READY FOR FOURTH.

The Marriage of Miss Mary Frances Bernard Was an Event of Unusual Interest in Norfolk.

Norfolk's attraction in a social way during the past week has been directed more or less out of town, principally to weddings taking place in various corners of the country. Here at home there has been little doing, save the bloomer girls' baseball game, to attract the interest of those socially inclined. There have been, however, a sheriff and judge, the former running Fourth of July next Thursday, which for a second term and the latter being will be celebrated in fitting style by the people of Norfolk, each in a manner of his own choosing. There will be no Fourth of July celebration in Norfolk, but private picnics and private fireworks displays will be the rule. A number of Norfolk people are already enjoying vacation season, camp life proving popular.
