

LAWYERS' ANNUAL OUTING

NINTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT LAWYERS HAVE A GREAT TIME.

CAMP WAS BROKEN YESTERDAY

An Elegant Place for an Outing on the Bank of the Elkhorn Four Miles West of Neligh—All But One of the Counties Represented.

(From Thursday's Daily.)
The lawyers' camp near Neligh was broken yesterday morning, and the various members of the bar of the Ninth Judicial district, who had been holding their annual outing, have returned home. The picnic started on Wednesday of last week and continued until yesterday, a week and a day.

The camp was pitched in a delightful spot beneath the shade of a beautiful ash grove on the bank of the Elkhorn four miles west of Neligh. Underneath is a fine lawn of blue grass, which was like velvet to the feet. Here were pitched ten tents, in nine of which the campers slept, and the tenth served as a kitchen, while under the shade of the trees were constructed two long tables where the meals were served. A well with a pump supplied pure sparkling water, while a cellar dug for the occasion made a place for the storage of meat, vegetables, etc. Not far away is a small lake, which provided ample supplies of fish that were brought in by brave legal fishermen. Just at the entrance to the camp was erected a tall pole from which old glory swung to the breeze.

Here in this delightful spot the legal fraternity of the Ninth Judicial district spent the time for a week. During that time between fifty and seventy-five lawyers and their friends registered. Not all were present at once, but they kept coming and going as business allowed, except a few of the standbys, who went early and stayed late. The campers put in a good deal of time fishing, sleeping and reading, and when the evening shades began to fall the party would gather around bonking camp fires and relate experiences, real and imaginary. All of the five counties of the district, Antelope, Knox, Madison, Pierce and Wayne, were represented at the grounds except Pierce.

Fresh air makes keen appetites, and the way those legal gentlemen would eat at meal time was a caution. In addition to the appetites developed by outdoor life, the menu provided by the chef from Omaha, who had charge of the kitchen and had an assistant to help him, would induce anyone to eat. For at least two meals each day there was fish cooked to a turn, potatoes, coffee and strawberry shortcake—not the usual restaurant shortcake, but the kind that mother used to make with an abundance of strawberries—and cream that was the real thing. The menu also included ham, eggs, bacon, beefsteak, pie and vegetables; while on Sunday spring chickens of the vintage of '06 afforded a delightful change. With all the accessories of delightful camp life, with a cook who is an expert in his line and with congenial company, there was every reason why those who are fortunate enough to be disciples of the law or were lucky enough to receive invitations, would have a good time—and they did.

So that the lawyers would not be obliged to go home or to town on Sunday to attend church, a special service was arranged for the afternoon of that day. Upon invitation of the Neligh committee, Rev. Mr. Clark of the Congregational church of that place was invited to address the legal gentlemen. The singing was conducted by the sweet voiced members of the bar, and Mr. Clark made an excellent short address on "The Religion of the Rainbarrel," prefacing his talk with the remark that he had before now been called upon to speak before the inmates of an insane hospital, had once addressed 300 convicts in a prison, but he considered that he was up against a hard proposition when called upon to speak to the lawyers. The point took well, and the size of the collection indicated that he had made a hit.

On Sunday Senator Allen was a visitor and on Monday Judge and Mrs. Duffy of Omaha accompanied Judge and Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Huffman to the camp and remained all day.

The success of the outing was due largely to the enterprise and liberality of the people of Neligh, who made ample provision for the wants of the campers. At the head of the committee of arrangements were the lawyers of Neligh, Judge Jackson, Judge Boyd, Kelsey, Kilburn and Thornton, and they were ably assisted by M. B. Huffman, S. F. Gilman and W. W. Cole. The committee desire to express their thanks to Perregoy & Moore of Council Bluffs, Rothenburg & Schloss and Niles, Moser Co. of Kansas City, for the 500 cigars contributed to the pleasure of smokers. Other firms contributed liberally of their goods and none was allowed to be wasted.

START FOR COAST.

Milwaukee Grading Crews to Begin Work West of Missouri River.

Wakpala, S. D., June 14.—Weather permitting, grading west of the Missouri river on the coast extension of the Milwaukee will commence this week. Work on the temporary bridge across the river is being done under difficulties owing to the unusually high water and swift current.

It is expected, however, to have trains running to the west bank of the river by August 15. Track will probably not be laid further than twenty-three miles west of the river this year, as at that point there is some heavy work which the contractors expect to do during the coming winter.

Contractors have had no difficulty in getting all the men and teams they want. The interior department has authorized the appointment of one deputy and six privates of Indian police to keep order on the reservation during the building of the road, in addition to the present force, state authorities having no jurisdiction on the reservation.

ODD FELLOW'S ANNIVERSARY

Big Celebration of the Event Being Held at Neligh Today.

There is a great time among the fraternity of Odd Fellows at Neligh today in celebration of the eighty-seventh anniversary of that order, participated in by Odd Fellows and members of the Rebekah degree, the auxiliary branch of the order.

The opening exercises of the festival are being held in the Neligh park this afternoon, where there will be speaking by a number of well known orators, including the grand master. Besides this, there will be a number of open air amusements which will occupy the remainder of the afternoon.

This evening in the hall up town degrees will be conferred and there will be competitive drills by different lodges of the district. At this competition it is expected that three members of the Norfolk lodge will act as judges, but their names had not been announced at noon.

The celebration is given by the lodges in the district. About forty members of Norfolk lodge, No. 46, and Deborah lodge, No. 63, left at 1 o'clock to take part in the festivities, going by invitation, as Norfolk is not in the Neligh district. They expect to return on the early train tomorrow morning.

BUSINESS AWAITS ROAD.

Milwaukee Coast Line Will Have Freight From the Start.

New York, June 14.—The plans of the Milwaukee with regard to the financing of its extension to the Pacific coast are said here to await the arrival from Europe of James Stillman. Roswell Miller, chairman of the board of directors, is also absent from the city, but is expected back before the 1st of July.

Meantime, work is being pushed on the location of the line. President Earling expects to announce the route in full during the first week in July, or even earlier. It is said that the right of way has cost considerably more than the routes used by the other lines to the coast, but this is balanced by the fact that on nearly the whole distance there will be plenty of traffic to be gathered as soon as the line is finished.

Other railroads had to build up their country before they could get anything out of it. The Milwaukee finds a dozen fine traffic centers made for it. Miles City, Butte, Lewiston and Ellensburg are all centers of local agricultural life and business activity. The road is expected to pay a fair rate of interest on the outlay for building it almost as soon as the freight schedule can be put into effect.

Every day a few lines of type change the face of the world for someone—so watch the want ads

HILL'S NEW ROAD LOCAL LINE

Wall Street Brokers Have It All Figured Out.

New York, June 14.—The Hill line in western Canada is to be built under the charter of the V. V. & E., all of whose stock is owned by the Great Northern. It is not necessary for J. J. Hill to go to Ottawa for further rights in connection with his new line.

The money for the building of the road will ultimately be raised by the Great Northern, in spite of all the fantastic tales afloat about the road being a purely private enterprise.

This project is regarded in Wall street as one of the most interesting propositions of the day, but not as one that will greatly affect the situation in the Pacific northwest. The road is not designed to be a factor in the through transcontinental rate situation. It is to be built to look after local freight, nothing more. The western end will produce coal and mine and forest freight. The eastern and middle sections lie in the wheat range section of the Canadian northwest. For these products the line is to be built.

Of course, there will be competition with the Canadian Pacific, and with the Grand Trunk Pacific also. There will be just as much competition between this road and the Canadian Pacific as there is between the Soo line and the Great Northern. There is no good reason why this should cost either road any money. It is only necessary to point to the record earnings of both the American roads mentioned to prove this assertion.

Mr. Hill is taking a holiday just now. He spends most of his time at Lenox, Mass., where he is located for the summer. In a week or so he will go to Montreal and thence to St. John, N. B., where he will put in a vacation fishing. Rumor says he will spend a part of his time with Sir William Van Horne, at his country place in New Brunswick. The rumor is interesting in view of the fact that the Canadian knight recently intimated broadly that Mr. Hill was merely jollying the people of Canada, and was answered by Mr. Hill in the acid phrase: "He can say whatever he likes."

SOCIETY EVENTS OF WEEK

WEDDINGS, LUNCHEONS, DANCING AND PICNICKING.

WOMEN'S FEDERATION REPORT

The Past Week Has Been Seized by the June Bride as Her Very Own. Dinner Proves Delightful—Last Dance at Elk Club Is Given.

(From Saturday's Daily.)
The past week has not been one of special activity in Norfolk social circles, though there has been enough going on to keep people busy. Spring weddings, with the first Wednesday in June as a good day to select, together with dinners, dances, luncheons and picnics, made up the week. Just at the present moment there is little of special interest scheduled for the coming week to indicate that it will be an unusually gay one. The lawyers' picnic at Neligh has robbed a number of homes of the men, and the insane hospital investigation this week and next, has something to do with taking the attention of a few persons directly interested in the case.

Weddings of the Week.

June brides have been a prominent feature in the first week of Norfolk's June, Wednesday of this week being the leader among days chosen for the matrimonial events.

The most prominent event of the kind in this city was the marriage of Miss Viele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Viele, to County Superintendent Marshall of Center, Knox county. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall have been spending the week at Niobrara. They were married in the home of the bride's parents on Wednesday.

Another marriage of the week of interest to Norfolk people was that on Wednesday at Columbus in which Miss Olga Hagel of that city became the bride of W. F. Hall of Norfolk. Among those attending were Mrs. Hall, mother of the groom, Miss Marie Hall, R. B. Hall, Joyce Hall and Fritz Asmus. The young couple are now enjoying a honeymoon in Kansas City, and will be at home on North Eleventh street after July 1.

It is learned in Norfolk that Miss Irene Juneman and Mr. Fay Malone of Enola were married at Cheyenne, Wyo., some weeks before they allowed their friends to share the secret.

Pleasures of the Week.

Among the most delightful features of the week's program of social events in Norfolk was the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Witzigman in their home on The Heights at 6:30 Thursday evening. After a delicious five-course dinner, the guests enjoyed military eulchre. The table captained by Mr. Stitt and at which played Mr. and Mrs. George D. Butterfield, Mrs. W. N. Huse, Mrs. N. A. Huse and Miss Stella Lukart won prizes. Invited guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames N. A. Rainbolt, J. S. Mathewson, H. T. Holden, Jennison, C. C. Gow, W. N. Huse, J. C. Stitt, W. M. Rainbolt, N. A. Huse, C. P. Parish, G. D. Butterfield, J. B. Mayland, A. J. Durland, E. M. Huntington, O. R. Meredith, W. H. Johnson, P. J. Stafford, C. E. Burnham, E. O. Mount, E. J. Bodwell, Dillbeck, W. H. Butterfield; Misses Norton, Laura Durland, Stafford, Mary Durland, Edna Durland, Eleanor Coffene, Lukart; Mrs. J. R. Fain, Mrs. Lukart; Messrs. W. J. Stafford, J. R. Witzigman, Roy Lukart, Ralph Braasch, W. F. Hall.

The Witzigman home was twice the scene of social pleasure this week. Besides the dinner party, a pretty luncheon was given by Mrs. Witzigman on Wednesday afternoon. Invited guests were: Mrs. A. J. Durland, Mrs. H. T. Holden, Mrs. Mayland, Mrs. Gillett, Mrs. Odiorne, Mrs. Napper, Mrs. S. T. Napper, Mrs. Burt Mapes, Mrs. Meredith, Miss Lukart, Miss Durland, Mrs. W. H. Johnson, Mrs. O. J. Johnson, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Sessions, Mrs. Stitt, Mrs. W. H. Butterfield, Mrs. Warrick, Mrs. Brake, Mrs. Weatherby, Mrs. Hazen, Mrs. Lukart, Mrs. Rankley, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. P. J. Stafford, Mrs. F. A. Blakeman, Mrs. Parish, Mrs. Blakeny, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Huntington, Mrs. Desmond, Mrs. Austin, Mrs. Mayer, Miss Watson, Mrs. Mount, Mrs. Tyndall, Mrs. Doughty, Mrs. Salter, Mrs. Mullen, Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Sims, Mrs. Fain, Mrs. Jennison of Omaha, Mrs. Berkeley of Wisconsin and Mrs. Nagle.

Another farewell dancing party was given at the Elks club rooms last night. It was an informal affair, gotten up hurriedly, with good music to inspire the glides along the polished floor. It was declared to be the last of the final dances of the season, though a number are planned by Elks who have recently become interested in dancing, for next winter. The entire series has been a pleasant one.

A jolly picnic of young people was enjoyed Tuesday afternoon on the banks of the Northfork. The stream is unusually pretty this year and picnics will probably be popular. Mrs. M. P. Ryan of the Junction entertained a score of friends Friday evening in honor of her guests, Miss Edith Marty and Miss Beulah Demmer of Creighton. A jolly guessing contest, in which Miss Jennie Schwenk and Miss May Harrison won prizes, was a pleasant feature. A delightful three-course luncheon was served.

The Mystic club, composed of little girls of the Congregational Sunday school, enjoyed a fine picnic in their outing at Spring Branch yesterday afternoon.

The week opened with the closing ceremonies of the annual alumni banquet of high school graduates at the Pacific hotel. Among those present were many from classes far back in the nineties, though it was a singular fact that when the class rolls for those earlier classes were called, there were but a few lone members to rise in response. The entire banquet board paid a tribute to the absent members—some absent through one cause and some through another—by rising and standing for a moment at the request of Toastmaster Hays.

The handsome new bay horse which has just been bought by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Greene from D. D. Brunson, is declared by some Norfolk people to be the handsomest driving animal on the boulevards of Norfolk.

Women's Clubs.

All of Norfolk's club attention this week has been turned toward St. Paul, where the biennial federation session has just been brought to a close. The local interest is increased by the fact that a local club member attended the session. Mrs. A. J. Durland, who was one of the nine state delegates, has just returned, and brings back reports of a most enjoyable session throughout. There were twenty-five club women from Nebraska, while Iowa had the largest delegation of all with an even hundred.

Mrs. Durland says that perhaps the point of interest to Norfolk, as brought out in the federation sessions, was that in regard to library work. At this in regard to library work. Just at this time Norfolk is especially interested in anything that has to do with library work, and therefore suggestions made at that session come directly home to us here. One of the finest addresses in this line—or in fact any other branch at the session—was made by Prof. Clark, head of the department of literature in the Chicago university, who spoke on, "The Spirit of Literature."

Prof. Clark said that not enough importance is attached generally to the library in our community building. He declared that the individuals of a community are measured by how they spend their leisure time, and not by how they work. Children should learn to love good literature while they are children, he said, for unless they train themselves to enjoy reading while they are children, they will never grow into the habit in their older days. He suggested several books specially good for children, mentioning Thackeray's "Henry Esmond" as a remarkably good book for boys.

Sentiment, Prof. Clark emphasized, should not be overlooked. Women are regarded as over-much sentimental by some, he said, but this is all right. Literature should be studied not for what somebody else says in it, but for the culture that is to be derived from it.

Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, was an interesting speaker as was also Judge Lindsay of the juvenile court, Denver. His lecture was largely attended.

The social features were pleasant. Nebraska delegates were invited to a reception given in the home of J. J. Hill, whose art galleries were thrown open to their inspection. At another time they enjoyed a reception in the home of Mr. Thompson, owner of the St. Paul Dispatch. Governor Johnson extended a reception in the new five-million-dollar capitol building. On Tuesday a trolley ride was enjoyed to Minnehaha Falls, where Minneapolis ladies served luncheon for 2,000. Later they drove to places of interest thereabout.

Letter List.

List of letters remaining uncalled for at the postoffice at Norfolk, Neb., June 13, 1906:

Elmer Armer, Mr. Thomas Coyne, Mr. Louis M. Elliott, Mr. C. H. Foote (of Pacific Hotel), Mr. Walcott Falk (Attorney), Mr. W. Grant, Mr. Chris Larsen, R. A. Smartwint, Mr. Leslie Shulds, Garnet Owens (R. F. D. 2), John McMillum.

If not called for in fifteen days will be sent to the dead letter office.

Parties calling for any of the above please say "advertised."

John R. Hays, P. M.

Hospital at Norfolk.

Butte, Neb., June 14.—Special to The News: In regard to the editorial recently appearing in The News in regard to Norfolk needing a hospital, there are not less than a dozen patients from Butte who pass through Norfolk to hospitals at Omaha or other places every year, who might just as well stop there and receive treatment.

AROUND THE TOWN.

Burt Mapes says that the Mast block is willing to play another game of baseball, with any old club in town from an office building. Some of the people about town, outside both blocks, have suggested that another rub with the Bishops would not be a bad affair, and that another bunch of money for the library as well as fun for the town might be aroused.

It is not always the high salary that makes a man faithful to his post of duty. In fact, some of the humblest positions in the world of labor are filled by men who earn their livings and just a little more, but who, perhaps, are as contented a type as can be found in the race.

"Of all classes of railroad men," said Superintendent C. H. Reynolds the other day, "I know of no class that is more faithful to his duty than the section boss. No train on this division of the Northwestern has ever gone into a washout, and I lay it to the faithfulness of our section bosses."

ON NATURALIZATION LAW

LAST CHANCE TO GET IN UNDER OLD LAW.

JUDGE TO BE ON DECK FRIDAY

Under the New Law, it is Necessary to Send the Papers to Washington and the Process Will be Difficult. Many are Not Citizens.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

Friday of this week will be the last chance which will be given to alien citizens of Madison county to become naturalized under the old form of naturalization law, and after that day it will be necessary for the naturalization process to go through the office at Washington, and will require ninety days in time. There are said to be a large number of alien citizens in the county, who believe that they are American citizens, but who, under the law, have no right to citizenship.

For instance, according to an authority on the matter, in many cases men from other countries who have settled here have taken out their first papers toward naturalization, never completing the process, and their sons, in many instances, who were under eighteen years of age at the time their fathers began taking out the papers, have, when they attained their majority, gone to voting without becoming naturalized themselves.

It is said that there are any number of these young men, who have been voting for years without knowing that they had no right to this franchise. And since the new law is quite rigid and requires much time and a ceremony of procedure through Washington offices, it is quite an important matter that the law which will go out of effect July 1 be taken advantage of now.

Clerk of the Courts, Henry Fields, was in Norfolk from Madison yesterday, and he explained the necessity for quick action.

"Many persons have openly admitted," he said, "that they have been voting for years, although their fathers only took out the first papers while they were under eighteen years of age."

Judge Boyd will be in Madison on Friday of this week, and many will probably take advantage of the fact, as trouble might be the result for some, if they tried to get papers under the new law.

The new law provides for a bureau of naturalization at Washington, which shall furnish all blanks for use and keep a record of all naturalizations. It requires an applicant to file petition for naturalization ninety days before it is acted upon by a court.

It prohibits any naturalization thirty days before any general elections. It authorizes the United States district attorney to appear and cross-examine applicants and witnesses. It adds the additional qualifications that applicants must be able to speak English before receiving final papers and they must swear that they intend to reside permanently in the United States. It also provides a procedure for the cancellation of fraudulent certificates.

secretary of the Pierce County Farmers Mutual insurance company, was in the city this morning on business.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Merrill of Carroll are visiting at the home of C. E. Doughty. Mr. and Mrs. Doughty will accompany them to Neligh to attend the district meeting of the I. O. O. F.

Mrs. C. E. Deuel and baby daughter and Mrs. Pulver of Chicago arrived in the city yesterday and are visiting at the home of Mrs. Deuel's father, Rev. J. C. S. Wells. Mrs. Pulver returns tomorrow.

Miss Ella Mather is on the sick list. The families of Fred Schelly and Henry Haase are spending the day fishing at Boche's lake.

James J. Johnston of the Junction, who has been suffering from appendicitis for some time, was operated upon yesterday. He is getting along nicely.

The annual picnic of Christ Lutheran church schools will be held at Freythalers park next Sunday afternoon. The Hadar union band will play.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills were given a pleasant surprise at their home last evening by the members of the Women's Relief Corps. Mr. and Mrs. Mills left this morning to spend the summer with their daughter, Mrs. Harry Overacker at Fairmont, Neb.

The Mast hose company held a meeting in Firemen's hall last evening and discussed the firemen's picnic to be held July 4. It was decided to accept the challenge issued by the Hook and Ladder company to play a game of ball at the picnic. The arrangements for the day call for two uniformed bands, a line of sports that will continue all day and dancing during the day and evening. The races will be open to everyone.

J. Storrs Mathewson and family spent the day fishing yesterday at Owens' slough east of Norfolk. They returned full of success. They provided themselves with the new automatic Standard Oil fish-hook. This species of hook is provided with a network of secret springs, which enable it to accomplish much for its happy possessor. One arrangement of springs is such that immediately on being cast into the water it grasps any other fishing tackle doing business in its vicinity and casts it out into the brush. It then stealthily approaches any fish that may be lurking in the neighborhood and rams itself down the throat of its victim. It is needless to say how many fish Storrs brought home.
