Last summer among the crowd was one Camden county man who had drunk too much Salem county applejack. He made himself obnoxious by going to the men as they were with their women folk and shaking his fist under their noses, saying: "I can lick you. Come out and fight." No one would fight, because he was evidently drunk.

Convinced that he had scared them all, he walked up and down the beach, saying, "I can lick any one on the beach." He repeated this to every one he met.

Finally an inoffensive little family man standing with a group jumped into him and beat him into submission. When he was finally allowed to get up the Camden man struggled to his feet and, looking around at the crowd which had gathered, said defiantly:

"Me and this little feller can lick any man on the beach."

MET AT MEADOW GROVE.

Report of Epworth League Conven tion, Neligh District.

Meadow Grove, Neb., June 29 .- The annual convention of the Neligh district Epworth League was held in the Methodist church at Meadow Grove beginning Monday afternoon, June 21. After organization, an interesting paper was read by Miss Ethel Admire on the subject of "Mission Study Classes." This was followed by an annimated discussion.

In the evening, after a very enjoyable song service conducted by Rev. E. J. T. Connely, an address of welcome was delivered by H. E. Mason of Meadow Grove, to which Rev. W. C. Kelly responded in behalf of the visiting delegates. This was followed by a most helpful consecration service conducted by the Rev. E. T. George, district superintendent.

Tuesday morning a Sun Rise prayer and testimony service, held at 5:30, was well attended, and marked the beginning of a day that was crowded full of good things.

At 8:30, C. H. Tropin, our district president, conducted a "Witnessing Roll Call." As the roll of charges was called the delegates from the several chapters responded with words of testimony or a passage of scripture, making it a most interesting and profitable service.

This was followed by a business session in which the committee on credentials and the district officers made their reports.

At 10 o'clock the subject of "Tithing," was introduced by the reading of an excellent paper on "The Obligation of Tithing," by a delegate from Elgin; an able address on "The Advantages of Tithing," by Rev. G. L. Goodell of Plainview; and yet another interesting paper on the "How of Tithing," by a delegate from Albion Following these presentations of the subject there was an interesting and impressive discussion of the subject which will, no doubt, result in greatly increasing the number of those who contribute not less than one-tenth of

More than eighty orders for airships to be used in the United States are now in the hands of the Wright brothers, Orville and Wilbur. Since their demonstration of their ability to handle their aeroplanes with safety and to teach others how to do so they have been flooded with letters asking for terms for the building of the machines and instruction in flying. The branch of the International Aero club which was organized at Dayton, O., recently for the purpose of exercising some supervision over prospective users of heavier than air devices has received many applications for membership, some of which have come from well known men of wealth throughout the United States. For the present their names are kept secret by the Wrights. The American orders, however, are only a part of those that are coming in the heavy mail of the inventors. News of their achievements has penetrated to far parts of the world. From Iceland in the last few days has come an inquiry as to the cost of delivering an aeroplane and sending an instructor to that far northern island. The shah of Persia, perhaps remembering one occasion when he had to escape from his palace by stealth and desiring to have a new device to defeat the revolutionaries, has asked that a machine be constructed for him as soon as possible. A Chinese mandarin who is one of the leaders in the awakening of that empire to western civilization has also sent an order.

The Wrights will be unable to fill all their orders because their factory is too small for the work. They will enlarge its capacity greatly this summer and hope to be able to meet all demands made upon them. Another trouble they are having is in obtaining a sufficient quantity of steel of the exact grade to keep the present factory working up to capacity. They are endeavoring to make arrangements with steel mills to make them a supply in future, but are having some difficulty in doing so. That the operations of the Wrights need not be restricted for want of capital is shown by the fact that they have refused an offer since their return for the investment of a large sum in their enterprise. This offer came from well known New York capitalists, who believed that the operations of the Wrights should be greatly enlarged. They declared, however, that they had sufficient money of their own to carry on their work.

GIB. THE ELEPHANT. How Barnum Once Changed His Mind

About What He Wanted.

When Mr. Bailey headed the old firm of Bailey, Hutchinson & Cooper, their chief attraction was "Gib, the elephant with two trunks." Gib was a wonder, the whole country was crazy to see him, and everywhere the Bailey, Hutchinson & Cooper show spread its tents they were crowded to their limit. Phineas T. Barnum did not like the tremendous success his rivals were having. Calling in his secretary, he said in a thoughtful and puzzled way: "Dan, did you ever see that Gib?" "No; I never did see him," replied Dan.

"Has he really got two trunks?" asked Mr. Barnum in a speculative manner.

"Can't say for sure, but they keep on saying he has good and loud." "Dan," said Mr. Barnum slowly, "we've got to have that elephant. And he reached for a telegraph blank and sent the following message to Bailey, Hutchinson & Cooper: Will give you $10,000 for Gib, the ele phant with two trunks. P. T. BARNUM.

The next towns the Bailey, Hutchinson & Cooper show visited were placarded up and down their streets with posters reproducing Mr. Barnum's telegram with photographic accuracy and under it this line: "That's how much P. T. Barnum thinks of the famous Gib, the only elephant in the world with two trunks." When Mr. Barnum heard of it, he meditated awhile in silence and then said: "Dan, it's not the elephant we want it's that man Bailey." And thus was the great partnership of Barnum & Bailey formed.

His Age. There was once a man who was asked his age.

"I am two years old," he replied. "Two years old?" his interrogator returned. "Why, that is preposterous! You look old enough to have voted for several presidents."

"You didn't ask me how looked," the man retorted.

"But you are more than two years old," the other asserted. "Oh, perhaps I am," said the man,

"but you are counting from the date of my birth. Now, I am not. Two years ago I took a new lease of life, and I reckon from that time."

Didn't Like Waste.

Saunders Carlyle was an old Scot who was very thrifty, abhorred waste and loved his drop of whisky. In drinking he had one peculiarity. He always drank off his whisky to the last drop the very instant it was poured out for him.

"Why do you drink down your liquor in that quick, greedy way?" a stranger said to Saunders in a reproachful tone. "I once had one knocked over," the old man explained.

False Colors.

Sir Augustus Harris one week end took a cab in London for Charing Cross. He had painted in black letters on box and kit bag, "Augustus Harris, T. R. D. L." They stood, of course, for "Theater Royal, Drury But the cabby thought that lane." they stood for some learned degree; that here was an innocent, helpless scientist whom he could easily bilk out of an exorbitant fare. So on reaching Charing Cross the cabby frowned down at Sir Augustus and said darkly:

"A good 5 shillin's worth, sir." But Sir Augustus laughed and handed the man one and six, the exact fare plus a tuppenny tip.

The cabby looked at the money and sneered bitterly.

"Garn!" he said. "An' ye call yerself a T. R. D. L. Why, ye ain't no more a T. R. D. L. than wot I am!"

When Mind Acts on Mind.

The most potent influence that ever can rest upon the mind is that of another mind acting upon it. This is the highest influence of which we know anything at present. There is nothing, for example, that has power on your thought like a thinker thinking on you, as it were, or thinking to you. Nothing so arouses the affection as a great heart near yours. Like a fire, it sends out its warmth to all that are near it, whether they want it or not .-- Henry Ward Beecher.
