WILL CHANGE CAB RATES

NEW SCHEDULE FOR NORFOLK IN EFFECT THURSDAY.

ORDINARY CALLS REMAIN SAME

Rate From Thirteenth Street Crossing of the Northwestern Railroad Into Town Will be 50 Cents-$1 an Hour . For Waiting in Night.

Hack rates in Norfolk will undergo a change day after tomorrow. It will Stanton county charging Julius Lindnot be a universal change, and will stedt of Madison county with having not agect the ordinary cab calls, but committed an assault with intent to will apply particularly to but two Thirteenth street crossing of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, into the city, will be increased from twen- a plea of not guilty and continued the ty-five to fifty cents and a new regulation will go into effect by virtue of March 1906. which the cabs will charge $1 an hour for waiting upon persons between the hours of 2 a. m. and 7 a. m. All other rates remain unchanged.

Meaning of Change, The drive to the Thirteenth street crossing of the Northwestern railroad makes a journey of more than four miles for the cab, and for that trip a rate of but twenty-five cents has been charged hitherto.

This trip has become a common one for Norfolk, as many Northwestern freight trains which run in from the west carry passengers only to this crossing. The result is that Norfolk people on those trains telephone from the depot at Battle Creek to the cabmen here, ordering a back to be at the crossing to meet the train. The cabmen have been making the long trip for a quarter and find that it is impossible to do the work for that amount, therefore, after March 1, the rates will advance.

The new charge of $1 an hour for 7 in the morning is made to protect the cabbies against the long cold waits of the early morning, when they suffer from the chill, as do also their horses. It is said that in many cases they are kept waiting for several national guard. hours at a time, and they want pay

Other rates in Norfolk, for drives all over the city, remain at twenty five cents, which has long been recognized as an extremely reasonable rate, Could Improve Service.

The outfit was driven into the sale by a stranger who gave his name as John Shea, and who, after receiving his money for the outfit in cash and checks, left for town, bought a ticket for O'Neill and left for that place on last night's train.

The sale was a regular farm sale being held ten miles north of Neligh. The stranger asked Auctioneer McAllister if he would sell the team and Clapper. The spring wagon was sold to Mr. Richardson for $3.75.

The stranger was paid partly in cash and partly in checks and said to the auctioneer that he was more than satisfied, as he had not expected to realize $172.50 in the deal.
