THE LID IS ON IN NORFOLK

PROPOSES GENERAL ENFORCEMENT OF SLOCUM LAW.

MAYOR DURLAND ISSUES ORDERS

WINDOW CURTAINS AND SCREENS MUST BE REMOVED.

HOOR FOR CLOSING, 11 O'CLOCK

Action of the Mayor is Consistent With His Proclamation at the Beginning of His Term of Office—Lid Goes on at Once.

Features of the new Norfolk "lid." General enforcement of the "Slocum Law," removal of all window curtains and screens from saloons, an 11 o'clock saloon closing order for week days and an all day closing order for Sunday, a stringent prohibition of the sale of liquor to minors.

Norfolk saloon keepers were notified Tuesday evening and Wednesday morning of a new "lid," supposedly to be nailed on local saloon affairs at once by the city administration. Local saloon men were visited by Chief of Police Flynn and served with a copy of the following signed notice from the mayor:

"To Whom It May Concern: You are hereby notified to comply with all of the requirements of the 'Slocum law' as prescribed in Cobhey's compiled statutes of Nebraska, 1907, and of the city ordinances, in conducting the business of your saloon. We especially call your attention to the closing hour, which is now 11 o'clock, p. m., and any failure to comply with this notice, after this date, will be dealt with according to law. By (signed) C. B. Durland, mayor, December 17, 1907."

Mayor Durland stated during the day that the order meant exactly what it said and that its provisions were to be enforced immediately. Screens were expected to be removed within the day.

The mayor said that what he was fighting more than anything else was the sale of liquor to minors. Sale of liquor to minors is to be followed up with vigorous prosecution.

Norfolk saloons have been under a "Sunday lid" for some time but have been remaining open until midnight during the week. Eleven o'clock is the new hour set for closing, a city ordinance that has not been generally observed providing that during the six months beginning with November 1 the Norfolk saloons must close at 11 instead of 12.

It is the mayor's order calling for the removal of window obstructions that seems to call forth the most objections from the saloon men and the liberal element. It is said that the removal of screens handicaps the dealers whose places of business are the more exposed to public gaze. Of course the usual arguments are advanced in favor of screens but it is said that in Norfolk's case the difference in the arrangement of local saloons will make the anti-screen order uneven in its operations.

When Mayor Durland stepped into office last spring he outlined his saloon policy in his first address to the council. He said: "There are just a few things that I want to refer to before we take up the license question. I would like for the saloon men to know about where I stand before they pay for their licenses. First, the part of the Slocum law referring to minors loitering in and around the saloons will be adhered to, also gambling in and out of saloons can not be countenanced, neither will women of bad repute be permitted to enter them. Those saloons having partitions in, with swinging doors, cutting off the bar from the street, must be removed at once, and at the hour of closing Saturday nights, all screens, curtains and window decorations are to be removed, so that the bar is in full view of the street and remain so until the hour of opening Monday morning. The law referring to the sale or giving away of liquor on Sunday will be strictly looked after, and I want to say that this will apply to the drug stores as well as to the saloons, and right here also I want to say the ordinances regulating drug stores on the sale or giving away of liquors will be enforced."

The mayor does not think that the "lid" idea as outlined in his initial address has been carried out by some of the saloons. As a result he reiterates his first order with the additional feature of an "open bar" unobstructed by screens. A number of saloon men removed their screens as soon as the mayor's order was received. The others, it was said, would comply at once. The new "lid" does not banish pool tables, chairs or beer tables from the saloons. It has been hinted, though, that some such action as this might be brought before the city council.

COUNTY BOARD ASKED TO RESIGN

Homesteaders and Stockmen of Lyman County at War Over Herd Law.

Pierre, S. D., Dec. 18.—The homesteaders of Lyman county, who attempted to secure a vote on the herd law proposition in that county, through petition to the board of county commissioners for an election under the law, and found themselves blocked by the action of the board in cutting enough names off the petition to get it below the required majority, on the ground that the names stricken off did not appear on the poll lists of the county, are now on the war path in earnest.

Under the provisions of the law, they cannot now get a vote before the general election of next year, and that means another general all summer row between the farmers and stockmen.

While they were barred from any further direct action, over 300 homesteaders met at Presho, and after an excited discussion of the situation, they demanded the resignation of the entire board, and some of the members wanted a "petition in boots" on hand at the January meeting of the board to see that the resignations were not haltingly handed in.

They finally adopted resolutions and appointed committees to circulate petitions all over the county, demanding the resignations.

READY FOR ACCEPTANCE.

Sewer System of District No. 1 is Finished.

The sewer system laid for sewer district No. 1 by Contractor Elsingher of West Point is ready to be accepted by the city council. This action will probably be taken at the next council meeting.

Yesterday members of the council inspected the sewer. Water was turned into the sewer and ran through satisfactorily. Mayor Durland and members of the council expressed themselves as pleased with the work of the contractor.

The relations between the council and Contractor Elsingher have been pleasant, which the "city dads" say is a rather unusual experience with them.

The Royal Highlanders at their regular meeting last evening elected the following officers for the ensuing term: S. D. Robertson, I. P.; Mrs. Alta Madsen, C. BOUND OVER TO MAY TERM.

Wild Cat Money Men Are Held by Federal Authorities.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 18.—Alex Johnson and Thomas O'Brien, the two men brought from Geneva to Lincoln last week by United States Marshal Hensel, charged with counterfeiting, were bound over by Commissioner C. C. Marley yesterday to await action by the federal grand jury at the May term. They previously entered pleas of not guilty. Their bail was fixed at $1,000 each, and in default of it they were taken back to the Lancaster county jail. The men had just finished doing time in jail at Geneva when they were turned over to Marshal Hensel by the sheriff of Fillmore county.

Julius L. Monteen and Earl Morin, both of Wahoo, appeared as witnesses against Johnson and O'Brien at the preliminary hearing before Commissioner Marley. Monteen is a clerk in A. Morla's department store. He told of taking a $20 bill issued by an old Georgia bank more than fifty years ago, the currency being worthless ever since the war, in payment for a $4 pair of pants and giving $16 in change. Earl Morin is a boy about 14 years of age, the son of the man who owns the store. He sold a shirt to one of the two men for $1.50 and gave change for the same kind of a $20 bill.

The sheriffs from Fillmore and Saunders counties were present, but their testimony was not called for.

The two defendants claim that the money they passed was not counterfeit, since at one time it served as legal tender. This point will be contested with some vigor at their trial.

AUDIENCE WELL SATISFIED.

Second Number of High School Lecture Course.

A large audience and a satisfied audience listened to Adrian M. Newens' interpretation of Richard Ganthony's "A Message From Mars," given at the Auditorium Tuesday evening as the second number in the high school lecture course.

"A Message From Mars" is a play in three acts, the story of the reform of the egoist by messages that came from Mars in his dreams. The characters portrayed were differentiated by Mr. Newens in a way that gave each a personality. The patrons of the lecture course were highly pleased with the program. Mr. Newens having duplicated his success of last year in "A Singular Life."

Owing to the character of the course the expense incident to carrying out the lectures is of course heavy, and the receipts, outside of the season tickets sold, will have to be heavy to bring the lecture course committee out of its financial obligations.

The next number on the lecture course is The Temple Quartet, appearing at the Auditorium on January 20.

JOHNSON FOR PRESIDENT

GOVERNOR OF MINNESOTA SEEKS DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION.

DECLARES HE IS A CANDIDATE

Minnesota Governor Now in the Field Against Bryan For the Democratic Nomination For President of the United States.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 18.—Governor Johnson of Minnesota is definitely in the race for the democratic nomination for presidency. This statement is made on the authority of D. W. W. Mayo, an eminent surgeon of Minneapolis, and a friend of Governor Johnson, who said today that the governor told him he was certainly a candidate for the democratic nomination.

Dr. Mayo, who arrived from Missouri last week, while in St. Louis, had a conference with Governor Folk regarding the presidential situation. Folk said he would like to know what the Minnesota executive had in view with reference to running against Bryan. Dr. Mayo readily offered to consult Governor Johnson, and if possible secure a definite announcement.

When he called at the Minnesota capitol and discussed political affairs he was started to receive from the governor this reply to a question asking whether he, Johnson, "was a candidate for the nomination."

"Yes sir, I am."

The governor further stated that he had received letters from all over the country asking him to be a candidate, and had a full expression from the meeting held in Washington. This has determined him to take his chance if the democrats of Minnesota wished it.

Dr. Mayo asked the governor if he might use this statement publicly, to which the reply was:

"What I say is for everybody, and you may say to Governor Folk and everyone else that I am in the field for the nomination."

The stamp is nearly four inches long and about three inches deep. Its value is six cents.

Mr. Dingman is being congratulated on his narrow escape from death, the injuries he received when crushed between the cars having been regarded as necessarily fatal for a few days. It is not likely that he will return to the railroad service.

Groesbeck Makes Reply.

C. H. Groesbeck, manager of the Gund Brewing company for Norfolk, Neb., wishes to answer an article which appeared in The Norfolk News on December 13 and which was copied from the Omaha News, the latter paper saying:

"The Northwestern road has announced it has selected for discharge, in order to retrench expenses for the winter, the men who are addicted to drink, whether they are new or old employes."

"As a result, the Northwestern believes it is today operated by about as temperate a body of men as can be found in the entire United States. Officials claim that there is not a drunkard in the service, and that furthermore it is their intention not to let any drinkers join the ranks of employes."

Mr. Groesbeck's statement is: "I wish to say that if the Northwestern system is going to deprive an American citizen from going openly into a bar-room and taking a drink like a

SAYS HOME-MADE TREATMENT CURES RHEUMATISM.

SPLENDID TONIC TO THE KIDNEYS

Shake the Ingredients Well in the Bottle and Take a Teaspoonful Dose After Meals—People Are Warned Against Using Patent Medicines.

When an eminent authority announced in the Scranton (Pa.) Times that he had found a new way to treat that dread American disease, rheumatism, with just common, every-day drugs found in any drug store, the physicians were slow indeed to attach much importance to his claims. This was only a few months ago. Today nearly every newspaper in the country, even the metropolitan dailies, is announcing it and the splendid results achieved. It is so simple that any one can prepare it at home at small cost. It is made up as follows: Get from any good prescription pharmacy fluid extract dandelion, one-half ounce; compound kargon, one ounce; compound syrup sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. These are all simple ingredients, making an absolutely harmless home remedy at little cost.

Rheumatism, as every one knows, is a symptom of deranged kidneys. It is a condition produced by the failure of the kidneys to properly filter or strain from the blood the uric acid and other matter which, if not eradicated, either in the urine or through the skin pores, remains in the blood, decomposes and forms about the joints and muscles, causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

This prescription is said to be a splendid healing, cleansing and invigorating tonic to the kidneys, and gives almost immediate relief in all forms of bladder and urinary troubles and backache. He also warns people in a leading New York paper against the indiscriminate use of many patent medicines.

ATCHISON GLOBE SIGHTS.

We sometimes tell others by our actions, the very things we do not wish them to know.

Those husbands and wives who get along, do it without "trying."

How polite the man with curly hair is about taking off his hat.

The good die young. It is those who live to be old and wicked who improve the world.

When a woman has a homely figure, the other women do this much: They admit it is natural.

So many people are like a poorly governed community. They fail to maintain a sinking fund.

As a rule, a woman will have a premonition of all sorts of coming trouble except the one that really comes: That her husband will be mad when the Christmas bills come in.

We are certainly excelling ourselves and everybody else in the present quality of Arbucks' Ariosa Coffee.

No such quality of coffee can be sold out of a bag, bin or tin, or under any other name by anybody in this town, for anything near the same price.

That's a strong statement, but you can take our word for it, and we are the largest dealers in coffee in the world. Another thing—the egg coating on ARIOSA COFFEE does not improve its appearance but preserves the flavor and aroma.
