

THE ELKS ANNUAL PARTY

FOURTH ANNIVERSARY WAS CELEBRATED LAST NIGHT.

ONE OF THE PRETTIEST EVER

Dancing and Cards Were Features of the Fourth Anniversary Party of Norfolk Lodge No. 653, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Norfolk lodge, No. 653, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, enjoyed last night at its fourth anniversary party, one of the most successful and highly delightful social functions that have been given by the local lodge within its four years of existence. The affair was attended by a very large number of Elks and their ladies from both Norfolk and the surrounding territory, and by, also, a number of Elks who had been invited for the evening as a special feature.

The evening was given over to cards and dancing. Six-hand euchre afforded pleasure to those who enjoy taking tricks at a table, while on the floor above the club rooms the dancers began at 9 o'clock and continued, with an intermission for supper, until 1 o'clock, in a most delightful dance.

A delicious supper, prepared by ladies of Elks whose names begin with letters in the first half of the alphabet, was served to the hundred guests at promptly 11 o'clock, requiring about an hour. Mrs. A. J. Durland was chairman of the committee of ladies and to her is due much of the credit for the supper's success.

Throughout the evening the billiard and pool room was filled with interested cue experts who found more genuine enjoyment in that amusement than in either the cards or the dance. The ceellian, also, was on the constant go, turning out music by the yard for a number of auditors.

Orange sherbet was served at the south end of the dancing hall, throughout the evening. The Norfolk orchestra furnished music and the music was a splendid feature of the evening, too.

Exalted Ruler P. H. Salter was chairman of the party committee. W. M. Rainbolt, E. H. Tracy and Dr. R. A. Mittelstadt were chairmen of sub-committees.

The party was one of the prettiest that has been seen in Norfolk in a long time. With full dress attire largely among the men and stunningly attractive gowns among the ladies, the effect was a pleasing one withal and one which did justice to the fourth birthday of No. 653.

Although there were a number of outsiders present and a number of the commercial men who are Elks, yet the fact that the party fell on Thursday night was enough to keep away a great many of the travelers who were out on their routes and a number, too, of the members in other towns who had business duties to attend to too early today to be able to make the trip.

Leigh Bros. expect to continue the business in Wayne and put forth energetic efforts in gaining their share of patronage. They come well recommended.

Dr. A. E. Disbrow of Creighton, who had considerable difficulty a few months ago with a party from Oregon who claimed that he had been defrauded by the Nebraska physician, has now completely triumphed over the westerner, having won his case in the courts. Dr. Disbrow has been completely exonerated from all charges made and his territory in Oregon, for the sale of his medicine, has been restored to him.

A morning of frosty fog was the weather feature today. The air was charged with dampness that quickly painted silvery feathers on wires, trees and everything long exposed to its effects. It was a regular eastern morning and the achievements of the frost king in decorating things was not unappreciated by the people in this section who have not frequently had the opportunity to witness similar effects. Meanwhile the snow remains on the ground, to afford sleighing and sledding like they have further east and north, and if the frost and fog has its usual development there will be a further addition to the coating of snow.

The recent sale of the Babcock half section just north of town for $17,000, recalls forcibly the fact that real estate investments are good. In speaking of this sale, M. B. Huffman of the firm of Huffman & Rollins of this city, stated that twenty years ago he was offered the northeast quarter of this land for $100, and the west one for $50. That any time during that year he could have purchased this land at that figure, but even at the price thought it was worthless. Today this is as fine a farm as can be found in Nebraska, well improved and produces crops as prolific as land anywhere.

FRED M. HANS WAS SEEN

FRIENDS RECOGNIZED HIM AT FREMONT RECENTLY.

HE REFUSED TO SPEAK TO THEM

Man Who Had a Murder Charge Hanging Over Him at Ainsworth and Who Was Said to Have Disappeared, is Reported to Have Gone East.

The Fremont Tribune says Fred M. Hans, who was awaiting trial at Ainsworth on charge of the murder of David O. Luce, and who is reported to have suddenly left town without advising his friends, was seen at Fremont several days ago. Mr. Hans at that time, the Tribune says, refused to recognize his acquaintances on the street and the supposition is that, leaving the country, he desired to give an impression that it was not he who killed Luce near Ainsworth. Hans said he was trying to arrest the fellow and shot in self defense. The case has been tried once and was remanded by the supreme court for new trial. Twice this winter the case has been postponed until future date for trial.

RELATIVES TAKE BODY.

Remains of Henry Kane, Asphyxiated Yesterday, Taken to Lynch, Neb., Sioux City, Jan. 27.—Frank Moran and W. L. Mulhair of Lynch, Neb., arrived yesterday morning to take charge of the body of their brother-in-law, Henry Kane, who was found suffocated by gas in the Merchant's hotel.

Moran and Mulhair investigated the case to some extent and expressed the opinion that Kane undoubtedly came to his death by blowing out the gas.

"He was a bachelor and lived with us," said Moran. "Part of the time he stayed on his farm four miles from Lynch. He owned 160 acres of land and it is worth perhaps $2,000. He did not read the newspapers much and I don't believe he knew much about how to handle gas. He was 52 years old."

Kane went to Boseobel, Wis., in November to visit his sister. He came from that town to Nebraska and had not been back to visit his old home for more than twenty years.

Coroner Robbins decided not to hold an inquest and the body was taken home to Lynch this morning.

IRRIGATION BOARD TO MEET.

Will Consider Questions of Importance to the Farmers.

Lincoln, Jan. 27.—The state board of irrigation will meet February 14 for the purpose of determining the respective merits of applications 768 and 769, the former being that of the secretary of the interior for the Nebraska end of the Pathfinder canal project, and the latter, the Union canal project, backed by H. G. Leavitt, the Ames beet sugar magnate. The secretary will not rule as is the custom, leaving the matter for his superior officers. Leavitt is expected to appeal in an event of an adverse decision.

The question involved arises from the fact that the first filing of the government did not cover the territory to be watered in detail as required by the statutes, and on that technicality Leavitt bases his claims to priority, the government having filed an amended application after that of the sugar magnate.

Local parties interested in the western irrigation project believe that the president has finally refused the request of Leavitt that the government allow private enterprise to carry out a portion or all of the Pathfinder enterprise. The contract for some of the rock work has already been let, indicating, it is believed, the intention of the government to proceed without delay.

SCARED NEGRO LEFT TRUNK KEY

Peculiar Experience of Valentine Colored Man in Norfolk.

George H. Spear, the Norfolk traveling man who was not dead as reported, tells of a negro at Valentine who had a peculiar experience in Norfolk and between Norfolk and Bonesteel a few days ago. Mr. Spear was sitting in the office of the hotel at Valentine on the night he was reported dead, when the day policeman and night watchman entered.

"A negro over here had a bad time down the line," said the officer. "He started for Bonesteel. Having no money, he fired on the engine as far as the reservation town, to pay for his transportation. When he got back to Norfolk he was nearly broke. He was arrested and jailed and the police took his keys and cash away from him, for safe keeping. The judge put him on road work and set him digging. After an hour of this toil the overseer turned his back and when he looked around, the coon had dropped his shovel and disappeared. The fellow never stopped running till he got to Valentine, and now he's in a bad way because one of the keys on the bunch was his trunk key, and he can't get at his clothes. And at the same time, he doesn't dare go back to the police in Norfolk for the thing."

Madison Notes.

A class of sixty members were initiated into the Modern Woodmen. Visiting delegates from all surrounding towns were present. A banquet was served at 12:30. Resolutions were unanimously passed requesting the state legislature to pass senate file 115 and house roll 161. Telegrams were sent to the Madison county members of the legislature advising them of the lodge's action. State Deputy E. E. Kister of Lincoln was in attendance.

DR. KOCH OUT ON BAIL.

Man Accused of Murder of Dr. Gebhard Unexpectedly Freed.

New Ulm, Minn., Jan. 28.—George R. Koch was released from his cell in the county jail.

Judge Webber opened court in chambers here at 2 o'clock and, contrary to expectation, L. L. Brown and W. D. Abbott of Winona, attorneys for Koch, appeared and moved that their client be admitted to bail.

General Childs resisted, but the court granted the motion and fixed the bail at $20,000.

This was immediately furnished by Dr. L. A. Fritsche, Dr. J. L. Shock, W. E. and E. G. Koch, Jacob Klossner and Charles Wagner, bondsmen, and Dr. Koch was given his liberty at once.

Judge Webber granted a change of venue to Blue Earth county, and the second trial of Dr. Koch will take place at Mankato shortly after the adjournment of the legislature.

Court meets at Mankato in February, but retrial of Koch's case is delayed until March so that Senator Somerville of his counsel can remain in the senate until the legislature adjourns.

Dr. Koch has relatives at Mankato, but the state made no serious objection to it as the place of next trial.

Hayes, a justice of the peace of Norfolk precinct, Madison county, Nebraska, issued an order of attachment for the sum of $50.00 in an action pending before him, wherein James H. Conley is plaintiff, and William Wachter is defendant, that property of the defendant, consisting of money has been attached under said order. Said cause was continued to the 4th day of March, 1905, at 1 o'clock p. m.

Norfolk, Neb., Jan. 29, 1905. James H. Conley, Plaintiff.

BASEBALL FANS TO MEET

WILL GET TOGETHER IN NORFOLK FEBRUARY 7.

FOR ELKHORN VALLEY LEAGUE

Al Pont, the Baseball Enthusiast from Stanton, and Editor, Urges That a Meeting be Held in Norfolk to Make Plans for the Season.

W. W. Roberts continues to receive letters from northern Nebraska towns which indicate that the baseball spirit of the territory has not yet wholly died down and that there are good prospects for a league to be formed in this section.

Al Pont, the Stanton baseball enthusiast and editor, has written to Mr. Roberts requesting that a meeting be held in Norfolk on February 7 for the organization of the baseball league. Mr. Pont suggests that the league be called, "The Elkhorn Valley League."

It is now said that there are four towns southeast of this city which would be willing to come into the game—Stanton, Pigeon, Wisner and West Point.

Need $300 Per Month.

Mr. Roberts estimates that the team could not be maintained in Norfolk for less than $300 per month. "I have talked with a number of local fans," said Mr. Roberts today, "and the situation in Norfolk appears to be about the same as it has always been. There are a number of them who would favor a league and who would give toward its support. There are some, also, who would not give. If we can depend on $300 per month we can play ball and good ball. There is no use in playing unless we have a decently able team for West Point, Wayne and Stanton would make things mighty interesting even at that."

FIRE IN JUNCTION EATING HOUSE

With Hundreds of Travelers in the Building, the Blaze Starts.

While hundreds of passengers from four separate trains which had arrived from as many different directions at noon, were skimming hither and thither on the platform of the South Norfolk station of the Northwestern railway at noon, and hurrying through with their dinners at lunch counters and dining tables, fire broke out in the rear end of the Rome Miller eating house. Little damage was done by the flame. The fire department was called and one cart responded from the city.

The cause of the fire was a stove which had been placed in the store room of the institution to prevent freezing among articles kept there. The stove became too warm for the articles and, while preventing a freeze caused them to burn.

No one was hurt in the rush that was created by the alarm of fire at the station.

FIRST LOSS FOR ELK ORN LIFE

Hufsmith of Creighton was the victim of the accident which demanded the payment. The company was notified of the accident on January 16 and a check for $100 went to Mr. Hufsmith on January 26. In a letter to the company Mr. Hufsmith commends the promptness with which the matter was attended to.

London, Jan. 31.—An incident illustrating the present temper of the Russian people is related by an English traveler just returned from St. Petersburg. The incident occurred in a leading theater of the Russian capital. At a recent performance a grand duke was seated in one of the boxes. At his side was a lady friend, who drew the attention of all present by the magnificence of her jewels. Suddenly, during a pause in the piece, a man in the stalls stood up, and, pointing to the grand duke in the box, called out: "Arrest the thief who has stolen the money that has been collected for our sick and wounded, and has covered that person with jewels out of the proceeds of his dishonesty."
