

OLD BOAT RECOVERED

STEAMER CITY OF NEW ORLEANS
SUNK YEARS AGO.

WAS FOUND NEAR BELLEVUE

At One Time F. M. McNeely of Norfolk Organized a Company to Search for the Buried Boat and its Treasure of Whisky.

[From Wednesday's Daily.]
After lying in the mud and sand of the Missouri river for fifty-three years, says a recent dispatch, the old steamboat City of New Orleans has been uncovered by the recent high water and its cargo of 160 barrels of whisky will probably be recovered. The remains of the boat are said to have been found two miles above Bellevue, this state.

Like the buried treasure of Captain Kidd this old steamboat has been the cause of a great amount of fortune seeking on the part of people of Nebraska during the past half century. Ten or a dozen years ago F. M. McNeely of Norfolk organized a company to hunt this buried steamboat, which was known to have sunk in an early day with a cargo of whisky on board. But the ambitions of Mr. McNeely and his companions, like those of hundreds of other similar parties, were never realized and after spending considerable time and money they were compelled to give up the search. Nature, as exemplified by the Missouri river, particularly, works in mysterious ways, for now that all hope of recovering the treasure had probably been abandoned, by a little twist of the current during high water, the long sought steamboat and its load of liquor is exposed to the world once again. At the time he was making the search, Mr. McNeely estimated that if he could recover the whisky it would be worth a good sized fortune, because if recovered in packages unbroken its age would command for it a big price.

Every one of these warm days is worth thousands and thousands of dollars to Nebraska as a benefit to the corn crop of the state. The fields were all late in the start and in order to get home, must come under the wire on a gallop, but they are going to succeed. With reasonable weather from now until October, the corn crop will be the best that has been known in the commonwealth.

Geo. Kochig, who for a long time has represented the Swift Packing company in this territory, has been promoted to be manager of the branch house of that company at Ottumwa, Iowa. He is to report for his new work next week. Mr. and Mrs. Kochig have many friends in Norfolk who will regret to have them move, and yet they will rejoice in the promotion, which they feel is deserved. Irvin Gerecke will take his place in this territory.

The Commercial club is in need of more members. There are now 145 memberships on the books, each paying fifty cents per month into the treasury, and the officials feel that more are needed to maintain the work of the club. It has been just three months since the organization was completed and during that time the membership dues have been paid promptly. Within a few days the club officers will make an effort to secure new memberships from the few in the city who have not already signed, and it is to be hoped that the efforts will meet with eminent success.

G. B. Salter, who has been up on the Rosebud, visiting the ranches of his sons, C. B. Salter and Dr. F. G. Salter at Dallas, returned home this morning, brim full of enthusiasm for the Rosebud country. He was present at Herrick for the celebration of the anniversary of the Rosebud opening, and enjoyed every moment of it. There were 500 full blooded Indian braves, all bedecked in their native garb of brilliant colors, war paint and feathers. There were also dozens and dozens of cowboys who had gathered from all over the reservation and who performed almost impossible feats in roping wild steers, difficult riding and the like. Mr. Salter was much pleased with the celebration, which was attended by large crowds. He says that Dallas is bound to make a good town.

Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by One Dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

I was so weak from an attack of diarrhoea that I could scarcely attend to my duties, when I took a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It cured me entirely and I had been taking other medicine for nine days without relief. I heartily recommend this remedy as being the best to my knowledge for bowel complaints.—R. G. Stewart, of the firm of Stewart & Bro., Greenville, Ala. For sale by Leonard the druggist.

What Want Ads Do.

M. C. Thelsen of Creighton used a News want ad in which he wanted two telephone operators. He writes today:

"Creighton, Neb., Aug. 9.—Norfolk News: You may take out my want ad for girls. I got seven inquiries. It's a good scheme.

M. C. Thelsen.

ADVERTISING THE RACES

THREE MEN STARTED THIS MORNING WITH POSTERS.

HORSES ARE COMING TO TOWN

George Howells of Albion, Owner of Albion Boy and Spokane, Two Well Known Horses, is Coming With a Good String—August 23 and 24.

Three men started out of Norfolk this morning with cartloads of advertising matter for the big two days' race meeting that is to be held in the city August 23 and 24, and before they finish their work the roads leading out of Norfolk in every direction and for many miles will be bedecked brilliantly with the red letter signs.

It was a busy scene presented in the hot sun yesterday afternoon when the advertising men, under supervision of Chairman Sol. G. Mayer of the advertising committee, made ready the bills and posters for the distribution today. And from the work that has been done in preparation for the advertising, it is evident that the races will be well published before the time arrives.

Two weeks from yesterday the races will start. Two weeks from today the starter's gong will sound its last. And from the string of horses which keep coming into Norfolk, it is evident that there will be something unusual in the race line.

George Howells of Albion has promised to come with his string of fast ones, which include Spokane, Albion Boy and a number of other well known animals. Other horsemen from various parts of this state and South Dakota are sending word that they will be on hand.

The track has never been in as excellent condition as it is at the present time. There are a good string of stalls for the accommodation of the horses and it is thought that the races will be successful in every point.

Kay Bros. of Neligh announce that they will be here for the races with a string of horses.

A FAREWELL RECEPTION

Odd Fellows of Norfolk Tender Reception to Mr. and Mrs. Bargelt.

A farewell reception was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bargelt in Odd Fellows hall last night by members of the order and their families. Mr. and Mrs. Bargelt will leave soon for the Pacific coast, where they will make their future home and the reception last night was given as a token of the regret which their many friends among Odd Fellows feel at their departure.

The hall was beautifully decorated in red, white and blue, the colors being strung from the ceiling and the chandeliers. During the course of the evening, Rev. J. F. Poucher delivered a brief address, expressing the sincere sorrow felt by Norfolk friends over the loss of Mr. and Mrs. Bargelt. Mr. Bargelt responded briefly and with feeling.

Delicious refreshments were served at 10:00 o'clock, the close of the evening's pleasure coming at 11.

Mr. Bargelt has for years been connected with the staff of The Daily News. He is now making preparations to leave next week for the west, where he will locate at some point not yet determined upon, and publish a newspaper, which will give his three sons, now small boys, opportunity for work when they grow into young manhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Bargelt both have a great many friends in Norfolk who will regret their loss to the community but who will, for all that, wish them unlimited success and prosperity in their future home.

RANCHMEN ARE WORRIED.

Illegal Fencing Proposition Said to be Causing Alarm.

Ranchmen in Cherry, Grant and Deuel counties are greatly worried about the prosecution of illegal land fencing cases, says an Omaha report. Cattle men from those parts of Nebraska have visited the prosecuting attorney's office in the past ten days and have been eager to have no actions filed against them. They have declared that they would lose no time in tearing down their fences upon condition that the government would not proceed against them. Some of the ranchmen brought proofs to show that their fences had already been discontinued.

For all that it is stated a number of new cases are soon to be filed in federal court. Cases of those ranchmen who have had fraudulent entries filed upon land inclosed by their fences will be brought to the attention of the next grand jury. A number of equity cases will also be filed. Ever since the jury at the May term brought in a verdict of guilty against the Krause brothers, illegal fenceurs have been alarmed.

In a few days Deputy District Attorney Rush will leave for the western part of the state where agents of the government have been making investigations and preparing data for the prosecution of additional land fencing cases.

HEAVY LOSS TO INSURED.

Contest Between Alexander and Hyde Expensive to Policy Holders.

It is said by men who have been watching the Equitable fight since the beginning, and who are in close touch with certain directors and prominent officials, that by the time the society has paid expenses of the fight started by Alexander and Tarbell on Hyde, and the great cost of liquidation and loss of business growing out of that fight, the $80,000,000 surplus will have been reduced by $15,000,000, and that policyholders will suffer proportionately in dividends.

The legal expenses of the test suits, it is said, will not fall short of $1,500,000. The convention of agents held at the Hotel Savoy to further the game of Alexander and Tarbell against Hyde cost the policyholders $30,000 it is estimated.

There are rumors that reductions in real estate values due to reappraisal will not be less than $10,000,000. The Frick investigation cost about $25,000, if reports be true, and the Hendricks investigation $35,000. The independent investigation instituted by Paul Morton with the employment of Douglas Robinson and John M. Golding as real estate experts, two large firms of chartered accountants, and special counsel, will not cost less than $25,000.

The advances made the general agents by Tarbell and others aggregate about $7,000,000 and it is estimated that after all has been said and done, the society will lose 10 per cent or $700,000 in settlements.

TARBELL ARTICLE FIENDISH.

Ohio Clergyman Comes Out as Champion of John D. Rockefeller.

Rev. Charles W. Blodgett, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, is out as a champion of John D. Rockefeller in a statement as follows:

"The recent article by Miss Ida Tarbell, in McClure's, stamps the writer as heartless and almost vicious.

"Miss Tarbell has by that article smirched what might have otherwise been a brilliant literary career. She had to drag in ghosts of family history. It was unpardonable. It was fiendish.

"Rev. Washington Gladden, a social reformer of Columbus, whose reforms have never materialized, is equally as vicious against Mr. Rockefeller. The public at large has come to look at Mr. Gladden as a sort of ecclesiastical high-kicker. His words have but little weight. What is Mr. Rockefeller's sin? Why are so many people damning him?

"Analyze him and his life and here is the picture: He was born poor. He never had any rich friends or influential politicians to help him. He has made a success of himself from the standpoint of morals. We only wish it were possible by personal acquaintance with Mr. Rockefeller to answer such a villainous article as Miss Tarbell's. We say this without any of our friends charging us in the statement of a desire to truckle to rich men."

MAUMEE'S GRUESOME RECORD

Two Women Drowned and Another Murdered at Same Spot.

In almost the same spot on the Maumee river, where Miss Abble Willing, the Toledo society girl, met a mysterious death last week, the body of Miss Ella Graybill, who was slain by an unknown assassin, was found, and Miss Jessie McCoy, aged 18, was drowned accidentally.

The murder was committed Friday, and the body of Miss Graybill, who was employed in a Toledo tobacco factory, has just washed ashore. The girl went out on the river late Friday evening with a man who hired a canoe from a boatman. Having murdered the girl, apparently by striking her on the head with a heavy weapon, he drew the canoe high on a bank and fled.

Miss McCoy was rowing with George Rantz, and, in changing her seat, lost her balance and fell overboard.

WITTE WILL TRY TO BLUFF JAPS

Russia's Peace Envoy Will Make Best Play With Poor Hand.

Walter Wellman, in a Portsmouth, N. H., special to the Record-Herald, says:

Czar Nicholas' bluffer-in-chief, in the stalwart person of Count Sergius Witte, has arrived here.

Count Witte's reputation came here ahead of him. His reputation is that of as clever a bluffer as ever sat behind a pair of deuces and filled the table in front of him full of the ivories which betokened his nerve.

Witte's mission in America is already well understood by those who have carefully watched the game and who have mingled with the players. He has come here to bluff the Japanese into very important modifications of their demands under penalty of having the whole affair break up in a failure.

From men who crossed the ocean with Witte and who are more or less in his confidence, I gather that the czar's ambassador really believes he can outplay the Japanese and force them to accept a much smaller stake than they have set their hearts upon. Witte believes, as many Russians do, that the Japanese are far more eager for peace than they permit to become known. He believes that under the right sort of pressure they will make huge concessions rather than see the conference end in failure.

The Russian envoy is said, on excellent authority, to be conscious of the fact that he has no hand. His cards are almost blank. The one piece of capital he has, and the one he must make the most of, is the possibility that he can so work on the fears of the Japanese as to induce them to take small winnings rather than go home without any.

BEEF TRUST CASES WAIT.

Court Vacations and Other Delays Put Off the Trials.

A Chicago dispatch regarding the beef trust case, says:

Court vacations and other delays probably will put off the trial of the beef trust cases until the October term of the federal court. District Attorney Morrison today returned from Washington, where he had a conference with Attorney General Moody on the subject of the packing house and other local departmental business.

Sudden Attack of Dysentery Cured.

A prominent lady of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes to inquire where she can obtain Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. She says: "While stopping at a ranch in South Dakota I was taken ill of what seemed to be cholera. They gave me some of this medicine and it cured me. I brought a bottle home and have just used the last of it today. Mother was taken suddenly ill of dysentery and it helped her immediately." For sale by Leonard the Druggist.

Wayne Normal Notes.

(From the Wayne Democrat.)
Photographs of the flower gardens have been sent to the state superintendent for exhibition at the state fair. The gardens have been a decided success this year.

Many graduates of high schools will enter the scientific class this fall. If well prepared they can complete the course in a year and then enter the sophomore class at the university or any advanced college without examination.

The matter of building another large dormitory before the winter term opens is being considered. The attendance last winter and this summer appears to make the fifth dormitory almost a necessity. The nearby neighbors own a large number.

On Saturday the workmen completed the papering and painting of the chapel, commercial room, the halls and the dining room. The recitation rooms will be given attention during vacation. Everything will be in splendid condition for the fall opening.

The electric lights throughout the college building, the four dormitories, the president's home, together with the good walks, well kept lawns, flower beds and graded streets give college hill the appearance of a beautiful village. No more beautiful place is found in all Nebraska.

President Pile tells us that not to exceed twelve students have had a physician called to attend them this year. This is surely a record for the management. More than 1,000 different students have enrolled since last September. Only two out of over 500 in attendance this summer, have had a doctor.

The college received this week the fifty-four state certificates to be issued to those completing that course. These are nicely filled out by Miss Beechel and signed by the president. They are good anywhere in the state. No authority except the president of the college can issue or revoke the certificates. The number is an increase of twenty over that of last year.

Miss Beechel has finished lettering the sixty-five diplomas and the faculty has signed them. They will be delivered the 17th to a most deserving class. New diplomas were made this year and the lettering far surpasses anything the college has ever issued. But few schools take the pains to have everything so pleasant for the students. However, the students' success means the school's progress to greater success.

Prof. Gregg who became teacher of sciences seven years ago leaves at the close of the year to labor elsewhere. He is not only a most successful teacher but a man in the best sense of the word. The president, faculty and students regret that he is going and wish him the fullest possible success in his new field of labor.

The members of the two regular literary societies enjoyed a Saturday picnic. The Philomatheans were at the Grimsley grove and the Crescents at the Skiles grove. All report a good time. The day was spent as a body of hard working students only can spend it. They got more enjoyment out of the picnic day than most people would in a month.

The public exercises of the commencement week began last evening and will close Thursday evening with an address by State Superintendent McBrien and the giving out of the diplomas and the state certificates by President Pile. The young people deserve a good attendance at their exercises. A large crowd will be out to hear Superintendent McBrien. He is a good speaker and a strong friend of the Wayne normal.

During the brief two weeks' vacation much hard work goes on to clean, calcamine and paint the buildings. In addition to this special attention will be given to rearranging the library. New books will be added, a magazine desk will be placed in and everything possible done to increase the advantages for the students. Friends of the college can show a favor to the college and students by each donating a good book to the library.

The faculty is working out a course in the best general reading which will be required of all members of the teachers' and scientific courses. A daily half hour for reading will be placed on each program of these classes and a term examination given. Special work will be planned for the literary societies and they will be supervised by a committee of the faculty. The aim is to strengthen all work of this kind.

Prof. Wm. D. Buchanan, who succeeds Prof. Gregg, comes to the college with a splendid record as to a thorough preparation for his work and as a successful teacher of science. He is a graduate of the Ohio Normal University and later spent two years at the Chicago university. Last year he taught the sciences at Mankato, Minn. He is highly recommended and was selected from among seventy applicants for the position.

Miss Niehart who takes up the work which Mrs. Bright has had for many years, graduated from the college in 1893. She was a strong student here and has made great success as a teacher. She has attended school in Kansas City and elsewhere. For the past few years, she has been principal of one of the ward schools of Brainard, Minn. In her the students will find a delightful teacher and friend.

The outlook for the new year which opens September 4 is better than any previous year. The graduating classes will be well filled from the opening. It has become quite generally known that the college not only does work unsurpassed by other schools, but also that state certificates are issued to graduates and the state university admits the graduates from our teachers' course to the freshman class and the graduates from our scientific course to the sophomore class without any conditions or examinations.

The faculty for the coming year will undoubtedly prove the strongest, the college has ever had. Prof. Pile will keep his special classes; Fred Pile will teach the algebra and geometry; Miss Stewart will continue as director of the music department; Mr. Sautrey will have charge of the commercial work; Miss Niehart will teach geography, history and literature; Mr. Buchanan will have charge of the science work; Miss Neptune continues as teacher of latin, German and rhetoric; Miss Yakish takes charge of the elocution and violin departments; Miss Lottie Robertson will direct the short hand department; the librarian has not yet been selected but some former graduate will be in charge.

Grandma Mott's Advice to Travelers.

"You should not travel about the country this warm weather without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Kate Mott, of Fairfield, Iowa, or "Grandma Mott" as she is familiarly known. "One or two doses of this remedy will always cure the worst case of summer complaint. We keep it always at hand, in fact, we could not keep house without it." For sale by Leonard the druggist.
