Farmer Found Dead in Field.

Atkinson, Neb., April 20.-Special to The News: John Torpy, a farmer living about three miles south of town, was found dead in the pasture about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been out driving the cattle and it is thought that he had been running. A neighbor boy by the name of Davis found the body near the road and went to the house for help. No one was at home so he went back and soon the son, William, who had been to town came. The body was carried home and a doctor called but nothing could be done. The deceased was about seventy years old and one of the old pioneers of this country. He leaves a wife and family of grown children.
