

WILL CLEAN UP CITY JAIL

WATER AND PAINT WILL BE UNSPARINGLY APPLIED.

MAYOR DURLAND WAS SHOCKED

Norfolk's Jail Never Was Intended to be Attractive, But it is at Least Going to be Clean—Chief Flynn Will Be On the Job.

A spring housecleaning in the city jail!

One of the first acts of the Durland administration will be to thoroughly overhaul the city jail. The Norfolk jail never was intended to be attractive but it is at least going to be clean.

Chief of Police John Flynn on taking office this week visited the jail and reported that it was filthy. Mayor Durland went to look for himself. The mayor was shocked. He said that blankets and mattresses in the jail would not make decent bedding for a respectable horse.

So the old jail is going to have a cleaning. It is going to feel the touch of water and smell the odor of fresh paint. New furnishings are to be put in the iron cage cells. The work of putting the jail into decent condition will be under the direction of Chief Flynn. He has started in by having the tight board fence about the jail put in such condition that it will keep people away from the jail windows.

Not Competing With Hotels.

But the Norfolk jail is not going to compete with the hotels. It is not going to be so clean and tidy that the officers will fear to turn in the wayward "bum" lest he soil its spotless whiteness; but the jail is going to be put in such condition that it can not be pointed out as a disgrace to the city.

A city jail is not a place where convicted prisoners are long confined. People thrown into its confines are largely "suspects"—people presumably innocent in the eyes of the law until convicted. People wrongly and rightly charged are locked in the city jail—and if they are finally branded as "guilty" they are usually advanced to more attractive quarters in the county jail.

City jails are said to be nearly uniform in being unclean and badly kept. In Norfolk the new administration thinks that the general rule ought to be smashed in favor of a clean exception. So Chief Flynn is going to clean 'er up and trust to his Irish ingenuity to find ways of counteracting any breeze of popularity that might threaten to swamp the jail quarters with steady boarders.

Fireman Thomas Coffee experienced a very narrow escape while on a freight engine between Long Pine and Ainsworth. The coupling pin between the engine and tender broke, the engine rushing away from the rest of the train. Mr. Coffee, who at the time of the break, was standing over the coupling, fell on the rail and was pushed off the rail by the brake beam on the tender. The train was running about twenty miles an hour at the time of the break, and fully six cars passed over the spot where Mr. Coffee fell on the rail. Mr. Coffee sustained a few injuries about the body, but none of these will prove to be of a serious character.

A committee of Norfolk business men went to Omaha on the early train in response to a telegram received late yesterday announcing that a conference of railroad officials regarding a proposed union station in Norfolk would be held today. Those who went were A. J. Durland, chairman of the committee from the Commercial club on the depot matter, and George D. Butterfield and W. N. Huse. Mr. Durland, who received the notice at a late hour, made an effort to get a delegation of a dozen or so but it was impossible for many business men to get away on such short notice. The conference will be held between Vice-President Mohler of the Union Pacific and General Manager Walters of the Northwestern. General Superintendent Braden of the Northwestern accompanied the committee.

JARMER HAD ONLY $14.50.

Slain Man's Purse, Sealed With Own Blood, Contained Little.

Wherever the money, which Herman Boche said vanished from his grasp on the night of the shooting went, it was not found on Frank Jarmer when his body was examined on the morning of the shooting. In a wallet, sealed with his own blood showing that it had been untouched, the sum of $14.50 was found. With the few dollars which it was shown that Jarmer spent on the night in question the sum found tallied exactly with the amount that Jarmer's cash drawer showed he took with him on leaving the saloon.

SEWER SYSTEM COMPLETE

MATTER OF ACCEPTANCE IS NEXT STEP.

ONLY CLEANING UP REMAINS

Mayor Durland is Now Familiarizing Himself With the Details of the Contract Under Which the Sewer Has Been Built—Cost $36,000.

The Norfolk sewer system is virtually completed. Only the incidental work of cleaning up remains. The question of the city accepting the sewer system will come before the city council meeting at the mid-month meeting on Thursday evening, May 16.

Contractor O. P. Herrick of Sioux City will be in the city during the week. Meanwhile Mayor Durland, under whose administration the sewer system is to be accepted, is spending part of his time familiarizing himself with the terms and conditions of the sewer contract entered between the city and Contractor Herrick.

The cost of the sewer will not amount to over $36,000, it is stated. Approved bills for the recent work have not yet been sent before the council. Last spring the city voted $40,000 in bonds to cover the cost of the sewer construction. It was necessary to discount the bonds in selling them on account of the low rate of interest carried. Contractor Herrick, having agreed to accept the bonds in payment for the sewer, standing for the greater part of the discount.

The acceptance of the sewer system, when fully completed with the city streets restored to their normal condition, falls on the city council acting on the advice and official report of the city engineer. The council meeting is Thursday evening. It is quite possible that some hitch in the final understanding between the city and the contractor may arise over the question of assessing the cost of alterations in the water mains and other similar matters hovering in the air.

Mr. Walker, who lives south of the Junction and at whose farm the incubator fire occurred one day last week, disclaims any responsibility for the fact that the fire department was called out for the blaze. The Walker home is located considerably beyond the fire limits so that the run of the department to the place was useless. Mr. Walker says, however, that the alarm resulted from an effort to telephone to a neighbor for assistance, the call being mistaken for a general alarm.

The last of the special services in the chapel car series at the Baptist church was held Sunday evening at the Baptist church. During the early hours of Sunday morning the restaurant man said he had placed his cook in charge of the restaurant. His loss from the cook's labors with the cash box would amount to about $15 he thought. A warrant was issued for the man's arrest after the "get-away" had been accomplished. Constable J. H. Conley, Chief John Flynn and other local officers have an eye peeled for the fugitive cook who is wearing the constable's good name and carrying Deupree's ready cash.

The new commissioner is giving his attention at present to repairing city property and cleaning out the culverts about the city. What work is necessary on the streets will be determined by the council committee of streets and alleys.

TWO PLEAD GUILTY TO ROSEBUD FRAUD

(From Monday's Daily.)
B. F. PETER AND C. VAN TRES ARE FINED.

BUCHOLZ HEADS LIST.

Former Norfolk Banker's Opinion Carries Weight in Omaha.

W. H. Bueholz, a Norfolk banker, is placed at the head of a column of interviewed financiers in the Omaha Bee, regarding the possibilities of a wool market in Omaha. Concerning Mr. Bueholz, who apparently has established unusual prestige for himself in Omaha, the Bee says:

"Relative to the proposed establishment of the central wool market of the United States at Omaha W. H. Bueholz, cashier of the Omaha National bank, said Friday evening after reading the account of the proposed movement in The Bee:

"I am heartily in favor of such an enterprise and the movement will receive the support of the Omaha National bank. I have no doubt a great wool exchange could be established here and would almost equal the importance of the grain exchange. I am satisfied the banks of our city would not only lend their moral support to such an enterprise, but would consider wool as very fine collateral. The clip comes at the time of the year when funds are unemployed to a certain extent and all banks would have money to loan. From a banking standpoint the movement commends itself to me very heartily and I hope the business interests of the city will take it upon themselves to push the proposition toward immediate success."

MAIL TIED UP.

Astonishing Growth of a California Town Has Seen No Change in P. O. Berkeley, Cal., May 11.—Postmaster George Schmidt discussed the postal situation before the members of the Palo Alto Park Improvement association last night. Schmidt asserted that the service was the worst in the United States; that the force was short eleven carriers and eight clerks and that the pay was so small that he was afraid he would lose those now on duty. He said it was impossible to get anyone except incompetents to take the civil service examination or to apply for positions.

Said Schmidt: "The women in my office work twelve hours daily and I have spent $1,400 out of my own pocket during the last twelve months in hiring extra help that was indispensable, but for which the United States government would not pay. There are sacks of mail in that postoffice that came before Christmas and have not been opened yet. Two years may elapse before we can reach them. I have written to the postoffice department at Washington, about this many times, but in vain."

"The postoffice department seems to think that the great increase in our business is imaginary. Sometimes they think it is a temporary condition, caused by the presence here of several thousand persons, who were burned out in San Francisco a year ago and are camping in Berkeley. They cannot understand that the population should have made a permanent increase of more than fifty per cent in a year."

Atkinson Items.

The baseball season will soon be in good working condition. The following have been elected by popular majority. Thos. Campbell as the manager, Mr. Galloway and Mr. W. B. Arbanbright as finance committee, and the players are yet to be named. Several ways have been successfully tried as means of raising money, and at present the team is well supplied in that particular. They will later purchase suits and supplies for work. The new Atkinson village board has already peaceable possession of the town and everything is passing along nicely. C. E. Havens is the chairman. During the past week one of the oldest buildings in the town has been moved into the street, to give place to new improvements. A. T. Hart will have when the new building is finished one of the most up-to-date stores along the line. Geo. Farnell is the workman in charge of moving the old building, and was very successful in the same. It now stands in the street, where Mr. Hart will continue to do business till the new building of pressed brick is completed on the corner.

At the Presbyterian church occurred the public installation of Rev. Jos. Angell, the new pastor of this place, who is recently from Monroe, this state. The following ministers were in attendance: Rev. F. Hammond of Lynch, Rev. Samuel Light of Stuart, Rev. Mr. MacEachern of Oakdale, and Rev. F. C. Hulthorst of O'Neill. Mrs. Hammond of Lynch was present with her husband, driving across the country. Mrs. Hulthorst of O'Neill was also a visitor. The service was very impressive. The family of the resident pastor are at present visiting in Ohio, but will soon be at home in Atkinson.

Miss Millar, assistant principal in the Atkinson high school, is at present representing the Eastern Star lodge of this place at Lincoln, in the grand lodge being held at that place. She has been re-elected to the work in the school as during the past year.

JAIL IS EMPTY.

Last of the Witnesses Sallies Forth Under Bond.

The last of the women witnesses held in the Boche case gave an additional hitch to her skirts Friday afternoon and, having deposited a convincing amount of cash for her temporary absence, sallied forth from the city jail to round up the necessary $500 bond to guarantee her appearance at the Boche trial in the district court. When the last of the Boche witnesses vanished through the jail door the city jail was left in lonesome emptiness.

MUST SELL ENTIRE BOND ISSUE

Chicago Firm Will Buy All or None of Norfolk School Bonds.

Secretary H. C. Matrau of the Norfolk board of education yesterday received a certified check of $1,000 from the Chicago firm of Trowbridge, Neve & Co. to back up the company's successful bid on the $24,000 high school bond issue. The company requires that board furnish a satisfactory history of the bonds for the inspection of an attorney on the point of the legality of the issue.

The action of the Chicago firm in supporting their bid on the bonds at four and a half percent interest and the opinion of Norfolk attorneys secured since the meeting of the board supports the course of the board in voting to accept a bid on bonds bearing a rate of interest a half percent less than the five percent authorized in the bond election. Norfolk attorneys say that while the rate of interest authorized cannot be expected, a maximum limit is merely imposed. The bid accepted provides for the sale of the entire $24,000 issue at four and a half per cent, less accrued interest, to the Chicago firm for $24,341. The next best bid provided for the purchase of five percent bonds at $1,260 premium.

The bond sale and the insurance received will place something like $29,000 in the board's hands.
