Wayne Herald: Thirteen years ago at one of the fairs held in this county, Mrs. June Conger lost a valuable gold watch that had been given her by her father or mother. The loss of the watch was advertised far and accident happened to one of the railroad men Monday evening. He was bathing in the creek west of Winside, when he struck some sharp object that made an incision of several inches on his leg and back. The wound began to bleed very badly and the wide but no trace of it was had. Time passed away and little all other things the loss of the much prized present was eventually forgotten, until last Thursday Mrs. Conger received a package through the mails and upon opening it beheld, the long lost watch was there, but not a word of explanation accompanied its return.

Albion News: Some of the elm trees in town have been attacked by some kind of a bark louse, and they are in danger of all dying. C. C. Voorhees showed us a limb from his trees that shows the work of this insect is of a very serious nature. A sample of the infected trees has been sent to the state entomologist, and it is hoped that he can give some remedy or preventive to save our elm trees. It would indeed be a serious misfortune to have these beautiful trees all die. They have always been considered our hardest and healthiest variety of shade trees.

The fruit crop promises to be somewhat disappointing in north Nebraska this year. Although the trees had been loaded with blossoms and with young fruit early in the season, most of it has blighted and fallen to the ground. Some trees have nothing remaining, while the developing fruit on the others is exceedingly scattered. There will be some cherries, a few plums and some apples, but the big promise of the early season is gone. Strawberries, now coming in, are yielding fairly well. It is supposed that the excessive wetness is largely responsible for the loss of the tree fruit crops.

Pierce Call: J. A. Van Wagenen came all the way from the lawyer's picnic at Niobrara to attend the circus at Norfolk Tuesday. When we say to see the circus we speak advisedly for there was Judge Cones in the same pickle. Of course he said he didn't care for it himself but wanted to take the children, but his worthy help-mate wouldn't have it that way. If he went to the lawyers' picnic she felt competent and able to show the children a good time. But there were Van Wagenen, Sam Berg and Charlie Staley who couldn't work the children gag, but oh, how they did want to go! The result was they drafted ye editor's and neighbors' young ones and practiced up on parental behavior and expressions all the way to the big "do's." May the editor be able to reciprocate this kindly act in years to come.

The following from the Pierce Leader concerns a former Norfolk girl, a high school graduate in the class of 1897: On Wednesday evening, June 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Mendenhall, residing five miles southwest of this place, on the Willow, a very pretty wedding was solemnized whereby Miss Edith Mendenhall was united in holy matrimony to Mr. Oscar Doyle of Foster, in the presence of relatives and friends, Rev. John T. Rowan performing the ceremony. The bride was handsomely gowned in white, carrying a bouquet of white roses and was attended by Miss Pearl Reese of Norfolk and Miss Whitlatch of Foster, while the groom wore the conventional black and was supported by Messrs. James Mendenhall and Fred Gossard. A boisterous repast was enjoyed by all. Mr. and Mrs. Doyle will make their home at Foster in the Holmes residence lately purchased by Mr. Doyle. The groom is one of Pierce county's popular young men and his estimable bride is one of our best teachers and one of our highly respected young ladies. May their pathway be strewn with thornless roses and their efforts be crowned with success and prosperity is the wish of their many friends.

BOY EDITOR AT HOSKINS

LAD OF SIXTEEN YEARS STARTS A BRIGHT NEWSPAPER.

AND HE WILL MAKE IT SUCCEED

Russell Williams, a Lad Yet in Knee Trousers, is Owner, Manager and Editor of the Hoskins Headlight. Youngest Editor in the Country.

[From Friday's Daily.] A new newspaper has been started at Hoskins, a town eight miles east of Norfolk, and there are unique features to it which will make it interesting to watch not only in Hoskins and Wayne county, but from the surrounding country. The editor, Russell Williams, is a 16-year-old lad, and he is the owner, founder, business manager and all. A bright, clean cut boy, still in knee trousers, he has every promise in his big, wideopen eyes for success in the world and his undertaking at Hoskins to run a weekly newspaper that is up to date and a seriously commendable publication, will be enough said as to his pluck and energy. He is probably the youngest newspaper editor and owner in the United States today. And his paper is a better paper right now than can be found in many a village, edited and owned by men of three times Russell Williams' years.

The first issue of the new paper appeared yesterday. The name of the journal is "The Hoskins Headlight." It is bright and clean and contains many columns of excellent advertisements, representing the enterprising business men of Hoskins.

Russell Williams, the boy editor, was born near Omaha October 9, 1888. He went to school in the rural district until he reached the eighth grade, when poor health forced him to quit. Later he learned the barber trade and worked at it until he acquired a shop of his own in which he worked overtime until health made him quit that. The newspaper idea struck him and he started, mere boy that he was, to printing a paper at Sholes, Wayne county, where he made a success. Hoskins looked like a good location to him and he made a move. His parents live at Magnet, Neb., where his father, A. J. Williams, buys grain for the Anchor elevator company. The juvenile newspaperman wanted to stay at home because his parents and his home, he says, were the best in the world, but his ambition was to get out and do something for himself.

His pluck is a lesson to many a boy and to many a man, too, for the matter of that. He will make a success in life.

Cuban Diarrhoea.

U. S. soldiers who served in Cuba during the Spanish war know that this disease is and that ordinary remedies have little more effect than so much water. Cuban diarrhoea is almost as severe and dangerous as a mild attack of cholera. There is one remedy, however, that can always be depended upon as will be seen by the following certificate from Mrs. Minnie Jacobs of Houston, Texas: "I hereby certify that Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy cured my husband of a severe attack of Cuban diarrhoea, which he brought home from Cuba. We had several other doctors but they did him no good. One bottle of this remedy cured him, as our neighbors will testify. I thank God for so valuable a medicine." For sale by Leonard the druggist.

NEW DOCTOR FOR NORFOLK.

Dr. L. R. Pheasant Locates Here to Practice Medicine.

Dr. L. R. Pheasant, who had been associated with Dr. J. M. Alden in a practice at Pierce for two years and a half previous to his departure for Europe, has decided to locate in Norfolk and has rented rooms in the Bishop block where he expects to be available to patients by Monday.

For about a year Dr. Pheasant has been in Europe studying in the hospitals. During his time abroad he has been in the hospitals of Germany, France and England, but most of his time was spent in the German hospitals where he had the opportunity of seeing the treatment in that country long famous for its medical and surgical science. He comes to Norfolk highly recommended and will undoubtedly succeed in building up a good practice.

A "dark horse" in the literal sense of the term has been brought into the Norfolk racing grounds for use in the coming meeting on the third and fourth of July. The animal, a handsome sorrel, is the property of William Zulof of Pierce and is supposed

COWBOY WAS LOCOED.

Petite French Woman Got Deadwood Jack Jennings.

Prof. Jack Jennings of Deadwood, S. D., cowboy by trade, flew into New York from Paris last week, with a petite Parisienne, Mme Jennings, clinging to his arm.

"Welcome to America, girl! This is 'Noo York,'" exclaimed the professor as the pair reached the end of the gangplank.

"Pardon, M'sieu Jacques," cried the bride, musically knitting her brows in an effort to gather his meaning.

"Oh, dum!" he declared, turning to a customs officer. "Say, stranger, this is my wife. I'm just a plain cowboy from Deadwood, S. D. Was with Buffalo Bill's outfit in France—not here—though still, stranger. But she can't talk English, and I'm fair lonesome when it comes to the woolly-wool. But tell her this is the Yewnited States of America and the place whar her beloved Jack Jennings fist peked at daylight. Tell her it's time to say 'Hooray!'"

The customs officer blinked in amazement and turned for refuge to the passenger list of La Savote, where he read:

"M. et Mme. Jennings, Deadwood, S. D."

"Say, stranger, it's tough havin' a wife that don't know when you're tellin' her she's the sweetest thing in the world. She's my sweetheart, all right—ma bong core. Did I get it right that time, girlie?"

"Ah, M'sieu Jacques," she cried. "You air zo drole."

Afterward, as they were about to start away in a cab, Jennings shouted:

"Hi, garson, cabby, can you talk parly voo woolly-woo?"

"Sure."

"Then tell her it's time to whoop. Tell her she's it; that we're goin' to raise a cyclone along Broadway. Tell her it's Broadway we're comin' to."

"Lady, he says you're all to the good," said the cabman.

"Oou, ou!" laughed Mme. Jennings. "Je comprehend. Ze Broadway—ze grand boulevard. Ha, ha!"

"Whoop! Let'er go, Bill!" shouted Jack Jennings. And away they went.

Both are employes at the Norfolk steam laundry, Mr. Howarth having held a position there for about a year and Miss Sutton has been employed there for the past three years. ATTORNEYS STRIKE CAMP

AFTER SPENDING AN ENJOYABLE WEEK AT NIOBRARA.

A COURT WAS HELD IN CAMP

Roulette Wheel Which Got Going Was Raided by Judge Boyd, Who Made a Raise of $28—Jury Called and Trial for the House Man.

[From Friday's Daily.] Niobrara, Neb., June 16.—Special to The News: The Northeastern Nebraska attorneys' picnic held at Camp Barnes on Niobrara island during the past week, came to an end here this afternoon and tonight not a lawyer will be found at the island. A number of the lawyers came over to the hotel last evening and took the early morning train south today. They left the balance to get rid of any first class fish bones and odd bottles stored away in cool holes of the cellar refrigerator.

Sunday was quietly spent under the direction of Senator Allen, who brought a trunkful of Sunday reading, and Ed Frye, who culminated a quiet day by bringing Ed Smith, pastor of the M. E. church and the choir to the grounds for services. This was so appreciated that a handsome collection of $18.12 was given to the church folk, the odd cents being thrown into the woods by Judge Boyd on account of the bad luck that attaches to thirteen. The congregation ought to have been photographed.

Raid Roulette Man, Hold Court.

The evening was spent at high five. Some of the lawyers got a little sporty and imported a roulette wheel from town, but when the play got going Judge Boyd captured the wheel which contained $28. A county judge in camp was so enraged that he immediately held court and drew a jury. The prisoner was released on the ground that he be good during the remainder of the camp.

Frank Nelson and E. A. Houston gave the lawyers a good time and made the old time spirit of Niobrara apparent.

There were many good things caught on the fish line. The average attendance was forty.

Niobrara island, the most beautiful spot in this section of the country, was given to the city of Niobrara in 1885 under the old Sioux treaty and is open to anybody who cares to use it. Niobrara people will extend the glad hand to all who may care to come and enjoy an outing here.

A number of the attorneys who had been in camp at Niobrara, arrived in Norfolk on the early train this morning. Among them were Judge Boyd, Burt Mapes, W. M. Robertson, Jack Koehnstein, M. B. Foster, and Attorneys Kelsey of Neligh, Reed of Madison, Welch of Wayne, and Chris Schavland of Madison. They report a good time and excellent fishing.

CATFISH PRONG IN THUMB.

Boy Submits to Surgery to Remove the Poisonous Point Today.

A catfish prong of unusual length was fastened into the thumb of the 12-year-old son of B. Asher this morning and a surgical operation was necessary for the removal of the point. The prong had pierced its way clear to the bone of the thumb and considerable knitting was required to get it out of the flesh. Drs. Bear and Pilger performed the operation.

Atkinson Items.

Atkinson, Neb., June 17.—Special to The News: Mrs. Freed and her three sons of Oakland, returned to that place this morning, after making a pleasant visit to the country home of Mr. Freed's people twenty miles north of Atkinson, trout fishing and other sport.

Jess Brooks arrived home last night from an extended visit in Spencer, Iowa. His family, who were with him, will visit for a time longer.

Atkinson has recently organized a team of basket ball, and soon expect to play the O'Neill people, which no doubt will be a very interesting game, for many reasons.

The Odd Fellows lodge have arranged for a basket picnic dinner on the 29th of June and have invited five other lodges to visit with them, and besides the sports of the day, will have local talent, and also a speaker from abroad, J. S. Hoagland of North Platte. A good time is anticipated.

Warnerville.

Mrs. Guy Warner and son of Spaulding are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Warner.

Superintendent Ware of the Union Pacific railroad company was here

Tuesday. The prospects are favorable that this station will be reopened in the near future, either at its present location, or four miles south, where John Malone is establishing feed yards.

H. J. Morris, road supervisor of district No. 9, has sent his resignation to the county commissioner.

At a dance at the residence of W. H. Clayton Saturday evening two boys, Eddie Wheeler and Clyde Ranney, had some trouble which resulted in the parents of the Ranney boy having the Wheeler boy arrested and taken before Judge Bates at Madison, who admitted him to bail under $100 bonds. The trial will take place next week.
