

HUSE AND VOTER NAMED

AS DELEGATES TO REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

THE THIRD DISTRICT FOR TAFT

The "insurgent" Delegation From Platte County was Seated—Boyd Endorsed For Delegate at Large, McCloud Resolution Defeated.

Shortly after midnight Wednesday morning W. N. Huse of Norfolk and F. P. Voter of Laurel were elected delegates to the Chicago national convention of the republican party by the Third district congressional convention, meeting in the Norfolk Auditorium. The election of Huse and Voter came on the first ballot which stood: W. N. Huse, Madison county, 129 1/2; F. P. Voter, Cedar county, 108 1/2; J. C. Elliott, Cumming county, 91; Charles R. Wright, Nance county, 49.

The vote by counties on the formal ballot was:

As a result of the convention's action the Third Nebraska district will be represented at Chicago by W. N. Huse, editor of The Norfolk Daily News, and F. P. Voter, an attorney at Laurel. Both are supporters of William R. Taft for president and with the other fourteen Nebraska delegates will assist in nominating the big war secretary as Roosevelt's successor.

J. C. Elliott of West Point and C. R. Wright of Genoa were elected alternates to the national convention.

Before the convention reached the election of delegates it had by resolution endorsed the Roosevelt administration, instructed the Third district delegates for Taft, endorsed Congressman Boyd for re-election and recommended him as a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Chicago convention, commended the record of the last republican legislature and the state government, endorsed John P. Eaton of Dodge county as a candidate for presidential elector from the Third district, favored the election of all delegates to congressional conventions by popular vote either in caucus or in primary and paid a splendid tribute to the memory of the late W. M. Robertson of Norfolk. The adoption of these resolutions was not opposed.

A resolution endorsing C. A. McCloud of York for national committeeman was voted down by a vote of 107 to 80.

It was after midnight before the convention got down to business. The interval between 9 o'clock and midnight was spent in waiting for the committee on credentials to settle the Platte county fight, that county having sent two delegations to the convention. The election delegation headed by C. J. Garlow.

The convention was called to order at 8:30 p. m. by J. C. Elliott, who during the afternoon was elected temporary chairman of the congressional central committee. Interest in the contest at hand was shown by the size of the delegations representing the various counties, virtually all of the delegates elected being present. Norfolk was well represented by spectators and the Norfolk band welcomed the convention to the city.

Mr. Elliott briefly spoke of the work in hand and asked that the convention proceed with promptness.

Mr. Elliott stated that the central committee had recommended E. R. Gurney of Fremont for temporary chairman and the convention ratifying the choice Mr. Gurney was introduced as the presiding officer.

Mr. Gurney said in part:

Gentlemen of the convention, and ladies: If there is any fault to be found with our new primary law, there is one which in a measure tends to condemn it with me. The new law has a tendency to do away with the good old fashioned conventions which do so much to foster party loyalty and enthusiasm. I look with sadness upon the fact that these conventions which we all enjoy so much, will not be known to us again for four years. I more fully appreciate the distinguished honor which you have bestowed upon me than I have words to express.

This has been a beautiful day. But with prospects of oratory tonight, you don't care to hear me talk of weather. I brought up the beautiful day as a basis upon which to express the thought that this marvelous day, with its flood of sunshine and never a breath of air, with no cloud in all the horizon, may be prophetic in a measure of the peace that will reign in all this nation next fall when the smoke of battle has cleared away and William Howard Taft is our presidential victor.

Some men are born lucky. Some rich. But every one of you gentlemen, with your political heritage of fifty years of republicanism, is more fortunate than a millionaire's child. Fifty years of republicanism has meant more to this nation than all the forty centuries of the pyramids to Egypt. (Applause.) Fifty years ago Buchanan went out of office and the nation was bankrupt. The government advised for money at from ten to twenty-four per cent interest. And to pay that rate of interest means condemnation on condemnation. I know what ten percent means. I've collected a lot of it. (Laughter.)

Our feet has grown in fifty years till it commands the admiration of the world, because of the power known to be behind it.

Under Abraham Lincoln we struck off the shackles of slavery and under William McKinley we struck off the shackles of hard times.

Under the protective tariff, in whose utility I believe as firmly as ever, our commerce and industries have grown to unprecedented heights.

The American citizen is an uncrowned king today. And American ideas and citizenship never meant more than at present under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt. (Applause.)

We have always had the material in the republican party with which to meet every emergency.

I have nothing but love in my heart for a democrat. (Applause by E. O. Garrett.) Next fall when I deposit my little ballot I will say, "Willie, it is only because I love you that I do it."

Bryan is always good natured. He is always serene in the face of adversity, coming up year after year to be whipped.

In all ages there have been two parties—a conservative and a radical. The one exception exists today in America where there is a party neither clinging stubbornly to the past nor reaching out into the wrongs of socialism—just progressive. Our party is as clear today as it ever was. The names of William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt will go down in the pages of history and be heralded as names of leaders who presided over this nation at periods marked by remarkable progress.

McKinley selected Taft as federal judge in Ohio, and Taft made good; McKinley selected Taft as governor general of the Philippines, and Taft made good; Roosevelt appointed Taft governor general of Cuba, and Taft made good; Roosevelt selected Taft as secretary of war, and Taft made good. And if I am not mistaken, our next president will be William Howard Taft—who always has "made good."

Gentlemen, what is the pleasure of the convention? On motion of E. A. Bullock of Norfolk C. S. Beebe, county treasurer of Wayne county, was elected secretary of the convention. The temporary organization was later made permanent.

C. C. McNish of Dodge county moved that a committee on credentials be chosen, one member being selected by each county save Platte county where there were two contesting delegations. This committee was chosen: S. H. Grant, Antelope; H. L. Preston, Boone; V. E. Neuman, Burt; F. O. Robinson, Cedar; J. H. Peiper, Colfax; O. C. Anderson, Cumming; J. C. O'Conner, Dakota; W. B. Hall, Dixon; J. M. Beaver, Dodge; W. D. Funk, Knox; Burt Mapes, Madison; R. Tooley, Merrick; C. J. Stockwell, Nance; August Schwichtenberg, Pierce; Charles McLeod, Stanton; H. C. McCarren, Thurston; Frank M. Northrop, Wayne. This committee retired at once to the office of Mapes & Hazen, where they were in session for three hours battling with the Platte county dispute. Both delegations appeared before the committee.

On motion of J. C. Martin of Merrick county Chairman Gurney appointed the following committee on resolutions: Mr. Martin, P. E. Taylor, Burt; S. J. Kennedy, Boone; J. A. Lister, Wayne; B. S. Leedom, Pierce; Will Rice, Merrick; C. E. Nevins, Cedar. The committee met in The News editorial offices, which were placed at its disposal.

The big convention then settled down to wait the outcome of the Platte county dispute as to whether the delegation selected by the central committee or the delegation selected by the county convention called by a minority of the central committee should be seated in the convention. It was a patient convention and amused itself as best it could. About midnight, however, the convention endorsed Senator C. A. Randall's motion that an immediate report be demanded from the absent committee.

The credentials committee came in a little after midnight. Burt Mapes as secretary presented the report. It seated the delegation headed by C. J. Garlow which had been selected by the "insurgent" county convention. The report met with no opposition.

Chairman J. C. Martin of the committee on resolutions presented the following resolutions which drew forth applause and which were adopted by the convention without active opposition from any source:

We your committee on resolutions beg leave to report as follows:

Resolved by the Republicans of the Third Congressional District of Nebraska in Convention Assembled, That we most heartily endorse the wise, patriotic, aggressive and courageous administration of President Roosevelt, who by his energy and honesty of purpose has won the admiration of the whole American people.

We commend his able enforcement of the laws, his untiring zeal for a better and cleaner government.

The party of Lincoln and Roosevelt has ever espoused the cause of the people and its continuance in power will insure protection of their interests and the maintenance of the government "of the people, for the people and by the people," and in renewing our allegiance to the principles of republicanism we insist that the essentials of the Roosevelt policies be incorporated in the national platform of 1908.

Recognizing the eminent ability and wise statesmanship of the Hon. Wm. H. Taft of Ohio, a man whose breadth of knowledge and experience, whose judicial mind and high sense of justice, peculiarly fit him to carry out the wholesome policies begun by the present administration, we hereby endorse his candidacy for president of the United States, and hereby instruct the delegates chosen by this convention to use all honorable means to secure his nomination. Whereas, The Hon. J. F. Boyd, member of congress from this district, has been active, alert and efficient in the service of his district and his constituents, and has shown an adaptability to the work that gives promise of making him a member of great usefulness to the people of his district. And whereas, he has thoroughly identified himself with the distinctive policies of this administration as a loyal and progressive republican, therefore,

Resolved, That we heartily, unreservedly and unanimously endorse the Hon. J. F. Boyd for re-election to congress from this district, believing his re-election will be for the best interests of all the people, whom he has thus far efficiently and zealously served, and

Resolved, That as a further mark of our confidence in and esteem for the Hon. J. F. Boyd, we unanimously favor his election as delegate-at-large to the republican national convention.

We wish especially to commend the last republican legislature for its faithful and literal fulfillment of every pledge of the last republican state platform, embracing the enactment of the primary law and railroad rate regulation.

We point to the splendid administration of Governor Sheldon and his fearless administration of his duties as the best recommendation for his re-election, and call attention to the efficient manner in which the different departments of the state government have been administered and the commendable management of the different state institutions as confirming the wisdom of the party in its choice of candidates at the last election.

Resolved, That we recognize in John P. Eaton of Dodge county a citizen of high character, a soldier with an honorable record, and a progressive republican who would appeal strongly to the voter and we hereby endorse him as a suitable candidate for presidential elector from this district.

In view of the successful operation of the direct primary, we favor the election of the delegates to congressional conventions by popular vote, either in caucus or in primary.

This convention cannot fail but pause in its deliberations to pay its tribute to the memory of the late Wm. M. Robertson of this district who as a life-long republican did loyal service in the battles of the party and as a citizen enjoyed a reputation which was state-wide because he embodied in a well rounded proportion the best traits of American manhood.

L. McLeod of Colfax county obtained the floor and offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, That we endorse the Hon. C. A. McCloud for the position of national committeeman and the delegates to the national convention from this district are requested to give him their support." The resolution was defeated on roll call, 107 votes being cast in opposition to 80 in favor of the York man.

On motion of Burt Mapes the convention took up the election of delegates to the national convention, each delegation having two votes. The informal ballot showed the election of Huse and Voter. It stood: W. N. Huse of Norfolk, 129 1/2; F. P. Voter of Laurel, 105; J. C. Elliott of West Point, 87 1/2; C. R. Wright of Genoa, 49; E. R. Gurney of Fremont, 7. Ninety-five votes were necessary for election. The informal ballot told the strength of the respective candidates.

The convention proceeded to a formal ballot. Only one county changed its vote. Pierce county, under convention instructions for E. R. Gurney of Fremont, had cast seven votes for Gurney and three and a half respectively for Huse and Elliott. On the formal ballot it threw seven votes to Elliott, dividing its other choice between Huse and Voter.

The announcement of the results of the ballot was greeted with applause. W. N. Huse was called to the platform by the convention.

Mr. Huse said:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention: I certainly thank you for this honor. This is my first offense and I certainly feel very comfortable over the result. I never make a speech, I do my talking on the other side of the wall, through a printing press. But I can vote, and when I get to Chicago I shall vote first, last and all the time for Taft.

Mr. Voter was then called on by the convention.

Mr. Voter said in part: Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention—I certainly consider this a great honor. I deem Theodore Roosevelt one of the greatest living statesmen and Roosevelt understands William Howard Taft. If he did not know that Taft is fully qualified in every way to carry out the policies of this administration, he never would have recommended Taft. The aroused public conscience must be maintained and a great deal gained under Roosevelt would be lost.

C. C. McNish of Dodge county moved that C. R. Wright of Genoa and J. C. Elliott of West Point be chosen alternates. They were elected by acclamation. They were called on for speeches.

Mr. Elliott said:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: I want to congratulate you upon the choice of two stalwart republicans. They can't possibly vote for Taft with more grace or heartiness than I could have done, had I been the choice. I was a candidate only in a very receptive mood, willing but anxious. I consider Taft the best equipped man in public service today.

Mr. Wright said:

MAY START CHAUTAUQUA

TEN DAYS' PROGRAM IS NOW BEFORE NORFOLK.

BEFORE COMMERCIAL CLUB.

W. S. Swygard of Albion Appeared Before the Commercial Club Tuesday and Made the Proposition for Next Summer.

A Chautauqua project is before Norfolk and is a matter of consideration by members of the Norfolk Commercial club. The proposal carries a ten days' chautauqua with July 31 as the tentative opening date.

The chautauqua proposition was about the only definite business that came before the directors' meeting yesterday afternoon. The matter was brought before the club by W. S. Swygard of Albion, speaking for Holiday of Des Moines, who put on the chautauqua last year at Albion and Wayne. It was said that it was desired that Norfolk take Wayne's dates on account of the great difficulty that was experienced last year in making connection between Albion and Wayne.

The proposition brought before the Commercial club was for a ten day's chautauqua the first of August, the Norfolk club to guarantee the sale of 500 season tickets at $2 a ticket and to share evenly in all of the proceeds above $3,000.

Twenty different numbers constitute the program, a complete change of program occurring both afternoon and evening. The chautauqua at Wayne last summer attracted a number of Norfolk visitors. Senator Tillman was one of the strong drawing cards at Wayne.

One of the objections that may be urged against the proposed chautauqua and especially against the date offered is the close proximity of chautauqua week to the Norfolk races, which begin August 12. And on the week ending July 4 the freemen expect to have Parkers' White City in Norfolk.

TUESDAY TOPICS.

Merele Wheeler was in Chadron on a visit.

Dr. P. H. Salter was in Plainview yesterday.

John Nelson and Carl Anderson were up from Stanton.

George H. Smith has gone to Fort Madison, Iowa, on business.

E. O. Duggan, solicitor for the Nebraska Telephone company, is back in Norfolk.

Mrs. J. W. Nichols has come from Wayne to keep house for her son, Ralph Nichols.

Mrs. Anna Madsen is home from an extended visit with relatives in St. Louis, St. Paul and South Dakota.

Mrs. J. M. O'Connell of Ponca, arrived in the city last evening to visit a few days with Mrs. W. N. Huse.

George B. Carroll left at noon for Lincoln, where he will spend the greater part of the summer. He expects to return to Norfolk in the fall.

State Senator C. A. Randall was in from Newman Grove for the convention.

Marcus Reynolds, who has been quite sick with tonsillitis, was no better Tuesday.

Allen Hopkins of Neligh was in Norfolk during the afternoon, having come down on the Bonesteel train.

Ed Grant has returned to Norfolk from the west, after several years, and will again make this his home.

David Reese, wife and daughters, who are returning to Norfolk after an extended visit to England and Wales, are in Washington enroute home. Today Mr. Reese and his family were presented to President Roosevelt by Congressman Boyd.

William Kenney and Fred Boche, who have been associated together in sawing up wood, have dissolved partnership.

Mrs. Charles Martin of Battle Creek, who has been very ill, according to word received by Norfolk friends is gradually recovering.

Crestlight Liberal: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Compton came up from Norfolk Saturday afternoon and will make their home here. Mr. Compton has taken a position in the Hulsmit meat market.

A Union Pacific bridge train arrived in Norfolk last evening. The bridge train crew was sent up the Columbus-Norfolk line to re-enforce the Union Pacific bridge over the Elkhorn river south of the city.

Councilman S. W. Garvin has sold his real estate business to D. B. Duffy. Next summer Mr. Garvin will leave to spend a month or two on the Pacific coast, looking over the country with a view to investing.

O. W. Neale of North Platte, who is here in the interest of the candidacy of James E. Delzell of Lexington for state superintendent, saw the Italian car in the New York-to-Paris race slowly making its way through muddy roads between Schuyler and Columbus yesterday.

Tate Wille has been suggested as the democratic candidate for councilman from the Second ward. Robert Eccles has been mentioned as a Fourth ward candidate. Charlie Groesbeck was put forward by one man yesterday as a candidate for councilman from the First ward on the republican ticket.

Frank Cummins, a Norfolk commercial traveler, yesterday purchased a fine residence lot from S. W. Garvin on West Koenigstein avenue, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets. This was the last lot left in that side of the block. Mr. Cummins will erect a home which will, it is said, cost $3,000 or $4,000.

W. F. Evans in Norfolk on business stated that arrangements were being made to have a new working model of the Evans-Carr patent self-knotting hay press manufactured. Mr. Evans with J. O. Carter has recently invented a machine that automatically trims, pastes and places wall paper on the wall and all in one operation.

West Point Democrat: Henry Feyerherm of Boomer shipped his machinery and household goods to Plattaview Tuesday, the trams being driven up by August Stark and Martin Feyerherm. The family left the same day for their new home, stopping off at Stanton and Norfolk to visit relatives and friends. Best wishes to them in their new home.

Lynch Journal: While in Norfolk Sunday a week ago we visited Dave Hodson at the pickle factory and listened to his enthusiastic explanation of the working and method of handling their products. He also gave us several bottles of their relishes and we have sampled them and find that the Norfolk Pickle factory make fine flavored goods. You can buy them in almost every store in town.

A force of sixty-seven young men wearing Uncle Sam's army uniform were aboard the evening Northwest-ern train for the northwest. They were bound for Fort Robinson, Neb., where they will enter the cavalry service. They enlisted at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and were the third bunch that has recently gone to Fort Robinson to play soldier. The officer in charge said there had been no trouble since financial flurry began to get recruits for the army, though it had previously been very difficult to compete with the demand from industrial sources. The enlistments are for three years.

DELEGATES IN THE PAST

NATIONAL DELEGATIONS FROM THIRD DISTRICT.

DURING PAST TWENTY YEARS

During the Past Twenty Years the Third District Delegates Have Been Selected in Norfolk Every Time Excepting Once.

Third district delegates to republican national conventions since 1888:

1888—Aaron W. Wall, Sherman; W. M. Robertson, Madison.

1892—Atlee Hart, Dakota; Loran Clark, Boone.

1896—John T. Bressler, Wayne; John C. Martin, Merrick.

1900—Henry E. Ragatz, Platte; John D. Hasckell, Dixon.

1904—F. E. Williams, Boone; Frank Nelson, Knox.

Save on one occasion the Third district republicans have met every four years in Norfolk for the last twenty years to pick their representatives to the national convention. The single exception is four years ago when the convention was held at Columbus.

In 1888, in 1900 and in 1904 candidates for congress were nominated at the same time that the district delegates were chosen. The congressional candidate this year is a matter of direct primary choice. In 1892 and in 1896 the candidate for congress was chosen at a separate convention.

The convention in Norfolk today will be the first convention asked to endorse a candidate for presidential elector.

In the 1888 convention the Third district comprised about all north Nebraska. By 1892 the district had been restricted.

The 1908 convention comes the earliest of any district convention in twenty years.

In 1904 the congressional convention met at Columbus on May 17. F. E. Williams of Albion and Frank Nelson of Niobrara were chosen as delegates to the Chicago convention. W. P. Warner of Dakota City and H. A. Hansen of Columbus were elected as alternates, J. F. Piper, a leading candidate for delegate, was endorsed for delegate-at-large. W. W. Young of Stanton was chairman of the convention. J. J. McCarthy was renominated for congress at this convention.

In 1900 the congressional convention met in Norfolk on April 25. The convention met in the afternoon in the Auditorium. Henry E. Ragatz of Columbus and John D. Hasckell of Wakefield were elected delegates to the Philadelphia convention. N. H. Wells and Nelson Grimsley were chosen alternates. John R. Hays of Norfolk was nominated for congress at this convention, receiving the nomination on the fifth ballot. His competitors were Jule Jeth of Hartington and Fremont Everett of Lyons. Judge N. D. Jackson of Neligh was chairman of the convention.

There Was a Contest. The convention of 1896 met in Norfolk on April 22. It sent John T. Bressler of Wayne county and John C. Martin of Merrick county to the St. Louis convention. H. C. Baird of Cedar county and C. J. Garlow of Platte county were picked as alternates. W. M. Robertson of Norfolk was chairman of the convention. A feature of this convention was a Thurston county contest carried on to the floor of the convention between the Peebles and anti-Peebles delegations. The Peebles delegation won the contest by a vote of 111 to 87. A congressional candidate was nominated at a second convention held during the summer in Columbus.

The convention of 1892 met in Norfolk on April 21. Atlee Hart of Dakota county and Loran Clark of Boone were unanimously chosen as delegates to the Minneapolis convention. G. W. Clark of Platte and H. P. Shumway of Dixon were selected as alternates. C. C. McNish of Cumming county was elected permanent chairman. This was simply a delegate convention.

In 1888 the republicans held their congressional convention in Norfolk on May 14. Aaron W. Wall of Sherman county and W. M. Robertson of Madison county were elected delegates to the national convention on the first ballot. B. S. Lillie of Custer and W. Radford of Dixon were elected alternates. Congressman Dorsey received his second renomination at this convention. The fight against him failed to materialize and he was renominated by acclamation. G. F. Blanchard of Sheridan county was chairman of the convention.

List of delegations named to the Norfolk convention:

Antelope—George Seymour, J. T. Fletcher, J. F. Fannon, S. H. Grant, A. D. Hemenway, G. W. Fannon and W. W. Cole.
