Norfolk Colt has Record Price. To Norfolk belongs the distinction of having produced within its city limits the highest priced yearling draft colt ever sold in the United States.

G. L. Carlson, breeder of Percheron horses, sold a Percheron yearling to Dr. P. L. Benthack of Platte Center for $2,000 Saturday. Up to this time Illinois held the record price in this class—$1,250.

The colt, All Gold, was sired by Fremont 3347. Its dam was Suzanne 17340. The colt's number in the registration book is 54663.

This yearling was foaled in the Fourth ward of Norfolk, and was never a mile away from the postoffice in its life until it was taken off Saturday, by its new owner, Dr. Benthack. The colt is seventeen months old, but will be classed as a yearling until it reaches the age of two.

All Gold is a handsome chestnut, with star and narrow strip. All Gold was put on the scales before shipment to Platte Center. He weighed 1,475 pounds, and will weigh around 2,400 pounds at maturity.

Mr. Carlson sold two yearling stallions this fall for $1,000 each.

MONUMENT TO MORMONS.

Granite Shaft Shipped to Niobrara to Commemorate Mormon Death. Fremont Tribune: A Fremont firm, Monday shipped a large granite shaft to Niobrara which will be erected at that place to commemorate the life and death of eleven Mormons who died near there in the winter of 1846-47.

The monument was ordered by Jesse Knight, a son of one of the unfortunate immigrants. The Fremont Foundry company also shipped a large iron fence which will be used to enclose the half-acre of land which was purchased for the monument.

The death of those whom the granite shaft is erected in memory of took place during the Mormon exodus from Nauvoo, Ill. Newell Knight was one of the leaders of the contingent that passed through the northern part of Nebraska. He succumbed to the hardships. His son, who is erecting the monument is now a wealthy mine owner in Salt Lake City.

The monument is of granite and weighs 30,000 pounds. On it is inscribed "Erected in loving appreciation of our father who died during the hardships of the Mormon exodus from Nauvoo to Salt Lake City."

Norfolk 0, Oakland 0. In the best played and most exciting game of football in which the Norfolk high school eleven has this season participated and in a game which was declared by spectators to rank up with the Omaha-Lincoln game played at Lincoln recently, Norfolk and Oakland found themselves unable to score.

The game was a clean exhibition from start to finish. The Oakland eleven was declared to have been the best team that Norfolk has been up against this season. Norfolk carried the ball a little farther than the visitors, but the latter were even snappier than Norfolk in open and spectacular plays. But the game ended 0 to 0.

After the game the Oakland players were given an informal reception at the high school. The different players were the guests of members of the Norfolk team for the night.

The closest relationship that could be established was thirty-second cousin.

C. Hills, Samuel J. Beals and Judge Warwick Hough. Mr. Donohoe had been joint agent for the Union Pacific and the Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis and Omaha at Norfolk, when he became traveling freight agent for the old Short Line. He has continued with the road seventeen years, with headquarters in Sioux City, and it is said that he is personally acquainted with every shipper in his old territory. With the acquisition of the Burlington by the Great Northern Mr. Donohoe, who had been advanced to the position of general agent, was made joint general agent. His authority now is enlarged and he will look after business in Sioux City which, before Mr. Jones, was taken care of by Archibald Gray, and before him by Fred Rogers, and before Mr. Rogers by the late W. A half holiday was enjoyed during the afternoon by every student in Miss Pearl Reese's room, in the high school building, containing students in the 7 A and 8 A classes. The vacation came as a reward for perfect attendance during the past month, not one of the forty-one students having missed a single class during the month nor been tardy in reaching school. A perfect attendance record of "100" for a month is, Superintendent Hunter says, a most unusual record for an entire class to make.

Dr. Overcocker is undecided whether he will exercise his drawing privilege and hold down a claim in Tripp. If he does he will locate in the northern part of the county, where the best land lies. Dr. Overcocker was surprised at the number of landseekers now in Tripp, which includes those who drew claims and others who failed to draw but wish to locate there. Landseekers are nearly as numerous as they were before the rush. While there he passed over the lands owned by John Arcoron, a Sioux half blood, and his family, seven miles north of Lamro. Mr. Arcoron is having a frame dwelling built on his property to cost $1,000. He has been living in a tent. Mr. Arcoron, who is now tinkering on an automobile in Norfolk, expects to leave for home Saturday.

FAILS UNDER TRUST. Norfolk Barber, Through Drink, Leaves Wife and Shortage Behind. A taste for drink and failure to stand up under responsibility resulted in the downfall of O. L. Hickerson, for more than a year a barber in Elmer Reed's Norfolk avenue shop. Reed was called back from a visit in Kansas Friday as a result of Hickerson having thrown up the job and left the city, leaving at the same time something of a shortage in the cash box.

Hickerson was in nominal charge of the shop during the week in Reed's absence. He had been drinking heavily during the week and is thought to have drunk away part of the receipts. The climax came when Hickerson appeared and began to collect his tools. The other barbers asked him to remain until Reed could be wired but he insisted on going. Chief of Police Peters was then called in. Hickerson was unable to account for all of the funds in the shop, but surrendered all of the money in his possession, about $16. A shortage of about $17 remains.

Hickerson then gathered up his tools and left town. "I can't stay and see Reed after this," he said. He was later seen walking towards Stanton. Hickerson's young wife was left in Norfolk. She will return to her parents' home at Gresham, a small town in York county. Hickerson formerly lived at Seward, where he was well thought of.

Hickerson was well liked by patrons of the Reed shop and was considered a good barber. Elmer Reed came back on the first train. He will not prosecute Hickerson.

The Frost Again. Walt Mason in Emporia Gazette: "When the frost is on the whiskers and my overcoat's in soak, then this sort of open winter doesn't strike me as a joke, and I wish he good old summer might come sloping back once more—when I'd kick and raise a rumpus as I've always done before. I would use a smoky language as I tried to swat the flies, and I'd quote from wicked authors when the sweat rolled in my eyes; so I'll just pretend I'm happy, and I will not snarl or croak, though the frost is in on the whiskers, and my overcoat's in soak!"
