

ESCAPE IN NIGHT ROBES

HOLT COUNTY FAMILY HAS A NARROW ESCAPE.

SLEEP WHILE HOME BURNS

Probably Stunned by the Lightning Bolt That Set the Home Afire, They are Not Aroused Until Almost Cut off by the Flames.

Atkinson, Neb., April 21.—Special to The News: A very bad fire occurred last night, destroying the farm house and household goods of S. A. Hickman, four miles from town. About 1 o'clock Mrs. Hickman awakened and discovered fire on the outside of the bedroom, and by the time the husband was awakened and out, the fire was so far advanced that he could not wait to dress and the children were barely removed from the rooms upstairs, in nightclothing, and all that could be done was to save the barn and outbuildings.

The origin of the fire is not known and there was no insurance on the buildings or household goods. Fire started during a thunder shower and it is possible that the lightning might have caused it and also shocked the family so that they could not be aroused. Five minutes more would have found no family left to tell anything the burning of the home.

placed that are not excelled by any in the city.

In order to interest eastern capitalists in Norfolk and northern Nebraska, A. J. Durland left today at noon for a four weeks' trip throughout the east. He will visit Hartford, Boston, New York and other points and in all of them will interview moneyed men who are looking for excellent investments. Mr. Durland will be absent for more than a month on the trip, and will talk "Norfolk."

The Northeast Nebraska Bankers association is in session today at Laurel. This is group No. 4 of the Nebraska Bankers association. The meeting is generally held on Arbor day, April 22, but it is held a day previous this year because of the fact that Arbor day falls on Saturday and the country banks desired to keep open on Saturday. From Norfolk the following bankers are attending: H. J. Miller, W. A. Witzigman, E. W. Zutz, A. Bear, C. E. Burnham.

The rainstorm of yesterday, which was terrific all day long, has cleared away and this morning dawned over northern Nebraska with cloudless skies and a chilly atmosphere. The rain was general, extending from the Rocky mountains to the Missouri river, and covering most of Nebraska. Reports at the Northwestern headquarters here show that the northern edge of the storm reached to Anoka, Neb., a few miles from the South Dakota-Nebraska state line. At Norfolk the rain amounted in precipitation, all told, to 2.07 inches of water.

Yesterday's rain amounted to 1.65 and the night before to forty-two one-hundredths of an inch. Reports from Kearney show that the drought was broken there by the storm, the rain having come in time to save the wheat and alfalfa. In Custer county there was a terrific storm, the dry creeks running over full and much livestock being drowned. In some portions of western Nebraska there was a regular blizzard and in Wyoming the telegraph poles along the railroad were leveled by the snow. The territory between Norfolk and Sioux City was soaked and the lowlands are all filled with water. A high wind in Norfolk accompanied the storm, making it almost impossible for pedestrians to get about and rendering umbrellas useless and in most cases badly demolished, besides. The crops in this territory were greatly benefited by the water. A freeze followed this morning, ice being coated over all still water.

Kaley of this place for $120, giving a mortgage for them. Later he went to Springfield, Neb., and sold the team. The horses were sold several times. Two sheriffs were set on the trail of Talbert and he was finally located at Neligh. The Knox county sheriff went for the prisoner Saturday and brought him here. He was bound over to district court, which begins at Center tomorrow, on a charge of selling mortgaged property. GET FUGITIVE FIREBUG

BERT LUKE, MUCH WANTED HERE, IS CAPTURED AT FREMONT.

HE CONFESSES TO THE CRIME

After Eluding Norfolk Police Almost a Week, Young Bert Luke, Alleged Member of the Firebugs, is in Custody—Brought Back Today.

Fremont, Neb., April 21.—Special to The News: Bert Luke, of Norfolk, the youthful alleged firebug for whom the Norfolk police have been searching over the state all week, and who is charged with arson at Norfolk, has been captured here and has confessed to the crime with which he is charged. Young Luke says that Earl Fairbanks and Ernest Stulzky assisted in the setting of the fire. All are young.

Chief of Police Larkin left on an early train today for Fremont and returned to Norfolk at noon with young Luke in custody. This is the ring-leader implicated by Fairbanks, and it is this boy who is so much desired as a completion in the chain of state's evidence.

Fairbanks, when arrested Monday, implicated Luke and Stulzky. He said that Luke set the fire and that the other two watched it. Stulzky is a young lad employed as helper in the South Norfolk railroad station. It was from him that the first confession of the crime was wrung. He was in court yesterday and appears again today as a witness.

It is understood that Luke worked in a Beemer restaurant for several days of this week but when the Norfolk police passed through there the Beemer marshal said that he would look the boy up and later Luke left town.

Davenport Brothers are having the debris of the old cold storage plant cleared away. The brick and other material that can be used again is being cleaned off and piled away for future use.

Another light touch of frost last night has served to retard the growth of vegetation that had been encouraged to advance by the warm rays of the sun that were enticingly offered yesterday.

S. R. McFarland received word of the death of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Steinbaugh, at Beemer, and left on an early train today for that place to attend the funeral services. Mrs. McFarland went to Beemer early in the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lutch of Danbury were in the city on their way home from Bonesteed where they have taken a homestead. Mr. Lutch is favorably impressed with the country and states that he was offered $900 for his homestead right three days after he took it.

The town has been pretty well filled today with belated Easter shoppers who are completing arrangements for the observance of the day tomorrow. The candy and toy shops, dealing in the season's novelties and the drug stores, having dyes on hand for the Easter eggs, received a share of the patronage.

Today is Arbor day in Nebraska and it is being observed throughout the state by the planting of trees. Many a man was out bright and early this morning, taking advantage of the fresh air and the cloudless skies, for the purpose of setting out his 1905 trees. Norfolk banks were closed all day in observance of the day.

Oldham and will leave tomorrow for Kearney, where he goes to accept the position and go to work Monday morning. Stanton Register: Fred Burner and Miss Buggie Peters were married at Norfolk Monday. Both the bride and groom are old time Stanton residents but have moved away. Mr. and Mrs. Burner will reside at Meadow Grove. The bride is a daughter of Alex Peters the newly appointed steward of the insane asylum at Norfolk. Fred Burner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Burner, who lived in Hoosier Hollow for many years.

Wayne Herald: "There is an old cow from which I have sold $1,555 worth of calves and have six of her produce yet on the farm." Is the way Will Lessman spoke of an old cow he has on his farm. This cow is a pure bred Shorthorn and the six head of her produce that yet remain on the farm would readily sell for $100 each, thus making the produce of this cow since she came into Mr. Lessman's possession worth almost $2,200.

From pretty good railroad authority it is learned in Norfolk that the Northwestern railroad company now has a large force of men at Casper, working on the extension, and that within three weeks the stretching of the track will begin. This, of course, will mean much to Norfolk, as it would bring a continental line through here, with mammoth tea trains and fruit trains from the west, and it would bring in many new families in the way of car repairers, extra crews and the like.

There is some base ball enthusiasm being stirred up in Norfolk with promise that before the end of the season there will be enthusiasm that will prompt some very interesting games between some strong teams. This morning a team of young players went to Plainview where they will contest with a local team for the honors of the day. For the afternoon today on the local grounds the high school team will meet a team composed of the high school alumni for a contest. There is increasing interest in the movements of the players in the vicinity of Norfolk and it is possible that some of the best of them will visit Norfolk before the close of the season.

SAD EASTER DAY FOR FAMILY

Stanton, Neb., April 21.—Special to The News: Carl Hans, aged nineteen, and Joe Emerich, still younger, started out hunting yesterday forenoon along the Elkhorn river. At about 9:30, while they were in Appelby's pasture, Emerich's shotgun was accidentally discharged, the entire load striking Hans, who was about ten feet distant, in the calf of the leg. The leg was bound up and Dr. William Persen was summoned. On his arrival the injured boy was removed to the Hans home. The wound was at first not regarded as fatal, but notwithstanding the efforts of attending physicians, Drs. Persen and Peters, it resulted in the death of the injured boy at noon.

OBSERVANCE OF EASTER

CHURCHES ARE PREPARED WITH SPECIAL SERVICES.

EXTRA PROGRAMS OF MUSIC

The Day Will be Generally Observed in Norfolk and Flowers and Spring Fashions are Likely to be Noticeable at the Churches.

Tomorrow is Easter day, one of the most important days of the year in the church calendar, and the day will be observed with special services in the churches of Norfolk. For the past week the various pastors have been busy on their special discourses and the choirs and orchestras have been preparing their special programs of music which will present to the several audiences the best musical talent that Norfolk affords.

Today the churches are receiving their Easter decorations and will be ablaze with flowers tomorrow, prominent among which will be the favorite Easter lily.

If the weather is at all favorable it is probable that, as is usual on Easter Sunday, the churches will be all well filled with worshippers, as many people make it a point to attend Easter Sunday though they may be negligent on every other Sunday of the year.

At the homes the children will expect the usual visit from the rabbit that is said to bring the eggs and candies deposited in the nests or boxes prepared for the accommodation of the alleged visitor.

Fashion has long decreed that Easter is the proper occasion for the wearing of the new spring gowns, wraps and bonnets, but the weather frequently interferes with this arrangement in this section of the west, nevertheless, if elements are at all kind it may be expected that the ladies of Norfolk will fall in with the custom. From the activity in the millinery stores and the dressmaking parlors that has prevailed for weeks, it is known that many have prepared to appear in new gowns and bonnets, but women are not likely to insist on the display if the weather seems to disapprove.

The government weather forecaster promises showers, though he may no, insist on delivering the consignment at church time tomorrow.

THE EASTER DAY SERVICES

YESTERDAY WAS A MEMORABLE SUNDAY IN NORFOLK.

SPECIAL SUNDAY SERVICES

In Spite of the Rain, the Clouds Were Cleared Away by the Strains of Sweet Easter-Tide Music—Programs Were Excellent.

Easter Sunday was fittingly observed by Norfolk churches, and unusually beautiful programs and decorations abounded.

Although rain fell during a portion of the day, the brightness of the Easter-tide, with the splendid music and the impressive services took away all of the clouds in the heavens.

Special services were held in all Norfolk churches and all services were exceedingly well attended both morning and evening. It was a memorable Easter in many ways.

The Knights Templar attended services at the Methodist Episcopal church last night in a body, listening to the sermon by the pastor, Rev. J. F. Poucher. The church was prettily decorated with lilies and other flowers at both services.

At Trinity Episcopal church the service at 10:30 in the morning was characterized by a full choir and a splendid orchestral program. The church was very handsomely decorated, plants and flowers being banked high up in very beautiful effect. At the evening service the children rendered a pleasing program, reflecting great credit upon those who had trained them in their parts.

The Congregational church was very beautifully decorated and a fine program of special music was rendered at the regular hour. Lilies in profusion were used in the decoration and the large church room presented an exceptionally impressive appearance.

All of the Lutheran churches in the city held special services, with excellent special programs of music, and all of these services were unusually largely attended.

Regular services were held at the Church of the Sacred Heart, the recent fire rendering such repairs necessary that efforts to decorate for Easter were rendered out of the question.

The Easter offering at the Methodist church was $200.

FOWLER DESIRES HARMONY

Ex-State Superintendent Speaks for the Welfare of Kearney Normal.

W. K. Fowler, ex-state superintendent of public instruction, was in Norfolk between trains Saturday. In referring to the action of the state board which held a session at Peru and when a motion to elect the principal of the New Kearney normal school was made, resulting in a tie, Mr. Fowler stated that he very much regretted the want of harmony on the part of the members of the state board of education, not on account of the relationship existing between himself and the state board, but rather on account of the unfavorable effects that may be produced upon the usefulness of the Kearney normal school.

Referring to the location of the new normal at Kearney he stated that his action in voting for that location was the result of deliberation and his best judgment. He says that he has no reason whatever to change that judgment; that his interest in the educational welfare of western Nebraska has in no wise abated; that he hopes for more harmony and unanimity on the part of the board and that it will succeed in selecting a man for the principalship who will be free from local prejudices and who will be an honor to the educational interests of the entire state.

Trinity.

The Easter services at Trinity church were especially joyous. The church was beautifully decorated with a large profusion of lilies and plants. The services commenced with an early celebration at 7 o'clock, choral celebration at 8 o'clock and morning prayer and celebration at 10:30. The early services were well attended as was also the mid-day service.

The thanks of the congregation are particularly due to the ladies who spent so much time in decorating the chancel, to the choir and musicians and to Miss May Durland, Mr. Charles Gerecke, Master Graham Humphrey and Master Harry Dignan, all of whom rendered their solos with artistic effect. The Easter offering of the congregation was a generous one.

The evening service was rendered largely by the Sunday school children and the carols rendered by the little ones were much appreciated by the congregation and formed an attractive part of the service, both for the parents and the children.

The rector gave a report of the standing of the Sunday school somewhat as follows: The number of scholars enrolled is 55; the average attendance 43; the total money passing through the hands of the treasurer for the year, $133.00. The Easter offering given by the children amounted to over $50, very nearly equalling that of the congregation at the morning service. The Sunday school and the choir are both self-supporting, the former being a subscriber to the support of the church, which is very unusual. The rector heartily thanks the little ones for their loyal support.
