at Aberdeen, to answer to the serious charge against them. The offense is not bailable, and accordingly both men will be confined in the Lawrence county jail at Deadwood until the grand jury meets.

A recent act of congress gives the United States courts jurisdiction over cases where crimes are committed on Indian reservations, no matter whether the offenders are whites or Indians.

James Rainbolt, the murdered man, was employed as a cowboy by a rival cattle concern, whose cattle were ranged in the vicinity of the place where he was killed.

Rainbolt rode up to Cook's camp on the evening of the murder and stopped for supper. Cook had been to town on the Nebraska side of the line that day, and when he returned to the camp had a jug of whisky with him.

After partaking of supper the cowboys partook quite freely from the jug and were soon uproariously drunk. It was perhaps natural that a fight should result. Cook admits procuring a gun, which he states was snatched out of his hand by Gaver, who is alleged to have fired the fatal shot.

Gaver does not deny this charge, but declares he has no recollection of shooting and killing Rainbolt. The federal grand jury will be required to declare which of the two men was responsible for the taking of Rainbolt's life.

Rainbolt was a member of the Eagle lodge, and his remains were interred at Valentine, Neb., last Sunday, the funeral services having been under the direction of the Eagles of that place.

All sorts of rumors are in circulation as to what are alleged to be the real facts leading up to the murder, and after indictments are returned the trial of the person or persons held responsible for his death promises to be of a decidedly sensational nature.

Enterprise at Neligh. J. W. Edwards, who has spent a few days in Neligh is enthusiastic over the new park and other evidences of progress that are shown in that town. "They have one of the finest parks in the state," said Mr. Edwards, "and they are not content to permit it to rest at that but are continually improving the tract of land that the city has acquired. This fall they are making cinder walks and drives through the grounds. A small stream that runs through it is being fitted up ornamentally and the large hardwood trees and the comfortable settees scattered through the grounds make it an attractive place to visit. The same spirit of enterprise is shown in the town where two brick blocks are in course of construction and other things point to the progressiveness and prosperity of the people."

"On the park Kay Brothers are working a fine string of horses constantly, and they have some as fine colts as there are in the world. They are already cramped for stable room and propose to build larger and better."

KILLED WHILE HUNTING.

Orin Heth of Valentine Meets Accidental Death.

Valentine, Neb., Oct. 17.—Special to The News: Orin, the 15-year-old son of George Heth who lives on the Niobrara river near this city, accidentally shot and killed himself while hunting near Simeon. He was preparing to mount a horse near the store and was pulling the gun up to him when it was discharged, blowing the top of the boy's head away and killing him instantly.

HALE HAD A BIG SALE

Battle Creek Was Filled With Politicians on that Day.

Battle Creek, Neb., Oct. 14.—Special to The News: Neither a Bryan meeting nor a big Cannon meeting could draw more people to Battle Creek than were here Wednesday to attend F. J. Hale's big sale. Everything sold very well, the sale amounting to $8,000. There were people here from all over north Nebraska and Col. T. D. Preece feels proud of the success. The town was loaded with candidates. # CHALLENGE TO DEBATE

MR. FALES WANTS TO KNOW IF MCKILLIP WANTS TO TALK.

FUSIONISTS BEEN BLUSTERING

Supposed by the Republican Committee That all Arrangements for a Joint Discussion Had Been Made, When the Plans are Upset.

After an attempt lasting about ten days, to get the democratic congressional committee to enter Mr. McKillip in debate with Mr. McCarthy, the republican committee here has been unable to get a joint discussion of the issues of the campaign with Mr. McKillip. The fusionists have attempted to make it appear that in the Emerson debate Mr. McCarthy was no match for Mr. McKillip, and the fusion papers have thrown several spears over the assumption that the republican congressional candidate was afraid to meet his opponent. When it comes to a show-down, Mr. McCarthy is ready and the plans had been made to meet Mr. McKillip in joint debate under promise of the fusion committee that such arrangements could be made after the 20th, but the fusionists give indication that they do not want joint debates at all.

To give the matter a definite understanding Chairman Fales of the republican committee today issued and mailed the following challenge to such joint debate, and it is up to them to accept or reject the proposition:

"Norfolk, Neb., Oct. 14.—Mr. Dan V. Stevens, chairman Third Congressional Democratic Central Committee.—Dear Sir: We hereby challenge the fusion nominee for congress, Mr. McKillip, to discuss the issues of this campaign in a series of debates with Hon. J. J. McCarthy, the nominee of the republican party. The first three meetings to be held at Columbus, Madison and Stanton, and further dates to be arranged by mutual agreement. Yours truly, F. D. Fales, chairman."

ANOTHER HORSE IS GONE

AUGUST HAASE DISCOVERS THAT A TEAM WAS STOLEN.

HE IS OFFERING $100 REWARD

Instead of Just One Animal, Which Was Reported in Yesterday's News, Mr. Haase Now Finds That a Pair Were Stolen From His Pasture.

Instead of the one horse which was reported in yesterday's News as having been stolen from a pasture, there were two of them taken. They were the property of August Haase, who did not until yesterday afternoon discover that both animals had been stolen from his pasture. They both were complete sets of harness when taken. Mr. Haase is offering $100 reward for the return of the horses and the harness.

Both animals are 4-year-old mares. One is a roan, with a star in its forehead, and a black mane. She has one white foot, and weighs 1200 pounds. The other is a bay weighing about 1100 pounds.

This brings the total of stolen horses in Norfolk within the week to three.

SHOPLIFTERS NEVER QUIT

LIKE THE POOR, THEY ARE ALWAYS WITH US.

NORFOLK STORES WATCH THEM

If Eagle Eyes Weren't Kept Upon Their Every Motion, They Would Soon Carry off the Entire Stock of Goods—Conceal Under Capes.

"Shoplifters, like the poor, we always have with us," said a Norfolk merchant today, discussing that feature of his business. "There are a lot of them who become most expert at the game, and those are the ones that we watch whenever they enter the store. Others, whom we do not know, cause us more or less trouble, for the first little while."

There used to be quite a large gang of professional shoplifters in Norfolk, but by the close watching which merchants have given them, together with a few arrests, they have become more timid or more sly than they formerly were. At all events, there have been few arrests in this line within late months.

"While it is true," continued the merchant, "that that old gang has been more or less cleaned out, yet there is constantly a new crop growing up, and they have to be watched all the while. If we didn't watch them closely, they'd soon carry off everything we have in the store."

The experts, underneath baggy capes, make it a plan to conceal what portable and available articles that they can locate when eyes of clerks and managers are turned the other way. The store people, however, have gotten the watching down to such a science that it is a bold woman—for whom do large portions of it—who will dare to make an attempt at a counter in Norfolk nowadays.

RURAL ROUTE NO. 4. G. W. Evans returned from Omaha Sunday week he had been looking after some business connected with the Nebraska Telephone company.

Miss Ethel Long of Norfolk has contracted to teach the Tannehill school this term. School would have commenced this week had it not been for some needed repairs on the buildings.

While Freeman Squirrel and Sam Johnson were duck hunting Monday, Freeman's gun caught in their boat and both barrels were discharged simultaneously and instead of getting ducks they got ducked. Freeman was kinked over the edge of the boat and pulled the boat over, turning Johnson out also. They found their guns at the bottom.

Patrons of the First street road will be pleased to know that Commissioner Smith has engaged a man to muck the sand bars washed into the road south of Carl Reiche's.

TO LAY NEBRASKA NORMAL STONE

C. E. Burnham of Norfolk and H. C. Cheney of Creighton.

C. E. Burnham, grand master of the Masonic lodge in Nebraska, accompanied by H. C. Cheney, grand junior warden, left Norfolk last night for Kearney, where they go to assist in laying the corner stone for the new Nebraska state normal school, which takes place this afternoon.

FRY'S PLACE IS SOLD. H. C. Zirfas of Madison is now in Charge of the Place. Fry's restaurant, the short order house on Norfolk avenue, has changed hands. H. C. Zirfas, formerly a restaurant man in Madison, has purchased the place and is now in charge. Mr. Zirfas has had a number of years of experience and knows well the short order business. Mr. Fry, who has made this city his home for a number of years, has not yet definitely decided what he will do in the future.

EXPERT IN TAILORING WORK. C. H. Krahn Gets a Cutter of National Reputation and a Partner. Mr. Frederick A. Keiff of Chicago, has accepted a position as cutter for C. H. Krahn, the tailor. Mr. Keiff comes well recommended, having spent several years as principal instructor of cutting and designing of ladies' and men's garments at Croonberg's Sartorial academy, Chicago, the largest school of its kind in America. Mr. Keiff also edited The Fashionable Cutter and Tailors' Gazette, since the beginning of its career. That he will clothe the denizens of Norfolk in the latest creations of the tailors' art passes without question. As a knight of the shears in producing ladies' garments, he has a reputation that is national. Mr. Keiff had several ladies garments that received honorable mention at the last national convention of the Custom Cutters' Association of America.

If such firms as Marshall Field and Carson Pierce Scott and Mr. Keiff a desirable acquisition to their force of designers, the ladies of Norfolk and vicinity can certainly satisfy their heart's desire for ladies' tailor made garments.

Mr. Krahn has also associated with him as partner Mr. C. C. Chasen of Chicago who will look after his steadily growing large outside trade.

A Little Grandma.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilton returned from Omaha last week, where they had been with their babe to consult a specialist and get glasses for the little one's eyes. Petersburg probably now has the youngest spectacle wearer in the state and it is stated that they are the smallest boys ever put out in Omaha. The little one is only about a year old but now looks like a little grandmother. It can be easily ascertained that she can see much better now than ever before.—Petersburg Index.
