

CAN'T TALK TO HER PARENTS

MRS. HERMAN WIPPERN, WHO WAS KIDNAPED YEARS AGO.

BUT NOW RESTORED TO HOME

Because of Her Long Separation, She Never Learned the Bohemian Language of Her Father and Mother, and They Can't Talk English.

A peculiar sequel to the restoration of Mrs. Herman Wippen of St. Louis to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Scheinost, at Gross, Neb., after she had been kidnaped and lost for eighteen years, has come about in the inability of Mrs. Wippen and her newly found parents to talk to each other in the same language.

The reason for this is the fact that Mrs. Wippen, when she was mysteriously kidnaped almost twenty years ago, was a wee little tot of 2, just big enough to toddle about the house and unable to understand a word in any language.

The story of the strange kidnaping of Mrs. Wippen when she was a child eighteen years ago, of her career as the supposed daughter of a circus woman, of the final revelation to her that the troupe performer was not her mother and at last, after a continuous search of five long years, the restoration to her parents in Boyd county, Neb., is truly stranger than fiction.

It was one night at sunset that the child was missed from the yard in front of the farmhouse. That was just thirteen summers ago. And until the other day not one single word in the shape of a clue as to her whereabouts was ever heard by the anxious parents.

Mrs. Wippen was thought by her parents to have been stolen by a neighbor, a landman named Grunsky, but in truth she was taken by a circus performer named Mrs. Heard.

Five years ago Mrs. Heard became ill and the night before she died she told the young girl that she was really her father and mother.

From the night she learned that she was not a daughter of the circus woman, the kidnaped girl has searched for five long years to find a way to locate her father and mother.

The letter, printed, was noted by a daughter of Anton Scheinost at Butte, Neb. The little girl is a cousin of the kidnaped child.

THE HERZIG MURDER STORY.

A Denial and Confirmation of the Story of Innocent Man Hanging.

Was the story sent out from Minot, N. D., regarding the confession of Charles Herzig of a murder thirty years ago, and his suicide a few days ago, the truth or a fake?

The Associated Press carried the story this week. Yesterday the Associated Press sent out from St. Paul a dispatch stating that telegrams from

Gov. Searles of North Dakota tended to indicate there was no truth to the story.

A messenger just in from the Hildonwood country corroborates the story of the finding of the body of Charles Herzig, the confessed murderer of Lizzie Grombacher, for whose killing Charles Sterling was hanged at Youngstown, Ohio, in 1877.

Excitement over the matter is running high here and new developments are anxiously awaited.

New Work on Corporation Gulch Seems to be Doing the Work Required of It—Lightning Strikes in Several Places—Telephone Lines Hurt.

This section of the country was visited by one of the most severe storms of the season last night. The rain came down in sheets and the lightning played hide and seek in all directions.

The amount of water that fell during the night was 2.13 inches, making it one of the heaviest rainfalls of the year.

The storm started about 7 o'clock last evening, and was preceded by a heavy, dark, sultry atmosphere, which presaged that something would be doing before morning.

During the storm the lightning was vivid and furious. A bolt shot into the old sample room of the teen hotel but did not set it afire.

TUESDAY TOPICS.

Phil Kyrle of Battle Mills was in town over night.

The prediction for fair weather tonight and rising temperature Wednesday will be received with joy in Norfolk.

A letter came to the Norfolk post-office yesterday addressed, "Amaly V. Thgil, Klotron, Aksarben." Inverted, the letter read, "Valma G. Light, Norfolk, Nebraska."

A huge bird which had flown against the wires during the severe rainstorm of yesterday, was caught this morning by an employee of the postoffice and carried into the federal building, where it was given a berth.

Miss Ella Mather, the young lady who was thrown from a horse several days ago and injured quite severely, is just now recovering enough to repair some of the injuries. Among others, she is having three teeth which were broken in the accident, replaced today.

"After an experience of this sort," said Richard Peter, the Braasch avenue blacksmith this morning, in front of whose shop the water stood in pools, "it ought to be clear that Norfolk needs a sewerage system.

The lecture of Father Vaughan, which was to have been given at the Auditorium last night, was postponed until this evening at the same place. There seemed to be a conspiracy of influences against the lecture.

The weather bureau should be given credit for predicting the storm of yesterday and the fair weather of today. There are always those who, with a superior tone, remark when fair weather is predicted, "Well, we might as well look for rain, now."

His voice is removed. A. P. Pilger undergoes a remarkable operation. Will breathe through tube.

Suffering from a cancer in the throat, Mr. Pilger was operated on and Withstood Operation Well—Larynx Was Removed.

From Saturday's Daily, Dr. Pilger returned late last night from Omaha where his father, A. P. Pilger, Thursday underwent a very remarkable and serious surgical operation in which the larynx and voice were removed because of cancer of the throat.

This patient was under the knife for three solid hours but withstood the effects of the strain with remarkable vigor, his pulse being as strong after the operation as before.

The operation was performed by Drs. Lord and Henry.

The son of the patient properly diagnosed the case and it was through his advice primarily, backed by that of Omaha surgeons, that the operation was performed.

An excuse never accomplishes all it is expected to accomplish.
