Albert Uecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Uecker, is one of the Norfolk sufferers from a Fourth of July accident, having a very badly burned and lacerated eye to remind him of the nation's holiday. The city council held a short meeting last evening at which it was ordered that a notice be served on the chairman of the Fourth of July entertainment committee to have the booths removed and the streets vacated at once. Mayor Friday issued an order yesterday forbidding the use of bladders on the streets and an attempt was made to sober down the carnival crowds. There was not as large a demonstration on the streets as usual last evening, but the carnival attractions continued to run and drew the attention of those who were down tomorrow is the last of the carnival dates, but a number of the business men are insisting that the streets be cleared up for the benefit of the Saturday trade, and it is possible that the carnival people will be asked to move out today.

VIOLENT ICE CREAM MAN

Drives Customers Out With Hatchet and Butcher Knife.

The Pierce Leader gives the following account of how Martin Wagner, an ice cream and bakery man at that place disposed of a quartet of customers because they insisted on cake with their ice cream, using a hatchet and butcher knife as persuaders.

"On Tuesday afternoon four young people living east of town, Virgie Stuart, George Thomas, Ethel Wood and Mary Marshal, went into the Wagner bakery and ordered four dishes of ice cream from Martin Wagner. The ice cream was brought and set down on the table. Mr. Stuart gave Mr. Wagner a dollar for the four dishes of ice cream and received his change, sixty cents. Stuart then asked if they could have some cake and Mr. Wagner replied yes, and went and got the cake, set it down on the table and wanted ten cents for it. The young people refused to pay for the cake, remarking that it was customary to get it with ice cream. Thereupon Mr. Wagner took the plate of cake from the table. Coming back to the table Wagner struck Stuart with his fist on the side of the head. Wagner in a very excited manner then ran to the back room and got a hatchet and butcher knife, and chased them out of his place of business.

"Mr. Stuart shortly afterward had Wagner arrested and on Wednesday afternoon the case came up for hearing in Littell's court. After the testimony was finished, Wagner was fined $10 and costs, which he refused to pay and appealed the case to the district court. W. W. Quilvey is the attorney for the plaintiff, while Douglas Cones appears as counsel for the defendant.

Finger Taken Off.

Freeman Francis was one of the sufferers from the cannon cracker on the Fourth. The accident occurred shortly after supper. He attempted to light a cracker of the giant size but thought the fuse had failed to catch and stood holding it in his right hand close to his left breast. He says it seems a minute after he had attempted to light it that the explosion took place. Seeing that he was seriously injured he was taken to Dr. Pringle's office. An examination showed the hand to be badly burned inside, several deep gashes across the fleshy part, the base of the thumb torn away from the hand so as to require several stitches to bring the gaping wound together, while the third finger had to be amputated at the first joint. Dr. Pringle was assisted by Dr. Oelke in the operation. The young man stood the operation grittily and was able to be around the next forenoon. The concussion also injured his breast badly and he complained of suffering more there the next day than with the injury to his hand.—Pierce Call.

STUDY OF CATTLE DISEASE

WEALTHY SOUTH AMERICAN IS HERE TO GET POINTERS.

SUFFER FROM LARGE LOSSES

His Family Lost $100,000 From Foot and Mouth Disease Last Year—Shipment of $800,000—Scion of a Wealthy Argentine Family.

Dr. Juan Carlos Tornquist, who is at present a guest at the Pacific hotel in this city, is a this year's graduate from the veterinarian department of Cornell university. He is here to get practical information about the diseases of animals in this country and the treatment of their ailments. He is the scion of a wealthy stockman of the Argentine Republic and was influenced to take a course in veterinary science in this country because of the success here in the treatment of such diseases and because of the vital need of such science in his country. Last year his family lost $100,000 worth of stock from the "foot and mouth" disease alone, while they suffered other losses from other diseases. The importance of the cattle industry to that country is shown by the fact that his family shipped last year to Europe, Asia and Africa $800,000 worth of cattle, not to mention the beef consumed at home. It is now winter in Dr. Tornquist's country and the fatal stock diseases have subsided and he improves the opportunity to investigate here when the conditions are at their worst to promote epidemics among cattle and other stock. The doctor talks English well and expresses himself as well pleased with his experiences in North America.

J. B. Hermann, the contractor, who secured the job of rebuilding the west wing of the Norfolk hospital for the insane, expects to begin on the new Krug buildings Monday morning and hurry the work along to completion to get it out of the way of the hospital contract as much as possible. The material is all on the ground and he expects to have a large force of men working on the walls at an early hour. The rains have interfered with the work for weeks, but unless there is another storm the business of laying the foundation can be commenced Monday.

It will take some days to finish up the preliminaries of getting the hospital contract ready and after that Mr. Hermann expects to have men and teams employed at getting the material on the ground so that the work of construction will not be delayed.
