

THE DAY OF THANKSGIVING

GENERALLY OBSERVED IN NORFOLK ON THURSDAY.

FAMILY DINNERS PREDOMINATE

Thanksgiving Festivities Exclude practically Every Other Phrase of Social Life—The World Stopped to Give Thanks.

Thanksgiving, the day that comes to the front once a year wherever the stars and stripes wave over a free people, occupied the attention of Norfolk during the week to the exclusion of almost every other phase of social life.

On this day there were family gatherings and neighborhood parties, and the business world halted in its handling of money and certified checks for a time to give reflection to the many blessings that have been showered upon the country during the past year.

The abundant harvests, the continued good health of the people, the prosperity of the country, the escape of Norfolk and this section of the world from the money trouble that has swept over the east—all gave abundant reason for thanksgiving—when the children make another pilgrimage to that home which they are visiting less and less as time goes on, and once more around the father's table they meet and feel thankful in their hearts that at the end of another year they are all alive to be together once more.

In a number of instances the dinner party partook of the nature of a gathering of friends, who had interests in common, and the day was a pleasant social affair.

The union services were held at the Methodist church but special services were also held during the morning in several other Norfolk churches.

Thanksgiving day itself was a perfect day of the late fall. As a result both the theater and the band dance were exceptionally well patronized.

Many informal dinners were given about the city, the day as usual being observed as a legal holiday.

Thanksgiving Entertainments. There were many family and neighborhood gatherings in Norfolk on Thanksgiving day, at which time the big turkey in the center of the table, surrounded by the many accompaniments that go to make up a feast, attracted the expectations of the hungry and none went away dissatisfied.

Among the family and neighborhood gatherings on this festive occasion were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hayes entertained Dr. and Mrs. D. K. Trindall, Dr. and Mrs. Bithell, Dr. and Mrs. Ray, and Mr. Brown of Sioux City, the members of the Oriole club, Miss Evelyn Bergelt, Miss Helen Tinker, Miss Molineaux, Miss Anderson. The Oriole club was filling an engagement in a neighboring town, and Mr. Hayes telephoned them to come and spend Thanksgiving. After the dinner had been properly taken care of, the Orioles made the remainder of the day musical with their songs.

At the Norfolk hospital for the insane the patients had a pleasant day. A regular Thanksgiving dinner was served to all the wards. In the evening a special patients' dance was held, followed by a little dance for the officers, nurses and their friends. Refreshments were served and the evening as well as the day was an enjoyable one.

A family reunion was held at the home of F. E. Davenport, where covers were laid for twenty-four. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pilger and children of Stanton; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Davenport, and son of Madison; T. E. Odiorne and family; Mrs. Mary Davenport, Miss Mattie Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davenport.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. D. Butterfield had the family gathering this year. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Butterfield and their guests, Mrs. Drake and Miss Klein, Dr. and Mrs. P. H. Salter and children, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Salter and A. P. Doe of Davenport, Ia., were the members of the party.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Matrau had planned to have Mrs. Southwick and little son and Miss Anna Herman to dinner. Just at the dinner hour Dr. and Mrs. McKim of Lincoln came in and surprised them. Mrs. McKim is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matrau.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Witzigman entertained John Witzigman of Battle Creek and Miss Katherine Witzigman of Dubuque, Iowa. Miss Witzigman, who has been visiting here some weeks, left Friday to visit her brother at Sheffield, Iowa.

At the E. A. Bullock home Mrs. Bullock entertained Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Rainbolt, Mrs. Kingsbury and Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Bullock. Mr. Bullock was expected home from the east but failed to get here in time to participate in the turkey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Boas had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Ellis and son of Sioux City. Miss Kathleen Boas was home for the Thanksgiving vacation from Sioux City, where she is attending school. She will return Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hardy enjoyed a family dinner, their son Elmer being home from Lincoln where he attends the university. Thos. Bell of Lusk, Wyo., brother of Mrs. Hardy, was also their guest.

Denver: Mr. and Mrs. Will Mills and son of Lincoln; Miss Alice Mills of Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Christoph had as guests Mrs. Christoph's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton. Sickness in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Burton prevented their joining the family circle.

Mrs. N. J. Davis entertained all her children at the home of Mrs. M. P. Sutter. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Dunn and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Sutter and family.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hazen entertained Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hazen were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Beels of Galva, Ill., and the immediate relatives here in Norfolk.

The Sick List. Mrs. C. H. Groesbeck has received news of the death of her father on Wednesday at the home of his daughter in Chicago. Mrs. Groesbeck did not attempt to attend the funeral, but will leave next Tuesday for Chicago to spend a few weeks with her mother, who is ill.

N. A. Huse, who was taken ill in West Point, is much better, and he will be able to come home in a few days.

Geo. Spear is confined to the house with his old complaint, quinsy, and he has a severe attack.

Mrs. Isaac Powers has been sick several days, but is better at this writing.

Little Ruth Davenport has been on the sick list for several days.

LESSON FROM THE TIMES

Dr. Tindall Draws a Thanksgiving Moral From Flurry.

The financial flurry America is just coming out of ought not, so Dr. D. K. Tindall told his audience in the union Thanksgiving services, interfere at all with the thanks due from this section of the west for the evident prosperity of the land.

Dr. Tindall even saw elements in the flurry for which to be thankful.

The people were to learn valuable lessons from the flurry, the Thanksgiving speaker said. The stress showed how solid and conservative the western banks were and ought to teach the people to trust our banks and bankers.

The people ought also to learn to live with more economy and to frown on gambling and stock manipulation.

Dr. Tindall found many other lessons both material and spiritual for abundant thanksgiving and these reasons he pointed out in the course of an eloquent address.

Music at the union services was furnished by a male quartet consisting of Messrs. Gow, Kiesau, Parker and Solomon.

Thanksgiving in the City Jail. Thanksgiving turkey in the city jail. That was Chris Paulson's lot and it wasn't so bad either, considering that Paulson is of the species "hobo."

Paulson was the only occupant of the city jail when the dinner bell rang Thanksgiving. The city's bill of fare isn't very appetizing ordinarily but Chief Flynn's heart melted and he did the honors Thursday for his solitary guest.

Something Doing Every Night. There's always something doing at the Auditorium. The theater is never dark a night. When it isn't a real show, it's one of those mighty fascinating moving picture shows with light vaudeville. The pictures are simply rich—interesting, instructive and entertaining. It's the best show you ever saw or will see for ten cents. See it tonight. New pictures.

SCHOOL BUILDING SLOW

NEW HIGH SCHOOL NOT PROGRESSING FAST AS EXPECTED.

BOARD SOMEWHAT DISTURBED

Contract Calls for Completion of Building by January 15. But it Will Not be Finished Then—Holiday Vacation Begins December 20.

Members of the Norfolk board of education are somewhat disturbed over the slow progress being made on the new high school building, to be the new home of the high school and the seventh and eighth grades.

The contract calls for the completion of the building by January 15, 1908, but it is now absolutely impossible that the big building can be turned over to the board within many weeks of the date specified.

One member of the board stated Monday evening at the December meeting of the board that he was alarmed because he thought the structure might not be entirely completed within the present school year. It is considered quite imperative that the building should be finished by the latter part of March if Norfolk is to handle satisfactorily the big north Nebraska teachers' convention which is scheduled to meet here the first week in April.

Contractor Valin of the Stanberry construction company places the delay on the shoulders of the plumbers and the fact that labor is hard to obtain. The board was told last night that the high school boilers, which are being built at Fremont, were nearly completed and ready for inspection.

The school board Monday evening instructed Secretary Matrau to have Architect John Latenser come up from Omaha. Mr. Latenser has been in Europe the greater part of the fall and now that he is back the board is anxious to have him pass on the progress of the building. As far as the building itself is concerned it is generally felt that the Stanberry company is giving Norfolk a good building.

The Christmas holidays, the board decided Monday evening, would begin Friday, December 20, school resuming on Monday, January 6, 1908. This provides for a two weeks' vacation.

It had been expected that when the Christmas holidays were passed the high school students would be taken directly to the new building. Now it seems that the present temporary quarters will have to serve at least through the winter.

Mrs. S. F. Erskine gave an informal party Saturday evening, entertaining eight young people complimentary to her son, Sam Erskine, who was home from the state university for the holidays. The evening was spent at cards.

That the Norfolk schools furnish their pupils with a thorough preparation was indicated this year when a senior in the Norfolk high school was admitted into the Sioux City high school with the same grades, her work in Sioux City since the first of the year also placing her virtually at the head of her class in scholarship.

The land of the Sugar City Cereal mills is being protected from the encroachment of the Northfork by 150 feet of woven wire rip-rapping which the mill company is having placed at the bend in the river. The use of woven wire for rip-rapping is an innovation that has been found successful by the county commissioners and was recommended to the mill company by Commissioner Burr Taft. The mill land has tended to hold its own since the willows were planted at a place where the greatest washing was taking place. The new wire work will give further protection.

Statistics of the Norfolk library have been forwarded to Andrew Carnegie by the library board in response to a letter from the steel king asking for information touching the Norfolk library for which he had been asked to furnish a home. The present library, started and managed under the auspices of the Women's club of Norfolk, has been handled so successfully that the showing it makes when reviewed in a report is quite complimentary to the library committee. Definite word from Carnegie setting forth a library proposition is expected by members of the library board.

Lamro (S. D.) Index: Everything points to the early extension of the railroad from Dallas in the near future. Late in summer Railroad Contractor Treadway and a railroad man were out looking over this section of the county and now as winter sets in Mr. Treadway has gone into winter quarters in Gregory county, having piled up his machinery just west of Dallas and taken his horses down by Burke to winter, taking everything. It looks like they are very anxious to make the extension this coming season. When this extension is made it will be the main line to the Black Hills, as it is many miles nearer than by the south route and traverses a territory of rich land, whereas the south route passes through the sand hills for a hundred miles in northern Nebraska.

A Great Hog. M. M. Mihills has recently purchased from Amos W. Harris & Sons, Waverly, Kentucky, a male Duroc-Jersey pig of March farrow, sired by Commodore, 12381. Commodore was an outstanding winner at Kentucky, Tennessee and Illinois stock fairs in 1896, first and champion, and headed first prize herd at all these fairs and his get won thirty-five prizes in the Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois state fairs in 1907. He also defeated Budy K 4th, that sold for $5,925, and the great Junior Jim that sold for $5,000, and several noted winners, such as High Notcher, King Gold Coin. He was pronounced

Browning & McCabe of Illinois offered Harris & Sons $4,000 for one-half interest in this great hog and was refused. This hog has for his dam a daughter of the famous Ohio Chief (now dead). All breeders know that one-third interest in Ohio Chief sold for $2,000 to a firm in Iowa. This pig is the only Commodore pig in northern Nebraska and the only one in the state bred as he is from an Ohio Chief dam.

BOCHE CASE GOES OVER

CONTINUANCE GRANTED IN MURDER CASE BY JUDGE WELCH. GOES TO THE FEBRUARY TERM

Showing Made by Senator Allen Gives Herman Boche Another Lapse of Time in Which to Prepare Defense. Bail Remains $15,000.

Madison, Neb., Dec. 3.—Special to The News: Boche will not be tried before February.

Judge A. A. Welch late this morning granted a continuance in the murder case against Herman Boche. Judge Welch's decision granting the request of Boche's attorneys will take the Boche trial over to the next term of the district court which will convene next February.

Boche's bond, according to Judge Welch's decision, will remain at $15,000. Boche will have to give a new bond and this his attorneys expect him to do within the next two or three days. In the interval he will be in the custody of the officers of the court.

The motion filed by Senator Allen to secure a continuance was not argued but went before Judge Welch on the affidavits filed. Judge Welch considered the matter Monday evening and late Tuesday morning announced that the Boche case, the most important on the docket, would go over till the February term.

In asking for a continuance Boche's lawyers said that the public mind was not in a proper condition for the trial—that prejudice existed and that additional time was needed to secure evidence relating to Jarmer, the man shot by Boche.

Tuesday morning the first jury of the term was impaneled to try the case filed by Anna Lovelace, who has a claim against the estate of the late Joseph Severa of Battle Creek.

Monday the appeal taken by C. F. Curtis, plumber, from the action of Madison city in arresting him for not having a plumber's license, was dismissed on a technicality. Curtis said he would appeal to the supreme court.

No Action Monday. Madison, Neb., Dec. 2.—Special to The News: The Madison ordinance on plumbers rose up at the opening of district court Monday afternoon to prevent any early action touching the Boche case and the motion of Boche's attorneys for a continuance.

C. F. Curtis, a plumber who came up from Columbus, was arrested in Madison under the city ordinance on plumbing. Curtis with W. V. Allen as his attorney has attacked the validity of the ordinance and appealed to the district court.

It was a motion to dismiss in this case that took up the opening hours of court this afternoon and while the plumbers' fight was argued the reassignment of the court docket and the preliminary motions in the Boche case were hung in abeyance.

Herman Boche appeared in the court room Monday afternoon, having driven from his home south of Norfolk to Madison.

District Judge A. A. Welch of Wayne on his way to Madison to convene court for jury work was joined in Norfolk Monday morning by a number of Norfolk attorneys on their way to attend court as well as by the north county men who had been drawn on the December jury. Court Reporter

County Attorney Jack Koenigstein, M. D. Tyler, M. C. Hazen, Burt Mapes, H. F. Barnhart and E. P. Weatherly. The attorneys interested in the Boche case did not look for a trial before the latter part of the week, even though Judge Welch overruled the motions for delay.

BOY IS INSTANTLY KILLED

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT THROUGH THE HEAD BY COMPANION. BOYS WERE PREPARING TO HUNT

Frank Donhershal Was Killed by Frank Hochstock When They Were Getting Their Guns Ready to Go Hunting—Funeral Tuesday.

Madison, Neb., Dec. 3.—Special to The News: The funeral of Frank Donhershal, accidentally shot on last Sunday by Frank Hochstock, was held this morning in Humphrey. Donhershal was shot through the head and died at once.

Donhershal and Hochstock were in a garret of the home of Andrew Hochstock about seven miles south of Norfolk preparing for a hunting trip. Hochstock was trying to extract a shell from a Winchester rifle when the charge exploded, the bullet crashing through the head of his companion.

Both young men were about eighteen years old and live in Platte county south of Madison.

Donhershal has relatives living in Norfolk.

QUAIL SEASON CLOSED

AN "OPEN" TIME OF FIFTEEN DAYS FOR HUNTERS. THE LID WENT DOWN ON SUNDAY

Plenty of Birds for the Finding During the Time the Law Permitted Them to be Killed—Prairie Chicken and Grouse Season Also Closed.

The man who went out with a gun this morning was looking for rabbit—not quail.

The "open" season for quail is no longer "open." The lid went on Sunday, bringing to a close a short quail-hunting season of fifteen days.

There was some difference of opinion among hunters during the short season as to the quantity of quail within easy striking distance from Norfolk. The general opinion, however, was that there were plenty of birds for the finding and many quail suppers were served in Norfolk homes.

Many of the prominent farmers and stockmen of this vicinity this year placed a ban on hunting on their places during the quail season and hunters were often handicapped by restricted fields.

The fall just closed has on the whole been characterized as a good hunting season. Although the spectacular fall flight of the duck was missed there were more early ducks than usual.
