THE PARDON OF MIKE LAMB

PEOPLE OF BOONE, GREELEY AND WHEELER COUNTIES ANGRY.

A WELL KNOWN CATTLE THIEF

Finally Convicted, After Many Battles in the Courts, Lamb Was Put Behind the Bars—Now He Has Been Released on a Pardon.

Albion, Neb., Jan. 13.—Special to The News: When the news reached here that Mike Lamb, the famous cattle rustler, had been pardoned out of the state penitentiary, excitement prevailed and a great feeling against the governor's action in this matter was demonstrated in this community. Men besieged the court house to learn the particulars of the matter from County Attorney Spear who had received telephone information from Attorney Doyle of Lincoln in regard to it.

The name of Mike Lamb, to the people of this locality, resounds with deeds of high handed cattle stealing. He was the recognized leader of a band of cattle rustlers who operated in this part of the state for years past. Boone, Wheeler and Greeley counties and the adjoining territory was the locality worked by them and their headquarters seemed to be in the vicinity of the Lamb farm which is situated about twenty miles west of here. During the time that this gang has been stealing cattle two men have met their deaths and pitched battles have been fought between the outlaws and the authorities.

Suits have been brought against this man Lamb in both Greeley and Boone counties and at the time that he was convicted in Greeley for stealing cattle a suit was pending in the district court here against him. It was agreed at the time that they try the case in Greeley county so that the expense of bringing the witnesses to Albion might be saved as nearly all of them lived in Greeley.

It was a relief to the people in this part of Nebraska when it was found that the famous Mike Lamb was, at last, safe behind the prison bars for he had fought case after case in the courts to good effect and had also served one term of two years in the penitentiary. So it is not without cause that the law abiding citizens are up in arms because of this pardon.

Several of the leading men of the town have been heard to assert that they would furnish funds for the purpose of rearresting and convicting this criminal on some of the other numerous charges that are held against him. Some rumor of a "neck tie party" is also current in the event that this cattle stealing business is resumed. A general disgust is expressed at the action taken by the governor in this pardon and irrespective of political ideas all are condemning this act.

That the people in the vicinity of Cedar Rapids and Greeley are also very indignant is undoubtedly true and if they had been consulted on this proposition it is very doubtful whether or not one person could have been found in either place that would have sanctioned this unreasonable action.

"Oughtn't the man to be hung," asked a business man this morning, "who dares to ask if it is cold enough for you?"

The West Side Whist club enjoyed a very delightful meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Baum on Norfolk avenue last night.

The Commercial club meets tonight to consider a street railway proposition. If you are interested in Norfolk you are interested in this proposition. Therefore you should be present.

The Commercial club will meet tonight at the city at 8 o'clock sharp to consider a street railway proposition. Everyone interested in advancing Norfolk should be there.

Morris Mayer, formerly of this city but lately manager of a large wholesale house in Chicago, has returned to Nebraska. He is at Albion where he will engage in the dry goods business with Mr. Becker, father of Mrs. Mayer.

Reports from O'Neill state now that the published articles in which it was said that depositors in the defunct Elkhorn Valley bank at O'Neill wanted their money back, and that they would likely accept the proposition of Mrs. Hagerty, were based on false letters from depositors. The letter of Mrs. Nora Sullivan was forged, Mrs. Sullivan says. It is said now that the depositors do want the guilty parties punished.

The Knights of Pythias of this district are to have an open meeting in Norfolk, in Odd Fellows hall, Wednesday evening, January 25th, to which the general public is invited. Rev. L. P. Ludden, former chaplain of the state senate, will be the speaker. The gentlemen are asked to bring their ladies. At the close of the open meeting initiation in three ranks will take place and the secret work will be exemplified by Grand Chancellor Kildow.

If spooks and hobgoblins and disaster and hard luck do not stalk unloathed through the world today it will not be because there is not a combination of Friday and the thirteenth of the month that should accomplish the end. If there is superstition at all regarding the unlucky day of the week and the unlucky day of the month that is what the world is against today. There are however, those who claim that the combination is fortunate for them and such will probably undertake to swing in a fortune today. The first piece of bad luck drawn by the people was the low temperature, the mercury indicating a very low and frigid temperature.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the pharmacy board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by Leonard the druggist.

26 BELOW ZERO TODAY

COLDEST WEATHER WITHIN PAST THREE YEARS HERE.

CRISP, COLD, UTTERLY CALM

HIGHEST SHOWN YESTERDAY BY MERCURY WAS ZERO.

HIGHEST BAROMETER KNOWN

Today Brought the Record for the Past Three Years in the Cold Weather Line, and it Brought the Highest Pressure Ever Known Here

[From Friday's Daily.] Twenty-six degrees below zero was the minimum temperature as recorded by the United States government thermometer in this city up until 8 o'clock this morning and today is the most severely frigid that has been known in Norfolk or the northwest within a period of three years. The only day during the three years which was as cold as it is today, was January 27, 1901, when the mercury sank down to twenty-nine degrees below zero.

The warmest weather that was recorded all day yesterday, was an even zero mark. The mercury did not rise in its tube above that mark all day long, and was only as high as zero for a brief space of the afternoon, between 2 o'clock and 4. Having been enabled by the radiant heat of the golden sun to crawl up to the zero spot, the little long cylinder of quicksilver got scared, slunk away, drooped its head and darted back to its former haunts.

Highest Barometer Ever.

Another remarkable fact in connection with today's abnormal weather is the extremely high barometer. So heavy was the atmosphere that its weight sent the mercurial gauge high up into the tube—30.50 inches high. Never before within the memory of Dr. P. H. Salter, who has charge of the gauge in Norfolk, has the barometer been so high. It is probably the highest barometer in the United States today, as heavier air than this is a very rare thing on this planet.

A high barometer indicates that the air is heavy. It is so cold and so compactly pressed together that all of the moisture is squeezed out. It is crisp, clean, pure air and is packed together because it is cold.

People little realized how severely chilly it was until they consulted the thermometric mercury, for with absolute calm the frigidly was not blowing into humanity in the same distressing fashion that accompanies a windy day of cold.

The sky has been perfectly cloudless, and the smoke from dozens of big chimneys and smokestacks curled around aimlessly, not knowing into which direction it ought to go, and having no place to go but up. Part of the smoke wandered south and part of it east this morning, indicating the perfectly windless weather that it is.

NORFOLK DELEGATION LEAVES IN A SPECIAL CAR.

TO BE A THREE DAYS' SESSION

Columbus Will Undoubtedly Prove a Royal Host and Make the Boys Glad That They Attended—Norfolk Will Rank High With Visitors.

In their special car, fully uniformed and bedged and with the coach announcing to the world who its occupants were with large lettered banners occupying the full length of space the Norfolk delegation of about thirty firemen left over the Union Pacific railway for Columbus to attend the annual session of the Nebraska State Volunteer Firemen's association which meets in that city this year. The session opens today for a three-days' meeting during which the best at the disposal of the people of Columbus will be given the boys. Other large delegations will attend from other towns and cities but the Norfolk delegation expects to rank well up among the top notchers in appearance and numbers. An interesting program has been prepared and Columbus proposes to make the firemen glad they came and anxious to come again.

THE TROCADERO CHANGES HANDS

Harry Loder Sells Stock to James F. Walton of Walnut, Ia.

The Trocadero has changed hands. James F. Walton, a well-to-do citizen from Walnut, Iowa, has purchased the stock and business from the former proprietor, Harry Loder. Mr. Walton will soon arrive to take charge of the business. His son is already in the city. Mr. Loder has been in Norfolk as owner of the Trocadero for the past seven years and has made a large number of friends among men of the city. Previous to that time he was on the road as traveling salesman, through the northwest. He has not yet determined just what his future plans shall be. It is possible that he may arrange to continue his residence in Norfolk, with headquarters here for a territory in which he may travel. Mr. Loder is well known among the traveling men and his success in that line is assured. He has made the Trocadero well and favorably known during his ownership.

For Wrestling Championship.

New York, Jan. 18.—John Piening, the "Butcher Boy," is confident that he will regain the Graeco-Roman wrestling championship from H. H. Egeberg, the "Giant Dane," when the two come together on the mat in the Grand Central palace tonight. On the occasion of their previous bout in this city Piening lost the title to Egeberg. That contest was one of the most sensational ever seen in this city, and the men appeared so evenly matched that a return meeting between them was demanded by the many followers of the sport. Both have been training faithfully for several weeks and appear to be in the pink of condition for tonight's go.

EXPLOSION OF RANGE.

Mrs. J. D. Sturgeon Hears of Accident in Her Creighton House. Mrs. J. D. Sturgeon has received word of an accident in her house at Creighton. The water pipes that fed through the range to furnish hot water became frozen and when the heat of the fire that had been started thawed the pipes and admitted the water to the hot range steam was generated and there was an explosion. The accident took place yesterday morning.
