

LITTLE GIRL IS RUN OVER

SIX-YEAR-OLD CHILD HAS HEAD CRUSHED UNDER A WAGON.

UNCONSCIOUS, MAY RECOVER

The Little Daughter of John Dobiash, Near Atkinson, Fell Out of the Wagon and the Wheel Passed Over Her Head—Frightful Accident.

Atkinson, Neb., June 19.—Special to The News: A very serious accident happened last night to the young daughter of John Dobiash, as they were returning to the home from town. The little one leaned out over the wagon box for some reason, and as the front wheel of the wagon went into a rough place, causing the child to lose its balance, and before either parent knew what had occurred, the back wheel had passed over the head, and when picked up, she was in a bad condition, and up to the present writing, is still unconscious. This happened about 7 o'clock in the evening, and as they lived ten miles from town, a messenger was sent for Dr. Douglas, who arrived on the scene about 11 o'clock, and remained till morning, and has some hopes of recovery, although the child continues to vomit blood, and is in a precarious condition. The little girl is six years old.

The new market service installed by The News today, insuring a better report and one that will be regular, will be appreciated, unquestionably, by the farmers around Norfolk and by the stockmen throughout northern Nebraska.

E. M. Martin, a farmer living near Fairfax, S. D., has a pig which, according to the Sun-Review, has just been unearthed from a haystack after four months imprisonment without food or drink. The pig weighed 15 pounds originally and is, it is true, not quite so fat now.

It has not yet been discovered by the police just how much of value was taken in the robbery at the home of Engineer Ross in South Norfolk, as Mr. and Mrs. Ross are still away from home and will not return before the end of the week. Officer Livingston finds that the house is all torn up, but there is no way of knowing what was taken. The burglars effected an entrance by taking out a panel in the front door, and crawling through. The police advance the theory that tramps who had come into town on night trains, finding that no one was at home, went in.

A case at one time in the Norfolk insane hospital is being mentioned as a precedent in the Frank Barker murder affair at Lincoln. The defending attorney says that he does not want Barker freed—he merely wants him sent to an insane asylum if that is the place for him. There have been just two such cases in the state—one at Hastings, where the murderer is still in the asylum, and the other here, where Murderer Rash from Wayne county, who beat the brains out of his wife and children with a big stone, was confined. Later Rash was declared cured and was allowed to leave the state.

Stanton Register: The mill is now at the foundation and this week will probably see it almost ready to let down into place. The new foundation is one-fourth heavier than the old and three feet six inches of it above ground are of brick. The Robinson artificial stone plant has been temporarily set in operation in the sheds near the mill and the work of making the stone for the new engine house is well under way. It will be the first structure in town to be made of stone and is the beginning of a more substantial kind of building in our city. We expect to see many stone buildings put up in the next few years.

Forest Emery, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Emery, has disappeared from their home in this city and efforts are being made today to locate him. Mr. Emery is not especially alarmed over the disappearance of the lad, as he is plenty big enough to take care of himself and a bright boy, besides. The theory of the father is that Forest has either gone to Sioux City, where his grandfather, E. R. Wilbur, lives, or that he is with some of his friends in the beet fields not far from Norfolk. A tracer has been sent out along the railroad toward Sioux City in the hope of getting the lad but if he has started to walk, it will be a couple of days before he can be heard from. It is thought that he has taken no trains out of Norfolk.

The weather continues to keep the people guessing on what they shall wear each day. Whether it shall be furs and woollens or gauze and netting is a proposition that cannot be answered with any degree of certainty for an entire day. Yesterday the weather was quite too warm for comfort in the forenoon, but by the time dusk had fallen the wind which had whipped about to the northwest about noon, made warm clothing desirable, and during the night the thermometer indicated as low a temperature as forty-nine. This morning opened with chilly breezes and threats of showers, but the weather man is in with the promise that it shall be warm again by tonight. Perhaps there will be no steady warmth before the Fourth, and as that is but two weeks distance it will keep the weather man on the hustle to deliver the goods by that time.

BRISTOW HAS A HOLIDAY

BALL GAME IN WHICH SPENCER WINS EASILY.

DOGS DO BALLOON ASCENSION

The Business Men of the Town Give the Farmers of the Country Around a Good Time—Dance at Night. State Items From Northwest.

Bristow, Neb., June 19.—Special to The News: As had been planned, the business men of this city gave the residents and farmers of the surrounding country quite a treat in the way of varied amusements.

The day was ideal and all roads led to Bristow. Farmers from a distance of five and six miles brought their families to join in the festivities. Buildings were gaily decorated with flags and bunting, and the crowd passed the forenoon in patronizing the merry-go-round, shooting galleries and lemonade stands.

A ball game, between Spencer and the home team, resulting in a victory for Spencer, with a score of 15 to 7, was called at 2 o'clock.

After the ball game the crowd assembled to witness a balloon ascension, made by two trained dogs, owned by M. A. Whaley. The dogs went up a distance of some feet before they were cut loose, and made a very pretty parachute drop, bringing cheers from the happy crowd.

In the evening the Bristow brass band rendered a concert to the enjoyment of all who heard it, after which the young people went to the opera house, where to the music furnished by the Echo String band, they danced their content until the small hours of the morning.

The crowd was very peaceful and all expressed themselves as having a splendid time.

RELIC OF THE EARLY DAYS

PAIR OF ELKS' ANTLERS BEING MOUNTED FOR STANTON MAN.

ANIMAL KILLED IN STANTON CO.

Probably the Only Pair of Antlers From an Animal Known to Have Been Killed in the Elkhorn Valley. Thirty-three Years Ago.

Sessions and Bell, the taxidermists, have received for mounting from Levi Miller of Stanton, a pair of elk's antlers that are of historical interest. While there are many pairs of antlers in this section of the country this is perhaps the only pair belonging to an elk killed in this territory and may be the only set the history of which is known, to be preserved in the valley of the beautiful Elkhorn, the name of which is derived from elk's antlers.

The elk holding original claim to these antlers was killed on the section farm now known as the Marshall Field ranch, in Stanton county, east of Madison, thirty-three years ago, by a party of Indian hunters. After taking the hide and the meat the Indians left the spreading antlers on the ground where the huge buck had been slaughtered. They were brought in to Stanton by one of the early homesteaders and purchased by Toho Mack for $3. Mr. Mack hung them in his barn where they remained for years and they were finally purchased by Mr. Miller, who proposes to have them mounted and placed in his bank at Stanton.

Mr. Sessions says that during the summer that the Indians were hunting in this section of the country there was a herd of nine elk cows making their regular feeding ground the country west of Norfolk, but this is the only buck known to have been killed at that time. Many bucks were killed in the early days, but no value was attached to the antlers and many of them were allowed to lie on the ground until they crumbled to dust.

CROPS LOOKING WELL

WEEKLY REPORT SHOWS IMPROVEMENT IN CORN.

HESSIAN FLY NOT INCREASING

Nebraska Section of the Government Crop Service Tells of Conditions. Apples Continue to Drop from the Trees—Oats Heading.

Lincoln, June 20.—United States department of agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin for the weather bureau, Nebraska section, for the week ending last night, has the following general summary of conditions:

The weather of the past week has been nearly normal. The mean daily temperature averaged 1 degree above the normal in eastern counties and 1 degree below in western.

The rainfall occurred in showers and was generally below normal in eastern counties and about normal in central and western. The weekly total exceeded an inch in central counties and was slightly less than an inch elsewhere, except a few eastern counties, where it was less than one half an inch.

Winter wheat has continued to grow well generally. The damage caused by Hessian fly does not seem to be materially increasing. In a few counties considerable wheat was injured by hail. The crop is ripening in southeastern counties and will be ready for harvest in a week or ten days. Spring wheat is doing well but the acreage is less than last year. Potatoes continue very promising. Oats are heading with very short straw.

Corn is small but healthy and growing nicely. Cultivation has progressed rapidly and a large portion of the crop in southern counties has received the second cultivation. Corn is generally very free of weeds. Apples continue to drop badly, and will be a very light crop in most places.

But One Week to Live.

Montpelier, Vt., June 16.—Unless there is an eleventh-hour interference on the part of the governor, which is regarded as extremely unlikely, Mrs. Mary Rogers, convicted of the murder of her husband, will be hanged one week from today in the state prison. No visitors are permitted to see the condemned woman excepting her mother and sister and her spiritual adviser. She is said to be bearing up well, though the prison officials anticipate a breakdown before the fatal day. The scaffold has been erected in an unused wing of the prison. Careful tests will be made during the coming week and every precaution taken to prevent any bungling in the execution.
