

FELL UNDER CAR WHEELS

BUT LUCKILY ESCAPED A HORRIBLE DEATH.

GOT A SEVERELY BRUISED BODY

Lou W. Hansen, brakeman on the Omaha Railroad, Jerked Beneath the Rolling Trucks by a Sudden Jolt, Gets off Luckily Not to be Killed.

[From Wednesday's Daily.] Lou W. Hansen luckily escaped a horrible death beneath train wheels in the Omaha switching yards shortly before noon yesterday. Thrown from the top of a box car, where he was working in the capacity of brakeman, he landed just in front of the moving car, was dragged ten feet and came out of the accident with nothing more serious than several severe bruises.

The train was moving slowly and the air brakes were suddenly set. With such a sudden jerk did the cars come to a standstill that the trainman was hurled headlong. He struck on his shoulder. The wheels would have ground his body to bits but for a lucky strike, which allowed him to be bounded along by the brakes.

Flesh was torn open upon the man's leg, his heel was badly bruised and his back gave him considerable pain. Dr. Bear, the company surgeon, gave him an examination, pronounced none of his injuries critical and ordered him to be taken to his home at Emerson on the noon passenger train. Meanwhile he lay on a stretcher in the station.

Hansen was conscious at all times.

The courthouse at Pierre, South Dakota, caught fire from an unknown cause, in the woman's jail department. The fire got between the walls, making it hard to control and causing more damage from water than from fire.

The missionary tea served last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Beeler on North Tenth street by the ladies of the M. E. church was liberally patronized and the ladies added a considerable sum to their missionary fund.

The Pacific hotel has opened to lodgers and is doing business in that way every day. It is probable the table will not be started until November 10, as Mr. Needham is preparing to make a number of changes which will require time. A new range is among the other improvements.

Hallowe'en night will be here next Monday and the festive occasion will likely be celebrated in Norfolk with usual vim. Owing to the fact that the weather has remained warm for so long a time, the police will probably have double duty on that night, as it will be possible for the whole gang to get busy at tearing things up.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Jap Blake left her home four miles southwest of Dakota City, for a visit. When she got out of the buggy she left her purse in the seat. It contained $20 and jewelry. Two strangers passed by, and took the purse. The woman chased them with the buggy and got so close on the fugitives that they tossed the purse into the road. Later the men were captured and will be tried for highway robbery.

Deputy United States Marshal Sides passed through Norfolk enroute to Omaha from Niobrara, with Ulysses Grant Zimmerman in charge, accused with selling liquor to the Indians. He was given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner B. F. Chambers at Niobrara and in default of $300 bail was remanded to the Douglas county jail, to await action of the federal grand jury.

The fine weather that has followed the recent rains gives the best men the opportunity they need to harvest the balance of their crop and the work is proceeding satisfactorily. Those who have no orders from the factory for immediate delivery are placing them in silos to be ready when the factory orders the crop in. A large portion of the raw material now being worked up by the factory is being received by rail, having been grown at a distance from Norfolk. The best

REBUILD ROUND HOUSE

UNION PACIFIC TO ERECT A TWO-STALL STRUCTURE.

REPLACE THE ONE THAT BURNED

Work of Construction Will Soon Begin on a House for the Union Pacific Engines and Hostlers on the Ground West of the Depot.

The Union Pacific railroad company is soon to erect a new two-stall round house on the site of the structure destroyed by fire about a year ago on their ground west of the depot. Much of the material is already on hand and the waterworks pipes have been extended to the site of the structure for the convenience of the engine men and the hostlers in filling the great tanks of the locomotives.

For a year now the hostlers have been doing their work of overhauling and cleaning the engines in the open air, but this winter they will be protected from the elements by the new structure. It is hoped to have it ready for the use of the engines and hostlers before cold weather sets in.

The building is not to be a large one it will be sufficient for the present needs of the branch line of the Union Pacific and if more engine room is to be required in the future it can readily be enlarged by an addition. The company ordinarily runs but two trains a day and it will be unusual when there is more than one engine in the house.

The turn table that was rebuilt and overhauled a few years ago is still in first class condition and has been in use since the destruction of the round house. The cinder pit recently built, is likewise in good condition and about all that is lacking is the covering for the engines and the workers about them that the new structure will give.

The building was not erected last fall because the appropriations for that kind of work had been exhausted by other work that had been undertaken.

SAYS ROOSEVELT HAS NEW YORK

S. W. Corwin of That State Declares Teddy Wins by 60,000.

A letter from S. W. Corwin of Middleton, N. Y., who spent several weeks in Norfolk last summer and who made many friends during that time, says: "My Dear Editor: Five weeks have passed since I left your enterprising and hustling city and its most hospitable and kind citizens, which fact so impressed me the day before I left that I subscribed for The Daily News, that I might through its columns keep in touch with the pleasant people I met during my eight weeks' stay among them. I had learned while in Norfolk to admire the enterprise and up-to-date methods of every issue of The News and find my interest in reading it is none the less in this far away eastern home.

"May I beg of you to permit me to refer immediately in this letter to two excellent gentlemen of Norfolk who are uneasy, I learn, concerning a box of cigars. One, very much so because he is going to lose his bet and must produce the 100 fifty-centers. The other gentleman, feeling I will win the cigars and not being out there, that he won't get any to smoke—he being a party within the bet. I beg to say further this last gentleman referred to need not be uneasy after so many years he has openly fought 'between the devil and the deep sea.' Today will get 60,000 majority over Parker in New York state all right, else the loser is.

Your humble servant, S. W. Corwin.

RECAPTURE HORSE THIEF

GEORGE HART, WHO BROKE JAIL AT COLUMBUS, IS HERE.

ARRESTED AT SUGAR FACTORY

Says He Wanted to Get a Little Exercise—Complains of the Food That He Was Fed in the Columbus Jail. Poorest Grub Ever on His List.

George Hart, the young horse thief who was arrested here a week ago and who broke jail there Sunday, was recaptured in Norfolk today. He was at the sugar factory when taken, and had applied for a job there. It was through the detective work of Officers Rainey and Pilger that the fugitive jail bird was retaken.

Brought to the city and locked in the same old cell at the jail, Hart tossed his frame down upon the iron floor, drew his black slouch hat well over his eyes and talked mysteriously of his adventures. To The News, he said, when asked why he broke out of the jail at Columbus, that he merely wanted a little exercise. He said he hadn't hoped to get away—otherwise he wouldn't have come to Norfolk. He said one reason why he disliked Columbus was the fact that they didn't feed him enough. The grub was all right, what there was of it. But there wasn't more than half enough, he says.

"It was the poorest place for food," said he, "that I ever got into." Today he was taken back to Columbus by the deputy sheriff, who has been here since Sunday.

Asked as to his standing two officers off in a field, with guns, he said that the other jailbird wanted to go back, but that he said he'd be darned if he would. So he came to Norfolk.

Asked as to why he came to Norfolk, where he must know he'd be recaptured, he said he didn't care much whether he got away or not. "You were foolish to not get on a train and leave town," was suggested. "I was foolish to come this way at all," said Hart.

Other charges also are said to be pending.

He probably will be held under guard until the return of Brigadier Gen. Grant from a tour of inspection, when his disposition will be determined by the commander of the department of the east.

SHIPPING CATTLE FROM ROSEBUD

United States Veterinarian White Has His Hands Full Now.

United States Veterinarian White reports that there is a rush of stock just now from the northwest and his department of Uncle Sam's business is being worked overtime. The greatest stock rush with which he has to do comes from Bonesteel, where hundreds of head of reservation cattle are being driven, after their round-up on the Rosebud. Fairfax also has a good string of trains.

The only touch of mange which Dr. White has thus far discovered was in one bunch of cattle being shipped, and these were sent back to the ranch. The law provides that every animal, during the quarantine, shall pass federal inspection before going on the market. Dr. White is notified of the shipments that are about to be made by the railroad agents, and he immediately proceeds to the stations where the herds are rounded up.

[From Thursday's Daily.]

The city council met in adjourned regular session at the council chamber Tuesday evening with Mayor Hazen and all the councilmen present except Klesau, Spoilman and Wilkman.

The proceedings of the regular meeting of October 2 and of the adjourned meeting of October 20 were read and approved.

Water Commissioner Spaulding reported that he had been unable to find out who had done the work in changing the water meter at the government building.

The street and alley committee reported that most of the necessary crossings had been put in and the rest would soon be completed, also that the drinking fountain on Fourth street had been taken out in order that a permanent sidewalk of regulation width could be put in. It also reported that the drain pipe on the east end of Norfolk avenue had been raised up to position and the dirt was being hauled in to fill up the washout.

The following resolution was presented, read and adopted:

"Resolved, That the sidewalks along the south side of block 5, of Durland's First Addition to Norfolk, Nebraska, be condemned and that the owners thereof be required to build new walks in their place within thirty days according to the provisions of ordinance No. 275."

A resolution was presented, read and passed, as follows:

"Resolved, That new sidewalks be ordered to be constructed along the north side of blocks 4, and 7, of subdivision of Durland's First Addition to Norfolk, Nebraska, and that the owners of the above described property be required to construct the same within thirty days according to the provisions of ordinance No. 275."

Ordinance No. 277, being an ordinance providing for the revision and publication in book form of the city ordinances, was read the third time and on motion passed its third and final reading and was adopted.

The mayor, authorized by the council, appointed the following committee of three to receive bids, make contract, and carry out the provisions of ordinance No. 277, regarding the printing of the city ordinances: Pasewalk, Gow and Parish.

Section 2. An edition of one hundred copies of said "Revised Ordinances" duly certified by the city clerk under the seal of said city shall be published, distributed and sold as hereinafter provided.

READY TO MEET NEBRASKA

THE MINNESOTA FOOTBALL TEAM PREPARES FOR SATURDAY.

ARE EXPECTING A HARD BATTLE

Booth's List of Injured Has Merely Tended to Whet Interest, Because the Gophers Know Booth Always Looks Wise and Says Little.

All Nebraska is turning with eager eyes toward the approaching football game between Minnesota and the Nebraska university boys, which will be played at Minneapolis next Saturday. A few years ago the Nebraska team was accompanied on its trip to Minneapolis by 5,000 enthusiastic rooters, who saw their colors go down in the mud. Those were the days when Stub Crumall and Ralph Drain were the stars.

The next year Nebraska turned the tables. It was early in the season and Booth's bunch not only kept the Gophers away from the goal, but succeeded in crossing Minnesota's line by straight, hard football, right down the field. Minnesota never got over that drubbing. They perhaps never will. They said they weren't prepared for a game, but that wasn't any excuse. And the game at Minneapolis next Saturday will be watched the more closely on that account. A Minneapolis staffer says:

"I might be truly said that from now on the preparatory work will be done with an eye on the Nebraska game. The Cornhuskers come to Northrop field Saturday, and since the smoke has been cleared away and the real strength of Nebraska uncovered, football enthusiasts are awaiting the game with interest. Nebraska has been the source of some of the most cleverly concocted 'bear' stories ever sent out. Day by day it was declared that the men were 'injured,' 'sun-burnt,' 'green' and a review of the obnoxious news would lead those who are figuring on form to the conclusion that Nebraska would be no match for the Gophers.

Splendid Form.

The true state of affairs was given yesterday, the first straight line on the Cornhusker team which has been obtainable in Minneapolis. Glenore Doble brought the first news that Nebraska was strong, and he saw them in the Boulder game. Saturday's watching of the team demonstrated that the list of 'injured' has been made up largely of the men who are classed in Minnesota as the 'impossible' section of the scrub. That preparation has been resorted to was indicated by the playing of one man at least who a day or two before was heralded as badly injured. Deep gloom has been reported over the absence or quitting of men who could not have made the team with the assistance of a locomotive to boost them along. All along under this smoke of deception which the string fiends have been kicking up, Coach Booth has been working like a beaver and perfecting a team which Nebraska enthusiasts when not speaking with strangers—without questioning them too closely—pronounce to be the greatest in the history of the Nebraska game. Through it all Booth has not made a direct statement of injury or fear. The correspondents have relieved him of the need for any such action. There has been nothing to show that Booth sympathized with or inspired the stories, and locally it is thought that the string fiends found the subject a prolific one, abounding with material with which to keep the frankfurter pot boiling in their respective domiciles.

Nebraska will bring a splendid team to Northrop field, and, if all signs do not fail, the struggle will be a memorable one in local football annals. A wealth of sturdy material is in the hands of Booth and Westover, and there are husky substitutes in plenty for every position. Old men are returning, and to revert to the appeal of the bally-ho in front of a "Persian" dancer's tent at the state fair, "there's nothing to it, but something doing every minute."

Watching Bender Case.

Minnesota is just now watching the antics over the Bender-Fenlon case with considerable interest. It will go no further locally than a careful watching. No matter how the case comes out, Minnesota will not protect Bender or Fenlon, permitting the University of Nebraska to settle the matter. It is announced today that the chancellor has agreed to let the matter drop after the reported declaration that he felt the men used their ability for gain.

Nebraska, in her contract with Minnesota, agreed to play and live up to conference rules, an organization, by the way, which Nebraska has been eager to enter for a year or two. Conference rules are strict. Ugly stories are out concerning Bender's amateur standing. He is known to have played baseball on the Beatrice, Neb., Creamery team last summer at $70 a month until the middle of July, when his salary was boosted to $80. The registrar of the University of Kansas has in his possession affidavits to the effect that at one time Bender received money for playing ball on a well-known professional team, and these charges against Bender are not at all unfamiliar to the authorities in control of Nebraska athletics, having been presented by Kansas last year. There is

A FAMILY REMEDY.

Peruna in Use in Thousands of Homes.

Ex-Governor Isaac Sharp.

Isaac Sharp, ex-governor of Kansas, in a letter from 1227 I Street, N. E. Washington, D. C., writes:

"I can earnestly recommend your Peruna as an excellent tonic. Its reputation as a cure for catarrh is firmly established by my friends, who have been benefited by its use, and the public should know its great curative qualities."—Isaac Sharp.

Congressman H. Henry Powers writes from Morrisville, Va.:

"Peruna I have used in my family with success. I can recommend it as an excellent family remedy."

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

much local curiosity to see what will be done over the matter. The facts were submitted to Nebraska long ago. So closely has the outcoming news regarding the invariousness of the late war been guarded that no hint of the nature of the defense of Bender and Fenlon has escaped. As Nebraska has been attempting to gain entrance to the conference, it is naturally expected that the authorities will strive to model the conduct of Nebraska athletics along conference regulations. Minnesota will remain passive, so far as can be learned, not fearing Bender or Fenlon, and will permit the prairie people to work out their athletic salvation.
