TUESDAY TOPICS.

The Wednesday club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. Geo. D. Butterfield.

Mrs. C. M. Griffith, wife of the Methodist pastor at Stanton, died today from cancer. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Stanton.

Reports from the Clarkson hospital at Omaha last night, stated that W. N. Huse is still getting along very nicely and that he had symptoms, whatever, had set in up until 6 o'clock last evening.

The weather took on a few degrees of chilliness last night, but it is still ideal in every respect and the farmers and other out of door workers find it pleasant for the performance of their duties.

The Chase-Lister repertoire company, beginning a week's engagement in Norfolk, drew a full house at the Auditorium to see "The Silver Dagger." The play was thrilling to a degree, clean and cleverly portrayed. The audience was well pleased with it. The company carries some mighty capable people and the remainder of the week's bill promises to be attractive.

Fremont Tribune: Sheriff Bauman this morning took Charles Ward to Lincoln to begin his two and a half years' sentence in the state penitentiary. Ward was in the best of spirits and chatted good humoredly with those who had anything to say to him. He is hoping to escape punishment for a burglary he committed in Omaha and he thinks that is something to look forward to.

Madison Star-Mail: A retired farmer, who was formerly a very successful one, said this morning, "from conditions I saw developed in corn on exhibition the farmers, who have not already done so, should at once select and put in a place to dry quickly, their seed corn. If left in crib to cure it freezes before it is dried out, a poor stand will in many cases surely result next year. The corn showed some germs already turned dark. The corn is far more damp and ears and cob much larger than usual. The weather is waiting for you to dry out your seed corn."

Fremont Tribune: Thirteen horses were burned to death in a big fire which destroyed the barn and adjoining buildings on the John Delaney farm Saturday night. The fire was discovered at about 10:30 o'clock after it had made such headway that there was no way of getting it under control. John Delaney, Jr., who with his father and the hired man, Sam Lindsay, were the only occupants of the house, was attracted by light in his room and gave the alarm. Mr. Delaney was in Fremont this morning making arrangements for shelter for stock he has on the farm. He says his loss will be about $6,000. The insurance is $1,200, $1,000 being on the horses and $200 on the barn.

LESSONS OF CORN SHOW.

Farmers May Add Thousands of Dollars in Value of Crop.

The corn show held by the Farmers' Institute will be worth thousands of dollars to the people of Madison county. It has clearly shown that not enough care and attention is being given to the breeding and selection of seed, and that other states are taking the lead in this important particular. The expert explained very clearly how breeding for improvement is done and several wide-awake farmers have said that they shall have $2 per bushel seed corn for sale in a few years as well as the farmers of surrounding states and counties. There is every certainty that this can be made a money-making business. Few realize the importance of the loss from poor seed. It takes about fourteen ears to plant an acre and if one of those ears is bad, one-fourteenth of that acre is lost. An increase of but one bushel per acre would mean $50,000 in the pockets of the farmers in this county. The corn show was a move in the right direction. It should be made a feature of the institute every year.—Madison Star-Mail.

UNCLE IS 100 YEARS OLD

EDWIN LONEY BUILT THE FIRST HOTEL IN STANTON.

TELLS TALES OF WAR OF 1812

He Passed Through the Pioneer Days of Indiana, Saw Chicago Rise From a Swamp and Then Came to Northern Nebraska—Voted for Roosevelt.

Mrs. Frank Tannhill, living seven miles south of Norfolk on rural route No. 4, is the niece of a man who has passed the 100-year mark.

Edwin Loney is that man. He was born in Gifford county, N. C., in October 1804. His parents moved to Ohio when he was seven years old and in 1824 he moved to Indiana.

He passed through the pioneer days of that part of the world, and saw Chicago rise out of a swamp to a large city. In 1855 he moved to Cuming county, Neb., and settled on a homestead near the site of the present town of Boemer.

Built Stanton Hotel.

He remained there until 1880 when he moved to Stanton and built the first hotel in that place, running it until 1883, when he moved to Klackamas county, Oregon, where he resides at the present time.

He passed the 100-year mark last October, is hale and hearty and in possession of all his faculties.

He reads the papers, keeps up with the times, tells anecdotes of the war of 1812 and is as jolly and mirthful as any 100-year-old boy.

He voted for Theodore Roosevelt on November 8, this year.

GOOD FIGHT IS EXPECTED

CORBETT AND NELSON WILL BATTLE TONIGHT.

CONTESTANTS WELL MATCHED

Prospects for One of the Best Fights Ever Seen on the Coast—Almost Alike Regarding Size, Style and Execution, it is a Tossup.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 29.—The sporting element of the Pacific coast is intensely excited over the fight tonight between "Young Corbett" and "Battling" Nelson before the Hayes Valley Athletic club. There have been many great pugilistic encounters held in the Golden Gate city during the last ten years, but few have aroused more public interest than the battle to be pulled off tonight. It is the sole topic of conversation on the streets, in restaurants, clubs and homes, and for the nonce everything else of a public nature seems to have been forgotten. While both fighters have a host of well wishers, it is a different thing when it comes to betting money. Corbett remains a 10 to 7 favorite. There are many men who believe that Nelson has a chance to win this battle, and they are taking considerable of the money offered at 10 to 7. It is true that Corbett is reported to be in as good condition as he ever was for a fight, but some sporting men have grave doubts of his ability to go a route on this occasion with such a fast fighter as the Dane who conquered Eddie Hanlon. On the other hand, warm friends of Corbett just smile at this, and simply say they have the money to back their man. They are the most confident of the confident; if Corbett feels as they do he is likely to enter the ring with just a trifle too much regard for his own ability.

Whoever is returned the winner the prospects are for one of the best fights ever seen on the coast. There are no better matched pugilists in the ring today in point of build and strength. In fact, they are almost alike as regards size and execution. Both use a sort of crouch and are possessed of great aggressiveness which calls for constant action in the ring. There is not much to choose between them in punching power. They can knock a man out with either hand, and when it comes to gameness it is a toss-up who is the pluckier.

Nelson is practically a newcomer, yet for the time he has been in the business he has done enough to warrant more than passing consideration. Since Nelson began to show his real form he has put away two dangerous rivals, Eddie Hanlon and Martin Canole. The former fought Corbett a 20-round draw, and Canole also met Jimmy Brit a like number of rounds.

In facing Corbett Nelson will have to be at his best. Corbett is a fighter to the backbone, and does not mind a punch or two as long as he can get one home himself. He has had more ring experience than Nelson and this may count him in good stead when they come together tonight. Corbett has demonstrated his ability to take all kinds of punishment and Nelson will have to get in his best blow to win the decision.

From their respective training quarters reports come today that both fighters are fit as the proverbial fiddle and eager for the fray. Since the match was made both men have been training faithfully and whoever is the loser he will not be able to fall back on the old excuse of being in poor condition. Corbett's trainers report that never before in his ring career has he paid more attention to getting into condition than he has done for his match with Nelson. Nelson has had the benefit of being under the guidance of old timers who know every point of the fighting game and from all accounts he will enter the ring in the pink of condition. The two will weigh in at 130 pounds at 6 o'clock tonight. Neither one has experienced any difficulty in making the stipulated weight.

The following figures show how evenly the two fighters are matched:

Height—Corbett, 5 feet 2½ inches; Nelson, 5 feet 2¼ inches.
Biceps—Corbett, 13¼ inches; Nelson, 13 inches.
Forearm—Corbett, 11½ inches; Nelson, 12 inches.
Wrist—Corbett, 7 inches; Nelson, 7 inches.
Ankle—Corbett, 9 inches; Nelson, 9¼ inches.
Calf—Corbett, 13¼ inches; Nelson, 13 inches.
Thigh—Corbett, 20 inches; Nelson, 19¾ inches.
Waist—Corbett, 20 inches; Nelson, 20½ inches.
Hips—Corbett, 33¼ inches; Nelson, 33¾ inches.
Neck—Corbett, 15¼ inches; Nelson, 15 inches.
Shoulders—Corbett, 41 inches; Nelson, 41¼ inches.
Chest—Corbett, 37 inches; Nelson, 37 inches.
Reach—Corbett, 66½ inches; Nelson, 66¼ inches.

HEALTH AND EDUCATION GOVERN THE WORLD

THE WEAK, SICKLY AND EMACIATED CAN HOPE FOR BUT LITTLE SUCCESS.

BY DR. ORA CALDWELL, CHICAGO.

In compiling the statistics of the different races of people of the world, it is of interest to note the article of diet, the manner in which it is taken and the extent of medical attendance as has been demonstrated conclusively that the meat eaters are the strongest, healthiest and the best educated people in the world; therefore it is reasonable to believe that they are the people who govern the world. As demonstrated by Dr. Caldwell, the American people consume on an average of six pounds of meat per week; the English four; the German, three; the French, two; and the Italian, one-half. Statistics prove that epidemics of contagious diseases more largely prevail among those people, whose diet partakes of less meat and more farinaceous foods. Good meat is the most wholesome of all foods to be taken. True, it is not as fattening as the cereals or farinaceous foods, but it is more strengthening and contains more blood and nerve producing elements, so necessary to strength and good health. What is required specially for perfect health is good digestion, plenty of outdoor exercise and special care as to hygiene and all the laws of nature. Dr. Caldwell is a specialist of many years' experience, and has devoted much of her time to the study of diseases of the stomach, diseases of the brain and diseases of the nervous system. From conclusive proof it has been demonstrated that a little food properly served and well digested is far better than a great quantity of an unwholesome character improperly digested.

Dr. Caldwell has been afforded special advantages in studying the characteristics of the people, their diet, their hobbies and the special conditions governing medicine as a specialty.

She has been awarded, in contests with the greatest schools in the world, the highest prize and a number of medals. She has been making a specialty of chronic, nervous and surgical diseases, diseases of the eye, ear, nose, throat, lungs, diseases of women and diseases of long standing character. No matter how long such patients have suffered or who has treated them, she never failed to cure these ailments. In over a quarter of a century in the experiment, study and practice of her profession in the diseases of men and women, she has cured thousands who have been pronounced helpless by other physicians. People come to her from far and near to receive her treatment and her offices are crowded at the places of her appointments and all speak in the highest praise of her treatment.

By permission we are pleased to publish a few of some of the cures she made throughout the state of Nebraska. These are only a few, as time and space will not permit us to publish more:

Mrs. Sloan, Akron, Neb., cured of consumption and nervous trouble. The treatment she took improved her at once, and she was soon cured of all her ailments.

C. A. Lundeen, Grand Island, Neb., was troubled with muscular rheumatism and dyspepsia. Those troubles soon disappeared.

Mrs. R. McBeth, Harder, Neb., cured of female and nervous troubles, was told by doctors operation would be necessary. Cured in four month's treatment.

Mrs. J. Dobbins of North Platte writes, "she had been doctored for years without relief for kidney trouble, female and general debility."

W. H. Larson, 65 Nesbert St., Newark, N. J., says: "Dr. Caldwell, after suffering for 30 years I have found no treatment equal to yours, I write you these few lines to speak of the excellency of your treatment and I think it due you."

Mrs. Mary Krakon, Wayne, Neb., cured of chronic rheumatism, swollen limbs, heart trouble, headache and general debility. Had almost given up hope, when she heard of Dr. Caldwell, her treatment soon cured her and she is now thankful.
