NEW MUSIC LOVERS CLU MUSICIANS AND ARTISTS JOIN

FOR MUTUAL BENEFIT.

WILL MEET ONCE EVERY WEEK

At a Meeting Held Wednesday Night, the Music Lovers' and Art Cub Was Formed-Clyde Bullock is President. Entertainments Planned.

Something new in the way of clubs for Norfolk was organized Wednesday night in the form of "The Music Loyers' and Art" club of Norfolk. The new organization is destined to take a new place among Norfolk social organizations. Methers are elective on application, and will include many of the most prominent musicians and artists in the city.

Clyde Bullock was elected president of the new organization and was given authority to appoint a librarian and committees. The membership is to be unlimited in numbers, there being a dožen in the charter organization.

A meeting will be held next Thursday evening, at which more definite arrangements will be made. It is planned to hold regular weekly meetings and entertainments, the homes of various members being used.

The only club of the sort ever orga nized here before was the Music Students club, years ago, but the membors of this club say that the intent in the new organization is to have a wider scope than that.

Night, Drunk, and Threatened to Harm His Wife-A Policeman Was Sent For-Conrad is "Posted" Man

Arthur Conrad was arrested Saturlay night on complaint of his wife because he came home drunk and threatened to do bodily harm to Mrs. Conrad and the rest of the family. He was brought to jail by Officer Uecher and remained in a steel cell over night and until this morning, when he was brought before Police Judge Westervelt.

Conrad pleaded not guilty to the charge but his wife was there to tesify against him, told how he had threatened to beat her, and after listening to the testimony Judge Westerelt decided that the man was guilty.

Having no money, Conrad was sent to jail to serve out his term. He was given a lecture by the judge, who said he had no sympathy for a man who abuses his family.

Conrad has been an habitual drunkard for some time and is "posted" in saloons and drug stores, which makes it a crime to sell liquor to him. He said that he did not buy whisky, but
