

THE STOCK RUN HAS BEGUN

SHIPMENT FROM THE PLAINS TOWARD BIG MARKETS.

TRAINS WORKING OVER TIME

The Annual Heavy Run of Trains With Big Bees for the Packing Houses, Has Begun—Will Be An Unusually Heavy Year This Fall.

The beginning of the moving of live stock from the plains of western Nebraska and South Dakota, in the Black Hills and the Rosebud territories, has come and trains going east through Norfolk are working over time to get the handsome, sleek looking bees to the packing houses.

All through the night the whistle of swiftly flying locomotives, speeding on to the early morning markets, may be heard, and the dispatchers in the railroad offices are getting to be very busy men.

The fall shipment of stock through this section is always a heavy one. It means much to the packing houses and it means much business among the stockmen of the northwest. It is said that the shipments this year will be unusually good.

Mrs. D. F. Sider left today for Chicago, where she will live with her son Earl the coming year. Fred is now assistant foreman in the Plano company's manufacturing plant, and Earl has a position under him.

The Beeler-Hazen camp at the Yellow Banks was broken today and the members of the party returned to Norfolk.

The temperature is getting up to that quality when suggestions of cool camping retreats or outings in the mountains or on the lakes are the logical suggestions to those who are over-warm for comfort.

At the meeting of Norfolk lodge No. 46, I. O. O. F., a degree was conferred, and the trustees reported a settlement with the Citizens National bank for the use of the party wall in the building of the bank addition.

Rek Beeler, son of F. A. Beeler, who is just now enroute to Portland by way of San Francisco, writes to his father regarding his trip. He found it chilly in San Francisco and was compelled, he says, to borrow Al Brueggeman's overcoat in order to keep warm. He wore only a light suit of clothing, believing that he would be warm enough but the cold air of California was too much for his comfort.

The builders on the Citizens National al bank addition have got to the point of putting in the second floor joists and the brick work on the upper story will soon be under way. The Krug building is ready for the ceiling joists. Both are rush jobs. The former must be completed by the first of September, and the latter is being rushed to get it out of the way of the new hospital contract, Mr. Herrmann having the contract for restoring the west wing to a condition for use.

It is reported from Lincoln that there is likely to soon be some prosecutions instituted under the Judkins anti-trust law. It is alleged that there are a number of corporations and companies that are acting under violation of the law, and it is proposed to have them up long enough, at least, to test the constitutionality of the new statute. If the new law will not hold there are said to be other laws on the statute books under which prosecutions may be made.

The Union Pacific company has another force of men at work at the bridge on the Elkhorn south of the city. They are here with a pile driver and other appliances for the building of a break water or dike to prevent the washing of the embankment away from their new bridge. They have been having trouble with the river at that point during every spell of high water and it is the determination to make a permanent fixture that will prevent the trouble in the future.

D. P. Owen, formerly of this city but now of Beatrice, was in the city yesterday on business. His son, Nate Owen, was drowned in the Northfork river below the dam several years ago in saving the life of another boy. "I have watched the stream since then," said Mr. Owen, speaking of last week's terrible accident, "and there has not a year gone by when one or more were not drowned." Mrs. Owen is now in the east on a visit and Miss Winnie Owen is keeping house, her brother Frank Owen, being at home.

Deputy County Clerk J. L. Daniel of Madison was in the city over night looking after his political fences and meeting old friends. He is out after the nomination for clerk from the democrats, after four years of service as deputy, and is without apparent opposition in his party, as his work, during part of the time having full charge of the office, is satisfactory to voters of his faith. Previous to taking the office of deputy clerk, Mr. Daniel was in business in Norfolk, and it is probable that he will get the support of his party here if he succeeds in getting the nomination.

Lincoln Journal: The Northwestern will not be a great way from Salt Lake City when it runs its trains into Lander, Wyo. It will be but 120 miles from Grand, the territory intervenes. An extension from Lander to Salt Lake would not cost the road much more than the extension from Casper to Lander will cost. The distance from Casper to Salt Lake is about the same distance as from Casper to Bassett, Neb., it is plain that unless something intervenes, as in the Burlington's case, the Northwestern will one of these days have trains running down the western slope.

Charles Owen has a novel pet at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Owen on North Twelfth street, in shape of a tiny coon, tamed into the ways of civilization after a life of liberty at the Yellow Banks, west of the city. The little animal follows its master from place to place, hobbling quietly along like a kitten, and is as cute as can be every minute of its life. It doesn't bite and seems to enjoy its new home. Boys belonging to a farm near the Yellow Banks found a nest of the little animals and have them all on the farm. It was from them while camping with Trinity choir boys last week that the pet was secured.

Officials at the Lincoln hospital for the insane are anxious for the opening of the new institution here for they have a carload of women patients whom they are anxious to transfer to Norfolk just as soon as possible. The women patients are said to be much more care than are the men and it is for this reason that the Lincoln authorities are so anxious to get the change made. It is thought at the Norfolk hospital that patients may be brought here within two weeks, although the time depends altogether upon the condition of the tunnels at that time. The recent rains have continued constantly to cave in the tunnels and there is constant trouble in repairing them. There are also other matters to attend to before the patients can be brought to Norfolk. Steward Peters reports that the garden is in good shape.

The Pawnee Bill wild west show has made contracts for an exhibition in Norfolk on Tuesday, September 17, and the advance car is in the city today making the public acquainted with the fact. The show comes here from Sioux City and from here will go to West Point and then to Omaha, making but the three stands in the northern half of the state. Pawnee Bill was here several years ago, and his entertainment will be remembered by those who attended for a very interesting exhibition. It will also be remembered on another score. After the crowds had assembled in the tents or in the canvas awning surrounding the show grounds, the flood gates of the skies opened and gave a downpour the like of which has been seldom equalled. The audience got wet, some but the performers in the open got soaked, but gave their stunts regardless. After the show water over shoe tops was waded to get home.

REFUSED TEAM TO WARDEN

AINSWORTH LIVERYMAN MAY HAVE TO ANSWER IN COURT.

PROTESTING CHICKEN HUNTERS

Deputy Smith May Bring a Suit—At Tilden Six Men Were Arrested for Seizing and Threatened the Warden With Violence.

[From Friday's Daily.] George L. Carter, the chief deputy game and fish commissioner, announces that he will invoke the civil rights statute against an Ainsworth liveryman who refused to provide Deputy Smith with a rig with which to pursue persons alleged to have been shooting chickens during the closed season, says the Lincoln News. The official states that the matter has been submitted to County Attorney Eli of Brown county with a request to proceed if the necessary evidence can be secured. The liveryman is alleged to have refused the rig because he did not want to assist the warden in arresting the hunters, and it is claimed that he stated to a witness that that was his reason for refusing to hire one to Smith who had proffered the money.

Carter said that in his mind there was no doubt but that the refusal to furnish the rig, when the liveryman had one which he could have given him, was a discrimination forbidden by the civil rights act, which provides: "All persons within this state shall be entitled to a full and equal enjoyment of the accommodations, advantages, facilities, and privileges of inns, restaurants, public conveyances, barber shops, theaters, and other places of amusement."

It is alleged by the warden that the liveryman was in the business of providing public conveyances and refused to furnish one because of prejudice against the warden. The name of the liveryman is withheld.

Played Sleuth.

Deputy Hunger has returned from a trip to the northwestern part of the state. He secured the arrest of Walter Farley and Fred Valentine, of Johnson, Brown county, for illegal hunting.

Hunger played the innocent and went driving with Farley. He wanted to know if he could not buy a half dozen chickens and the next day, when Farley and his companions came in, the warden asked again. He was shown the birds and had the men fined $5 each. The judge remitted the costs.

The most exciting experience came later, when Hunger had retired. About 12 o'clock a rock or cinder of huge proportions was hurled through the window of his room at the local hotel. "I was lucky though," said Hunger. "The rock did not come within ten feet of me."

At Tilden he fell in with a party using seines and trammel nets and placed six men under arrest but all except one, Burt Holton, escaped. The men had thirty-three fish in their possession. The nets were confiscated as were the fish, and the angry fishermen spent the next night parading the town vowing vengeance on the warden. The sought to get into his room at 2 o'clock in the morning, but failed to accomplish their end through the shrewdness of the landlady of the hotel, who misdirected them. The prosecution will be pushed by the department.

ROME MILLER IS PRESIDENT

ELECTED TO FIRST PLACE BY NATIONAL HOTEL MEN.

WILL MEET NEXT IN OMAHA

At the Meeting in Minneapolis, a Former Resident of Norfolk Got Highest Honors—Next Gathering of the Association in Omaha.

Minneapolis, Aug. 4.—Uniformity in hotel laws was the chief topic of discussion at the afternoon session of the Northwestern Hotel Men's association convention. A committee was appointed to draw up a set of laws regulating hotels and a strong effort will be made to have them adopted by the legislatures of the northwest. Exposition of the Nebraska laws was made by Rome Miller of Omaha, Iowa laws by J. H. Kingsley of Waterloo and Minnesota statutes by H. S. Joslyn of St. Paul. J. J. Bohn, editor of the Hotel World, addressed the convention. Omaha was selected as the meeting place next year. Rome Miller of Omaha was elected president of the association and B. M. Johnston of Mitchell, S. D., secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Miller, the newly elected president of the association, is well known in Norfolk, having lived here a number of years and held extensive interests in the city. He formerly lived at the corner of Norfolk avenue and Thirteenth street. He has been connected with the eating houses along the main line of the Northwestern for many years and is popular with the traveling public and the railway men whom he has served in that capacity. He is still interested in Norfolk and the people here realize that the honors bestowed upon him are well deserved.

Anoka Prosperous. Anoka, Neb., Aug. 4.—Farmers in this vicinity are busy harvesting small grains, there being a splendid yield of wheat and oats. Corn is a little backward, but making very good progress.

A large number of steam thrasher outfits were unloaded at this point during last month.

Many cars of hogs were shipped from Anoka, by local buyers during the last month.

The merchants of Anoka all report having had a splendid trade during the spring and summer months, and all are buying large stocks of fall goods, anticipating a big fall trade. Many improvements are being made in town. New sidewalks and crossings are being constructed and the streets and crossings being graded and repaired.

The wagon roads leading to town are being repaired and several new roads are being opened up to let in the farmers.

County politics are warming up, in Boyd county, Anoka having her share of aspirants for county offices. S. A. Richardson is mentioned for the nomination for county clerk on the republican ticket, R. A. Wilberger for sheriff and Wm. Whitla for county judge.

An Extensively Signed Petition Was Presented to the City Council—Plan Will be Adequate for a City of 5,000 People.

Bassett, Neb., Aug. 8.—Special to The News: This city is soon to own a first class system of water works. The general feeling is for a system with all modern improvements, not only sufficient for present needs but for many years to come. A pumping plant large enough for a city of 5,000 people will be erected, with large mains on the principal streets sufficient for present needs. There will be a water head of 103 feet above the business portion of town, the reservoir being built on the hill south of the city. A large petition was presented to the village board asking that a special election be called to vote the required bonds. At present the village has no bonded or other indebtedness.

BUNCH OF EXPORT CATTLE

AVERAGE WEIGHT 1,462 POUNDS

John Ray, Lew Ray and E. M. Garvin Sent Out a Fine Bunch of Good Looking Cattle Last Night for the Chicago Market.

A special trainload of fine cattle were shipped out of Norfolk for the Chicago market last night. The stock belonged to Lew and John Ray and to E. M. Garvin. Lew Ray shipped sixty-two head and John Ray 100. Mr. Garvin shipped two carloads from Pierce county. The Ray cattle weighed on an average of 1,462 pounds apiece. The train will reach Chicago tomorrow morning. The entire trainload were among the finest looking stock ever sent out of Norfolk.

The herd was driven into Norfolk during the previous night and remained in the yards, as noted yesterday, all through the day, being loaded last night after darkness had brought cool weather. The cattle were handsome ones to look upon, sleek, gracefully curved and solid. They were the nearest approach to export cattle, it is said, of any that have been shipped out of this section of the country.

The train was sent out of town before midnight over the Northwestern and will be hurried today into the Chicago markets, in order to be on the boards early tomorrow for the bidding. Some packer will draw a prize herd when he buys them in the morning.

WEEDS ALONG RURAL ROADS.

They Are Tall and Rank, and Carry Many Mosquitoes.

Rural route carriers report that some of the roads leading out of the city are badly bordered with an overgrowth of tall weeds which are not only unpleasant to look upon but which, also, are unhealthy. The tall weeds, shading the earth and keeping it moist below, are the best homes in the world for the mosquitoes. And the mosquitoes, besides being awful nuisances, carry disease around in their backs. It is reported from New Orleans that the mosquitoes are carrying yellow fever from place to place and there is no reason why it may not be supposed that they carry other contagious ailments also. Some of rural roads out of Norfolk are said to be so overgrown with the weeds that it is a difficult matter to penetrate one's way along the public thoroughfare, and when one is once buried inside, it is hard to find him with the eye. People who drive out over those roads wish that the weeds might be cut down.

A REAL INDIAN PRINCESS

Will be Here With Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show.

Major Gordon W. Lillie has with him some of the greatest Indian celebrities living. Prominent among them are Spotted Tail, Black Heart, Crazy Snake, Hollow Horn, Ridge Bear, Yellow Hand and many others. It was not easy to secure them, and the government exacted many guarantees and bonds before permitting these somewhat dangerous people to leave their reservation. There is something touchingly pathetic in the melancholy spectacle of the sad passing of our American Indian. Since Columbus first gave them the tragic touch of civilization up to our own days, men have watched the slow decay of the children of the forest, the warriors of the west, the first lords of our country's matchless and mighty domain.

All of the Indians with Pawnee Bill's wild west are superb specimens of their race. They are accompanied by their squaws, papposes, medicine-men, and all necessary paraphernalia for the proper presentation of the several features of the show in which they so prominently figure.

With the Sioux tribe is the beautiful princess Wenona, who has charmed the world by her marvelous shooting. No other woman and few, if any, men have equalled her in marksmanship, either at short or long range, afoot or on horseback, at stationary or moving targets.

She gave evidence of her wonderful power at an early age, four years, and her proud Indian father procured for her a small rifle with which she made tremendous progress. Her shooting on horseback became as accurate as it was on foot. Her reputation soon leaped the broad expanse of the western plains and she was in demand in every section of the country, and her presence was soon familiar in every civilized center of the land.

To her infallible accuracy she soon added speed and reckless daring in the manipulation of the pistol and rifle. To shoot a cigar from a man's mouth was one of her most pleasing and dangerous accomplishments.

She easily duplicated the feats of the professional shooters and outshone all of them in their great acts.

Princess Wenona has appeared in nearly every European court and has been admired for her skill everywhere. She shoots composition balls from the head of a man in view of the audience at every performance and succeeds in breaking twenty glass balls in less than twenty seconds while her horse is galloping at full speed in the arena.

Certainty of vision and steadiness of nerve are splendidly exemplified in her remarkable feats of skill with implements which tradition credits man only as being equipped with the nerve and ability to skillfully employ. Wenona is a fascinating little woman and holds her audience spellbound during her performance.

Give a Farewell Reception.

Norfolk lodge, No. 46, I. O. O. F. is preparing to add to the gentle reminders of other friends that when Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Barget leave for the west they are leaving behind them some valued associations. The members of the lodge are preparing for a farewell reception on Wednesday night, next, at the lodge hall, to which all Odd Fellows and their families are invited whether they have received invitations or not.
