TO BANQUET JUDGE BOYD

RESIDENT COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS WILL ENTERTAIN.

TWO DAYS AFTER CHRISTMAS

On Thursday, December 27, Resident Drummers Will Give a Banquet for Congressman-elect J. F. Boyd of the Third District.

Congressman-elect J. F. Boyd of the Third district will be guest of honor at a reception and banquet to be tendered him by the resident traveling men of Norfolk on Thursday night, December 27.

The place for the banquet will be announced later. The following committee, which has been selected to make the arrangements, insures a successful function: George H. Spear, L. E. Wallerstedt, I. J. Johnson, D. D. Martindale and C. E. Greene.

Details are now being completed. The date was selected because, being two days after Christmas, all of the drummers of this territory will be in town.

Norfolk people know that when the traveling men attempt to do anything, they do it right and this will be no exception. The banquet invitation has been accepted with pleasure by Judge Boyd.

A few days ago a suggestion was made by a Norfolk citizen that the Commercial club, an organization that has been in existence for some time for the purpose of doing things for Norfolk's public welfare, ought to give a banquet to Congressman-elect Boyd and others. The drummers are all here, however, and beat the local club to it with ease.

HIT BY TOMATO CAN.

Grocery Salesman, Looking in Another Direction, Was Laid Out. Emil Mathes suffered a very painful accident yesterday while working in a grocery store. Another clerk was tossing cans of tomatoes down from an upper deck in the store to Mathes, who was catching them. His attention was distracted for a moment from his work while a can was in the air and it struck him squarely in the forehead. He was unconscious for a few minutes from the blow. It took several stitches to sew up the ugly gash.

Neligh, Neb., Nov. 30.—Special to The News: The Thanksgiving football game which was to have taken place between Wayne and Neligh, was declared off for the reason that several of the Neligh players were either absent or on the sick list. #### FARMER BADLY MANGLED

Jacob Litzo of Bonesteel Has Serious Experience With Runaway. Bonesteel, S. D., Nov. 30.—Special to The News: Jacob Litzo, living two miles southeast of town, was severely injured as the result of his team running away while hitched to a binder. Mr. Litzo was making preparations for corn shellers and hitched his team to the binder without putting the bridle on them. The team became frightened by the rattling of the machine and ran over him. The flesh in his right leg was badly mangled but apparently no bones were broken. Several bones were broken in his left leg, his nose was broken and he was severely bruised in many places. Dr. Kenaston, who treated the injured man, says that he does not think Mr. Litzo is seriously injured unless he is affected internally.

Neligh, Neb., Nov. 30.—Special to The News: Reports of cattle dying in the northeast part of Antelope county from cornstalk disease are current, in one case a man losing five head. ### NORTHWEST COAL SUPPLY

NORFOLK HAS ENOUGH FUEL TO LAST ANOTHER MONTH.

TOWNS NORTH AND WEST SHORT

Ainsworth Had Not a Pound of Coal Wednesday Morning and Soft Coal Sold at $20 Per Ton in Gregory, S. D., According to a Drummer.

[From Friday's Daily.] Norfolk has enough of a coal supply to last for another month, a number of cars having been recently received. Not so favorable is the situation to the northwest, according to a commercial traveler who has just returned from a trip in that section. He states that there is a serious coal shortage in many towns and that there is little of the fuel being hauled on account of the car shortage. "At Ainsworth Wednesday morning," he said, "there was not a pound of coal in the town. One car arrived that day. At Gregory, S. D., last Saturday morning soft coal was selling at $20 per ton and only 300 or 400 pounds could be bought by any one person."

COLD WAVE COMING

Weather Man Forecasts "Decidedly" Colder for Saturday.

A cold wave is coming. That was the warning issued by the weather man Friday morning.

The area of low pressure and storm having passed on to the south, a circle of extremely high pressure atmosphere, with all the moisture squeezed out of it and cold because it is heavy, is due from the north. This was indicated in Norfolk Friday by the wind that blew from north to south, or from the high pressure air into the storm that has gone on to the southeast. The weather man predicts "decidedly" colder, with fair skies. This decidedly colder will not tend to make the fuel situation in the northwest any more encouraging.

A new weather man in Chicago sent out the bulletin for Friday. Forecaster Cox left Chicago Wednesday for a two months' trip through Europe, where he will put in the time studying European weather methods. His place is filled during his absence by Mr. Biglow from the Wisconsin state station.

CONDUCTOR POCKETED REBATES

Northwestern Railroad Has Discharged Man For That Offense.

For not turning in his rebate checks and the money that went with them, a conductor on this division of the Northwestern railroad has just been dismissed from the service. In an investigation that was held it was shown that the man had been receiving the usual rebate fee where passengers paid cash fares and had, instead of sending these fees into the auditing department, pocketed the sums represented. Conductor Hedge, who had been in the service for some time as freight conductor and who ran on a train in the south Platte country, with headquarters at Fremont, has been discharged and is now engaged in other work.

THREE DEAD TRAINS.

Queen Incident in Railroading Occurred at Johnston.

A rather unusual incident in a railroad way occurred at Johnston, west of Ainsworth, on Wednesday. A local westbound freight train was stalled at Johnston because the steel gang, which is stringing 72-pound rails from Long Pine to the Black Hills, had torn up a quarter mile of track. The local freight waited for the stretch of track to be replaced and then found it impossible to go further because there was no water at Johnston for the engine. The engine thereupon cut loose, left the local freight on the main track, and ran west to get water at the next town. Meanwhile train No. 116, from Deadwood, arrived at Johnston from the west and found the local freight blocking the track. At this point No. 116 had hoped to get water and, falling, "died" in its tracks. A little later another train from the east arrived and died for want of water.

There were three dead trains standing in line, none able to move. A solution was reached when two engines from Long Pine were sent out and brought the whole three trains back to the Pine. Train No. 116 arrived at Johnston at 10 a. m. and reached Ainsworth, the next town east, at 6 that night.

WAS WITH SHAFTER.

Major McLaughlin of Fort Randall Tells of Old Days.

Fort Randall, S. D., Nov. 27.—Editor Norfolk News: Gen. Shafter was a particular friend of mine. I remember one time when he was stationed on the Rio Grande river or rather Fort Clark, Texas, at the time the Indios (Lapans) were making great havoc on the Texas border. Shafter commanded at Fort Clark and without consulting general or war department ordered six companies of the Eighth cavalry and two of the Tenth cavalry (colored) to be supplied with rations for six days and the necessary equipment and in less than thirty minutes he was in the saddle and headed the command for the Rio Grande river. He was the first one to swim his horse and your humble servant at his side. After the command crossed he took up the march and marched till sundown, but no sight of the Lapans came until about 4 p. m. of the second day we sighted the Indians, when General Shafter ordered a charge. We captured twenty-seven Indians and 980 head of horses, mules and ponies, which were returned to our supply camp on the river. Shafter, not content, marched the command about 175 miles through Mexico when we met in the shape of resistance 700 of the Mexican troops commanded by Colonel Artavia and formed in line of battle. Shafter was equal to the occasion and gave the command left forth and formed into lines and proceeded toward the Mexican command, making, through the interpreters, the inquiry as to what he had his troops formed for, but the commanding officer of the Mexican troops only said, "For nothing." If there was any insult given on that occasion Shafter would prove himself a General Scott. He never reformed the command into company column until the Mexicans left the field. I was at General Shafter's side all the time. Shafter, unlike other officers, was not selfish. I was on many scouts with him in Texas and old Mexico and when we would sometimes be twenty-two hours without water for man or animal, when we would find water he would sit on his saddle and command the troops to fill their canteens and when this was done he would get down and fill his own canteen, which he had at all times slung on the saddle. "Now men, water your horses." It was first man and horse afterward. Such were General Shafter's traits. If I could compose myself to write I could give you a force history of him, especially when I was with his command in Texas. I have had many letters from him when he was in the islands, also from Chicago where he commanded before he was ordered to California and since his retirement, from his home where he departed his last. I can truthfully say that General Shafter had no fear. He was brave before his odds as shown to me at many places when he could well avoid danger he was the first one to the truth.

Yours respectfully,
John H. McLaughlin,
