They will visit for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Hewins are proud of the little great-grandson, who is a handsome fellow. Lincoln Journal: Local members of the state bar association have been notified of the appointment of the following delegates to the meeting of the American bar association, which will be held in St. Paul August 29: Judge J. B. Barnes, Norfolk; Samuel Kinaker, Beatrice; and Professor C. D. Ayers of the state university. The appointments were made by President E. C. Calkins of Kearney. Leigh World.—H. W. Compton, director of the Leigh Concert band, tells the music editor that he has made contracts for the band for several occasions. Among them are the Norfolk Driving association for their annual races at Norfolk, August 15, 16 and 17, Sons of Hermann at Norfolk, August 19, the democratic congressional convention at Norfolk August 20, and the Neligh carnival association at Neligh, August 22, 23 and 24. The Elks held a lodge of sorrow Saturday evening over the death of two members of Norfolk lodge, R. L. Bransch, who died in Norfolk July 21, in his twenty-ninth year, and Thos. M. Ryan of Humphrey, who died in Los Angeles, Cal., July 22, in his twenty-fifth year. Judge Barnes of the supreme court pronounced the eulogy, which was an eloquent tribute to the memory of those two bright young Elks, whose untimely taking off is sincerely mourned by their brothers of the lodge. Fully 200 old soldiers passed through Norfolk, enroute from northern Nebraska homes to the national G. A. R. encampment in Minneapolis, yesterday and today. The outgoing train for Sioux City was crowded each morning with the old boys in blue, some of them walking feebly on their canes of some of them still as erect as they were when they joined the army to fight for their flag, but stepping with a less rapid gait than in the old days. The reunion is on at Minneapolis today and thousands and thousands of veterans are there to enjoy the occasion. Omaha Bee: L. J. F. Jaeger of Chadron, who will accompany the Omaha Eagles to Milwaukee and plug for next year's convention in the Gate City, is a leading candidate for grand secretary of the order. He will go into the convention with the solid backing of Nebraska, Wyoming, Iowa and Colorado, and his friends are confident that the west will pick the plum for him. Billy the Bear has been secretary of his local aerie for some time and stands prominent in the order. He has a picturesque history as a plainsman and pioneer in the cow country and later as a successful business man. Anthes & Smith have added a new rest and toilet room for women to their department store that will be appreciated. The room has been fitted up with mission furniture and everything to make the public comfortable, all modern conveniences have been installed also. This affords a nice resting place for those who become weary after shopping all the afternoon. On the whole the room has a very pleasing effect. The walls are covered with a red burlap, there is a cluster of electric lights, and on the walls are pretty pictures to divert the attention. In conjunction with this there will be installed another room for corset fitting purposes. The second annual race meeting and blooded live stock show which is to be held at O'Neill, September 5 to 7 inclusive, promises to be one of the most successful events of the kind ever held in north Nebraska. The society has offered $1,500 for speed purses and it is stated by the management that an exceedingly long list of fast horses have already entered, and as the O'Neill track is known to be one of the best in the state, excellent racing is assured. Besides the racing and other sports a blooded live stock show is to be held during the meeting and a big blooded live stock sale to be held the last day which will afford all an opportunity to buy or sell anything they have to offer in that line. Omaha Bee: The Northwestern will not rest content with its one big new freight depot, for which it is about to let the contract, but will build another just as large. One of the Northwestern officials said Saturday the first building would be finished this fall and it was the intention to build the other next spring. The second will be similar to the first and will be of the same dimensions, or 72x35 feet. It will be west of the other and parallel to it, the tracks lying between. The east one will be used for outgoing freight and the west one for incoming freight, and until both are completed the old Webster street depot will be utilized for the incoming merchandise. It is estimated the two depots will cost about $200,000. The railroad company figures that the aggregate expenditure for real estate, buildings and track extensions on the new freight terminals will in the end amount to $600,000.

P. J. FUESLER ATTENDS FAMILY REUNION IN OKLAHOMA.

HIS BROTHER HAS DONE WELL

S. F. Fuesler, Formerly a Baker of Norfolk, Has a Peach Farm at the Edge of Oklahoma City Which Was Once a Mile and a Half Out.

Norfolk people who have gone to Oklahoma City are pleased with that country, according to P. J. Fuesler, who has returned from a visit with his brother, S. F. Fuesler, at that place. He made the trip to attend a sort of family reunion, his brother from Buffalo and a sister from Newark, N. J., being present. Since returning, Mr. Fuesler has received a letter stating that his brother has just fallen from a peach tree and fractured three ribs. S. F. Fuesler was formerly in the bakery business here. He bought a small peach farm a mile and a half from the business part of Oklahoma City. Now the town has grown so that the street cars are within a block of him, and he is at the edge of the city. Mr. Fuesler saw G. M. Thompson, formerly in the shoe business and later grocery business here, who is in the real estate business at that point. W. W. Roberts and Mr. Thompson are in the same office building. Mr. Roberts said that insurance is a harder proposition there than here, because of fierce competition.

CEMENTING NEW GUTTER.

Norfolk People Have First Chance to Look at the New Drains.

The first chance to see how the new cement gutters will look along both sides of Norfolk avenue, was afforded to people this morning when Contractor M. Endres started to lay cement at the corner of Sixth and Main streets, on the south side of the street. The cement gutter is six feet wide, is deeply underlaid with sand, and is a neat, attractive affair. The excavating has been finished on both sides of Norfolk avenue, and the cement work will proceed rapidly.
