

TILLMAN SPOKE AT WAYNE

OLD SOLDIER THREATENED TO WHIP SENATOR.

HE WANTS TO MEET DOLLIVER

South Carolina Senator Says He Did Not Challenge Dolliver to a Duel But Would Like to Meet Him in Debate on the Race Question.

Wayne Neb., July 26.—Special to The News: "The white man is better than the black man; the southern white man is better than the northern white man."

This was the startling statement of United States Senator Ben Tillman, better known as "Pitchfork" Tillman, who delivered an address before the Wayne chautauqua yesterday afternoon on the race question.

Challenged to a Fight. Out of the heated remarks of his address Senator Tillman drew a challenge for fight. It was J. D. Slaughter, a veteran of the civil war, whose ire was so aroused at the radical remarks of Senator Tillman that, after they had bantered back and forth, Old Soldier Slaughter declared that he would meet Senator Tillman after the speech and settle the matter.

Called Northerners Scallawags. It was when he called the northern soldiers "scallawags and carpetbaggers" that Senator Tillman drew fire from the audience.

"You don't live with the niggers," said the senator. "You people up here don't know anything about the nigger. You only see him at long range. Booker T. Washington is all wrong. If you educate the nigger and allow him to vote, he will soon rule the south."

Black Days of South Carolina. "In some parts of the south there are ten niggers to one white man. We had eight years of black rule in South Carolina, and it was the most shameful, the blackest period of our history. Before black shall rule again, the south will run red."

"We had to kill off enough of them to subordinate them and teach them their place."

Did Not Challenge Dolliver. Senator Tillman denied the reports that he had issued a challenge for duel to Senator Dolliver, but declared he would like to meet the Iowa statesman on the platform at any old time.

"I have not seen Dolliver since last March," he said, "but I would be glad to meet him on the lecture platform any time to discuss the race question. Dolliver is afraid to meet me."

Tillman seemed to have the crowd with him. He drubbed the republican party, declaring that in the south a democrat meant a white man and a republican meant a nigger. But throughout his whole discussion he failed at any time to suggest any rational solution of the race problem.

Bloomfield, Wausa and Norfolk sent big delegations to the chautauqua.

THE NEW PHONE BUILDING

WILL BE BUILT ON THE DR. MARQUARDT LOT.

TWO STORIES, PRESSED BRICK

The New Telephone Exchange Building of the Independent Company Will be Erected on Norfolk Avenue East of Third by January.

The new independent telephone exchange building will be built on Norfolk avenue between Second and Third streets on the lot formerly occupied by the Marquardt building destroyed last spring by fire. Arrangements for purchasing the lot have just been completed with Dr. C. F. W. Marquardt.

The building that the new telephone company proposes to erect will be a two story pressed brick structure and will add materially to the appearance of the east end of Norfolk avenue. The new building will have a depth of sixty feet and in addition to the two upper stories will be built over a full basement. The building will be erected by the Norfolk Telephone Construction company, a new local corporation organized for that purpose.

The first floor of the new building will be occupied by the offices of the Norfolk Long Distance Telephone company. The second floor will be given over entirely to the switchboard room and the exchange proper. The workshop and heating rooms will be in the basement.

A corrugated iron store room will be put up on the lot at once. Work on the building proper will start as soon as the plans can be drawn up and the contract let.

The building will have to be ready for occupancy before January 1, 1908, the date set by the new company for the introduction of its phone service to Norfolk. At that time the company not only expects to begin its local service but will also have long distance connections into Norfolk.

GOVERNOR'S MANSION IN STORY

G. W. Kline of Lincoln is Author of a Clever Sketch.

One of the cleverest fiction stories of the month in fiction magazines was that of a Nebraska typewriter. "John Fenton, Neurotic Specialist," is the title of this fascinating yarn and the story was written by George W. Kline of Lincoln, city editor of the Lincoln Daily Star.

The story is a newspaper tale much after the fashion of the intensely interesting work along this line of Richard Harding Davis and Jesse Lynch Williams. The theme is laid around the opening ball at a governor's mansion and it is not difficult to imagine that the Nebraska gubernatorial dwelling has furnished suggestions for the plot. A newspaper photographer is sent to get a snap-shot of the governor's ball. Mrs. Governor was opposed. But the photographer, with nipped nerve, carries his camera beneath his arm and gets into the dancing party. Suddenly the house is dark, there is a flash, the picture is taken and the lights re-appear. The snap-shot man, having carefully teleported his camera, succeeds in getting away. There is excitement, however, in the home. A diamond necklace has been stolen. The negative, developed, shows the necklace in possession of a society favorite, a man whom none would suspect. The necklace had been stolen at the instant the camera snapped.

RUSHING THE MILK CANS

CREAMERY TRAFFIC CONGESTS TRAIN SERVICE HERE.

MILK TRAIN SOME DAY MAYBE

Several Carloads of Milk Cans Roll Through Norfolk Each Way Every Day and the Traffic is Becoming a Serious Problem.

"Come boys, let's rush the cans!" You hear it at the Junction but it's not that the lid is off at the Junction; it's only the daily call to battle of the express and trainmen up against the milk can problem.

The growth of the creamery industry and the corresponding development in the dairy interests of the northwest is threatening to turn the Northwestern railroad into a milk man on a gigantic scale. Only instead of peddling milk the railroad service as a collecting agent, the farmers of the northwest each day shipping by express several carloads of milk and cream through Norfolk to the big creamery centers at Omaha and Lincoln.

Traffic Grows.

From two to three carloads of cream and milk cans each morning are hauled out of Norfolk by the east-bound passenger. At noon the cars ceiling high with the empty cans roll back into Norfolk. From the lines to the northeast, the northwest and the west the stream of milk cans flows into Norfolk on the road to market.

To the trainmen the milk can has fast become a symbol of grief. It means always a threatened delay. At Norfolk the flood of cans often reaches such a volume that timecards are brushed aside by the rows of green and yellow cans. It's twenty minutes for lunch at the Junction depot but this summer it's often a good deal more than twenty minutes for the cans and their everlasting redistribution in Norfolk for the several lines.

Becoming a Problem.

Last summer the cans were beginning to flourish and the "milk problem" was beginning to be discussed in railroad circles. But the task of loading and unloading the cans has become a far bigger problem this year than last and if the butter factories continue on their prosperous road the can as a railroad problem is going to demand some kind of a solution in a year or so.

A special "milk train," a train that would carry nothing but the bothersome cans, has been suggested as the way by which the road will in time find its way out of the threatened congestion in the can traffic. Northwestern officials, however, say that while the future may hold the milk trains the present year will see no such measure adopted.

HOSKINS IS SHUT OUT

Norfolk Brownies Take Game With Twelve Scores to the Good.

The Norfolk "Brownies," out for revenge yesterday afternoon, administered a clean shut out to the Hoskins nine, winning 12 to 0. The game played on the driving park diamond was a return contest with the Hoskins nine which on July 14 at Hoskins sent the Brownies home with the short end of a "6 to 0" score.

The Brownies, who have been on the downward path since their game with the "blowers," struck a better gait yesterday and had the play coming their own way. Haak pitched a creditable game. On the other hand, the Hoskins balloon which had become unsteady once or twice in the early innings, went up for sure in the eighth. A good sized crowd saw the game. Haak let one walk and fanned five. Two Hoskins walking tickets were passed out while three Brownies slashed through the air with three vain efforts.

Line up: Norfolk: Haak p, Rock c, Bruggeman 1b, Reynolds 2b, Queener 3b, Schelly ss, Glessman lf, Parish cf, "Dobbins" rf. Hoskins: Podoll p, Ziemer c, Swensen 1b, Weatherholt 2b, Anderson 3b, Schemel ss, Gleason lf, Phillips cf, Asplin rf.

Score by innings: Norfolk 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 Hoskins 2 0 2 1 2 0 0 5 x—12

DISPUTES THE TITLE.

Atkinson Claims Best Baseball Team in Northern Nebraska.

Atkinson, Neb., July 28.—Editor Norfolk Daily News: I wish to correct a statement I saw in your paper of the 27th in regard to the base ball nines that are to play at your town on the coming Wednesday. You say that Plainview has the fastest team, or the credit of having the fastest team on the Bonesteel branch, and that O'Neill has the credit of having the fastest team on the west line. The latter we will dispute until we have reasons to believe differently, as we have played two games with O'Neill this season, winning one at the O'Neill diamond in a score of 2 and 3 and the return game was to be played here but was not finished on account of being called on storm coming up. In this game O'Neill played five innings and Atkinson four and one-half, with no scores on either side.

Our record is that out of eight games played we have seven to our credit. We will not take a back seat for any team on either line.

Yours truly, J. Frank Kiernan.

Notice to Land Owners.

Attention is hereby called to the law relating to the cutting of weeds along public highways, which requires that weeds must be mowed on or before August 15, otherwise the road overseers will cause the same to be done and charge expense to adjoining lands.

PLAINVIEW COMES BACK

BASE BALL FANS THERE ISSUE CHALLENGE TO BRUNSWICK.

WANT TO PLAY ANOTHER GAME

Rivalry at White Heat Between Those Two Pierce County Teams—Baseball Carnival Closes at Oakdale.

Northwest Games and Results.

Plainview, Neb., July 29.—Special to The News: The Plainview baseball management has issued the following challenge to Brunswick:

"The management of the Plainview baseball team hereby challenges the Brunswick team for a match game for a side bet of from $200 to $500, optional with the Brunswick team; game to take place on the Plainview diamond Friday afternoon, August 2, under the same agreement as the game at Brunswick July 26. The Plainview aggregation are of the opinion that Brunswick won the game July 26 through "horse shoe luck" pure and simple, and feel confident that they can play a faster game any time than the above mentioned team. If Brunswick has a superior team, they will not hesitate in putting up the amount as above stated, but in the event they decline we shall feel that they know, as well as 1,000 spectators know, that Plainview can and did outplay them. Put up your money or acknowledge your weakness.

"Manager Plainview Base Ball Team."
