Corn was well enough matured that the kernels could stand Jack Frost's bite without being harmed. The government thermometer, standing on a high point in the city, registered thirty-four as the minimum, but lower ground the coating of whiteness was plainly visible even after the sun came up. It is all off with the hay-fever now and sufferers from that disease are today rejoicing because they have discovered a climate in which they are safe. At 7 o'clock Friday evening, sundown, the last feast until sundown Saturday night will be partaken, and the interval will be spent in fasting and prayer. Among the orthodox Jews the strictest adherence to the principle of the day will be observed. They will neither drink nor eat from sundown Friday night till Saturday night at sundown, many stores will be closed and the day spent in prayer. The coming of the Jew to the new world was very early indeed. He came over with Columbus. Dr. Moses Kayserling, the renowned savant of Buda-Pesth, has proved that the illustrious Genoese navigator had among his crew in the three vessels which sailed from Palos, on August 3, 1492, members of the race of Abraham. One of these Jews, Roderigo Sanchez, a relative of the royal treasurer of Aragonian Spain, accompanied the expedition as veedor, or superintendent, at the special request of Queen Isabella. The ship physician and surgeon were also Jews. Sanchez was the second to espy the land of the new world. Columbus had, in fact, studied the astronomical tables of the Jewish scholar Zacuto, and landing day, Friday, Oct. 12, 1492, was—strangely enough—the Jewish day of Great Hosannas. It was like a prophecy of the new life which the oppressed Jews were to find in America, and a prediction of the constantly increasing factor which they were to become in the new empire of the west. The first definite Jewish settlement in America was made in Brazil about 1548. The first within the United States took place in 1654, when twenty-seven Jewish emigrants from Bahia, South America, arrived in New Amsterdam. The Dutch governor, Peter Stuyvesant, had something of a Jew-baiter in his nature, so that future immigrants generally settled in Newport, R. I. Another Jew, Haym Solomon, loaned over $750,000 to the cause of the revolution, which was never repaid. Colonel Isaac Franks was an aid-de-camp to Washington. W. H. Baird Promoted. W. H. Baird, formerly superintendent of the Norfolk sugar factory, has been promoted to the position of general manager of superintendents, with jurisdiction from California to New York. J. W. Rose, formerly of Norfolk, is manager of the Grand Island factory. The managers are not under Mr. Baird's supervision, he having charge of the superintendents only.

HEARST HEADS TICKET

NAMED FOR GOVERNOR BY NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

BUFFALO MEETING IS LIVELY

Nomination Comes After a Long Session in Which the Nominee Was Bitterly Attacked—Chandler for Lieutenant Governor.

Buffalo, Sept. 27.—At a session which began at 7:45 last night and continued until 2:20 this morning the Democratic state convention nominated a state ticket with William Randolph Hearst at the head of it. Mr. Hearst already was in the field as the gubernatorial nominee of the Independence League. The Democrats also took from the Independence League ticket Lewis Stuyvesant Chandler for lieutenant governor and John S. Whalen for secretary of state. The other nominees have no place on the Independence League ticket.

Mr. Hearst was nominated with 309 votes, only 226 being necessary for a choice. Congressman William Sulzer received 124 votes and John A. Dix received 17, making 450 in all.

The nomination of Mr. Hearst was made in the face of the bitterest opposition ever waged in a Democratic convention in this state. Under the guise of advocating the candidacy of Sulzer a number of Hearst's party opponents took the floor and amid storms of cheering and hissing, denounced the man they knew was to be the party's candidate in the most remarkable series of speeches ever hurled at a man to be named for the highest office at the gift of the convention. The advocates of Mr. Hearst answered these attacks, the most effective being Bourke Cockran, who declared that while Mr. Hearst was not his personal choice, the demand that he be nominated having come from every section of the state, was not to be denied.

HUGHES BY ACCLAMATION

New York Republicans Loose Little Time in Picking Ticket.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Expedition marked the second and final day of the Republican state convention. From early morning, when it became known that Charles E. Hughes of New York would be nominated for governor by acclamation, the other proceedings practically became formal and were pushed to completion with the utmost speed. The selection of the remainder of the ticket and the choice of Timothy L. Woodruff as the new state chairman were accomplished before the convention assembled.

General Stewart L. Woodford read the platform and emphasized the cardinal features of Republicanism and the features of its party administrations, both state and national. Mention of President Roosevelt in the resolutions and in speeches evoked applause.

Representative Herbert Parsons made the speech proposing the re-nomination of Lieutenant Governor M. Linn Bruce, the man he had kept from the head of the ticket, and whom he praised highly.

Events leading up to the nominations were interesting and involved innumerable conferences. When the opposition to Hughes found it impossible, or at least inadvisable, to nominate Bruce for governor and began seeking elsewhere for a candidate, defeat for the old-time leaders and victory for the new and almost unknown leaders followed almost immediately and swiftly. The understood preference of President Roosevelt for Hughes and the declaration of Governor Higgins that he was not opposing that preferred candidate, contributed materially to the result, but all this would have been unavailing had it not been for the decided stand which Mr. Parsons maintained from the time he arrived in Saratoga until the opposition to his candidate crumbled to dust.

BRYAN IN INDIAN TERRITORY

Urges Democrats to Win First Battle in New State.

McAlester, I. T., Sept. 27.—William J. Bryan arrived here on a special train and made a short speech. Mr. Bryan urged the Democrats to stand shoulder to shoulder and make the new state Democratic, center to circumference. The principal chiefs of the five civilized tribes surrounded Mr. Bryan and will escort him through the Indian territory. The gathering of Democrats here was the greatest ever held in the Indian territory.

PAVING IS ASSURED

ENOUGH SIGNATURES TO PETITION HAVE BEEN SECURED.

IT IS NOW AN ASSURED FACT

MORE THAN A HALF MILL OF PAVEMENT WILL BE LAID.

PROPERTY HOLDERS WILLING

Twenty-eight Resident Property Holders on Norfolk Avenue, Between Second and Sixth, Have Signed Seven From Bridge to Second Street

Norfolk avenue will be paved.

More than enough signers to the petition which asks for the paving ordinance, have been secured and today the paving is an assured fact.

Twenty-eight resident property holders owning property on Norfolk avenue between Second and Sixth streets, have already signed the petition, out of the fifty-one possible. This makes more than the necessary majority provided by law, and settles the matter. All that remains is for the city council to pass the ordinance.

C. E. Burnham was out canvassing the situation all day today and he has just secured the last of enough signatures to make the necessary majority.

George N. Beels is circulating a petition to pave from the bridge to Second street, thus making more than a solid half mile of paving. He has secured more than a majority of the resident property owners in that section, so that it is now a positive fact that Norfolk avenue will be paved from Sixth street to the mill.

The statutes provide that an ordinance shall be passed when a majority of the resident property owners on the street shall request it; or, if no petition is presented, the council could, by three-fourths vote, pass the ordinance and have the street paved.
