A Norfolk drayman was fined $1 and costs—the total sum amounting to over $5—by Police Judge Eiseley in police court yesterday, the drayman having failed to display his city license number on his dray. A city ordinance requires that all drays, hacks and like vehicles pay a license fee and that the number of the license shall be prominently displayed. One Norfolk dray owner did not heed Chief of Police Flynn's published notice to display license numbers and prosecution followed. A number of other city ordinances have been re-arranged for enforcement.

It will be built near the present site of the old church north of the city, the present structure being moved to one side. The contract price for the new church is $16,370. Complete it will probably cost the congregation about $20,000.

William Bluecher, Jr., a young man of sixteen years, died at 7 o'clock this morning at the home of his father, William Bluecher, on South Fifth street. Death resulted from consumption. Will Bluecher had been a student at the Norfolk business college, where he gained a reputation as a bright and industrious student. At the time illness compelled him to give up his work some two months ago, he was assisting in the instruction of bookkeeping and other work at the college. The young man would have been seventeen on November 22, was born in Norfolk and was a member of Christ Lutheran church. The funeral arrangements will be announced. Interment will take place in the cemetery east of the city where his mother is buried.

The dandelion has won the first skirmish at Prospect Hill cemetery and while Tuesday's sun set upon many deceased dandelions thousands of the little yellow heads still peered above the earth at the cemetery to the north of town. The same rain that brought the yellow flowers forth with renewed vigor Tuesday morning put a damper on the spirit of the human army of invaders that it had been planned to send against the Prospect Hill cemetery dandelions Tuesday. Believing that all citizens should unite in the extermination of the common pest, the cemetery committee on grounds had issued a declaration of war against the dandelions and a call for a general "dandelion bee" at the cemetery grounds. It had been planned to have a basket picnic at the cemetery Tuesday and a day's warfare against the yellow pest that mars the cemetery. Plans for the holiday battle against the dandelion were brought to naught by the rain that drenched the cemetery grounds. A man and a boy represented the anti-dandelion army during the early part of Tuesday morning and while reinforcements came during the day the force was never large enough to seriously threaten the position of the dandelions or occasion much alarm in their ranks.

STREET CASE TO HIGHER COURT

Supreme Court Grants Senator Allen's Motion For Appeal.

The state supreme court has granted the motion filed by former United States Senator W. V. Allen of Madison in the Norfolk street closing injunction case for an appeal to the United States supreme court and the case has now been taken into the United States supreme court jurisdiction, the Nebraska court's judgment being superceded. Senator Allen has sent notices to Attorneys Mapes, Tyler and Robertson of Norfolk, who appeared in the case as representatives of the council a year ago, citing them to appear in Washington next winter to argue the case before the United States supreme court.

Senator Allen's appeal is based upon the allegation that the city council, in voting to close a street, would be violating the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution which provides that private property shall not be confiscated for private use and that private property shall not be confiscated for public use without just compensation. He claims that closing the street would be confiscating private property either for private use, or for public use without compensation.

The United States supreme court, after hearing the arguments, will decide whether a federal question is involved and, if so, will pass on the question.

Senator Allen returned to Madison last night from Lincoln, where he received notice that his appeal was accepted.

NORFOLK MAN ACQUITTED

OSCAR WAGNER CLEARED IN ARSON CASE AT BUTTE.

JURY WAS OUT THREE HOURS

This is the Second Acquittal in the Three Cases Arising From the Burning of the Kremeier & Wagner Saloon at Monowi Last Year.

Butte, Neb., June 5.—Special to The News: The jury after being out three hours returned a verdict of not guilty in the case charging Oscar Wagner with being implicated in the burning of a saloon at Monowi last spring. The case went to the jury last evening.

The fire which resulted in the arrest of three men, including Wagner, occurred at Monowi, in Boyd county, May 23, 1906. It was the saloon operated by Kremeier & Wagner which was destroyed. The building was owned by Vac Randa of Niobrara. Kremeier, Wagner and Charles Papik were placed under arrest, charged with being implicated in the fire. Kremeier and Wagner have now both been acquitted and Papik, who turned state's evidence and made accusations implicating the other two, is awaiting sentence.

Papik's "Confession."

Papik made an alleged confession in which he charged that he had been hired to burn the saloon. He said that he and Wagner drove from Niobrara to Monowi on the night of May 23 and set the fire which destroyed the building. He claimed to have been paid $30 for his work by Kremeier.

The three men were arrested in Boyd county and held to the district court in that county. Trials were set at Butte. Kremeier's attorney, H. F. Barnhart of Norfolk, raised the point of jurisdiction, claiming that his client should be tried in Knox county. The trial was held recently at Center, county seat of Knox, and Kremeier was acquitted.

This Was Wagner's Second Trial.

This was Wagner's second trial. He was tried at Butte last fall and the jury disagreed. A few weeks ago his trial was set at Butte but, owing to the fact that Judge Harrington was on the bench and his brother, M. F. Harrington, was an attorney in the case, the trial did not come up. Judge Westover presided during the trial this week. Wagner was defended by M. F. Harrington and G. A. Eberly of Stanton.

A number of Norfolk business men were here to testify to the good character of Wagner, who was a Norfolk boy and who had always stood well in his own community.

WAGNER REACHES NORFOLK.

Will Work For His Uncle on Farm Near This City.

Oscar Wagner, following his acquittal at Butte last evening, took the first train for Norfolk, arriving in the city this morning. Wagner was raised near Norfolk and will work on the farm of his uncle, W. A. Wagner.

George B. Christoph, Julius Haase, Gus Kuhl, Herman Winter, William Sporn and Hugo Paul, who were called to Butte as witnesses, returned to Norfolk last evening. The Norfolk witnesses were summoned by the defense to testify to Wagner's reputation in this community.

Friends of Oscar Wagner poured congratulations in upon him when they learned that his trouble had ended.

New Store at Verdel.

Verdel, Neb., June 5.—Special to The News: A new grocery store under the firm name of Black and Bradstreet started business in Verdel today. Both members of the firm are well and favorably known here and start out with every prospect of success.

FOR BETTER ROADS.

Commercial Club Will Co-operate With County in the Matter.

The Norfolk Commercial club will co-operate with the county in improving the country roads leading into Norfolk. At the Tuesday morning meeting of the directors, an agreement was made with County Commissioner Taft, whereby the club agrees to furnish a man and team to operate a light weight road grader on the country roads leading into Norfolk.

The road grader which Mr. Taft has in mind is a light machine capable of covering a considerable stretch of road in a day and suited to leveling up and smoothing a hard rutted country road. The King log drag, which the new road machine would supplement, is only adapted for road-making following a rain when the roads are still soft. The new machine would be expected to maintain good roads running into Norfolk from a radius of from five to eight miles.

Directors Mathewson, Butterfield, Mayer, Degner and Witzigman were present at the meeting.

Peters-Tannehill.

At 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Tannehill, South Fifth street, Miss Maude Tannehill was married to Dr. W. R. Peters of Stanton, Rev. J. J. Klopp of Stanton performing the ceremony. The wedding was a quiet one, only a few relatives and very intimate friends of the contracting parties being present. Dr. and Mrs. Peters left at 1 o'clock for a honeymoon trip to Wisconsin, after which they will attend the commencement exercises of Rush Medical college, Chicago, before returning to Stanton. In Wisconsin they will visit at Dr. Peters' old home.

The Tannehill home in which the marriage ceremony was performed was prettily decorated in carnations and ferns. The bride was dressed in a beautiful white wedding gown and carried bride's roses. The bride is a popular Norfolk girl who has a wide circle of warm friends. She graduated from the Norfolk high school in the class of 1900. Since her graduation in the high school Miss Tannehill has been teaching school, having taught last year at Stanton, where she became acquainted with Dr. Peters. Miss Tannehill was not only a brilliant student in the Norfolk high school, but she was as well an exceptionally clever impersonator, and as such won first medals in local, district and state declamatory contests, with a humorous selection, "Susie Smith," which was original with her.

Dr. Peters is a prominent young practitioner at Stanton, where he has lived for the past three years. He is a graduate of Rush medical college, Chicago and is said to be an able young physician.

AT THE THEATER

Matinee Musical.

A matinee audience at the Auditorium was charmed yesterday afternoon by the juvenile matinee recital given by the primary pupils of Mrs. Cora A. Beels. Playing piano solos from memory Norfolk little folks yesterday gave evidence of real musical ability. The program of the afternoon, participated in by the younger pupils with the ages varying from five to fourteen, was carried through successfully, meriting and receiving the approval of those who heard the recital.

Twenty-six young Norfolk musicians of promise took part in the program. But six had ever played in a public recital, but no nervousness was evident as number after number was carried through by the youthful players. The following pupils participated in the matinee:

Piano solos were given by Helen Beels, Oliver Hazen, Jack Reed, Bessie Dolson, Mildred Dunn, Winifred Hazen, Emma Berner, Loren Gow, Margery Bodwell, Dorothy Christoph, Lila Williams, Leota Rish, Mable Slawter, Donald Hardy, Elmer Beeler, Carl Zutz, Sophia Nethaway, Florence Barrett, Elsie Nitze, Lucile Hazen and Gladys Hartford.

Duets were played by Lucile Hazen and Winifred Hazen, Jane Durland and Winifred Hazen, Gladys Hartford and Lila Williams.

Three quartette numbers were on the program. Dorothy Christoph, Margery Bodwell, Leota Rish and Emma Berner; Agnes Zutz, Lucile Hazen, Gladys Pasewalk and Leota Rish; Lloyd Pasewalk, Donald Hardy, Carl Zutz and Elmer Beeler.

Leota Rish sang "That Beautiful City."

Dorothy Christoph, Winifred Hazen, Helen Beels, Margery Bodwell, and Jane Durland with Jack Reed and Bessie Dolson as accompanists sang "Baby's Lullaby."

The juvenile matinee yesterday was the first of four recitals to be given in Norfolk by Mrs. Beels' pupils in connection with the eleventh commencement of the Norfolk Intermediate branch of the Western Conservatory of Music. Tomorrow evening at the Auditorium a recital will be given by the intermediate pupils with duet numbers by advanced students.

"Our Old Kentucky Home."

"Our Old Kentucky Home" attracted a large audience to the Auditorium last night and gave good satisfaction. The play is a romance of the southland, effectively told. The band and orchestra carried by the troupe are special features worth while. They make good music. A novel feature of the show was a circus scene, with dressing tents, side-show "spielers," etc.

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hulff Are Guests of Honor.

A farewell reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hulff, who leave during the month for their new home in Los Angeles, Calif., was given last evening by the members of Beulah chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star. Some forty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hulff spent the evening in Masonic hall. Choice flowers and a handsome cut glass piece were presented to the guests of honor, the speeches of presentation being made by Miss Harriet Albery and W. R. Hoffman. Refreshments were served during the evening.

A pleasant feature of the evening was a drill given by the entire company, Mrs. George H. Burton presiding at the piano. Several well planned charades were executed.

Farewell For Friends.

Miss Ruth Mount entertained a few friends last evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Mount, in honor of Miss Marie Johnson and Miss Joela Sharp, who left Norfolk today.

Death of D. Pratt.

D. Pratt, formerly of Norfolk, died last night at Deloit, Neb., and the funeral will be held tomorrow. Mr. Pratt was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Harned, who will attend the funeral.

"A little advertising" will sell a "little furniture"—and perhaps a good deal of it.

UNITED AFTER 40 YEARS

AGED NORFOLK MAN FINDS HIS DAUGHTER AT LAST.

SHE IS A GROWN-UP WOMAN NOW

Josiah Daniels of This City Left His Little Six-Year-Old Child, Ella, With Illinois Relatives in 1865 and Found Her Only This Week.

Josiah Daniels, once a farmer five miles south of Norfolk but now retired and living alone in the city, is one of the happiest men in the world today. He has found a daughter after forty years of separation. He is seventy-two years old, but today he is a young old man.

Father and daughter met at the Union Pacific depot in Norfolk for the first time since 1865, when, leaving his little child to others, the father had turned to the new west. Notified of her coming, the old man's heart bounded as the train pulled into the Norfolk station. Three women alighted from the train but amidst the crowd at the depot father and daughter looked straight into each other's eyes.

Back in the war days, Josiah Daniels lived on a farm in Carroll county, Illinois. In 1859 his wife had died, leaving an infant child, a daughter, Ella. With no relatives near to care for the little one, Daniels engaged a family to care for a brief time, an unmarried brother and sister of the child's mother finally taking little Ella under their care.

In 1865 Daniels turned to the new west. The aunt and uncle with their foster child also moved and in the change of homes and of addresses correspondence that had started between the father and the child's guardians was lost. For nearly two score years Daniels' daughter was lost to him. Letters sent forth in search of her brought no answer.

She Becomes a Teacher.

Educated by the relatives who had taken her into their home, Miss Daniels finally secured a position as teacher in the schools at Santa Fe. Next year she leaves Santa Fe to take charge of one of the territorial schools located at Las Vegas, New Mexico.

By accident Miss Daniels got in the southwest learned of her father's address through a distant relative. She wrote. The registered letter came to Norfolk, a message received with great pleasure by the father.

Best $50 He Ever Spent.

Mr. Daniels immediately replied, asking his daughter to come to him. She came. Daniels sent $50 for expenses with his letter and today the old father said: "That money has given me more pleasure than any money I ever spent."

The daughter arrived in Norfolk last Sunday at 9 p. m. and the father was at the train to meet her. Three women came to this city but the old man, though he did not know his child's features, easily picked the one who was looking for him.

They Knew Each Other.

The daughter sprang into the father's arms and said, "You're my father!"

And the father said, "Yes, if you are Ella."

Miss Daniels will remain in Norfolk with her father until Saturday, when she leaves for Chicago to attend the Chicago Art Institute during the summer.

Mr. Daniels lives in Edgewater park and is well-to-do.

During the day Mr. Daniels took his newly found daughter for a drive about the city. What they have been doing and what they have thought for all of these forty years as to one another, has afforded them a topic of unlimited interest.

MORE THAN OUR SHARE OF RAIN

North Nebraska Had More Moisture Than Rest of the State.

Lincoln, June 4.—The weekly bulletin issued today by G. A. Loveland, weather bureau director for Nebraska, says:

The past week was cool and cloudy, with light showers.

The daily mean temperature averaged about 7° below the normal. At most stations the maximum temperatures were above 70° on only one or two days, and they were below 60° at many stations on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

The rainfall was below normal in most parts of the state. Light showers occurred quite generally Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and during Sunday night. At a few places the weekly rainfall was more than one inch, but in the greater portion of the state it was less than half an inch. The total rainfall from April 1 to date is about one-half the normal in most of the state.

NEW FARM PHONE COMPANY

Material Has Been Ordered For Line to Run East of Norfolk.

A new farmers' telephone company has been organized east of Norfolk and at least three other similar companies are said to be in sight for the immediate future. Telephone lines to be built by these companies will connect with the Nebraska Telephone company's exchange in Norfolk.

There are eight farmers in the new company just organized. Officers are: Carl Leuk, president; Frank Koeh, vice president; Herman Schwede, secretary and treasurer; other members are Louis Melcher, Theodore Schlack, L. A. Bauermeister, George W. Davis, Gottlieb Schaaaf.

These farmers reside six and eight miles east of Norfolk. Materials for their new line have been ordered. J. C. Pageler of the Nebraska Telephone company has been in the city since May 1 perfecting the organization of this company and starting others that are soon to follow.

While the telephone line will be the property of the company which has been organized, its wire will connect at the local exchange with the Nebraska system, the farmers paying twenty-five cents per month for the connection.

Representatives of the Nebraska company say that this work will be pushed until every farmer tributary to Norfolk will be connected with the Norfolk exchange.

FAITH IN HUSBAND YET

DOVER WOMAN BELIEVES HE WILL COME BACK.

IS NOW AT CODY, WYOMING

Mrs. George Gordon Massey at Dover, Delaware, Will Not Ask For Divorce From Wayward Husband Whom She Still Loves, She Says.

Dover, Del., June 4.—"I shall not suffer divorce. If my husband returns, he will find his home and children waiting for him and I shall receive him as I have when he has left me before."

This statement is reported to have been made by Mrs. Clara Massey of Dover, after it was positively established that her handsome husband, George Massey, is living on a ranch at Trail Creek ranch, near Cody, Wyo., and was with Mrs. Evelyn Rane of Philadelphia.

Pays Daily Visit.

While the deserted wife and mother has taken her three little children to the home of her mother, Mrs. Thomas S. Clark, she makes a daily visit to the old Massey homestead.

"Will he come back?"

The speaker was a middle-aged resident of Dover, who has known the families of Clark and Massey since the principals in the Massey affair were children.

"Certainly he will come back. He never did a stroke of work in his life. He can't support himself. Here he received the bounty from his father, which kept him and his family. Every month $100 was sent to him and, in addition to that, the expenses of the household were paid.

"G" left a soft snap here, and when he finds out what it is to 'rough it' he will be only too glad to come back, if his father and his wife will let him."

That is the opinion all over Dover. Dover knows George Gordon Massey and his wife, and Dover condemns the young man, spoiled and pampered in his youth and sympathizes with the wife, whose love has led her to put up with his wildness and vagaries.

Still Loves Him.

There is a story back of the marriage of George Gordon Massey to Pretty Clara Clark seven years ago, which Dover people think explains the adoration and devotion of the wronged woman for her wayward spouse. Because of one unselfish act on the part of Massey, she has rendered to him years of loyal affection and is lenient to him now, even after his father is reported to have thrown him off.
