

ATE DISEASED PORK; DIES

SAUNDERS COUNTY FARMER SUC-CUMBS IN FREMONT HOSPITAL.

WIFE AND TWO OTHERS SICK

Trichinosis Was the Cause of Death. The Pork Had Been Butchered on the Farm and One Fatality. With Others Possible, Has Resulted.

Fremont, Neb., Nov. 16.—Special to The News: Henry Hien, a Saunders county farmer, died today in a Fremont hospital of trichinosis.

His wife and two others are also sick. They all ate diseased pork, butchered on the farm.

TUESDAY FINDINGS.

Mrs. Charles Green of Hoskins was a Norfolk visitor yesterday. Fred Vossberg and C. E. Pilger of Plainview were in the city Tuesday.

F. Moore of Creighton was in the city on business during the afternoon. J. Whalen was a business visitor in the city Tuesday morning from Madison.

Miss Flora Palmer of Ute, Iowa, is in the city for a few days' visit with friends.

Dr. Pancoast left last night for a few days' hunting in the Wood Lake country.

E. Hensel of Wayne was a business visitor in the city during the morning.

B. A. Marshall and A. C. Miller of Arlington spent the night in the city enroute north.

G. W. Drulliner and family leave today for Benkelman, where they will make their future home.

Mrs. J. H. Allen left for Cedar Rapids last night, where she will visit her son and brother for a few days.

Mrs. Geo. Christoph, who intended to meet Mr. Christoph in Lincoln today, was unable to go on account of the illness of their baby.

Mrs. Guy Warner and children, who have been visiting at the home of H. Warner in Warnerville, leave tomorrow for their home in Spaulding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Leik are in the city from Estherville, Iowa. They will visit for a short time at the home of Mrs. Leik's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Howe.

J. E. Jenal, wife and daughter from Hartington and F. W. Jenal and wife from Bloomfield stopped in Norfolk Tuesday on their way to Pierce, where they go to attend the wedding of Miss Pay Hutton and Ed Jenal, which takes place Wednesday.

E. E. Harter left at noon for his home in Naperville, Ill. Mr. Harter expects to return to Norfolk the first of the year to make this his home. He likes the fresh air of Nebraska and his many friends in Norfolk will be glad of his determination.

Miss Lewis, an inmate at the state insane hospital here from Columbus, dies at the institution yesterday and the remains have been taken to Columbus for burial.

A Sioux City paper contains the information that a marriage license was issued there yesterday to Clyde Eiseley of Anoka, Neb., and Miss Daisy E. Corey of Lincoln.

Mr. Eiseley is a hardware merchant at Anoka and is one of the well known business men of Boyd county. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Eiseley of Norfolk and for many years made his home here.

Mrs. A. Randklev is quite ill with quinsy.

The Wednesday club will meet with Mrs. W. H. Butterfield.

The Madison county teachers' institute will be held in Norfolk the last week of next August.

The Christian Endeavor society will hold an informal social at the home of Rev. W. J. Turner this evening.

The West Side Hose company will meet tonight at the city hall at 8 o'clock, by order of President Jonas.

Miss Lulu Lamb has been very sick with appendicitis for the past few days and an operation may be necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reynolds have issued invitations for a dinner party to be given Thursday evening, November 22.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Greene and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Davenport have issued invitations for a dinner party to be given Friday evening, November 23.

Miss Laura Durland was the victim of a surprise party last night. The guests came in masked costumes. Each was indulged in during the evening.

A fine new hotel range has been installed in the Eagle restaurant. It is modern in every way and is something new in the way of a stove in Norfolk.

Miss Thorngate has arrived from Ord, Neb., to take her place as teacher of mathematics in the Norfolk high school. She assumed the duties of her position Tuesday.

John Bridge, who has just returned from Bonesteel where he had charge of the wholesale store of the Sugar City Cereal mills, has decided to take a position in the mills here and has already begun work.

Walker Whiteside's theatrical company, starring Lawrence Evart in "We Are King," has been booked for the Auditorium for next Monday night. This company is owned by Mr. Whiteside and is presenting the play in which Mr. Whiteside scored such a success last season.

Geo. B. Christoph sends word from Dodge that he found the Volgetanz Drug company had been running contrary to the law for the past six months. He fined them $10, and it will be necessary for them to close up their business at once unless they obtain a registered pharmacist.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Flynn, who resided for a time in Des Moines, have moved to Valentine, Neb., where Ed has accepted a position in a drug store. Mrs. Flynn has not yet left Des Moines but will go in a few days, and stop off in Norfolk on her way to Valentine, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fox.

Miss Lizzie Schelly, Miss Minnie Verge, Miss Nettie Kenow, Fred Hellerman, John Schelly and Oscar Hauptl were a party of young people who went to Battle Creek last night to attend a dance given by the Catlin orchestra. The young gentlemen returned on the early morning train and the young ladies remained until noon.

The funeral of Ezekiel Rowlett was held Tuesday at 10 o'clock in Warnerville. Mr. Sterner, the minister on the Norfolk circuit and pastor of the church at Warnerville, had charge of the services. Interment was in the Madison cemetery. Tom Rowlett, a son from Oklahoma, arrived last night. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and daughter from David City were also here to attend the funeral. Mrs. Phillips is a daughter of the deceased.

A new sounding board has been placed in the rear of the Auditorium to help cure the echo evil in the playhouse and Manager Pedersen will continue his experiments until the theater is perfect in this regard. Curtains are to be hung at the top of the gallery in order to deaden the sounds which have heretofore crashed against the walls and then bounced back. Further than that, a set of sound wave wires will be strung so as to throw the sound into the rear of the dress circle, underneath the balcony. After the sounds are perfected, Mr. Pedersen will repair the side walls, redecorate them, trim the woodwork in white and carpet the theater. With these improvements effected, Norfolk will have one of the best theaters in the state. The stage is now as large as most stages, and all that had handicapped the playhouse in past years has been the sound imperfection.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

FURNITURE STORE SOLD

CHARLES H. JOHNSON STOCK CHANGES HANDS.

KIESAU & RANDKLEV BUYERS

The New Firm Are Now in Possession, Mr. Kiesau Buys Building, and Firm Buys Stock—Mr. Randklev Will Resign Present Position.

The Charles H. Johnson furniture store, building and stock, has changed hands. Kiesau & Randklev have bought the stock and A. H. Kiesau has purchased the building. The new firm are now in possession of the establishment and will begin an invoice immediately.

The new owners are A. H. Kiesau and A. Randklev, two of Norfolk's prominent citizens. Mr. Kiesau is president of the Harper Medicine company and has just recently retired from the Kiesau Drug company, in which business he was engaged here for sixteen years. Mr. Randklev has been a well known and substantial commercial traveler in this territory for Wmott-Howard company of St. Paul, wholesale crockery dealers, during the past six years. During that time he has made a large and valuable acquaintance all over northern Nebraska, as well as in the city of Norfolk, and the reputation of both members of the new firm for business judgment and integrity will make them at once a strong factor in Commercial Norfolk.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

way and turned up Phillip avenue, then up Third street passing Norfolk avenue and on up to Braasch. Here he turned and went east to North Second street and south again to Norfolk avenue where he turned and went up Norfolk avenue to the starting point, turned the team around, drove down and stopped exactly in front of where the article was hidden. F. A. Blake-man, one of the committeemen, held him by the hand while Prof. Griffith led him to the spot. There were two pairs of boots hanging together and he felt only twice before he found the article. It will be remembered that the team was kept going at the highest speed possible, passing several teams enroute. It was a marvelous feat indeed and all who saw it were highly pleased. Griffith followed the route exactly, even to the tracks made by the vehicle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Flynn, who resided for a time in Des Moines, have moved to Valentine, Neb., where Ed has accepted a position in a drug store. Mrs. Flynn has not yet left Des Moines but will go in a few days, and stop off in Norfolk on her way to Valentine, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fox.

Miss Lizzie Schelly, Miss Minnie Verge, Miss Nettie Kenow, Fred Hellerman, John Schelly and Oscar Hauptl were a party of young people who went to Battle Creek last night to attend a dance given by the Catlin orchestra. The young gentlemen returned on the early morning train and the young ladies remained until noon.

The funeral of Ezekiel Rowlett was held Tuesday at 10 o'clock in Warnerville. Mr. Sterner, the minister on the Norfolk circuit and pastor of the church at Warnerville, had charge of the services. Interment was in the Madison cemetery. Tom Rowlett, a son from Oklahoma, arrived last night. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and daughter from David City were also here to attend the funeral. Mrs. Phillips is a daughter of the deceased.

A new sounding board has been placed in the rear of the Auditorium to help cure the echo evil in the playhouse and Manager Pedersen will continue his experiments until the theater is perfect in this regard. Curtains are to be hung at the top of the gallery in order to deaden the sounds which have heretofore crashed against the walls and then bounced back. Further than that, a set of sound wave wires will be strung so as to throw the sound into the rear of the dress circle, underneath the balcony. After the sounds are perfected, Mr. Pedersen will repair the side walls, redecorate them, trim the woodwork in white and carpet the theater. With these improvements effected, Norfolk will have one of the best theaters in the state. The stage is now as large as most stages, and all that had handicapped the playhouse in past years has been the sound imperfection.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

SNOWING AT VALENTINE

SEVERE STORM IS REPORTED FROM WEST END OF STATE.

BELIEVE IT IS MOVING EAST

Northwestern Railroad Headquarters Here Received Word That There Were Indications of Snow at Valentine Sunday Night.

Valentine, Neb., Nov. 12.—A severe snow storm is raging here today. The storm, it is believed, is moving eastward.

General Superintendent C. C. Hughes of the Northwestern railroad, received word Sunday night that there were indications of snow at Valentine, but had received no report of snow late Monday.

The new owners are A. H. Kiesau and A. Randklev, two of Norfolk's prominent citizens. Mr. Kiesau is president of the Harper Medicine company and has just recently retired from the Kiesau Drug company, in which business he was engaged here for sixteen years. Mr. Randklev has been a well known and substantial commercial traveler in this territory for Wmott-Howard company of St. Paul, wholesale crockery dealers, during the past six years. During that time he has made a large and valuable acquaintance all over northern Nebraska, as well as in the city of Norfolk, and the reputation of both members of the new firm for business judgment and integrity will make them at once a strong factor in Commercial Norfolk.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.

"We will carry a very complete line of furniture," said one of the new firm today. "We will stock up the store with a line of goods whose high quality will be something of which Norfolk can be proud."

Mr. Johnson, it is said, will leave Norfolk, though his plans for the future are not definite. He has been in business here for a good many years.

"We realize that Norfolk is the natural retail center of a large territory, and we intend to develop this territory in our line of business," said the new firm today.

Mr. Randklev will resign his position from the wholesale firm with which he has been so long associated, and will assume active management of the store as soon as three weeks' more of work on the road is finished.</