

WOULD BOUNCE MR. CARTER

MILITARY AUTHORITIES ON RESERVATION HAVE AUTHORITY.

MAY SHOOT WHEN THEY CHOOSE

Game Warden of Nebraska Recently Visited the Reservation and Was Ordered Off—Authorities at Washington Say He Has No Right There.

Lincoln News: Military officers and privates seem to be above all state law in the interpretation of their rights as made by the war department of the United States. Chief Game Warden George L. Carter has just heard from Washington that effect in reply to a complaint he sent thither several weeks ago regarding the conduct of army men on the Fort Niobrara reservation, who insolently defy arrest for shooting wild game out of season, and threaten to eject any deputy game warden who comes upon the military preserve to see that the laws of Nebraska are enforced.

The letter, which is signed by an unintelligible scrawl by an army secretary, gives the warden no comfort and informs him that the soldiers are immune from punishment no matter what the state laws may be. The communication reads:

"Dear Sir: Referring to your letter of August 16, in which you make inquiry, in effect, as to whether the fish and game laws of the state of Nebraska are operative on the military reservation at Fort Niobrara, and whether you and your deputies are or are not subject to ejection from that reservation as intruders of you attempt to enforce observance of the state fish and game laws thereon. I have the honor to advise you that the judge advocate general of the army, after discussing the legal features of the case, which was referred to him for consideration, reports as follows:

"I am therefore, of the opinion that the fish and game laws of the state of Nebraska are not operative on the military reservation of Ft. Niobrara; and it is suggested that the chief game warden of the state be so advised. If, after such notification, the attempt is made to execute the game laws within the limits of the military reservation, the warden or other officer attempting such enforcement should be ordered to desist, for the reasons above stated, and, if he persists in such attempted execution, he may be removed from the reservation."

"The views of the judge advocate general of the army, as set forth above, have been concurred in by the acting secretary of war, and by his direction are hereby communicated to you for your information."

Since the war department appears disposed to protect occupants of the reservation who deliberately violate the laws, Warden Carter and his assistants can do nothing more than to maintain watch about the borders of the reservation and make arrests where army men attempt to carry game away. This will be done, but as the reservation extends to the South Dakota line in Cherry county, it will be easy to get out that way. The officers and men stationed at Fort Niobrara not only go hunting themselves when they please, but they invite their friends to go upon the reservation and share in the sport.

Several days ago, in a case where the right to hunt within an Indian reservation out of season was involved, Warden Carter received an opinion from United States District Attorney W. S. Summers that persons on the reservation were subject to all state laws. It is believed that almost any civil tribunal would hold the same as applied to military reservation, but Warden Carter does not care to press the matter any further.

ACCIDENTS ON THE ROSEBUD

One Man Killed, Girl Bitten by Rattle Snake, Child Kicked, Bad Runaway.

Rosebud Times: The past week has been one of numerous accidents, one of which has resulted in death to a bright young man and stricken a home with grief.

The first on the list of mishaps was a runaway last Thursday afternoon. J. P. Storm had driven his team up town and left them standing for a moment on the street. The team became frightened and started off at a merry jaunt, turning the corner at the State bank, where they collided with two other vehicles causing a general smashup. Mr. Storm's team broke from the buggy during the mixup and ran about three blocks south to the Whittecan house where they were stopped. The other two teams were securely tied and were unable to get away, though they kicked and tore around at a frightful pace for several moments. Fortunately no one was hurt.

Report came to Gregory last Saturday that Glen Bottomstone of near Burke had been accidentally shot while hunting chickens in company with several others. The party were riding in a hay rack and in some manner Mr. Bottomstone's gun slipped down through the rack and was exploded the charge taking effect in the young man's head and face. A considerable portion of one side of his face was torn away and the charge penetrated into the brain, causing his death. He lived until Tuesday afternoon, at which time the grim reaper relieved him of his suffering. This was indeed a sad ending of what was to have been a day's enjoyment, and the bereaved parents and friends have the sincere sympathy of all.

Mr. and Mrs. David Jones, who have a farm near Dixon, drove out into Tripp county last Sunday, taking with them their two little daughters, on a fruit picking expedition. While they were engaged in picking grapes, and the little folks were playing near at hand, they were suddenly startled by a cry from Hazel, the older of the two, and upon investigation found a large rattle snake coiled around one of her legs. The snake was speedily thrown off and dispatched, but not until it had severely bitten the child three times. Mr. and Mrs. Jones took the children into their arms and getting into their buggy started for the nearest medical aid which was at Dixon. It took a couple of hours to make the drive and the child was in a critical condition when the doctor was reached. Though it is a serious case, the doctor believes he can effect a recovery and bring the little one through.

The baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Keiser, who live two and a half miles southeast of town, strayed away from the house and got into the barn last Saturday and was tramped upon by a team of horses before the parents became aware of his whereabouts. The child was severely bruised about the body but no bones were broken or displaced and it is thought it will recover.

SOCIAL SEASON AT HAND

FIRST DANCING PARTY OF AUTUM GIVEN LAST EVENING.

CARD PLAYERS GETTING READY

The Coming Season Promises More Than Usual Activity in Social Norfolk—Theatrical Season Has Good Things in Store for the Winter.

The social season for the autumn and winter months, has begun in Norfolk. The first of a series of dancing parties to be given by the Trinity Social guild, formally opened the season at Marquardt hall last night, and from now on there promises to be something doing pretty nearly all of the time. Card clubs are arranging their schedules and begin next week to play at their games. The Elks will give a dancing party next Friday night, another to test a concert phonograph, and a number of ladies are planning to entertain from now on.

From the gossip about town, there is every indication that the coming season in Norfolk will be about the busiest in a social way that the community has known in some years. Several large parties are already booked for the near future, and pleasures are promised for all winter long.

The theatrical season, which opened a little while ago with West minstrels, promises several good things for the season, as is shown by the fact that Mr. Walker Whiteside, the actor who opened the Auditorium here several years ago, will be here in his new play October 16. It is said that a number of other good things are booked for the local playhouse.

Norfolk dancers have not yet accepted the new decree of the dancing masters of America. Their latest edict declares for a "hop" waltz, but the long glide is still a favorite in Norfolk, if last night's party may be taken as evidence.

Events of the Week.

The opening dancing party of the season was given by the young ladies of Trinity Social guild at Marquardt hall last night and was enjoyed by a large crowd of dancers, despite the disagreeable weather. The evening was cool and ideal, in this respect, for the dance. The enthusiasm shown in the first party forecasts more interest in the mystic glide than has been manifest here for many years past. Many who spent last winter at dancing school have become more than enthusiastic and their zeal promises to add zest to the pastime. Last evening's dance was the first of a series to be given by the Trinity Social guild during the winter. Last year this organization made a neat sum from its dances.

Mrs. George D. Butterfield pleasantly entertained a few ladies yesterday afternoon at an informal six-hand euchre party, for her guest, Mrs. Burmeister of Davenport, Ia.

Mrs. Ed Wallerstedt was hostess yesterday afternoon at a company given for her sister, Miss Lindell, who is visiting in the city from Des Moines. A number of ladies were invited for the afternoon and cards was the feature of the day.

A birthday surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Case, South Norfolk, for their son George, on Wednesday evening. He was eighteen years of age on that date. Games and refreshments were features of the evening.

Miss Ruth Shaw was pleasantly surprised by members of her Sunday school class at the home of her parents on The Heights Thursday evening. The guests brought with them a token of their esteem for their teacher in the shape of a pretty pearl paper knife.

During the week occurred the marriage of Geo. Denny and Miss Martha A. Priestly, daughter of George Priestly of this city. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's father, 500 South Eighth street, Rev. J. F. Poucher officiating. The young couple have gone to Tilden to make their future home.

Miss Lottie Hay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hay, was tendered a farewell surprise party Thursday evening. Miss Hay leaves for Los Angeles, to make her home, and her friends in Norfolk took advantage of Thursday night to bid her goodbye. Games were played by the twenty-five present, after which refreshments were served.

Some of the old time friends and neighbors on the Heights got together for one of their old fashioned "jamborees" on Tuesday evening of this week, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Seymour of Lincoln, just for old time's sake. The party met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Huntington, later assembling at the Maylard home. The party did not end until along in the morning. Among other delicious refreshments, was some strong coffee. A delightful evening of it was enjoyed.

Calendar For Next Week.

"Life's Mistake" will appear at the Auditorium Wednesday night. The Elks will give an informal dancing party at the club rooms Friday night.

The West Side Whist club will open its season Friday evening.

Planter's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. D. F. Powers, a well known planter of Adair, Miss., says: "I have relied upon Chamberlain's Colic

QUEER MEETING WITH DOG

Henry Hasenpflug of Norfolk Met Lost Animal in Sioux City.

Henry Hasenpflug of Norfolk and his dog, Tige, had a queer meeting in Sioux City the other day, after the dog had disappeared in Norfolk. The disappearance of the dog in Norfolk was mysterious. Mr. Hasenpflug had no idea where the animal had gone.

Mr. Hasenpflug, with friends, was walking around Sioux City the other night after the fair. He brushed by a dog on the street. He stopped and declared that was his dog. His friend gazed him. "You don't know what you're talking about," they said. "If that dog hasn't a tag with a number 5 on it, I'll set 'em up," said Hasenpflug.

They still disbelieved. "Well, I'll prove it," he said.

"Here, Tige," he called. "Can you shake hands?" Tige did.

"Can you talk?" Tige barked.

It was Tige. How he got to Sioux City is a mystery. Hasenpflug gave the dog to a friend there.

SAW DAN PATCH GO FAST MILE.

Marvelous Performance—Sioux City Treated Guests Well.

Yes, I saw Dan Patch go a mile and it was a marvellous performance considering conditions. No other horse in the world could have duplicated his performance Wednesday of 2:02 3/4 under the circumstances. It was almost dusk when he got the word, the track was six seconds slow and heavy, a cold stiff breeze was sweeping down the stretch and the atmosphere was very chilly. Why they had to whip the gallopers beside him to hold them into the pace. If you ever saw a man pumping a hand car down a railroad grade you saw an imitation of how Dan came down the home stretch—his legs working as if they were geared to machinery with a governor attached to regulate the motion. That is how perfect he moves without a strap or weight. And yet with his tremendous stride and speed he barely touches the ground. Even in that mud he left a light, clean cut track as if he had just walked over the course. He more than deserves all the bouquets bestowed upon him. His color, disposition and conformation leave nothing to be desired.

But better than Dan Patch, better than all the sights was the good time we had, just to get away and have a holiday to ride over the country and breathe the fresh air and enjoy the fragrance and beauty of the rain-washed fields. Sioux City people opened their homes to us, otherwise what would the 50,000 visitors have done? We ate with the family and conversed with the wives and daughters on terms of equality without even the formality of an introduction. No where else in the world except in America would such a thing be possible. J. H. Mackay.
