IT IS A SURGEON'S TRAIN

BUT THERE WAS NO BAD WRECK

Doctors Were Bound to Madison on a Case of Law—They Discussed the Possible Effect of Yesterday's Bullets on the Czar's Anatomy.

It was a surgeon's train for fair that pulled out of the union depot in Norfolk this morning, headed for the county seat. It resembled a relief train, going out to a disastrous wreck to care for the killed and injured and the dying. It looked like a hurry-up train, a first-aid-to-the-injured proposition, running quickly to the scene of catastrophe. In the day coach of the train—the Union Pacific southbound train—were seven of Norfolk's physicians and surgeons, all of whom purchased tickets or rode on transportation to Madison.

But there was no wreck. The train didn't meet an obstacle all the way over. There was no heap of shattered railroad cars pitching headforemost like a drunken man, down into the Elkhorn river south of the city. There was no mass of mangled humanity, groaning and wailing in the agonies of torturous injury. There were no men pinned beneath the heavy, battered cars; no women running frantically about in search for their missing children.

There was no train crew that had gone to sleep enroute, on account of overtime labor and exhaustion, and whom the eyes of the world would blame for the serious accident. For there was no accident.

When Doctors Disagree.

Enroute the doctors laughed and talked and discussed politics. They began to talk about the attack of yesterday on Czar Nicholas, and the effects that might have been produced if the bullet had entered the emperor's heart. The emperor displayed nerve and was strong hearted. That was where the problem came. Would the bullet have gone into a strong heart? There's where the disagreement came. And when doctors disagree—

They arrive at Madison at noon. They went on account of a suit in the civil court. Drs. P. H. Salter and F. G. Salter are suing the Nebraska Telephone company for money alleged to be due them on account of taking care of one of the company's employees when he was injured in Norfolk some time ago. The case was called for 1 o'clock today.

In Hospital Thirty Weeks.

Bert Crum was the man who was injured and over whose case the case arose. Crum was a lineman in the employ of the company and was working on a telephone pole at the corner of Nebraska avenue and Tenth street. It was a bitterly cold winter's day and suddenly Crum slipped and fell off the pole. Down on the brittle, cruelly hard ground he fell. He struck on the tip of his elbow, shattering the bone fearfully and infection later set in from the wound. He was in the hospital of Drs. Salter & Salter for just thirty weeks, during which time the surgeons saved his arm. It was thought for a time amputation would be necessary. Now the surgeons want pay for the work. And other Norfolk surgeons went to Madison as witnesses.

The doctors aboard were P. H. Salter, F. G. Salter, Bear, Mackay, Munson, K. W. Williams.

FRIDAY FACTS.

G. W. Bartz was down from Pierce yesterday. Al Krause was a Norfolk yesterday from Bloomfield. Mrs. Ollpankers was a Norfolk visitor from Osmond. John A. Ehrhardt of Stanton was in Norfolk yesterday. Anton Jonas was in the city yesterday from Clearwater. A. R. Oleson was a Norfolk visitor yesterday from Wisner. Robert R. Williams was in the city yesterday from Monroe. O. P. R. Williams was in the city yesterday from Columbus. J. A. Henderson was a Norfolk visitor yesterday from Clearwater. Mrs. H. F. Henderson was a city visitor yesterday from Oseola. Supreme Judge J. B. Barnes returned home yesterday from Lincoln. Judge J. F. Boyd of Neligh held a sitting of court in chambers here yesterday. Cyrus Reed of Emerson, Iowa, arrived in Norfolk last evening for a visit with his brother, C. R. Reed, linotypist at The News office.

Mrs. Moore left this morning for a visit with her sister and other friends in Iowa.

Julius Haase is moving into the house owned by H. J. Graves on South Tenth street.

John E. Proess and W. B. Mullins were Norfolk visitors yesterday from Bloomfield.

Court Reporter W. H. Powers was down from Neligh to report the sitting of court in chambers.

Misses Lizzie and Hattie Lichtenberg were in the city yesterday from Hadar doing some shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kuhn left on the noon train for a three weeks' visit with relatives and friends at Marshalltown, Iowa.

Jacob Jaskalek, grand master workman of the Ancient Order of United Workman for the Nebraska Jurisdiction, is in Norfolk today from South Omaha.

James Tyler, jr., of Lincoln, state architect, arrived in Norfolk last night from Lincoln and this morning paid a visit to the Norfolk hospital for the insane to inspect the buildings and work during the finishing processes. He was accompanied by Contractor Phillips, who will have charge of the plumbing.

The West Side Whist club enjoyed a delightful meeting with Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Boas at their home on South Tenth street last night.

Mrs. L. Sessions, who fell from a sleigh, is still suffering from the shock to her nervous system, although the injuries received were not at all serious.

The executive committee of the commercial club will meet this evening in the offices of the Norfolk National bank to consider matters of importance to the club and the city.

While the plumbers were repairing the mains in the city water works system yesterday some of the patrons of the department were compelled to swear off using water for a few hours and The News office was among them.

Mrs. Andrew Teal has been a sufferer for the past few days from a severely afflicted hand. Blood poisoning set in following a sore on the knuckle of the index finger and a serious time followed. She is now improved in condition.

A party of people surprised Mrs. Henry Nimmer last night in honor of her birthday anniversary. A number of handsome gifts were received as remembrances of the occasion and all of the guests enjoyed themselves very much until a late hour.

With Valentine day three weeks away, dealers in the gay and ridiculous missives have already commenced to display their stock in trade and the children who will participate in the observance of the day are saving their nickles and pennies to purchase the necessary stationery.

The weather of this morning and that of yesterday made conditions favorable for the breeding of a blizzard of genuine severity only requiring a stiff north wind, but up to noon that wind had not made itself manifest. It is noticeable that in recent years when everything else has been rightly proportioned for a blizzard the wind has failed to give the finishing touches. On the occasion of the recent snow there would have been merry Ned raised in the weather department by a strong wind but the required quality failed to appear and the snow has scarcely been disturbed by the wind since it fell. The weather in Norfolk warmed up to a high point yesterday, the government thermometer showing a record of forty-one degrees for the maximum. The lowest was fourteen above zero.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier, New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the pharmacy board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by Leonard the druggist.

ADVERTISERS MUST PAY

CANNOT CHUCK MATTER INTO RURAL BOXES AT WILL.

HAVE ANNOYED THE PATRONS

Ruling from the Postoffice Department that the Carriers are to Take Such Matter to the Postoffice to be Held for Postage.

[From Friday's Daily.]

The sorrows of a rural resident who thinks his box is full of mail, only to find it choked with advertising, have been told in Washington. Relief is on the way. A rule has been established that may keep the advertisers busy paying postage.

Since the rural free delivery facilitated the passage of intelligence, the advertisers of medicines and foods and farm necessities have had pilgrims on the road constantly checking their papers and folios into the boxes. The people have filed many complaints with the postoffice of Norfolk and Postmaster Hays appealed to the department in Washington.

Hereafter if the farmer will reject the obnoxious matter it will be taken to the postoffice by the postman and there it will be held for postage. Thus to use the boxes will make heavy costs for the promoters.

The department through J. L. Bristow, four assistant postmaster, has decided that papers and pamphlets placed in the boxes are "in the mails" and must bear postage. Following is the text of the letter sent to Postmaster Hays:

"Owing to the numerous complaints which are being made to the department that advertising circulars and other mailable matter, postage on which has not been prepaid, are being placed in rural letter boxes, without the proper postage to the annoyance of those who receive mail through such boxes; and in order that there may be no misunderstanding regarding the proper disposition of such matter, you are hereby advised that patrons' boxes erected on rural routes are intended exclusively for the reception of matter regularly in the mails, for delivery or dispatch through the mails; and 'mailable' articles which carriers find deposited in such mail boxes on their routes, are properly 'in the mails,' and subject to all the rules regulating mail matter, including the payment of postage thereon. 'You will promptly and fully instruct the rural carriers attached to your office that all mailable matter found in rural letter boxes, without the proper postage affixed or money provided sufficient to purchase same, should be taken to the initial postoffice to be held for postage. 'Such matter on its receipt at the postoffice should be treated in accordance with the provisions of the postal laws and regulations covering matter mailed without prepayment of postage. 'Rural letter boxes are afforded the same protection under the law, as other United States mail boxes."

INSURANCE TOPICS DISCUSSED

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 26.—The Nebraska Association of Mutual Insurance companies, in tenth annual session here, today listened to papers and addresses as follows: "The Adjustment of Stock Losses," John Emanuel, North Bend, Neb.; "The Adjustment of Farm Losses," S. J. Plymester, secretary Pierce County Farmers' Mutual Insurance company; "How Can We Best Promote the Cause of Mutual Insurance in Nebraska?" P. J. Rebekahs Install.

Deborah Rebekah lodge held their installation of officers last night in Odd Fellows hall. The retiring noble grand, Mrs. S. F. Dunn, surprised the members by providing refreshments. All participants enjoyed a most agreeable evening.

Skipped on Wedding Eve.

Paponee, Neb., Jan. 21.—Benjamin L. Cottrell, formerly of San Francisco and of Fort Logan, Col., is missing, and his sweetheart, Miss Mabel Johnson, of Naponee, is almost broken-hearted over his failure to wed her at the time set for their nuptials. About four years ago Cottrell had a quarrel with his sweetheart and enlisted in the army. Later the lovers made up and renewed their engagement. Cottrell was mustered out of the army recently and the wedding was set for last night. Miss Johnson was ready and the guests were assembled at her home, but Cottrell did not appear.

THE LADIES' BAND.

Serenades a Number of Business Houses With Good Music. The Norfolk Ladies' band, Miss Catlin leader, serenaded a number of business houses in Norfolk last night, playing a number of popular pieces to the satisfaction of a large number of auditors. The band has made rapid progress during the past few months and has arrived at a point where it turns out nothing but first class music.

PUT TO WORK ON WOODPILE

Old Offender Working Old Crossing Planks Into Kindling.

A pair of weary Willies leading out far in advance of the spring season, and a plain ordinary drunk were the occupants of the city jail over night. The vagrants were given fines of $7 each and ordered out of town under suspension of the fine. The drunk, a man named Ohmond, living east of the Northfork, who is an old offender, has been set to work at cutting up old crossing planks for use as kindling in the city offices. It is figured that if he can be kept at the work a few days the city will have kindling sufficient to last during the balance of the winter.

GO TO BEATRICE NEXT YEAR.

Nebraska Firemen Conclude Work of the Session.

The business of the twenty-third annual meeting of the Nebraska state volunteer firemen at Columbus is finished. The last act in the drama was pulled off at Orpheus hall last night, where the visiting firemen were invited to feast and listen to the toasts from the best after-dinner speakers in Columbus and from visiting firemen. Edgar Howard was toastmaster. Columbus firemen are receiving high and deserved praise for one of the best meetings in the history of the association. The enrollment reached 313 and the treasurer reports a balance of $700. Beatrice gets the next meeting, which will be held in January, 1906. The officers for next year are: J. H. McKay, Blair, president; Charles Holtz, first vice president; H. D. Hyder, York, second vice president; F. A. Miller, secretary; Harry Graff, Seward, treasurer. It was decided to vote $250 to the board of control to be used in the next tournament. The morning session was devoted to the reports of chiefs, which were not completed yesterday, and to the discussion of the question of insurance tax. In many towns the tax collected has been turned into the general fund of the town treasury, instead of to the fire department, as the law requires.

WILL BE MANDAMUSED.

Courts Will be Appealed to for a New Apportionment of Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 21.—If the legislature does not reapportion the state for legislative districts it will be mandamus by the supreme court. Speaker Rouse, who hails from the North Platte, says this course will be followed if the South Platte people refuse justice. The present apportionment gives the section south of the river an undue advantage, and this it is unwilling to surrender because it takes away from it the power to settle all senatorial contests. No apportionment has been made for fifteen years, and the new sections retain only their old representation. In the house a bill to reapportion the temporary school fund was introduced. Its aim is to give a larger share to the western districts. A similar bill two years ago was the center of a hard fight.

A bill to prohibit marriage of first cousins was introduced. Nebraska has been the Mecca of first cousins courting matrimony for years.

BOY GOES UNDER THE ICE

CARL DUNKEL HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH TODAY.

HE IS FISHED OUT BY PIKES

Working on the Ice on the Northfork River Today, the Young Drummer Suddenly Slips and Sinks Beneath the Surface of the Crust.

[From Friday's Daily.] Carl Dunkel, a young boy who was at work piling ice down the Northfork river this morning, suddenly slipped into a hole and went under. He was rescued from the water underneath the surface with some difficulty, coming very near to a watery grave.

Young Dunkel was fished out from the hole by means of pikes, by the other ice men. His feet slipped, allowing him to sink. He is snare drummer in the young man's band in this city.

O'Neill Men's Trip.

Sioux City, Jan. 21.—O. J. Moore, president of the Commercial club, today received a letter from the O'Neill, Neb., Commercial club, stating that a delegation of twenty-five from that club will visit Sioux City January 25. It is stated that O'Neill is coming to Sioux City to find out what the Great Northern plans are. O'Neill is interested even more than Sioux City in securing an extension of the line terminating there to a connection with the B. & M. at Dunning or Alliance, giving a direct outlet to Denver.

It was upon a suggestion of a Sioux City business man that the O'Neill Commercial club was organized and largely for the purpose of this trip. Upon a recent visit it was suggested by him that O'Neill should keep pace with the Great Northern's movements and assistance in arranging for an extension of the line would not be out of order.

The business men soon met, declared for the extension, organized the Commercial club and voted to send a delegation to Sioux City. At the last meeting of the Sioux City Commercial club it was voted to arrange some sort of an entertainment for the visitors. A half fare rate was granted by the Great Northern railroad to the delegation.

Boys of Norfolk High School Trying to Get Suits.

The boys of the Norfolk high school are endeavoring to secure cadet suits for school wear and have succeeded in interesting parents quite generally in the movement.

To get a desired reduction in the price it is necessary that thirty-five of the pupils should agree to take the suits and twenty-five have already agreed to the proposition, thus lacking but ten of the required number. The suits are guaranteed to be of first-class quality and well made and it is hoped to interest the other ten members of the school at an early date.

Coyote-Rabbit Race.

On Thursday last week, the day following the snow, rural carrier Mitchell witnessed a race such as few perhaps have ever seen. He was driving on his route when a quarter of a mile away in a field his attention was attracted to a coyote moving about in the edge of a stalk field. Soon after he had sighted the coyote he saw a jack rabbit jump from where it had evidently been crouching in a snow bank and start to run. The coyote at once spied the rabbit and immediately the race was on. The jack after doubling a time or two and getting his bearings headed directly in Mr. Mitchell's direction and, with ears laid low did his best running, following the road where the snow was broken, and passed within ten or twelve feet of the carrier and was hotly pursued by the coyote, which appeared not to notice the presence of a team fairly upon it, when the shouts of the carrier attracted its attention and caused him to slacken speed. Later Mr. Mitchell watch the coyote with nose to the ground following the creek in search of his desired prey.—Stanton Pickett.
