

TO FIND LOST DAUGHTER

AFTER EIGHTEEN YEARS OF ABSENCE FROM PARENTS.

WAS KIDNAPPED BY NEIGHBOR

Mike Schainost of Gross, Neb., Thinks That His Daughter is in St. Louis. Clue Came in Letter Published in Nebraska Newspaper.

Gross, Neb., Aug. 15.—After eighteen years of ignorance as to the whereabouts of his daughter, who was kidnapped when two years of age, Mike Schainost of this place believes that he has found his long lost child. She is, he thinks, in St. Louis, and every effort is being made to locate her.

Eighteen years ago Schainost lived on a farm in Brown county, Neb. A neighbor named Ormsby seemed to like Schainost's baby daughter. One night the child disappeared and a day or so later Ormsby left the country. No trace of either was ever found.

A letter published in a state paper from St. Louis has given the clue to the girl's whereabouts. She recites her story, which is identical with that of Schainost's daughter, and he is searching for her.

The hay fever season has started in earnest and sufferers from that complaint are beginning to be very seriously affected. The eyes of the patients become badly swollen up, in some instances they are almost blinded, and they suffer for loss of sleep night after night. The rag weed is said to be one of the fiercest causes of the fever, the pollen from the plant creating extreme irritation in the patient. There is no let up to the disease until frost comes. Many are compelled to take to the mountains to get relief.

Matt Kastomlat, a 15-year-old boy from Sioux City, arrived in Norfolk yesterday afternoon on a bicycle for a visit with his friend, Graham Humphrey. He wheeled the distance from the city in Iowa to the gateway to northern Nebraska in a remarkably short time, having started out from home but Monday morning. The distance is about 100 miles by wagon road. The bicycle rider was not in the least fatigued, he said, after his long exertion.

A new brick store building on the Reno corner, Fifth street and Norfolk avenue, will be built at once by D. Rees, owner of the property. The actual work on the structure will begin this week and the work will be pressed to completion. The work will not be done by contract, as Mr. Rees will have charge of the labor, hiring the workmen himself. A number of workmen have been figuring on the structure and as soon as their figures are completed so that they may begin, the building will loom up. It will be a one-story brick, 65x100 feet in dimensions. As now contemplated, there will be two store-rooms in the building, one with a 22-foot front and the other with a 44-foot front, though this may later be altered. One of the store rooms has already been rented, but the other has not. The foundation will be built solidly so that, if it becomes advisable, another story may be added with little extra labor. The Reno corner is the spot upon which the old Reno hotel formerly stood. The hotel partly burned and was later moved to the college grounds and rebuilt there. Later it burned to the ground. The lot remained vacant and because of a slight clearing that had to be done on account of the title to it, a building was not erected sooner. The location is a prominent one and the erection there of a substantial store building will make a most decided improvement to the appearance of the business portion of Norfolk avenue.

ON O'NEILL SHORT LINE.

Strike Has Cut Service Down to Just One Man.

Only one old telegraph operator is at work between Sioux City and O'Neill, on the Great Northern railroad, where the strike has just been causing trouble for the past few days. A Sioux City dispatch says:

Superintendent Bowen of the William & Sioux Falls railroad of the Great Northern system, declares there will be no interruption of train service on this division because of the telegraphers' strike.

"On the seventy-eight miles of main line in this division, I have nine stations open," he said, "and they are operated by the agents who had charge when the strike was called. Four of the stations are closed.

"On the line from Garretson to William I have twelve stations open, with the old men at the keys, and four stations closed. Between Garretson and Yankton, there are five men on, and between Garretson and Sioux City, one man is working. On the line from here to O'Neill, Neb., only one man is working. The man at Garretson is an official of the company, but I feel the entire division is in good shape and the trains are all running on time. We have train agents who sell tickets and collect for freight."

NEBRASKA CROP BULLETIN

Past Week Was Very Warm—Stacking Progressed Well.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 15.—The bulletin issued by the weather bureau on Nebraska's crops, today, is:

The past week was warm, with maximum temperatures above ninety degrees on several days. The daily mean temperature averaged 2 degrees above normal in most of the state, and 5 degrees above normal in the extreme eastern counties.

Showers occurred in many counties during the week, but the rainfall was generally less than one-fourth of an inch, however it exceeded one inch in a few northwestern counties.

Stacking and thrashing has progressed well except in a few southwestern counties, where work was delayed by wet weather the first part of the week. Spring wheat is mostly cut and the damage by rust is generally considered small. Considerable grain is still in the shock in western and northern counties, while in central and southeastern counties it is mostly either stacked or thrashed. Corn has grown finely in most parts of the state. It is earing heavily with large stalks and promises a large crop. In northeastern counties a lack of moisture has caused the crop to be less promising, and the high temperature of last week injured corn in small areas in a number of northeastern counties, while rain would benefit the crop generally in that part of the state.

Frazer-Roland.

At a very pretty home wedding, the prettier for its simplicity, Miss Evelyn Belle Roland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Roland, was married at 9 o'clock this morning to Mr. Mason Charles Frazer, Rev. Mr. Hartsnappe performing the ceremony. The marriage took place on the porch of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland at South Norfolk.

Fifty guests witnessed the ceremony, after which they were served to a most delightful wedding breakfast. The porch was decorated with an abundance of sweet peas as was also one room inside the house. Another room was attractively done in yellow. In the house the bride and her party were seated at a table while in the yard was a long table seating forty more.

When the guests assembled, Miss Roland and Mr. Frazer mingled with the visitors, chatting as though they were guests at an afternoon tea. At the appointed hour Miss Ethel Atkins began playing Mendelssohn's wedding march and the bride and groom arose and took their places before the minister. After the words making them man and wife had been spoken, they were showered with sweet peas. The bride was very beautifully dressed in blue going away gown, and carried white sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Frazer departed by way of the Union Pacific for Iowa, where they will be gone for two weeks on a honeymoon. When they return they will reside in their new home, just being built for them, on South Seventh street. They will be at home about the middle of September.

A great many very beautiful gifts were received from friends of the young couple, there being in the list almost everything that they will need for furnishing their new home, besides much in the way of handsome cut glass, hand painted china and the like.

Daughter at Huebner Home.

Norfolk friends and relatives have received word from Hoskins of the birth, Sunday morning, of a little daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Huebner. Mrs. Huebner was formerly Miss Anna Haase, daughter of Mrs. Ferdinand Haase of this city.

MORE INMATES THIS WEEK

PATIENTS WILL BE BROUGHT TO HOSPITAL SOON.

WILL BE THIRTY-FIVE WOMEN

The New Nebraska State Hospital is Practically Ready to Receive Patients and a Transfer From Lincoln Will be Made Likely Friday.

[From Wednesday's Daily.]

Authorities at the Nebraska insane hospital in Norfolk are this week busy in preparing for the first shipment of female patients from the Lincoln hospital. Thirty-five women from that institution will be brought to Norfolk the latter part of this week—probably Friday. This transfer will bring great relief to the hospital at Lincoln where, according to Dr. Greene, many patients have been forced to sleep on the floors.

The tunnels at the asylum are now completed, the waterworks system is practically finished and will be ready for use in a few days, the furniture is being installed by representatives from Omaha of the firms who sold the materials, the new deep water well is dug to its limit and wires have been stretched from Norfolk to the institution for the lighting—the independent plant having been done away with and light from the Norfolk city plant substituted on account of the saving in the expense. A new switchboard is expected any day for use in the buildings. Wires are now being strung through the tunnels.

A score of men patients have been at the hospital all summer, aiding in the preparations for the coming of the others. They have not, however, occupied the new cottages and the offices, themselves, have not yet moved into the new quarters.
