

NORFOLK IS RECOGNIZED

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT DEPOSITORY HERE NOW.

THE NOTICE CAME YESTERDAY

The Treasury Department Has Appointed a Norfolk Bank to be One of the Federal Depositories—Only One Outside Omaha or Lincoln.

[From Saturday's Daily.] Norfolk has gained another point in its development as the distributing center for the northwest. A United States depository has been established in this city. Norfolk is the only city in Nebraska, outside Omaha and Lincoln, to enjoy this distinction.

The Norfolk National bank received notice yesterday afternoon from Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, to the effect that that institution has been appointed as a depository for United States funds. The new condition was to take effect as soon as United States bonds covering the amount of deposits which can be received, were purchased. These bonds were purchased in New York this morning, following a meeting of the bank's directors yesterday afternoon and a telegraphic order to New York instructing agents to purchase the desired bonds.

The appointment of this bank as a federal depository is considered as another recognition of Norfolk as the financial center for this northwest. It will aid Norfolk banks a point in achieving their ambition to become the distributing banking center of the territory.

The creation of a depository here will mean that a portion of the idle funds of the United States government will be deposited here and later it will mean that funds from Indian agencies in this section of the west will come to Norfolk, as well as postoffice and federal court money.

President Burnham received a number of telegraphic congratulations yesterday from banking friends elsewhere who had read of the appointment in the bulletins issued by the comptroller of the treasury.

Mr. Burnham is naturally highly pleased with his success in gaining this added advantage for commercial Norfolk. He has been working toward this end for some time past and only obtained the appointment for his bank after several large obstacles had been overcome.

The establishment of the new depository here is regarded by business men as a recognition of the entire northern part of Nebraska and southern South Dakota, as well as Norfolk individually.

Norfolk has been rapidly advancing to the position of banking center for this section for the past three years. This city is admirably located for that position because the banks of Norfolk are able to ship out currency to their correspondents twenty-four hours earlier than it can be obtained from Sioux City or Omaha, and because clearances are made here a day earlier, saving to the north Nebraska banks a day's interest.

Frank Phillips, John Kaulen and William Maas of Hoskins were here to take in the show last night.

Miss Nellie Howard and aunt, Mrs. J. S. Britan, left this morning for Bellingham, Washington, for an extended visit.

Scott Holbrook returned last night from Omaha, where he has been in the Presbyterian hospital the past week. He is not much improved in health.

A party consisting of Art Weatherholt, Mr. Phillips, Miss Weatherholt and Miss Minnie Kane were over from Hoskins to attend the play last evening.

Mrs. C. E. Burnham and daughter, Miss Burnham, went to Omaha today.

They will visit with friends there and later with Mrs. C. C. McNish of Fremont.

Miss Kathryn Witzgman of Wausau, who has been visiting her brother, W. A. Witzgman, left yesterday for Creighton, to attend the Knox county teachers' association.

S. A. Teal and wife of Waterloo, Nebraska, are in the city on a visit to Anrew Teal. Mr. Teal was formerly master mechanic of the C. & N. W. shops at Missouri Valley.

Kid Hall has been on the sick list for a week, but he is feeling somewhat better today.

McClelland Hight has accepted a position as apprentice tinner in the W. W. Weaver hardware store.

E. B. Kauffmann is raising his building and putting a new foundation under it preparatory to putting in new cement walks.

Superintendent Ware of the Union Pacific was in Norfolk early this morning on an inspection trip. He came in a special train.

Mrs. Jake Baum and Mrs. A. H. Kiesau will entertain a company of ladies at 1 o'clock luncheon Friday afternoon. Euchre and flinch will be played during the afternoon.

Water was struck at a depth of four feet by the contracting company which is remodeling the gas plant. A tank will be set several feet down and pumps are kept going constantly to make digging possible.

Miss E. Lena Spear, sister of George E. Spear of Norfolk, and who visited at Mr. Spear's home for some time, was married today at Bellingham, Wash., to Herman E. Fisher.

D. B. Duffy has moved the stock of implements that were formerly at Battle Creek, into the Schwertfeger building on East Norfolk avenue. He will engage in business here in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Durland and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Utter have issued invitations for a dinner party to be given in Marguardt hall on the evening of Friday, October 26. Military euchre and flinch will occupy the evening.

Word has been received by the city clerk from O. P. Herrick, contractor for the sewer in Norfolk, stating that three cars of material have been shipped and will reach this city within a few days. He is making every effort to rush the materials so that work can begin.

The graving that was started yesterday is being rushed at fast rate and if good weather prevails it will not be long before the job is completed. The first work will be filling in Fourth street from Norfolk avenue to Madison. The first material that was laid on resembled red clay more than gravel.

There is every prospect of a large attendance of out of town livestock men for the pure blood Duroc-Jersey sale of M. Mihills to be held at his residence in this city on Saturday. Other sales in the series are being held this week and Mr. Mihills is preparing for a large crowd on the last day of the week.

Street Commissioner Richey has four squads of cement sidewalk builders at work in various parts of Norfolk today and says that he could use two or three more. They are all busy rushing the work of building the new cement walks that have recently been ordered placed. Many sidewalks will be finished this week.

Not in a long time has Norfolk been enabled to see a first class cartoonist, and the entertainment which is to be given by Alton Packard in the high school lecture course at the Methodist church this evening will undoubtedly draw a large house. Mr. Packard was formerly a newspaper and magazine cartoonist and his art is said to be clever. This will be the first number in the series, there being four others to follow.

A horse, belonging to Sam Weatherholt of Hoskins had two arteries in its leg cut last night by stepping through a hole in a crossing, this side of the Norfolk bridge at the mill dam. The horse was driven four blocks before the spurting blood was noticed. The animal was immediately taken to the Krantz livery barn where every thing was done to stop the flow of blood. Although the horse is all right this morning its condition looked very serious for a time. Much difficulty was experienced in stopping the blood.

The performance of Eugene Moore at the Auditorium tomorrow night promises to be one of the best shows at the price that has been seen here. The seats will be sold at 35, 50 and 75, and it is announced from other places that the company is one of artists. Mr. Moore is a clever young actor, little known in this section at the present time but who is beginning the building of a reputation which will enable him to play through here each year hereafter. He is said to have much ability as an actor and he will undoubtedly please his audience here tomorrow night. He will present, "Monte Cristo," and he will no doubt have a good sized house to play to.

A Certain Cure for Croup—Used for Ten Years Without a Failure.

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors and all who have used it say that it is unequalled for croup and whooping cough. For sale by Leonard the druggist.

WAS A DELIGHTFUL PLAY

WALKER WHITESIDE MADE NEW FRIENDS IN NORFOLK.

HIS SUPPORT WAS SPLENDID

"The Magic Melody," a Play Built Out Wholesome Love for Art and a Pleasing Bit of Romance, Made a Hit in This City.

Supported by the best company of players that have yet clustered about him, Walker Whiteside, who has always laid claim to a warm spot in the heart of Norfolk because he played the opening engagement in the play-house here some years ago, came back to town last night and more than delighted an audience which taxed the capacity of the Auditorium. The star appeared last night in his delightful new play, "The Magic Melody," a pretty, romantic story portraying a wholesome chain of events that at once attracted the intense interest and sympathy of the listeners. Such a marked improvement was shown in his support this year over previous occasions, that Mr. Whiteside was very nearly, though not quite, out-starred by a couple of his fellow actors. Mr. Herbert Sears, in the role of the Wall street financier, was simply immense and Richard Sherman as the Italian and Mrs. Martha George as the quaint old German woman were delightfully clever.

The story was one of a young violinist alone in America who had genius but no way of bringing it before the public. He enlisted the aid of the Wall street magnate and won the love of the financier's god-daughter. This turned the financier against the violinist and he was about to be turned down in the hope of satisfying his ambition, when it developed that the financial king was the father of the violinist, the boy's mother, once a singer, having been deserted by the moneyed man and left, blind and ill, to die. With this lever the boy was able to swing the rich man's support and won his fame.

Mr. Whiteside looked every bit the part of the young German violinist and played the part with stirring art. His clever acting, coupled with appeals to popular prejudice against the rich and unfeeling moneyed king, won for him deserved applause. His cleverness in turning points witty and artistically is that of old.

The most difficult part in the play was that of Mr. Sears in Jordan Rawker, because the sympathy of the audience was played against him. But he did his acting so splendidly that he was heartily cheered in spite of the handicap that the villain always works under. Tall and erect, with a manner that showed he knew the way of the world, his voice clean-cut and decisive, he was at once a genuine financial king and could have been mistaken for the real thing in any crowd.

The role of Pietro Gianti, the Italian, was also a difficult one but it was completely handled by Mr. Sherman.

Mrs. George, as the quaint old fashioned German woman in her home, was so gentle and sweet mannered and real that the audience loved her from the rising of the curtain to the play's end. Motherly, good natured and perfectly genuine, she early became and remained throughout one of the favorites of the stage.

Mr. Carter, as the English lord, filled well his part and is entitled to credit.

Miss Lelia Wolston hardly filled the role of a romantic young girl, and was something of a disappointment as compared with the balance of the company. Miss Shaw, as the daughter of a senator, was quite clever though a bit affected.

The play itself was one such as Norfolk people love to see and the enthusiasm aroused was enough to indicate that other first class attractions will be patronized generously when they are booked.

It was a noticeable fact that the words of the actors could be distinctly heard by the audience last night. This may have been due to the fact that the house was filled.

Among those attending were Miss Lillian Anderson of Neligh and her party of five friends, who occupied box "C." Her guests were: Clyde Anderson, Miss Margaret Wynn, Miss Daisy Maybury, Miss Nellie Mulvin and Miss Rachel Anderson.

A number of other out of town people enjoyed the play.

The meeting of the Trinity Social guild which was to have been held with Miss Clara Rudat tomorrow night, has been postponed until next week on account of the lecture Wednesday evening.

The "Blue Jay" social held at the I. O. O. F. hall was largely attended last night, the proceeds amounting to several dollars. A musical program was held and supper was served. A blue jay that was advertised to be given to each patron was in the shape of a neat little card with a letter "J" printed in blue ink.

Mrs. Herman Pasewalk returned last night from Merville, Iowa, where she has been visiting her mother. There were nine brothers and sisters at home, it being the first time they had all been together, as two of them were born after Mrs. Pasewalk left home. A family reunion was held. Some of the brothers and sisters had not seen each other in many years.

A few of the band boys played on the streets last night before the speaking in the Auditorium. Although several members of the band were absent, the boys, by getting a man from another town to help them out, did fairly well, notwithstanding the circumstances.

A meeting was held after the concert at which they decided to have an experienced leader and cornetist from Missouri, whom they have been corresponding with, come and take charge of the band. He will have charge of no other band but the Norfolk organization, but will perhaps give private lessons to any desiring to take, as he is an especially good instructor. The band will be open to no engagements for a considerable time, as they desire to get in good shape, get some new instruments and drill new players before appearing in public again.

Paul Nordwig's bird dog showed too much faithfulness to a trust to suit Farmer Recker, living north of town, yesterday. Mr. Nordwig had been up the river the day before and lost the dog. He returned without the animal. The dog, losing his master, took up his position beside a boat which had been used in crossing the stream at the Recker farm, and stayed there. Even the farmhands and boys about the place were unable to get into their boat because the dog held such close guard over it. Asa K. Leonard rescued the boat by an accident. He was in the neighborhood yesterday looking for a camping spot. Boys told him of a strange dog that was standing guard over that boat. He investigated and found Nordwig's hunter, Mr. Leonard easily called off the animal and brought it home to Mr. Nordwig, so that the boat was released to its proper owners.

DR. ALDEN LEFT HOSPITAL

FORMER SUPERINTENDENT TOOK NOON TRAIN TO PIERCE.

WILL SPEND WINTER IN SOUTH

He Will Go to Either Mexico or California—Feels Pretty Well—He Will Get the Salary of $600 Due for the Summer's Superintendency.

Dr. J. M. Alden, formerly superintendent of the Norfolk insane hospital and who relinquished claim to that position a few days ago, left the institution today for Pierce, accompanied by Mrs. Alden. He will spend the winter either in Mexico or in California.

It has been settled that the salary of $600 due to the superintendent of the institution between the date when Governor Mickey ordered the salary of Dr. Alden stopped and the date when Dr. Alden relinquished the position, will go to Dr. Alden. The matter was taken up by the state board of public lands and buildings at Lincoln and informally discussed. A decision was rendered by Attorney General Norris Brown relative to the claim. The board waited until a written waiver for the salary should be received from Dr. Young, the new superintendent, who was appointed last summer. The written waiver was sent today from this city and therefore the salary will be issued to Dr. Alden.

The opinion of Attorney General Brown holds that Dr. Young having performed no services nor presented a claim for pay, Dr. Alden was entitled to the pay.

Dr. Alden was feeling pretty well in health when he took the train for Pierce.
