

FRANK RUFFING DRAWS A YEAR

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED IN ROSEBUD ADMITS STEALING HORSES.

Fairfax, S. D., April 6.—Special to The News: Deputy Sheriff Ed Piper and Guard E. L. Dufur have returned from Sioux Falls where they had conveyed Frank Ruffing, the nineteen-year-old young man who a day or so previous had pleaded guilty before Judge Smith at Yankton, to the charge of horse stealing and was given a sentence of one year in the penitentiary.

He was charged with stealing a team from a neighbor and had sold one of the horses when apprehended. It is generally believed that others were implicated but he steadily refused to betray them, choosing rather to pay the penalty himself.

BACK AT BRYAN.

Fitzgerald of New York Sarcastic in Reply.

Washington, April 6.—Representative John J. Fitzgerald of New York, who gained prominence by having adopted his amendments to the house rules and who at the same time brought down upon himself and twenty-one followers the wrath of the so-called regular Democrats, issued the following reply to William J. Bryan's criticism of his action, which recently appeared in the Commoner:

"With his usual rashness, Mr. Bryan rushes in where angels might well fear to tread. His statement that I am not a representative of my party would have come with better grace if made when my speeches were being selected as Democratic campaign documents in the last two campaigns. It would have been more convincing if he had marshalled incidents in my ten years' service in the house of representatives to justify his assertion. If Mr. Bryan means that I am not a representative of the Democratic party as democracy has been understood and professed by himself, I shall not challenge his statement. My political convictions and beliefs were made more in accord with the democracy of those men who twice made possible Mr. Cleveland's election as president than with the later-day radicalism of the west.

"As to the personal references in Mr. Bryan's statement to my sense of propriety and respect for my party, I have only to say that if the Democratic party had given me three opportunities to become president, and I had failed as miserably as Mr. Bryan, even if I did not have the sense to do so, yet the obligation of gratitude to my party would compel me to remain silent about matters of which I was grossly ignorant."

Forty Miles Scheduled.

Canton, O., April 6.—Edward Payson Weston left Canton early today for a walk of forty miles. His itinerary calls for a trip to Wooster, where he remains tonight. From Wooster he will go to Mansfield, his stopping place Wednesday night. Thursday night he is scheduled to rest in Fremont and Friday night in Toledo.

Weston said he desired to see and talk with Mayor Brand Whitlock of Toledo.

Chicago Now Voting.

Chicago, April 6.—Between 6 o'clock this morning and 4 o'clock this afternoon Chicago will pass on the rival candidates for city treasurer and city clerk, the personnel of more than one-half of the city council, and upon the advisability of a tax levy for the establishment of a tuberculosis sanitarium.

Aside from these issues the city will have its say concerning the adoption of Evanston and Cicero, as integral parts of the municipality.

St. Louis Line up at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., April 6.—With the prospect of ideal weather voters stood in line waiting to vote at 6 o'clock this morning for a new set of municipal officers. Wm. G. Woerner is the Democratic nominee for mayor and Frederick H. Kreissmann, the Republican nominee. Both sides are predicting victory while an unknown independent vote is causing the leaders much worry.

Hot Fight at Alliance.

Alliance, Neb., April 6.—The city election is being held today with the liquor question the chief issue. The town went dry a year ago by 100 majority and temperance followers claim they will increase these figures today. The opposition, however, say it will be an easy matter to return the town to the "wet" column.

Bad Weather for Kansas Voters.

Kansas City, Mo., April 6.—Municipal elections are being held in a number of cities in Kansas today. While there seems to have been greatest interest in the campaign, threatening weather today promises to prevent a full vote being cast.

Wisconsin Election.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 6.—Wisconsin voters are choosing a state superintendent of public instruction today and many municipalities are voting on the question of license.

Fargo for Municipal Ownership.

Heavy Vote at Peoria.

Peoria, April 6.—After a steady downpour of rain all night, election day opened with a light mist, but the indications are that clear weather will prevail before the noon hour. A very bitter campaign has been conducted and it is predicted one of the heaviest votes in the city's history will be polled.

Farms for Spinners.

Boston, Mass., April 6.—Small suburban farms will be supplied by the state to 100,000 spinners in Massachusetts if the plans of three score business and professional women of Boston are carried out. Because of a scarcity of men in the state it is recognized that something must be done to add this army of women. The plan is to have women raise flowers, herbs, plants, mushrooms, strawberries, vegetables, squabs, chickens, bees and pigs.

Mother Divorced; Boy Slays Self.

New York, April 6.—William Cooper, sixteen years old, committed suicide at his home, 508 Knickerbocker avenue, Williamsburg, by strangling himself with a piece of clothesline. The boy's love for his mother and his separation from her since his father obtained a divorce are believed by his father to have been the cause. The father, Oliver Cooper, brought a divorce suit last fall, naming an auctioneer as co-respondent. It is alleged that Cooper then learned from his son William (he has another boy, Oliver, who is eighteen) that he had known of his mother's relations with the auctioneer for several years, but was afraid to tell for fear there would be trouble between his father and mother.

When the Coopers separated the sons remained with their father. On March 19 last Cooper got a divorce and the decree gave him the custody of the boys. He noticed the younger boy was depressed and tried in vain to cheer him.

While Mr. Cooper and the elder boy were at dinner today Willie prepared for suicide. He tied one end of a clothesline around a bedpost and the other around his neck and strangled himself.

New Church at Atkinson.

Atkinson, Neb., April 6.—Special to The News: The Presbyterian people have started the erection of a new manse southwest of their church. It will be a two-story square structure and will be a great addition to the town as well as the church.

The William Schultz Drug Co. have rented the Wheeler store on Main street and will take possession April 15. The building is a large cement structure recently completed and when fitted up with complete fixtures will be a credit to our city and the owner.

Shoots Man; Flees to Hills.

Madison, Ind., April 6.—Carl Dielenheim of the city street cleaning department was shot and killed by Ira Horton. The latter escaped, and although officers spent the afternoon in search they could not find him. He is probably hiding in the hills. Dielenheim leaves a wife but no children. Horton is unmarried and lived with his widowed mother. The Dielenheims are members of an old and respected German family. The origin of the tragedy is a mystery.

PAYNE BILL ON FRIDAY

Discussion in the House Becomes Warm Over Tariff.

Washington, April 6.—Many bills resolutions were introduced in the senate yesterday but there was no debate. After a short executive session the senate at 1 p. m. adjourned till Thursday.

Three o'clock, April 9, was the time set yesterday by the house for a vote on the Payne tariff bill. The long expected resolution of the committee on rules closing general debate, providing for certain committee amendments and a full and free opportunity to alter the lumber and hides schedules, was repealed late in the day and adopted with sixteen votes to spare, notwithstanding the desertion of twenty Republicans. Four of the sixteen votes came from the Louisiana delegation, who likewise broke away from the party.

Previously to the adoption of the resolution, there was some severe criticism of it. From the interest which attached to this prediction was the speech of Mr. Clark of Florida, who denounced Bryan and Bryanism, Populists and Populism, and who declared that he would support the Payne bill if it contained what his constituents wanted—a duty on sea island cotton and protection from citrus fruits, pineapples, etc. His remarks led him into excited colloquy with Mr. Randall of Texas and other Democrats, but he declared that having been instructed by the legislature of his state and his constituents as to the stand he should take, on which articles mentioned he would not violate his solemn obligation to them. His whole attitude was one of defiance to the Democrats of the house.

Scorns Debt, but Likes Cell.

Chicago, April 6.—Mrs. Emma E. Kershaw, a woman suffragist of means, exemplified new ideas of equal rights by permitting herself to be arrested for debt, and declaring her intention of remaining in jail "until she rots" before settling the claim against her.

PALM SUNDAY OCCASION OF SPECIAL CHURCH CEREMONY.

Palm Sunday in Norfolk was marked by confirmation services in two local churches, in the Christ Lutheran church and in the St. Johannes Lutheran church. In the Christ church a class of thirty-nine was confirmed, in the St. Johannes church a class of twelve. The St. Paul Ev. Lutheran church postponed its confirmation until next June.

Christ Lutheran church despite its large seating capacity was completely packed for the service, which began at 10:30. A sermon preached by Rev. J. P. Mueller, the pastor, was followed by confirmation. There was special music by the choir and by the class.

Fifteen boys and twenty-four girls made up the class, which was as follows: Henry Benning, Arthur Lehmann, Oscar Hoefs, Hugo Peter, Richard Mueller, Arthur Fuessler, Frank Fischer, Daniel Preuss, Willie Kreuch, Paul Haase, William Mueller, Martin Welch, Edward Schelly, George Berner, Reinhold Barneche, Maria Reichow, Ida Zastrow, Dora Pahn, Minna Bergman, Mathilde Ewald, Emma Klug, Hedwig Draeger, Anna Horst, Emma Leu, Minna Schneideberg, Leona Lenz, Esther Bernhardt, Mina Wilde, Hulda Fabriz, Emma Voecks, Lily Heckmann, Helene Korth, Adele Walter, Reba Schmiedeberg, Else Blank, Lily Mueller, Adele Klepke, Martha Krueger, Helene Draeger.

St. Johannes church, with the church prettily decorated with potted plants, presented a beautiful sight at the confirmation service, which was in the charge of Rev. Car. Martin, the pastor. The following class was confirmed: Max Jansen, Fritz Maas, Clara Salzwedel, Amanda Salzwedel, Frieda Maas, Minnie Buss, Elsie Koch, Frieda Schumacher, Bertha Ziesche, Frieda Appel, Louis Bordenmann, Ruth Grauel. Palm Sunday represented the beginning of holy week in the church calendar.

Close Contest in Election.

The polls opened at 9 a. m. to remain open until 7 p. m. The Norfolk polling places are as follows: First ward, city hall; Second ward, West Side hose house; Third ward, Julius Degner's home; Fourth ward, Junction hose house; outside precinct in school district, city hall.

Where the Contest Centers.

The contest in Tuesday's election centers around the offices of mayor and city treasurer, while there is a hot fight on over councilmen in each of the four wards. Mayor Sturgeon and City Treasurer Anderson have the advantage of coming up for re-election after one year of good service. The Democrats base their belief in Friday's success at the polls largely on his running qualities in past elections. The city organization under Dr. Mackay, city chairman, is well oiled and it is needless to say that every Friday vote will be registered.

The Republican organization in predicting the re-election of Mayor Sturgeon does so in the belief that Norfolk voters will not reject a one-term administration without good grounds. There has been no grounds for any considerable disaffection. Sturgeon, it is pointed out, will gain strength, from the conservative administration of the past year, from the good order that has been maintained and the fact that a safe middle course in the saloon question has resulted in a minimum of agitation and dissent. It is argued, too, that the administration has been progressive and has brought the city to a point where it takes rank with Nebraska cities of the first class.

City Treasurer C. L. Anderson, who last year gained his office over J. E. Haase, cashier of the Citizens National bank, has another hard contest on this year with W. J. Stafford, assistant cashier of the same bank.

The fact that considerable dissatisfaction existed among Democrats following the caucus nominations is thought to make the situation to the Republican nominees for the council.

For the school board E. M. Huntington and R. M. Fraser are pitted against H. C. Matrau and J. J. Welsh. It is not thought that the vote will equal the vote of a year ago. The law which sets the hour for the opening of the polls at 9 a. m. costs the votes of many traveling men and railroad men. Trainmen are usually busy at this time.

There will be noted in Tuesday's balloting in Norfolk a general switching about from last year. Sturgeon will lose a good deal of the support brought him by the bolting Democrats of a year ago but will make inroads in other directions.

An effort to make it appear that the Prohibitionists might gain in the election of certain candidates, it is not believed has deceived any considerable number of voters. Recent events have shown that as far as Norfolk is concerned danger of prohibition and blue laws will come from state politics and not from city politics.

D. E. Lutz Buys Hansen Market.

D. E. Lutz of Tilden has bought the meat market of L. A. Hansen here and Mr. Hansen purchases the Lutz shop at Tilden. They took possession of their new properties Monday morning. Mr. Lutz formerly lived in Norfolk and already has many friends here. He was at one time a prominent commercial traveler with headquarters here.

Saloon Bill Creates Stir.

Lincoln, April 5.—Governor Shallenberger was besieged today from all sides regarding the signing of the daylight saloon bill, passed in the 1st gasping breath of the Democratic legislature, which, if it becomes a law, will allow Nebraska saloons to open only between 7 a. m. and 8 p. m. Not in years has a legislative measure aroused so much furor in this state.

A special train arrived from Omaha this morning bearing 1,000 business men, headed by Mayor Dahlmaa, to urge a veto. Hundreds of telegrams were received along the same line. A petition was received from Norfolk bearing the names of 100 business men of that city, urging that the bill be vetoed.

It is claimed by opponents of the measure that the bill was passed by fraud. The claim is that the bill passed by only one vote and that Representative Fogarty of Greeley county was registered in favor of the bill when, in reality, he voted against it. He later tried to change the record, but was voted down. Governor Shallenberger announced that he will not take into consideration the method of passage; he will accept the legislative record on that point. This means he accepts the legality of the bill.

The Omaha World-Herald, a Democratic paper, calls upon him to reconsider this decision.

Among the bills not yet signed are: H. R. No. 139, by Pilger of Stanton—Appropriating $90,000 for the purchase of the Wayne normal school; Among the bills already signed are: S. F. No. 81, by Randall—To prevent drunkenness on trains.

S. F. No. 240, by Randall—For sanitation of bakeries, packing houses, creameries, groceries and places where food is prepared.

H. R. No. 271, by Young of Madison—Appropriating $18,000 for the completion and furnishing of building for the Norfolk asylum.

New Game Laws.

The game laws passed by the recent legislature provide for open seasons as follows: Chickens and grouse, October and November; ducks and geese, September 15 to April 5; jacksnipe and yellow legs, September 15 to May 1; plover, July 15 to August 31; squirrels, October and November; black bass, not less than six inches long, June 1 to November 15; trout, not less than eight inches, April 1 to October 1; all other fish, April 1 to November 15.

There is no open season for quail, doves, swan or white crane.

The legislature adjourned at 11:26 Saturday.

Increased Appropriations.

This legislature appropriated from the general fund of the state a total of $3,920,129.02 or $551,021 more than the legislature appropriated two years ago. These figures do not include $1 million left for the university. Of these appropriations the bills carrying the larger funds are still in the hands of the governor and have not yet received his approval.

15-Year-Old Burglar Lad.

Clarwater, Neb., April 5.—Special to The News: At 12 o'clock last night Harry Utterback, a sixteen-year-old boy, was caught in the hardware store of J. H. Smith. He had several boxes of shells a box of lead pencils, a pair of scissors and several other articles in a pile ready to take. When caught he told a story of having been forced to enter the store by a tramp.

The Chase Starts.

Marshal Trater and J. H. Smith, the proprietor of the store were called, and while waiting for them to arrive, Will Smith, a son of J. H. Smith saw a man across the street. The man looked suspicious under the circumstances and started to run. Smith started in pursuit, gun in hand, and in going around a corner ran into Marshal Trater. The revolver, a .38 caliber, was discharged.

J. H. Smith Shot.

The bullet struck the sidewalk and glanced. Flying down the street it struck J. H. Smith in the stomach, inflicting a painful wound about an inch deep, which is reported as not serious.

A Comedy of Errors.

The man who was being chased proved to be none other than Abe Frye, who happened to be going home and who seeing the figures in the store considered that they were burglars. When Will Smith came out and started for him he ran for home. Frye reached home before he was overtaken. His part of the story would have been intensely funny had it not been for the shooting of Mr. Smith.

Boy to the Reform School.

The Utterback boy is being held on complaint of Mr. Smith will be taken before the county judge and sent to the reform school. He is a son of John Utterback and comes of a good family.

Narrow Escape for a Tinner.

Imprisoned on the top of one of the new buildings of the Norfolk insane asylum, his clothing saturated with burning gasoline, the result of an explosion of a tinner's furnace, was the thrilling experience of Fred J. Huhn of Sioux City, who was saved from horrible death by C. E. Sallada, also of Sioux City, who with rare presence of mind rolled him in one of the gutters of the building and literally tore the clothing from his back.

Huhn, who is a tinner's helper, was working with Elmer Carrigg on the roof of the building fully forty feet from the ground. He had just pumped up the tinner's furnace when it exploded, breaking the gasoline pot at one end from which it is fed and hurling fragments of iron and burning gasoline right and left. Huhn, who was standing almost directly over the furnace was thoroughly drenched with the inflammable liquid, which instantly took fire.

Blazing from head to foot, he sprang away from Carrigg, and ran at break-neck speed across the top of the building to the east end, expecting to find egress to the ground. Sallada, who was working there, saw the half crazed man coming and with rare coolness prepared to receive him. As Huhn rushed down on him, Sallada tripped him and rolling him in the wide gutter, succeeded in getting most of the burning clothing from the man's body.

Had Huhn eluded Sallada he probably would have been so horribly burned that he could never have recovered. As it is, he escaped with one hand and an arm badly burned and numerous small burns on his body. Sallada would also have been badly burned if he had not had a glove on his right hand. His left hand was scorched, but not deeply burned. Carrigg was not injured at all.

All of the men were able to work yesterday. Sallada is the contractor in charge of putting the steel roofing on the two new buildings which are being erected at a cost of nearly $150,000. He took the men with him from Sioux City to do the work. It was not until last night when Sallada arrived in Sioux City that the details of Huhn's narrow escape became known. In addition to being a contractor, Mr. Sallada conducts a hardware store at 1227 Fourth street, Sioux City.

Promoter is Coming Here.

Yankton Press and Dakotan: J. H. Johnson, of the Dakota Construction company, left for Chicago Friday afternoon and will return to Norfolk, Neb., before coming again to Yankton. The company has several cars of ties on the road, but part has been held up until facilities can be found for shipping to the bridge site. Seven hundred tons of steel are also on the way here and will arrive in a short time. Of this shipment the waybills of 350 tons have been received. W. W. Graham of Norfolk, O., arrived on the noon train Friday and his presence will do much to convince the skeptics that there is really business this time behind the big movement at a bridge at this point. Mr. Graham is registered at the Portland and immediately on his arrival hunted up the headquarters of the Yankton-Norfolk roadrunners in the Roberts' block.

Theobald, Wayne; H. L. Seidel, Stanton; R. E. Y. Wilson, George Story, Butte; D. E. Lutz, Tilden; C. H. Reed, Madison; Millie Lull, Dallas, S. D.; O. R. Bowen, Pierce.

Among the bills signed by Governor Shallenberger Saturday was one by Senator Randall of Madison county which provides that interested parties shall designate the paper in which probate notices are to be published. The governor at the same time signed a bill by Representative Young of Newman Grove, appropriating $18,000 for the completion of new buildings at the Norfolk hospital.

Madison county's representatives in the legislature both voted for the "daylight saloon" law which closes drinking places from 8 in the evening until 7 in the morning. Senator Randall was one of the nineteen senators who supported the bill and without the vote of Representative Lew Young of Newman Grove the measure could not have passed the house. Senators Donohoe and Myers supported the bill and Senator Volpp voted against it. Repre-representative Henry and Jarrington voted for the measure and Representative Adam Pilger against it.

The bill introduced in the legislature at the instance of the Norfolk school board by Representative Young of Madison, giving either county judge or police judge jurisdiction in cases arising from violation of truant laws, is now a law in towns such as Norfolk, removed from county seats, this gives quicker action in such cases. The object of the new law, as far as Norfolk is concerned, is to give the local school authorities control over children who are not only disturbing factors in school but who have also escaped from the control of their parents.

After having sold the family cow and pocketed the proceeds of the sale despite the protests made by his sons to the police, it was the sad fate of George Housh, living in Edgewater park addition in Norfolk, to fall into evil ways in Stanton. The following story of Housh's troubles appears in the Stanton Picket: "On Tuesday of last week, George Housh, a one legged individual, who says his home is at Norfolk, drifting into town and at once proceeded to get drunk, assisted by several companions he picked up in making his round of the saloons. In the course of the evening Housh displayed some money, laying it out on the table before him to count it. The money was picked up by some of those who stood by and on waking in the morning Housh found himself without cash. As County Attorney Chase was out of the city at the time, no complaint was filed until Saturday, when Hugh Stevens and Will Kenney were arrested charged with having appropriated the money. The amount lost was a $20 bill and about $3 in silver, witnesses of the affair claiming that Stevens got the twenty and Kenney the silver. Before Judge Cowan Saturday afternoon Kenney was found guilty and fined $10 and costs, Stevens' case being continued until Tuesday. The trial of Stevens was held before Judge Cowan Tuesday morning. Attorney Ehrhardt appearing for the defendant and County Attorney Chase for the state. The jury was composed of the following men: F. S. Prince, L. C. Phillips, H. A. Cole, Theodore Naamer and D. C. Spangler. After being out only a few minutes the jury brought in a verdict of guilty and the defendant was fined $10 and costs. We understand the case will be appealed to the district court."

ATTEMPT TO SHOOT TAYLOR. Father of the Girl He Killed Pulls Gun. Minden, Neb., April 5.—Just as officers in charge of Bert Taylor, murderer of Pearl Taylor, were about to board a train with their prisoner, at the Burlington depot to return him to the state penitentiary at Lincoln after bringing him over for trial Wednesday, Douglas Taylor, father of the dead girl, and father-in-law of the murderer made a desperate attempt to shoot the prisoner and was only prevented from doing so by prompt efforts of Deputy Sheriff Slack and
