She had on board eighteen officers and men, including the regular crew and men who were in training. Fourteen of the number were drowned. The others were rescued by boats.

At the meeting of the Pioneer hook and ladder company, held last night, Julius Haase was elected secretary in place of M. J. Romig, who has removed from the city. Before the meeting a ladder practice was held by members of the company.

Another day of chilliness was bestowed upon the country this morning, but the weather was not cool enough for frost or to cause particular uneasiness on the part of the farmers and gardeners. Except in the matter of retarding the corn, there will be no evil consequences.

All members of the Congregational Sabbath school are urged to attend a full rehearsal at the church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and parents are requested to take notice. The rehearsal is for the observance of children's day next Sunday, a good program being in course of preparation.

The condition of C. D. Jenkins is said to have been very critical yesterday, but his friends will be glad to learn that there appears to have been a change for the better during last night. Carl Jenkins came up from Madison last night and will remain until all dangerous symptoms have disappeared.

A fire that caught in some excelsior and old barrels and boxes in the rear of the Western Union telegraph office last night just a little before 9 o'clock, for a time threatened destruction to that building and the one occupied by E. N. Vall's candy kitchen. The fire bell was rung but the blaze was extinguished with one of the chemicals from the hook and ladder truck without the need of calling out the entire department.

Mrs. Rice of Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Spaulding, came down last night, summoned by the critical condition of her father, and her aunt, Mrs. S. G. Dean. Mrs. Dean is suffering from heart trouble and her condition was very serious at last reports, she not being expected to survive long unless there was a change to the better. Mr. Spaulding, who has been sick many months, is said to be nearing a crisis and a change for the better or the worse is expected soon. Friends of both hope they may have a favorable change.

Dr. F. M. Sisson, presiding elder of the M. E. church of this district, is also a trustee of the Wesleyan university at University Place, Lincoln, and while attending at the university Tuesday was invited to deliver the address at the unveiling of the memorial to Bishop Fowler in the chapel of the university, an honor which his friends consider deservedly bestowed, and to which he did full justice in his eloquent manner. Next Wednesday Dr. Sisson goes to Lincoln to attend a school of instruction to familiarize himself regarding his duties as chaplain of one of the regiments of the Nebraska national guard, to which he was recently appointed. Other regimental and company officers will likewise be instructed regarding their duties.

Street Commissioner Haase is on the war path against people who are throwing refuse in the gutters. In the residence districts cuttings from lawns are being dumped into the streets and in the business part of town old paper and other waste is going into the streets and alleys. This stuff only remains where it is put until the first rain and then it washes down and clogs the culverts, forcing the water to seek new channels and overflow the neighboring property. It would seem that the flood situation is bad enough in Norfolk under the most favorable conditions, and it should be the purpose of residents to do all they can to assist the officers to handle it, rather than to make it worse through carelessness. Mr. Haase says he does not like to make arrests for the purpose of preventing the nuisance, but he may have to do it.

A THRILLING SPECTACLE.

Opening of Panama Canal to all Nations With Forepaugh-Sells.

The progressive policy of the great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' enormous shows united is again illustrated this season in the magnificent spectacle, Panama, or the Portals of the sea. The production involves 1,600 characters, and requires the use of a stage larger than the combined stage space in 100 theaters. Thousands of costumes, the design and make of Parisian artists, are employed and the scenes of marching hosts, festive galaxies, galloping soldiers, royal groupings and swiftly changing dramatic incidents form a spectacular display indescribably fascinating. The music composed for this gorgeous production is rendered by a band of fifty selected soloists. The scenic invention is elaborate and ornate, and the spectacle in its entirety is incomparably the most important and successful historical display ever shown under canvas. The same policy of enlargement and novelty is to be seen in the ring performances this season. Three hundred of the pick and fower of Europe, America and the orient in the circus profession are to be found in the huge arena program. Many of the leading artists in the riding, acrobatic and gymnastic numbers have never been seen in this country before, and are celebrated in their foreign homes. This year it takes four enormous special trains to transport the immense equipment, horses and personal factors. When the circus is completely set upon the show grounds there are twenty pavilions in all. The street pageant on the morning of show day is the biggest and most varied ever organized. This attraction with Forepaugh and Sells has always been immeasurably superior to the efforts of all other shows, and this season it is more diversified, resplendent, novel, sensational and longer than ever before. The great shows will be here one day only, Tuesday, June 13, and give two performances, at 2 o'clock and 8 o'clock. Numbered reserved seats and admission tickets can be bought circus day at Koenigstein's drug store for exactly the same price charged in the ticket wagons on the show grounds.

The horse fair with the great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' enormous show embraces 500 specimens of the finest breeding and is the most valuable collection ever brought together for exhibitional purposes. The fleet trotter, fierce racer, graceful saddle, aristocratic driver, sturdy Percheron, Arabian stallion, Kentucky thoroughbred, English cob, stylish coach and pert pony are in this famous exhibition.

Neary and Herrera to Fight.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 8.—The Olympic Athletic club has arranged a promising card for its patrons tonight and also for the visiting Elks who are here in great numbers for their annual state convention. The main bout of the evening will bring together Charley Neary of Milwaukee and Aurelia Herrera of San Francisco for a ten-round bout. It will be the first time either of the men has fought in Michigan. Both have been training faithfully since the match was made and from all appearances are in fine fettle for the contest. Under the terms of their agreement they will weigh in at 130 pounds.

Flint Celebration.

Flint, Mich., June 8.—This was the second and last day of Flint's big jubilee celebration. Two distinct features comprised the day's program. The first was the dedication this morning of the Carnegie public library. The dedication was accompanied with interesting exercises, the principal address being delivered by President Angell of the University of Michigan. The concluding event of the celebration was the dedication this afternoon of the county court house. Thousands of persons attended the dedication exercises and listened to the address of the day, which was delivered by Justice Brown of the United States supreme court.

FIREMEN'S PICNIC TODAY

TRAINMEN AND THEIR FRIENDS ARE THE GUESTS OF NELIGH.

From Thursday's Daily
With a train load of enthusiasm and people the locomotive firemen departed this morning on their excursion and picnic at Neligh, being favored with a rather agreeable day for the carrying out of the program which had been postponed from May 27.

The train came up from the Junction with a large number of trainmen and their families bent on having a good time, and were joined at the city depot by a large number of their friends from the main part of the town. Every available ticket at the city depot was soon sold and a new supply had to be drawn upon to meet the demand of the people, and when the train pulled out the cars were well filled. Excursionists joined the train at the stations between here and Neligh and by the time Neligh was reached it was found that the arrangements for hauling a crowd had been none too extensive.

The Stanton cadet band of twenty-two pieces, was brought along from that town and spirited music filled the air previous to the departure of the train for the picnic grounds. The members of the lodge who had the picnic arrangements in hand were somewhat dubious last evening about being able to meet the expenses of the trip. They canvassed the business houses, but found a light demand for tickets. This morning, however, their fears were dissipated by the fine crowd demanding accommodations and they will undoubtedly find themselves a little better than even when a final summing up of receipts and expenditures are made.

The firemen have prepared an excellent program of events and if the weather continues good throughout the day and evening there will be no complaints on the part of the excursionists that they have not had their money's worth.

The crowd will return to Norfolk either on the regular trains or on the excursion which will come in about midnight.

All train crews that could possibly be spared, have been given a day off to help swell the crowd and there was every indication of a good time for all when the train pulled out of Norfolk.

Warnerville.

Roy Johnson went to Buffalo county, Tuesday, to visit his grand father.

The Omaha Elevator company shipped a car load of hogs to South Omaha Tuesday.

Mrs. O. D. Munson returned Thursday from a month's visit with her daughter at Omaha.

Geo. Carleton and wife of Stanton visited Sunday and Monday with their daughter, Mrs. Geo. Marshall.

While Wm. Berner and son of Norfolk were driving a spirited team of horses Tuesday morning about a mile south of town the horses became unmanageable and ran away, throwing Mr. Berner out of the buggy, and ran into a buggy containing Mrs. Everett Pettitt and Roy Pettitt, fortunately without seriously injuring them, but reducing the buggy to kindling wood.

Lines From Three Letters.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 30.—Editor News: Would you kindly give space in your paper to the few lines I send you. They were found among unfinished letters on Mrs. Bispham's writing table, directed to you. Mrs. Estella Bispham is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Abbie White, who died in Norfolk, Nebraska, March 22, 1905. She has lived here ten years and I have been her constant companion. Through hard work sickness and anxiety her health failed all at once and for five years she has been an invalid and cripple, depending solely upon her two boys for support, the eldest not yet 21. They are both devoted to their mother, who is one of nature's noblest of women, beloved by all who know her. She lived in hopes of getting strong enough to visit her mother this summer but the shock of her mother's death on the already weakened body was too much for her and she is now being cared for by friends. The worst is feared, still she may rally. Her two sons were born in Norfolk and they are noble boys, respected by everyone. The eldest was hurt two years ago and his health has been poor since. They are firemen on the Southern Pacific railroad.

Very respectfully,
Mrs. Stella Adams.

January, 1904.—Dear Mother: I have a tender message and a loving word to say, I won't wait till I forget it but will whisper it today. Should I wait, your tired footsteps may reach heaven's pearly gate, so I'll hurry up and post it before it is too late.

Here's a line from sister's letter, the first in ten long years, it only came today, saying "Sad news I have to write you, Mamma dear has passed away." March 29, 1905.

Dear Sister: We live but in the present, our future is unknown; tomorrow is a mystery, today is all our own. The tender words unspoken, the letters never sent, the long forgotten messages and wealth of love un-sent. For this some heart is breaking, for this some loved one waits, but I told mother that I loved her before it was too late, and I cheered her weary footsteps and I could hear that sweet voice say, "God bless my darling daughter, though two thousand miles away." Sisters, should you have a tender message or a loving word to say, don't wait till you forget it, but whisper it today.

BRILLIANT PARADE.

Starts the Forepaugh-Sells Bros'. Big Circus Day—Mastodon Equines.

The great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers circus day will begin with the gorgeous street pageant, leaving the show grounds at 10 o'clock. This spectacle is three miles long and presents more novelty than ever before seen in a procession of its kind. The display of these big shows, greater now than ever under their new ownership, is always spick and span in every detail and the people and animals are always smart and contented looking. Most of the animal cages will be open—in fact, there will be as many of these as are ordinarily seen in the street exhibitions of the greatest of other shows. The wild animal collection with the Forepaugh and Sells Brothers circus is the most valuable on the continent. The tent under which the splendid cages are arranged for the inspection of the public is the biggest ever erected for such a purpose, and almost equals the huge amphitheater where in takes place the great ring and aerial performances. In the street parade will be three great herds of elephants, gaily caparisoned and bearing types of royalty from far-away Asiatic and African countries. The soldiery of the world is represented by correctly uniformed companies, equipped with colors and flashing accoutrements. Elaborately carved floats serve as stages for magnificent allegorical displays. These pictures are artistic creations and idealize in charming form and color world-wide subjects. Characteristic music heightens the effect of each display. The little folks are catered to by embellished vehicles bearing fairyland heroes and heroines and squadrons of herbiboned and curled ponies. More than 500 horses, all of them splendid specimens with blue-blooded pedigrees, will appear in the long parade. These animals represent a fortune in themselves. The shapely, heavy stepping draft horses average $1,200 a pair, and the spirited, high-stepping performing horses are, most of them, beyond price. These aristocratic equines are of the highest breeding and training, so much so that they are almost impossible to buy. Fashionably groomed women riders, daring horsemen of the plains and warrior fame, gallant riders of tightly grace and style, soldiers hold from every clime, dancing girls, oriental minstrels, roasting stunts, picturesque mountebanks, wild barbarians, fun-making clowns, Japanese jugglers, Hindoo fakirs and myriad other features of novelty and sensation are attractively woven into this unique street spectacle. All of the thousand people who interpret the magnificent spectacle, Panama, or the portals of the sea, radiantly costumed and dazzlingly bewelled, lend bewitching color and animation to the three miles of unwinding circus glories. Two exhibitions will be given here, in the afternoon at 2 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock, on Tuesday, June 13.

Iowa Adventists Meet.

Des Moines, Ia., June 8.—The Seventh Day Adventists of Iowa have rounded up here to a total of more than one thousand for the annual camp-meeting of their church. The proceedings were formally opened today and will continue until June 18. The program provides for addresses by distinguished leaders of the church, and conferences and revival services of great interest to the denomination.

Harry Lewis vs. Young Erne.

Wilmington, Del., June 8.—A ten-round bout between Harry Lewis and Young Erne is slated for the arena of a local athletic club tonight. The two met in a six-round contest some time ago, and although Lewis fairly won the decision, Erne and his managers were not satisfied with the result. The present match at ten rounds resulted from this dissatisfaction. Whether their ring generalship will last over the increased route and whether Lewis can retain his skill in a ten-round bout have excited the curiosity of the ring followers, and a large crowd is expected to be on hand to witness the contest.

Regatta at Galveston.

Galveston, Texas, June 8.—A three days' aquatic carnival under the direction of the Galveston Regatta club was inaugurated this afternoon under most favorable auspices. The opening events were four-oared races for men and women, followed by swimming and diving contests. Tomorrow will be devoted to athletic sports at Sportsman's park. The big event of Saturday will be the single shell race for the championship of the south.

Selling Direct to Retailers.

New York, June 8.—The National Wholesale Drygoods association, embracing leading members of the trade throughout the country, held a general meeting in this city today. The subject of selling direct to retailers on the part of commission merchants and manufacturers was the principal matter discussed.
